DEM. CONVENTION

Women Take Part in Nominating Delegates to Coming State Convention.

The Democratic convention of Washtenaw county was held at Ann Arbor on Tuesday forenoon and there were about as many women as men in attendance.

W. H. Murray, county chairman, called the meeting to order and Martin Cavanaugh was made chairman and Miss Sarah O'Brien, secretary. Resolutions were passed congratulating the soldiers on their heroic work in ending the war by a glorious victory. President Wilson's efforts in bringing about what is hoped to be a League of Nations which will assure a lasting peace throughout the world, was endorsed. A tribute was given to Theodore Roosevelt, as a patriot of the highest type. They denounced the Republican party for its conduct regarding national affairs for political effect. Resolutions also favored the withdrawal of soldiers from Russia as soon as practicable; favored government control of railroads as a means of securing the highest degree of service at the lowest cost; opposed monopolies that cause high cost of living by their practices; deplored the shameful condition of the state institutions at Jackson and Adrian.

Among the delegates to the state convention at Lansing, Feb. 24 are: At large—M. J. Cavanaugh, Ann Arbor; Mrs. Florence E. Babbitt, Tracy; L. Towner, Mrs. Henry Frain, Ypsilanti.

The south-western part of the county was apparently not represented at the convention.

GOVERNMENT NEED FOR MONEY GREATER NOW

Expenditures For December More Than in Any Month in Pre-War Times.

Washington, D. C.—When the American people in the Victory Liberty Loan in buying War Savings Stamps daily and raise billions of dollars to pay for munitions that never reached France, they will not in reality be paying for those munitions but for the saving of 200,000 American lives.

It was not the American army in 1918; it was the enormous production of munitions in this country that the German general staff knew would soon be flowing into action at the front. Had it not been for this knowledge the Germans would have fought through 1919.

These statements are made by Lewis B. Franklin, head of the War Savings and Liberty Loan organization.

"Our expenditures for December," said Mr. Franklin, "were the largest on record, being $2,060,000,000, a sum almost double the total annual expenditure of our Government in pre-war times. Many people will call that paying for a dead horse.

"But do we realize that the German army was never really routed? That to the last it was fighting on foreign soil? It was only the knowledge of a great stream of munitions on the way that ended the war in 1918 instead of 1919, and saved the lives of from 100,000 to 200,000 American boys."

Mr. Franklin said the Seventh Federal Reserve district, which includes lower Michigan, has achieved a more general distribution of bonds than any of the other districts. It sold 53% of its bonds to purchasers of $1,000 or less as against a ratio of 40% for the whole nation.

He argued from this that War Savings Stamps should be a great success in the middle west.

THINKING MEN WITH ARMY IN FRANCE FOR "BONE DRY" NATION

Marquette Shriner Writes to Ahmed Temple About What He Has Observed Across Pond.

Marquette, Mich.—If they act upon the tip of one of their brothers with the American Expeditionary Force in France, members of Ahmed Temple of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Mystic Shrine, which embraces the whole upper peninsula, will vote dry when the wets offer their wine and beer amendment to Michigan voters at the election in April. The Marquette Shriners have received a letter from one of their members, Capt. W. C. Bates, with the medical corps at Vichy, in which the captain states that because of what he has seen in France and England he has become converted from a "moderate" to a "bone dry."

"The spirit of our men has been simply wonderful," he wrote, "and they are making an increasingly splendid impression upon all with whom they have come in contact. I am more proud of being an American every day I live. Again, while I have not been and am not now a strict teetotaler, I am more anxious than I can tell to see our country become bone dry forever. The liquor here and especially in England canteens and messis the most vicious curse of which I have knowledge.

"These are my own personal opinions, but the daily exhibitions of brutish drunkenness and the vices and crimes accompanying it, make all our thinking men strong advocates of a bone dry country."

No this isn't "old stuff." War Savings Stamps are as essential in 1919 as in 1918. We must pay the war bills. Stamps are as good business—almost 5 per cent—as ever.

In that case," said the general, "I consider it my duty to send for a detachment to take your guest into custody."

It this Isabel broke down. Dropping on her knees before the general begged him to permit her lover depart. Washington's heart was ched by her appeal, but this did not vent his doing his duty.

I will confess, I have been collecting information of your forces and the Lieutenant Travers to come for He replied—

REGISTRATION HAD TO WAIT

George Washington Was Not Formally Made President Until April 30, in 1789.

Although March 4 is the date set for the ceremony of the inauguration of our presidents, there was some confusion when the rule was notified.

Lover of men, who saw afar A world unmarred by want or war. Who knew the path, and yet forbore To tread it, till all should improve: Who saw the light and led the way Where the gray world might greet the day: Father and leader, prophet sure, Whose will in vast works shall endure. How shall we praise him on this day of days, Great son of fame who has no need of praise?

How shall we praise him? Open wide the doors Of the fair temple whose broad base he laid. Through its white halls a shadowy cavalcade Of heroes moves o'er unresounding floors— Men whose brazen arms upraised the columns high And reared the towers that vanish in the sky— The strong who, having wrought, can never die.

"ONLY HIS RIGHT"

Washington Upheld Action of Man Who Would Not Make Way.

DESPITE President Washington's dignity, he was ever democratic. He was also just. Both qualities are illustrated by a story of him told by Rev. Dr. Alfred Ely, a Massachusetts clergyman, who died in 1866. Doctor Ely told the story in a Fourth of July address delivered some years before his death, and it was taken down and published in practically his exact words. The tale exemplifies Washington's magnanimity, as well as the almost idolatrous reverence felt for him in his own day.

"When a boy," said Doctor Ely, "I resided in West Springfield, Mass., and worked on a farm. In the autumn of the year 1789 I was engaged with my employer in gathering a load of corn-stalks from a field not far distant from the Connecticut river. My employer had driven the loaded team from up the bank of the river, and was about to turn the team back to the field. I saw a man, whom I recognized as the British agent, Earl P. Hoffman, Norvell.

The supervisors of Jackson county voted to pay $5 to each man who enlisted or was drafted during the war. Many were paid when they left for service, while others are presenting their discharge papers now and getting the "V." It is claimed that 1,000 men have been paid.

GOOD NEWS FEATURES

Especially Good Selection of News And Features in The Enterprise Each Week.

The Enterprise gave readers last week a summary of the claims of nations concerned in the formation of a League of Nations. This week we give the text of the League plans as drawn up and presented at Paris by President Wilson, the chairman. It will be found on the second page. Michigan news tersely told will also be found there, also a letter from the state capitol. These matters are all of vital interest to all members of the family of reading age. Women will want to be kept posted on the world's work, now that they are to vote, and The Enterprise will continue to be more of a home paper—a real newspaper—thoroughly up-to-date, giving space particularly to this week's news instead of last week's gossip.

On the sixth page will be found more telegraphic news, foreign and state, the Sunday school lesson, and Detroit and Buffalo grain and livestock markets, as accurate telegraphic reports as any daily gives. The continued story "Five Fridays," is on the seventh page.

Gen. Foch said to Germany, who was bulwasting, bragging, pleading and threatening, "Sign on the dotted line," and she signed.

The more we learn about Jackson prison and the girls' industrial school at Adrian, we wonder which is the worst.

It is too bad to use so much gasoline and then lose the whisky, eh?

Why Swift & Company Handle Poultry, Eggs, Butter and Cheese

Swift & Company went into the produce business because they saw a crying need for the kind of service they were equipped to perform.

The produce business was in chaos. Collecting, transportation, preparation and distribution was hit or miss, with delay, deterioration and loss on every hand.

The farmer was at the mercy of an uncertain, localized market. He had no way of reaching through to the people who needed what he was raising for them. There was no premium upon improving his stocks, for grading was lax or lacking.

The consumer had to accept produce that, as a rule, had no known responsible name behind it. He had no way of knowing how long the eggs or the butter he was buying had been lying around in miscellaneous lots in the back room of a country store. Much of the poultry was not properly refrigerated before shipment or properly protected by refrigeration in transit.

Swift & Company's initiative brought system to this chaos. Their organization, equipment, and experience in handling perishable food products were already adjusted to the task. Their refrigerator cars, branch houses, central points, far-reaching connections, trained sales force, supplied just what was demanded.

Now the farmer has a daily cash market in touch with the nation's needs with better prices. Standardization makes better produce more profitable. More consumers are served with better, fresher, finer foodstuffs.

Nothing suffers from this save inefficiency, which has no claim upon public support.

Swift & Company, U.S.A.

TO THE FARMER

It is doubtful if the requirements in any other line of business are quite so important and legitimate as those of the farmer.

Food is our first demand, and if the farmer fails us we starve.

You can do your business here, meet your friends here, leave your packages and bundles here, use it just like your own private office.
