lear to the prophet that the throne of God was occupied. The Lord was high and lifted up, showing that He is above all kingdoms. This was a peculiar preparation of Isaiah for his work. The one who has really seen God can never be the same again; life has a fuller meaning ever afterward.

2. He Saw the Seraphins Above (vv.
2. 3). Just who these beings are we do not know. The word signifies lery," "burning." They were glorious beings whose business was to wait upon the Lord, to go on errands for upon the Lord, to go on errands for Him. They had six wings—two for flight; two to cover their face, showing reverence; and two to cover their feet, showing humility. These three pairs show that reverence and hu mility are of equal value before God with activity. The song of the seraphims shows that they saw holiness as God's supreme attribute. The thrice "holy" perhaps refers to the Trinity. The first choir sang, "Holy, holy, holy,"

and the second choir responded this by saying, "The whole earth is full of His glory."

3. The Manifestation of Majesty (v. 4). "The posts of the door moved at the voice of him that cried, and the house was filled with smoke." The smoke, no doubt, signified God's wrath against man's sinfulness (see Psalms 18:8; 74:1).

II. Isalah's Conviction of Sin (v. 6). The vision of God brought the

The vision of God brought the prophet to see himself. It is only in the light of God's holiness that we see our unholiness. When Peter got a glimpse of who Christ was he begged Him to depart from him, saying, "Depart from me; for I am a sinful man, O lord' (Luke 5:29). The prophet not only realized that he was a simen, but that the nation was a nation of sinners. What the world needs today above all things is a vision of God. Differ Concerning Apparition.

An apparition in dazzling white appeared above the altar at Belmont about the study of literature, history, the drama, travel, civics, parliamentary law and current events. The literary work of the members includes splendid papers, debates, poems, stories and plays. The club has always contributed to civic and benevolent causes, the formation of the Manchester Library association being perhaps the most important achievement. Many delightful functions have been given and received in the observation of holidays and reciprocity meetings.

At the close of the program a delicious supper was served, after

Most of us have, or have had, a tendency to be lazy about thinking. That, in itself, is not dangerous; a tendency can be overcome if we are interested in overcoming it. But many people, not realizing what is the matter with their minds, let lazy thinking habits develop unchecked. The slipshod mind develop unchecked. The slipshod mind has always an excuse ready. It says, "I'm too tired to work now. What I need is a thorough rest to fit me for thinking. Tomorrow I shall be able to do this work easily." Sometimes the excuse is genuine, but we must be on our guard to see that the tired feeling really means overwork. We must be on the lookout for the idle brain that exemplatus of being extracted.

Long Distance Service Restored

VERY important point in Michigan C can again be reached by Long Distance. Poles and wires crushed by storm have been replaced sufficiently to meet demands of business.

It was an appalling task. Nearly 20,000 poles and 6,500 miles of circuits were destroyed, with tremendous losses in money.

But the people of the Telephone Company realized the dependence of the industrial and social welfare of every community on the wires and made every effort to restore service. Not a minute, night or day, did they relax their efforts.

Today, therefore, their first task-that of establishing emergency circuits-is finished. And they appreciate the patience and understanding of their difficulties shown by users of the
