Idea of New York Man for Practical and Beautiful Adornment of the Highways.

A correspondent writing to the editor of a New York paper suggests a thought that has probably occurred to very few persons interested in the adornment of American highways with trees, but that may be the forerunner of a new idea in such decoration, remarks the Christian Science Monitor. His suggestion, in brief, looks to the planting of productive as well as simply ornamental trees, preferably nut trees, because the common fruit trees, having been cultivated for generations, are more or less spoiled children, requiring continued cultivation if they are to be happy. Such planting he says, would combine the Greek idea of utility and beauty; yet his own experience with fruit trees on the border of a private estate suggests a difficulty, for the trees were ruined by the heedless way in which a miscellaneous public gathered the fruit. Nuts would, perhaps, present less temptation, and there is, of course, hope that the public, once it individually realized that beautifying the common highway was one important function of the trees, would be more careful in its treatment of them. Meanwhile, the setting out of any trees at all is an important step in the right direction.

Fred Dowling who spent two years in the various industrial works of Henry Ford in Detroit and Dearborn threw up his job and came home. He brought wife and son back to their home here some time ago, but Fred stuck to his job until he found that the place where he got his meals wanted to hold him up for the meals he did not eat because he drove home every Saturday, then he quit and is glad to be back to dear old Manchester and his comfy home.

Mrs. Mary Ann Case returned to her home in Jackson last Saturday after spending several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. F. D. Merithew, and her brother, C. B. Carr.

Clarence Dietle, who is now closing out his grocery stock, will enter the employ of Henry Mathews of Ann Arbor, agent for farm electric light plants.

These folks are your neighbors. They work for the telephone company. They are regular people, just like you, your friends and family. They eat food, wear clothes, live in houses, talk, laugh, sing, cry, get peevish (and get over it), enjoy the movies and home-made pies, just like you. In fact, they are human and, like you, they sometimes make a mistake.

These folks are trying hard to give you the best telephone service in the world. They take pride in their work and in their company, and in the fact that theirs is a public service. They know that because it costs them more to live today than yesterday that it costs more to give you the telephone service. They earn more because they need more, but they know that all telephone equipment costs more, too.

They hope that you will not forget that the telephone company is made up of people just like you. They know that the more loyal support and courteous co-operation you give the company and them, the more you recognize that the company's income should pay its labor and maintenance and equipment bills, the better telephone service you will have.

MAIL BOXES ON RIGHT

Postoffice Department Insists That Rural Mail Boxes Be Placed To Avoid Accidents.

To prevent accidents, the postoffice department has issued an order that all rural mail boxes must be placed on the right side of the highway; that is on the right side of the road in the direction the mail carrier drives.

Owing to the cold weather the matter of changing over the boxes that were on the wrong side of the road was deferred, but now that conditions are favorable, Postmaster Koebele desires that prompt attention be paid to the order so he can report on June 1st.

Should any excuse or neglect to comply with the order be presented, the post office will not allow mail delivered in boxes left unchanged, so you see what the result will be. In many places the change has already been made. A mail carrier is liable to be run into by a team or auto when driving across a road to deliver the mail on the wrong side. One of our carriers came near being run into by so doing a few days ago, and had he been struck he could not get damage.

Better make it a point to change your box today and have it done.

Without undue noise, but with banners flying and without making any show of strength and proficiency a section of the "Ship by Truck" movement made Manchester a visit Wednesday forenoon. The party consisted of 12 trucks of as many makes of all models, from the light hurry-up kind to the ponderous four-wheel drive machines.

So quietly did they slip into town that many on Exchange place hardly knew of their presence until the band which accompanied them had mounted the village bandstand and began playing. There was no other demonstration, owners of the various trucks contenting themselves with hanging out a few advertising signs or handing out a few circulars.

The party started from Detroit on Monday traveling via Flint, Ann Arbor and Chelsea and from here proceeded to Saline, Clinton, Tecumseh, Adrian and Monroe, intending to reach Detroit Thursday night.

Though the party were getting tired of unpleasant weather they reported the roads as not bad and said that among the trucks, all of which had pneumatic tires, not one had been punctured.

It is now reported to us that the real estate transfer spoken of last week should have read Wm. Face to Wm. Kirk.
