This illustrates a fact that is keeping many doctors busy these days—human bodies, like chaises, break down because some part isn't as

Very often it's because of ill-balanced food, lacking in some imp tant element of nutrition. This is especially true of ills developed in childhood, and carried on through life.

Grape-Nuts, that world famous, ready-to-eat cereal, brings the plan of building each part as strong as the rest—to serve human need. Grape-Nuts contains all the nutriment of those best of the field grains, wheat and barley, including the vital mineral elements, and it is a wonderful food for building and sustaining health and strength.

The delicious flavor and crispness of Grape-Nuts make it a welcome dish whenever you're hungry.

Savage Tribes Revered the Cross. From the early days of the church Christians showed great respect for its significance, with St. Paul "glorying of our Lord Jesus Christ. the gestural sign of the cross extensively. Tertullian wrote in the Second century: "At every step the bath, at the table, when the lights are brought, when we go to bed, when we sit down, whatever it is that occupies us, we mark the forehead with the sign of the cross."

Even before the Christian era the ss was an object of religious veneration among savage tribes. The death of Christ gave it a new meaning.

Fishermen Use Colored Nets. In Dalmatia it has been noticed that the fishermen dye their nets in green. They have found by experience that while the fish are canny enough to fear the white nets and fiee from them as from a danger signal, they swim calmly into the meshes of the green and brown ones

It seems possible that this is because the green and brown strands of the nets are not unlike the floating strands of seaweed. Another expla-nation is that the eye of the fish is unable to distinguish these two colors from that of the sea water.

These dyes are extracted from the bruised barks of plants. After the nets have been well soaked in these natural dyes and then thoroughly dried, the colors are found to be fast both as regards water and sunlight.
