Sharon Township Boy Has Close Call In Drive Against Huns Near Paris—Ready for Home

Somewhere in France, Feb. 21. Dear friends: Just received your welcome letter this afternoon and was glad to hear from you. I am well and hope this finds you the same. The weather is rainy here. Mud is up to our knees and we have to wear hip boots. It rains every day but it is not so very cold. The men in this outfit are all wounded; one has 25 wounds, think of it! He was hit by shrapnel. We have about 700 German prisoners with 65 officers here. A German captain asked me if we had a three-inch gun, ha, ha. He was captured on the Nain river

AMENDMENTS TO VOTE

Text of State Amendments to Come Up at the Election, April 7th Next.

At the election to be held in the State of Michigan on Monday, April 7, 1919, there will be submitted to the electors three proposed amendments to the state constitution, as follows: A proposed amendment to Section 10, article X of the constitution, authorizing the state to borrow money to be used for highway purposes and issue bonds therefor, and to read as follows:

AS OTHERS SEE US

Former Resident Still Proud of the Old Town, Points to Improvement Worth Considering.

Lansing, Mich., Mar. 14, 1919. To the Editor of the Manchester Enterprise: Just got the Enterprise and read the home news—the first thing we do before anything else, as we just feast on the "Brief News Items" and "Personals." Further, it's some nearer to us than our local paper; but it brings to me the thought when I read the first item in the news column:

"The snow is disappearing and the roads are pretty soft"—thoughts of the beautiful village you have and how much nicer it would be if you would have your streets paved, at least in the business part of the town. I know that every one of the inhabitants of Manchester would enjoy the same and would not part with paying for twice what it cost them, after they had it one year or less. It would be an improvement which you could be proud of. You might as well have the benefit of these improvements now as to wait and have them come when you are laid in Oak Grove. With kind wishes to all, I am Yours very truly, FREDERICK STEINKOHL.

The Earlville, Ill., Leader publishes this want ad: "Furnished rooms by newly married couple without children till October." From which we infer that some are expected to arrive about that time.

The Amalgamated Association of American Bootmakers is holding a fight-prohibition to hold a fund if defeated will hold a fund. Because a girl is named Iowa.

FUNCTION OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

It would be difficult at this time adequately to measure the value of the work which public school children have contributed to war activities for some time past. The least that can be said is that in connection with nearly every undertaking of the federal government the public schools have played an important part. Pupils in the higher grades of the public schools, let it be remembered, found entrance by the tens of thousands into the army, navy and relief services.

The record of the public schools in the war period is one of which the nation may well feel proud. The conditions that interrupted the course of training and stripped the schools of their pupils, were normal and are passing. It will be well if the whole nation shall as quickly as possible see the urgent need of restoring the schools to their normal place in the nation's educational system. Mr. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction of California, has sounded the proper note, he said recently.

"Now that peace has come, we should get down to first principles in school organization: And the first principle I would emphasize is that the schools exist primarily to serve educational needs. They do not exist to further extraneous interests, however worthy, that can be handled by other agencies. The second principle is that outside agencies seeking to cooperate with the schools must act through the duly constituted school authorities. To act on any other assumption would be to invite disintegration of the schools. The school authorities must determine what place, if any, shall be given to the many worthy movements that are seeking a place in the program."

There are people who, having a jealous regard for the interest of the public schools, would go farther than this. They would have the public school organization to be used in the furtherance of extraneous movements. The schools are not designed for propaganda or exploitation; let it be constantly remembered that their mission is to educate.

In ancient times not a few Michigan people went to Kalamazoo because it was so peaceful there, but after the war broke out great crowds rushed to Battle Creek.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

We learn that members of at least one religious society intended to vote against the prohibition amendment because they supposed that it would prohibit wine for sacramental use, but when they learned that it did not prevent the use of wine at least some members changed their minds. The Enterprise last week explained the law.

Anyone who doubts the importance of Manchester as a stock shipping point should have been at the stockyards Saturday to see activities of that kind. There have been larger shipping days but Saturday the Co.-Opps, Charles Burtless and Wm. Rehffuss shipped 10 decks of hogs, sheep and cattle. Charles Burtless who is probably the largest dealer in sheep in this part of the country, that day shipped 10 cars of sheep from Manchester, Saline, Clinton, Chelsea and Tipton.

Attention is called to the fact that the polls of the election will be open from 7 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock in the evening. An addition of three hours has been added because it was feared that all would not be able to vote if they did not. There will probably be over 600 votes cast. The voting of the regular tickets will be by machine, the amendments of course by ballot. There will be two extra booths provided. We also would suggest that as many as can begin voting when the polls open or as early as possible.

A meeting is being held at the M. A. C., East Lansing, today and tomorrow, March 20 and 21, looking to the forming among the livestock shipping organizations of the state of an organization in furtherance of the co-operation plan in various ways, such as better shipping facilities, buying of feed, regulations regarding expenses, shortage, insurance, improvement of livestock, etc. There are at present five co-operative associations in this county, namely in Manchester, Chelsea, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Dexter. Managers B. F. Matteson and Frank Logan of this village are attending this meeting.

Stranded Truck Drivers Helped Out By Society That Don't Wait For War or Ceremony.

When the soldiers who were driving government motor trucks from Detroit to Chicago notified authorities here Sunday night that their trucks were stuck in the mud in Bridgewater and that the men were soaked with rain, the local Red Cross got busy and expected to entertain the boys with a dinner at the Young Men's Club the next day, but when it was found they could not get free of the mud the eatables and lots of hot coffee were sent to the boys, who have had to remain in Bridgewater, some sleeping in the trucks and some in Mr. Middlemiss' barn. Tuesday hot coffee, meat, etc. were sent down to Bridgewater for the boys' dinner and a few of the soldiers came here and were cared for at the Young Men's Club Tuesday night. The boys were in need of dry socks so the Red Cross bought and sent 32 pairs.

Seven Years In Use

LALLEY-LIGHT has been in actual farm use for seven years. That removes it far from all thought of experiment. Hundreds of farmers know it is reliable and safe and low cost to run. They know its light is bright and steady and un-failing. We will give you a free demonstration of Lalley-Light on your farm any time. Call for the book of owners' testimonials.

LALLEY-LIGHT

With electricity you can have this brilliant light all over the house, ready for instant use. You do not need to carry a lamp from one room to another, with the danger of the lamp going out in a sudden gust of wind. The light is ready in every room, to be turned on when needed and turned off when no longer required. And in the barn, too, instead of the dim light of the old lantern, with the everlasting danger of fire, you can have this same splendid, safe light. With electric power you can have running water under pressure, so that in case of fire from any other cause, you are better able to put it out without serious loss.
