SOLDIERS WELCOMED

Boys in Khaki Made to Feel Whole Community Is Happy to See Them Back.

On the evening of Decoration Day Arbelter hall was filled to capacity with people who went to be a part and parcel of the welcome home to the soldier boys.

The boys, too, were there in good number from Manchester, Sharon, Freedom and Bridgewater townships and received the glad hand from many friends whom they had not seen since coming home. Each one seemed as pleased to be back mingling with the old friends as the stay-at-homes were to have them.

A. J. Waters, who has been given the title of Major-General of the Home Guards, acted as commander of the evening and opened the program by roll call, to which each soldier responded with a salute in his snappiest style.

Corporal Clarence Kern, who probably had as much experience with the gas mask as any of our boys, then gave a demonstration of that ferocious but effective appliance. He also exhibited and explained several souvenirs from the battlefield, which are a part of his collection.

Julius Lindbergs, who is always ready to lend his voice in a good cause, was called on for a song and "Dear Old Pal of Mine" was so good that an encore was necessary.

Then came the drawing of a handsome piece of quilt contributed by Mrs. William Rehtuss, Jr., and Benj. F. Matteson held the lucky number 29 that drew it. This was for the Red Cross and $37.50 was realized from the sale of tickets. Auctioneer F. D. Merthew then auctioned a comfortable which had been contributed by Mrs. C. Lehn, and John Miller, who was the highest bidder, bore it away.

The address of the evening was by Rev. Fr. Hackett. It was brief but appropriate and was received with generous applause.

The program from the stage being thus concluded, there was yet the dancing to follow. While the floor was being cleared, members of the G. A. R. with Old Glory led the boys bearing the service flags of the four townships on a round of Exchange Place, accompanied of course by the band which had been present all the evening and contributed its full share to the patriotic program. After the parade, dancing was indulged in and concluded an event pleasing to all.

GRIZZLY BEAR FROM ASIA

Something Like a Million Years Ago the Animal Came Here by Way of Alaska.

The grizzly bear has been known to the white race a little more than a century. Lewis and Clark wrote the first official accounts of him in 1805, and he was first discussed publicly in 1814 by Gov. De Witt Clinton in New York city. Guthrie's old geography says that he was named Ursus horribilis by Naturalist George Ord in 1815. Fossil records indicate that the grizzly is of Asiatic origin. He appears to have come into America about a million years ago over one of the prehistoric land bridges that united Alaska and Asia. Bears and dogs are descendants from the same parent stock. The grizzly bear never eats human flesh, is not ferocious and fights only in self-defense. He leads an adventurous life, is a born explorer and ever has good wilderness manners—never makes attacks. The numerous cases in which the grizzly has been made a pet and companion of man, where he was thoughtfully, intelligently raised, show him to be a superior animal, dignified, intelligent, loyal and uniformly good tempered.

Not a grizzly exists in any of the four national parks of California, and that animal, once so celebrated in that state, is extinct there. He is also extinct over the greater portion of the vast territory which he formerly occupied, and is verging on extermination.

WAS LONG FAMOUS HIGHWAY

Cumberland Pike a Well-Traveled Road in the Early Days of the Country.

When the immigrants traversed the Santa Fe trail, when they went overland to the Golden Gate, when they traversed the prairies in every direction, they did not travel in trek carts, says Dan Beard in Boys' Life. They traveled in what were known as prairie schooners, and the prairie schooner was a direct descendant of the conestoga, and the conestoga wagon was the freight wagon that carried all the freight over the old Cumberland road, or the Old Pike, as it was sometimes called. This was the first good road from Wheeling, W. Va., to Fort Cumberland—now Cumberland, Md., a pretty little town delightfully situated on a branch of the Potomac river. There were two routes to the Ohio valley, one over the famous Boone trail to Cumberland Gap blazed on the trees in 1775. The other route was over the Braddock road to the Youghiogheny, and it was in the general direction of this road that the Cumberland pike was built, a splendid road of stone covered with gravel that passed over great arched bridges thrown across the ravines and water courses. The Cumberland road was laid out by an Indian guide and in 1848 it was acknowledged to be the greatest traveled highway in America.

Interpreter Wanted.

Curling, like its sister Scottish game of golf, has its own vocabulary. Here is a dialogue in which a Scot in the Antipodes tried to illustrate the "kit-the-pints" of the game to his New Zealand friends. "What's a pat-lid, Mr. Macpherson?" asked an inexperienced member of the venerable "skip." "Div ye no see, ye gowk?" said the skip. "Ye ding yer stane cannily, but nee sae fine as tae hog it. Nae halfin' fleg, nor jinkin' turn, ye ken, but tendley, that it aye gangs snoovin' an' straight as an elder's walk, hog-smotherin' among the guirds, till ye fan' on the verra tee. When ye've done that, laddie, ye've made a pat-lid, and ye may bear the gree!"

CAMPHOR

Much Used, But Little Known Generally of Origin and Gathering.

Originally camphor was procurable from many countries in the far East, such as Borneo, India, China, Japan, Formosa and other islands in the Straits Settlements. With the rapid increase in the use of camphor it has become more difficult to secure. The camphor forests of Japan have been depleted to a large extent, the forests of China were neglected and all other sources of supply, with the exception of the large island of Formosa, which was acquired by the Japanese during the Japanese-Chinese war, have of late dwindled into insignificance. For years Formosa has supplied practically all of the natural camphor consumed and since shortly after the Japanese acquisition of this island the camphor industry has been operated under a government monopoly. For some time camphor allotments were made to consumers in this country through established brokers and refiners, but since about 1909 the distribution has been made through a Japanese company. Allotments for use in some industries have been made on a three-month basis, with the quantity and price determined by the government monopoly, the result being that these industries have known only three months in advance how much they could secure and what the price would be.

The camphor industry in Formosa has grown to great proportions under present government supervision. The immense forests are natural to the island and trees are found of tremendous size and many years of age, the trees as the growth matures, and so rich in camphor content as to produce as high as $100 per tree. The methods employed for years in collecting camphor were permanently destructive to the forests, the trees being felled completely and the branches, bark and trunk being cut into chips for distillation.

Camphor, commonly known by the misnomer "camphor gum," is a crystalline substance. It is supposed to be formed in the leaves of the trees and deposited in the leaf and branch membranes, being passed back by the twigs and branches to the body of the tree as the growth matures. In extracting camphor from the tree in Formosa a simple distillation is employed, subjecting the small cut chips to a steam bath in small, portable retorts. The camphor volatilizes under the action of steam and passes through a condenser and there is collected as camphor and camphor oils. The forests of Formosa will be exhausted by the end of late the Japanese government has been paying some attention to reforestation. About 35 years ago a quantity of camphor berries was imported from Japan and some years ago the government undertook the establishing of a tree nursery. A large consuming company also purchased land and invested much money in the project and today there is a well developed area of camphor trees of varying sizes.

FED HIMSELF TO THE HORSE

Unpleasant Few Minutes for Small Boy Who Tumbled Down Chute With the Hay.

One morning, when little Hal Perry was doing chores in his father's barn, he met with an accident that placed him in a peculiarly helpless position. He had made his way to the left loft to get down fodder for the stock. In climbing over the hay he slipped and fell, feet foremost, into one of the chutes. When he came to a stop his bare feet extended to the manger where Jim, the only bad-tempered horse in the barn, was hungrily seizing mouthfuls of the fodder. The boy screamed for help, but no one heard him, for the house was at some distance, and his voice was muffled. There was nothing that offered a hold; the chute had been made smooth in order that the hay might slide through easily. He tried to gain a purchase by thrusting outward with his elbows, so that he might lift his feet, but it was of no use; he could

After a few minutes the farmer providentially entered the building and heard his son sobbing and calling, "Father, come quick! Jim is eating me." "Where are you?" shouted the farmer. "In the chute." "Back, Jim!" roared the man; and the horse obeyed.

Mr. Perry hastily turned Jim loose in the yard, and, seizing a rope, leaped upstairs. Making a noose, he let it down to the small boy, who slipped it under his arms, and ceased to cry as he felt himself being drawn safely up.—Youth's Companion.

GREAT WORK ILL REWARDED

Milton Spent Nine Years Writing "Paradise Lost," and Sold the Copyright for $25.

Milton began to write the poem in 1658, and it was ready for the press in 1667. It was published in 1667. Counting that Milton did more or less on the poem up to the time of its publication, it would make nine years consumed in the writing. Milton sold the copyright to a London book seller for £5 ($25) and $25 more when 1,300 copies of the first edition had been sold, and he received an additional $25 for the second and third editions, each of 1,300 copies. The first edition was published in 1667, the second and third in 1688 and the fourth and fifth in 1689. Milton died in 1674, and in 1878 his widow transferred all the rights in the work for $40. "So that," says a biographer, £28 ($140), paid at different times in the course of 13 years, was the whole pecuniary reward which this great performance produced to the poet and his widow. The small editions of the work went slowly, only 3,000 copies being sold in 11 years." One writer says: "Few either read, liked or understood it." Another said: "Paradise Lost" had been printed 40 years before it was known to the greater part of England that there was such a book."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Omelets From Turtle Eggs.

The sea is a persistent competitor of the henhouse as a producer of material for omelets. Turtle eggs are eaten in all hot countries. The turtles come ashore to lay their eggs and cover them up. Some times 150 eggs are found in one sand nest. These eggs are about the size of hen's eggs, are covered with a white, parchment-like shell and, if fresh, have an excellent flavor. They make tasty omelets, or may be fried, but if boiled the white will not congeal like that of a bird's egg. Fresh water turtles also lay edible eggs. There are two hard and soft-shelled turtles in the lakes of Florida and Louisiana, and also in South American rivers, such as the Orinoco. The Orinoco turtles lay eggs extraordinarily rich in oil. The Indians of British Guiana collect 25,000,000 of them yearly to obtain the oil.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Knickerbocker Receive Work Concerning Son, Now in England.

Dear Mrs. Knickerbocker: I visited you son Benjamin at King Edward Hospital, Windsor, last Tuesday and he asked me if I would write you just how he is getting along.

He was run down by a motor transport at Slough Camp, where he was stationed, and the lower part of his left leg was rather badly fractured. He was taken at once to the nearest hospital, which is Windsor, and is making a very good recovery. The doctor in charge told me that he was one of the finest physical specimens of a man that he had ever seen, his constitution being very healthy. They think before a great time he will be all right again. He is in an English hospital at present, where he is getting every care and comfort, but it is possible that he may be removed to our American hospital here in London. He seemed quite cheerful and is not in very much pain. He asked me to tell you that you are not to worry, and that he hoped to be able to write you himself in a few days. With very kind regards, yours truly, Credit to Napoleon.

The glory of definitely completing the Louvre was reserved for Napoleon III; the activity he displayed in carrying out this plan compensates to some slight extent for other disastrous episodes of his reign. On the 14th of August, 1857, Napoleon III opened the at last completed Louvre. Two marble slabs commemorated the building of the great French monument, one of the most perfect expressions of the artistic genius of the race. On one of the slabs, which is still in existence, are inscribed the words: "Francis I began the Louvre, Catherine de Medici commenced the Tuileries." On the other marble slab, which has since been removed, it was stated: "1852-1857, Napoleon III joined the Tuileries to the Louvre."

Looking from the business section up our peaceful Raisin river, one of our business men a few days ago remarked that he never realized before what a handsome view it was along the west bank. Doubtless there are many who cross the bridges each day yet do not appreciate the beauty of the river both up and down stream. Just west nature is at her best and a walk through the woods up stream or a trip by boat or canoe is a pleasant experience and art-science and pleasure.

The Philinos are asking for independence and government, and the people of the United States will be very glad to grant it when they are satisfied that the request is made by those who are fit to receive it. The United States and will be able to continue friendly relations. Our government has spent millions of dollars over there, has given the Filipino peaceful homes and educational advantages they have enjoyed before. Every year first that neither Germany nor Japan has dominion over the islands before pulling down the stars and stripes. We have still much work to do in and beyond the Pacific, for the good of humanity, but self-preservation is said to be the first law of nature.

The money subscribed by the business men to pay for oiling the main street of the village by the village of Villars Treasurer Fish. It will be placed in a fund which will be used as required. The oil will arrive very soon and will be applied whenever conditions are favorable. Part of Exchange Place, just recently gravelled, is not packed smooth enough to apply oil. If auto drivers would avoid keeping in a beaten track they would help much in deriding in packing the gravel. Merchants and the fire "ladders" turn water on the gravel every day now to help along in the process. Mr. Pardee of the Clinton lumber firm was in town Tuesday and informed The Enterprise that they have applied oil to Clinton street and that it did not bother traffic on their streets much, except the first day. If everybody will be prudent when the oil is applied, and avoid driving or walking through it until it is well settled into the ground, there will be little objection to it. It surely keeps down the dust.

People tipped their heads back yesterday afternoon to watch an airplane that was passing over the village, going west.

"What are you laughing about?" "Now that peace is here I'm thinking of the poor fellow who got married to escape the draft."

Before normal times come, prices must come down. Prices will not come down until food values decrease. That will not happen until the farmer produces more.

One-third of the population of the country is made up of farmers. They produce just enough today to provide food for the other two-thirds. The result is demand for their products and high prices as a consequence.

Farmers received $24,000,000,000 during 1918 for their products compared to $10,000,000,000 in 1914, an increase of 140 per cent. Meantime the increase in production cost was less than 50 per cent.

While the value of manufactured products has increased 105 per cent, the cost of production has increased 100 per cent.

DEFULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE conditions of a certain mortgage made by Benjamin Slater (single man) to Arthur J. Waters, dated the 24th day of April, A. D. 1918, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Washtenaw and State of Michigan, on the 11th day of April, A. D. 1918, in Liber 145 of mortgages, on page 257, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the principal interest, the sum of one hundred and six dollars, and an attorney's fee of fifteen dollars, as provided for in said mortgage, and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and in the statute in such case made and provided, on Friday the 24th day of August, A. D. 1919, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the undersigned will at the south front door of the Court House in the city of Ann Arbor, in the county of Washtenaw, that being the place where the Circuit Court for the county of Washtenaw is held, sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the amount of the aforesaid due on said mortgage, with six per cent interest, and the costs and charges of said attorney's fee, to wit: The lands, premises and property situated in the township of Manchester, county of Washtenaw, and State of Michigan, described as follows, to wit: That certain parcel of land being on the south east quarter of section No. 28 and bounded on the north by lands owned by Thomas F. Rushton, on the east by said section line, on the south by lands owned by Claude Fielder and on the west by the center of highway, containing in all forty acres of land, be the same more or less, subject to four prior mortgages to the same party.

Dated, May 14th, 1919.

ARTHUR J. WATERS, Mortgagee.

H. D. WITTEBELL, Attorney for Mortgagee. Business Address, Chelsea, Mich.

STATE OF MICHIGAN COUNTY OF WASHTENAW

In the Matter of the Estate of JAMES BARNEY, deceased.

Ed. E. Root, administrator, having filed in said court his final administration account, and a petition praying for the allowance thereof and for the assignment and distribution of the balance of said estate.

It is ordered, that the 23rd day of June next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said Probate Office, be appointed for hearing said account.

And it is further ordered, that a copy of this order be published three consecutive weeks previous to said time of hearing, in THE MANCHESTER ENTERPRISE, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county of Washtenaw.

EMORY E. LELAND, Judge of Probate.

DORCAS C. INDIAN, Register.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, THE PROBATE COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF WASHTENAW

In the Matter of the Estate of JAMES BARNEY, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that, by virtue of an order of said court, made on the 24th day of May, A. D. 1919, I shall sell, at public auction, on the 21st day of June, A. D. 1919, at ten o'clock in the forenoon at the front outside door of the dwelling house situated on the premises hereafter described, in said county, the interest of said estate in the following described real estate, to wit: The east 1/2 of the southeast 1/4 of section number thirty-one in the township of Saline, Washtenaw County, State of Michigan, and for the purpose an order, particularly described and for which such sale is authorized by the said Probate Court.

Dated this 24th day of May, A. D. 1919.

WILLIAM H. GADD, Administrator with the will annexed of the estate of James Barney, deceased.
