MAINE ENJOYS WINTER SPORTS

Former Manchester Girl Says Zero Weather Is Moderate There.

In writing to renew her subscription to the Enterprise, Mrs. Emma Leeson-Fitch, of Orono, Maine, adds: "An item in a recent issue when you stated that the teachers braved the zero weather and attended the teachers' institute at the high school, interested us. After three winters in Maine we think with the rest of the folks here that zero weather is quite moderate, just brisk and nice. We get 10, 12 and 15 below and yet people go just the same. When storms block the trolleys folks put on snow shoes or skis, fur coats and woollens and still go. The winter sports are looked forward to with much anticipation and the students at the University have such good times in spite of the cold. We wish Manchester people a prosperous and enjoyable new year."

Mrs. Fitch was a graduate of the Manchester high school in the class of 1907. Her husband is teaching in the University of Maine, in the department of physics.

The Co-Ops will hold their annual meeting at Arbeiter hall, Saturday, Jan. 13th, at 11:30 a. m., dinner following. Their directors will be elected and other business transacted. Be prompt. By order of Committee.

Opie Read

The man who edited, published and wrote the Arkhansy Travel for a number of years established himself as a humorist. But his aspirations being to edit and make people think, as well as to amuse them, he turned to a more serious effort. The result has been a large number of typically American titles, mostly about the South, which, for plot, character drawing, narrative power and other qualities, have caused him to be compared favorably with the leading fiction writers of the world.

Mr. Read was born in Tennessee, but has lived for a number of years in Chicago. Formerly he wrote so many stories—and amazingly good ones, too—that people all over the country began to complain of lines of sleep through trying to keep up with them. He is about 70 years of age, but is vigorously a quarter of a century younger. Having become one of the most popular platform speakers, his time is almost entirely filled with Chautauque, Lyceum and other lecture engagements, but he still manages to turn out a novel now and then. We have been fortunate enough to secure "Perivale's House," his latest delightful tale of the old Southland, to be run as a serial in this paper.

BEGINS THIS WEEK IN The Enterprise.

C. C. Dorr of Sharon, one of the oldest Merino sheep-breeders in the state, was elected member of the pedigree committee at the meeting of the Delaine-Merino sheep-breeders at Chelsea last week Wednesday.

During the past fiscal year 158, 457 cattle, or 10 per cent of the entire cattle production of the state, were tested under state and federal supervision. Only two states tested more cattle during this period.

Our citizens are so prompt in cleaning the walks of snow that has fallen during the night that the scraping of their shovels on cement walks awakens neighbors—however we can't say that is any reason why they should desist.

We can't understand why the Spanish-American war veterans are not given pensions, or at least why there should not be a disposition on the part of citizens and public men to favor giving pensions to them as well as to other soldiers.

Farmers realize that without the motor trucks they could not market much of their products. The railroads cannot be relied upon any more. If the truck drivers have to pay a gasoline tax, will not the farmer have to pay just that much more for truckage?

The abundance of snow has made coasting possible on the many hills in the village. The old and favorite resort, Kief's hill, and Boyne street towards the river have not been frequented as in days of yore, when every description of contrivance from the child's hand sled to the big bobbed loaded with a dozen or more boys and girls were brought into use. Sometimes rocking chairs, also boxes and boards were ridden when the snow had become well packed. Boys used to take two barrel staves and tack on strips in which to stick the toes of their boots, and use them for skis. The automobile having come into continuous use, people do not seem to care much for runners—they can skid enough with a car.

PERSONAL

Our townman John Gumper, Sr. has been dangerously ill with pleuropneumonia.

Arthur E. Schrader, a farmer and auctioneer at Saline, paid the Enterprise a pleasant call Monday.

Mrs. Alveda Tracy went to Detroit Friday to visit her nephew, Elbert Lewis, and family and other friends.

Harry Austin of Norvell was a pleasant caller at the Enterprise office while in town on business Monday.

Roy Blythe and Hiram Logan attended the annual meeting of Zal-Gaz Grotto at Ann Arbor Wednesday night.

Mrs. Charles Burtless and son have gone to California to visit relatives. Mr. Burtless, accompanied them part way.

Prof. Corbin, head of the chemistry department of the State Normal College, died Tuesday of scarlet fever, aged 33 years.

Julius Galloway, who was severely injured by a fall last week, is somewhat better, but suffers greatly from the injury to his back.

Wm. W. DeLamater, one of the oldest residents of Columbia township, died at his home in Jefferson on Jan. 4th, aged 90 years.

We learn that Sam. D. Grossman has bought his partner's interest in the real estate business at 8910 Grand River avenue, Detroit.

Harry C. Rowe, who recently purchased a jewelry store at Paw Paw, intends driving here Sunday and will be accompanied back to his new location by Mrs. Rowe.

C. M. Drake, wholesale dealer in butter, eggs and poultry has remembered the Enterprise with one of his calendars showing views of his Philadelphia headquarters.

While skating on the pond above the railroad bridge of the Ypsilanti branch last Friday, one of the boys broke through the ice and took a ducking, but was able to crawl out.

Mrs. Sortor's Sunday school class of the M. E. church was entertained at the home of Westman Blosser Monday evening. About 15 of the "live wires" assembled and had a good time with games, refreshments, etc.

Mrs. Nellie Merithew of Lethbridge, Alberta, who has been visiting here for some time, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. J. Freeman to Detroit last Friday, where she will visit with friends until her husband arrives from Canada.

Eben Horning, proprietor of the Sure-Pop popcorn factory in Brooklyn came here Tuesday to attend the annual meeting of stockholders of The Union Savings Bank. He was a clerk in the bank when it was first started and his father was president for several years.

Rev. and Mrs. Marsh entertained Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Smart and Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Schoen at dinner and for the evening yesterday. Rev. and Mrs. Place of Iron Creek, who also join in these frequent meetings, were unable to be present at this one on account of the roads.

Messrs. Phil Henzie, Mike Henzie, Will Coghlan and John Fahey drove to Detroit Sunday morning, where they were joined by Martin Henzie and all drove to Bad Axe to attend the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Pat Scully, who died at her home there at the age of 85 years. Mr. Scully is still living. Mr. and Mrs. Scully moved to Bad Axe from Manchester township 40 years ago next April.

Manchester will be without a jewelry store beginning next week.

Brief News Items

Horses should be sharp shod now to travel on the hard and slippery roads.

A considerable number of cutters and sleighs appeared on the streets the past week.

Frank Lowery has been making daily trips to Detroit this week, taking stock for farmers.

Ice is of good thickness now but it is covered with snow so the boys and girls can't enjoy skating.

There has been water enough pouring into the river the past two weeks to supply the municipal light plant with power.

The Enterprise has facilities for printing auction bills promptly. If you want us to furnish an auctioneer we can do that too.

Mrs. Barbara Holmes was elected first reader and Sidney Lowery second reader for the coming year, at the Christian Science church.

Workers began cutting and hauling ice to fill Will Sloat's ice house Tuesday. The ice is about nine inches thick and has a "collar" on it.

Another invoice of snow was delivered here Monday night and the sleighing would be good were it not that the automobiles cut the roads badly.

It may be quite unusual for a farmer to have an auction at this season of the year, yet the Enterprise has advertised three thus early in January.

"Periwinkle House," our new story by Opie Read, begins this week in the Enterprise and we expect that our readers will find it very interesting.

The dinner and installation of officers of Manchester Grange was held at the M. E. church parlors last Friday. There was a good attendance and a fine social time was enjoyed.

An Enterprise liner and an honest man restored a fine new kid-wool lined mitten to its owner the next day after the paper was issued last week. Can you afford to part with a valued article at that price?

At the annual meeting of Emanuel's church held last week Thursday the following officers were elected: G. H. Breitenwischer, president; Wm. J. Schlicht, secretary; Herman Keblor, treasurer; Charles Schumaker, elder; Herman Wiedman, deacon; Charles Heimerdinger.

At the annual meeting of the S. W. Farmers' Mutual Fire Ins. Co. held at the Peoples Bank, C. C. Dorr of Sharon was elected president, and Henry R. Palmer of Bridgewater, was re-elected secretary. Two new directors were elected: Frank S. Spafford of Manchester and Frank Rawson of Bridgewater.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Village Hall, Jan. 4, 1923. Council met in regular session, called to order by President Breitenwischer.

Minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

The following claims were presented and allowed:

Mich. State Tel. Co. $ 2.30
Mrs. Jackson 4.00
Mich. State Tel. Co. 2.72
Clinton Local 7.00
F. D. Kern 112.50
Robert Mahrie 30.00
Sinking Fund 100.00

Motion was made by Bowler, seconded by Widmayer and carried that the electric light committee confer with Wm. Springer about purchase of his land now partially flooded by water of lower dam, for which the village has been paying $25 per year.

Supt Kern was instructed to offer old generator at electric light plant to the Power Exchange for $300.

The bills of Burtless & Henzie and C. H. Skinger were held for itemized statement.

Meeting adjourned.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haecker of Detroit were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Sinton last week. In conversation with Mr. Haecker he informed us that he had lived in Detroit over 40 years.

When he came there he was offered a job in the car works at 90 cents a day for 10 hours, but refused it. Several hundred men were working there contentedly at that price.

He has seen the city grow from a population of 100,000 to over one million people, and shop men earning the highest wages paid anywhere.

Mr. Haecker is a brother of Mrs. Einkorn and she and her husband have been frequent visitors here.

The Manchester Co-Ops are getting ready for their annual lovefeast, which will take place at Arbeiter hall, Saturday. They have been operating here, shipping stock, for four years and have conducted a blacksmith shop about two years.

They have "gone it alone," as the saying is, not trying up to any county or state organization and appear to be contented and satisfied. They do not have a state speaker at their annual meeting, but will serve a good dinner and talk over matters while their elect officers for the coming year.

While assisting Sexton Thorn in trimming trees at Oak Grove cemetery last Friday, Julius Galloway fell from a rather high ladder on which he was standing and broke a bone in his wrist and badly injured his back. He was removed to his home and given prompt medical aid but has suffered much pain.

Mr. Thorn believes that had he fallen from the ladder he would have been more seriously, perhaps fatally injured.

Auto drivers, truck drivers and auto clubs are opposing a tax on gasoline.

SCHOOL NOTES

Della Schafer reentered school Monday after a period of two weeks illness.

The girls' glee club are studying the three-part song "A Japanese Love Song" by Thomas.

Cecil Eagan, class of '22, who is attending Assumption College, Ontario, visited the high school last Thursday.

Zoe Herman, who continued in school here after her parents returned to their farm, has entered the rural school.

The 8th Grade having completed the study of the Revolutionary war, are now taking up study of the Constitution.

Ruth and Ruby Dresselhouse, class of '22, visited the high school Friday afternoon. Ruby has been engaged to teach the Row's Corners school.

Mrs. John Grossman and little son Earl and Dora Linde visited the kindergarten last Thursday. Christine Dresselhouse visited the department Friday.

Fred Debok has decided to quit school and will go to Hammond, Ind., his decision coming as a result of the death of his mother, Mrs. Ed. Ahrens of Sharon. We are sorry to lose him as a student, but wish him success in his new home.

The Camp Fire Girls met at the home of Mrs. Nurburber for a regular meeting Monday evening. There were present 23 members. Various committees have been appointed and much enthusiasm is shown by all the girls. Steps have been taken to affiliate with the National Camp Fire.

From an item in last week's issue we are led to believe that it was Miss Haacker who assisted Mrs. Nurburber, and that the kindergarten pupils took part in the Christmas play given by the high school. We wish to correct this: it was Miss Jewell who so ably assisted in making the play a success.

The Girl Scouts held their regular weekly meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Agnes Kent. The troop was organized in November and has made rapid progress. The Girl Scouts are kept busy with hand work and hand work, and ways and means of carrying out the Girl Scout program are discussed at such meetings. This was a particularly enthusiastic meeting because plans were made for the summer camping trip. For this the scouts must earn the money to pay their expenses.

The regular meeting of the Alpha Sigma and the regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association will be held as a union meeting next Tuesday evening. The following program will be rendered: Recitation Earl Troz TALE typical of the dean of America's most successful novelists. It goes back to a period when steamboating on the Mississippi was picturesque and full of romance.

The hero is from the North and the other prominent characters all southern. The atmosphere is entirely of the old South, excepting for a tinge here and there which reveals the carpetbaggers' regime and the influences of the early days of reconstruction.

Unctious with humor and character drawing, presenting both the foibles and the lovable qualities of its people, the story is also salty with a quaint philosophy. Plots and incidents are dramatic and thrilling in the extreme; truly representative of a time when chivalry and hot blood were still in the ascendancy and men and women loved and hated with all the fervor of intense natures.

DOCTORS WANTED TO OPERATE

Mrs. Quillon Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her from an Operation

Monkton, Mich.—"After doctoring for eight or nine years with different physicians without any relief at all, they said that medicine would not reach my case and I should have an operation. I had heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and often saw it advertised in different papers where some women had suffered just as I did and got well and strong again by taking the Vegetable Compound. I decided to see what it would do for me and before I had finished the fourth bottle I was much better, the weakness stopped and the severe pains in my sides left me. I am now much stronger and do my own work and work in the factory besides. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and give it all the praise."—Mrs. NEVILLE QUILLON, 17 Morris St., Monkton, Mich.

Women should heed such warning symptoms as bearing-down pains and weakness, for they indicate some female trouble, and a persistent and faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will seldom fail to help.

LANSING LETTER

(By W. L. Calnon)

Lansing, Mich.—The fifty-second Michigan legislature got under way with greater rapidity than any other in recent years. Within two days both houses had completed their organizations for the session, including the appointment of all committees, had heard the governor's biennial message in joint session, and had received and sent to committee the first of the important measures that will be debated this winter.

Would Repeal Corporate Tax. Taxation matters loom at the outset as the greatest that will come up for consideration this year. The first bills to be introduced in the senate and house provide for amendment of the corporation tax law so that the limit of $10,000 to be paid by any corporation will be removed. That limit was placed in the law two years ago because the legislators feared that if the tax went any higher the law might be attacked in the courts and overturned. But the law was attacked anyway and was sustained, so that many feel it will not be held unreasonable to compel the largest corporations in the state to pay the mill tax on their total earnings that small corporations pay. It is believed that the removal of the $10,000 limit would result in the state realizing five to six times as much in future from corporations as it has in the past two years.

Governor Stresses Taxation. Gov. Greenock stressed taxation in his message to the lawmakers at the opening of the session. He declared that through the work of the state administrative board a deficit existing two years ago had been wiped out and that the state now has a surplus exceeding $10,000,000. But this alone does not point the way to reduced taxes on property generally, for the huge amounts of bonded indebtedness for the soldiers' bonus, good roads and other purposes must be provided for, both as to interest and as to funds for paying off the principal.

In fact so much must be prepared for that the governor suggested to the legislators to give the state a breathing spell and not attempt at this time any big increases in the state's program, such as the proposed $700,000 additions to the University and the $1,600,000 building program of the Michigan Agricultural College. "Patience must be exercised until further obligations of this character can be assumed," he remarked.

An emphatic declaration against tax securities was made by Gov. Greenock because of the many millions of dollars which are tied up in them, leaving real property to bear the burden of taxation. Speaking of the general policy of exempting certain securities from taxes, Greenock said: "It is un-American because of its inequality and violates all the principles of economic justice. In principle, those who receive the most benefits from the safeguards of government and who can best afford to pay their share of the taxes, are not obligated to contribute sufficiently towards such expense. Laws permitting these conditions should be repealed."

Propose Further Tax On Autos. Bigger taxes from owners of heavy trucks, cars and buses to help cover road costs were urged by the governor. He did not go into details as to whether this should come through a tax on gasoline or directly on the machines.

Preparation for financing the soldiers' bonus at the rate of $1,800,000 a year and also for financing the road and other internal improvement bonds was urged by the governor.

Election Reform Suggested. The governor, in other parts of his message, covered many points. He urged amendment of the corrupt practices law so that a real curb be placed on excessive expenditures in elections. Other revisions of the election laws are needed, he said, and one of his suggestions was for a shorter ballot. He urged more stringent regulation by the state of old-time life insurance companies and requirement of reduction in their rates; better care of women prisoners and such handling of schools as to remove the stigma of criminality from those confined in them.

Tax Report Follows Message. Promptly following the governor's message came the report of the state tax commission. Also filed with the lawmakers was the report of the special tax commission named by the 1921 legislature. Both reports declared for the opening up of new sources of tax revenue so as to relieve the overburdened real estate and tangible property.

Both reports declared for the removal of tax exempt securities, into which class of investments more and more millions are being placed every year. The tax commission asks for a gasoline tax of from one to three cents a gallon to help pay good roads bonds; for an income tax, despite the voting down of that idea in the last election; for a tax on moneys and credits; for an increased insurance company tax; for more taxes on trust and finance companies; for a higher tax on steam vessels; for an increase in the tax on liquor.

ed tax on heavier motor vehicles and for removal of the corporation tax limit. Speeding up of the work of the legislature is helped by the filing also of the state budget, which suggests approximately $15,000,000 for each of the next two years. The naming of senate and house committees on the first day of the session and the order that institutional committees make their visits to state institutions immediately, so as to know their needs when the budget is up for consideration, are moves for the expediting of business.

Gain Two Weeks in Start. With these moves the 1923 session gets at least a two weeks better start than any session in many years, yet it is felt that this is essential if the session is to be ended by May, because of the many important things to be handled in the time intervening. In the formal organization of the senate for this session, Senator Walter J. Hayes, of Detroit, was elected president pro tempore; Dennis Alward, of Clare, the veteran secretary, was re-elected to another term; and Capt. Charles Tufts, of Ludington, former member of both the house and the senate, was chosen as sergeant-at-arms.

In the house Rep. George W. Welsh, of Grand Rapids, was the unanimous choice for speaker. Thomas D. Meggison, of Antrim county, was elected speaker pro tem. Charles F. Pierce, of Lansing, the veteran clerk of the house, was re-elected, and "Dick" Birkholm, of Eau Claire, was re-elected sergeant-at-arms. Douglass McNaughton, of Kent county, was elected by both houses as legislative postmaster and Aaron Ormsbee, of Genesee, assistant postmaster.

The only contest in either house was that for speaker pro tem of the house, four candidates being entered. Two withdrew early in the balloting and the fight was between Rep. Meggison and Rep. F. J. O'Brien, of Iron River. Heading the list of committee appointments in the senate was Senator Burney Brower, of Jackson, who drew the chairmanship of the powerful senate finance committee. In the house the equally powerful chairmanship of the ways and means committee went to Rep. Nelson G. Farrier, of Hillman.

Legislators Draw Seats. The biennial drawing for seats in the house took up a large part of the afternoon of the first day of the session. One of the features of this drawing was supplied by Rep. William B. Ormsbee, of Flint, elected to a third term. He chose seat No. 4, the same seat which had been held in the 1849 session of the Michigan legislature by his grandfather, Wesley G. Ormsbee. During his second term Rep. Ormsbee held seat No. 10, which had been held thirty years ago by his father, Ira G. Ormsbee. In his first term Rep. Ormsbee had to take pot luck as a beginner and drew seat No. 51. If any son of the present representative from Flint ever goes to the legislature he will have to put in four or five terms to occupy the seat of his father, grandfather and great-grandfather, along with one of his own for his sons to aim at.

Isle Royale Purchase Urged. Among the various items of possible legislative action this year that is causing advance discussion is the proposed purchase by the state of Isle Royale, in Lake Superior, in order to maintain it as a public park in its present primal condition. Private owners of the island are planning to denude it of its timber, it is reported. Gov. Greenock was interested in the matter sufficiently to give it his endorsement in his message to the legislators. He said in this connection: "There has been considerable agitation recently for the acquisition of Isle Royale. This island is located in Lake Superior. The aims of those sponsoring the movement is to convert it into either a state or national park. There can be no question of the worthiness of this object. Its addition to our park system would be a fitting climax to the efforts of those who have interested themselves in providing public recreative advantages. Legislation to prevent the destruction of its wonderful forests and to preserve it as a future game refuge should be enacted. The Conservation Department could well be vested with authority to condemn this island and pay the cost thereof on a basis that will not be too burdensome."

Changes in State Departments. Possible changes in the mode of operation of the state department of agriculture also are causing much discussion, especially among legislators from rural districts. These proposed changes have come to the fore through the resignation of John A. Doelle, commissioner of the department, who has retired in order to accept the vice-presidency of a new federal farm-aid bank in St. Paul, Minn. Mr. Doelle has headed the department since H. H. Halladay, the first commissioner, resigned to become secretary of the agricultural board. The department of agriculture is one of the largest in the state, many activities being grouped in it. During the past few months it has been forced to work on a 40 per cent basis, due to exhaustion of its funds.

Attorney General Meritt Wiley also has tendered his resignation to the governor. He will enter a law firm in Detroit. Gov. Greenock has named Deputy Attorney General Andrew Dougherty to succeed Mr. Wiley until the election of his successor.

Bonus Bill Would Tax Profits. Washington—A soldiers' bonus to be financed by a re-enactment of the excess profits tax law, was proposed in a bill introduced last week by Representative Frear, Republican, Wisconsin. The bill is similar in many ways to that vetoed by President Harding last year, but would eliminate the irrigation scheme attached to that measure and would increase the borrowing value of adjusted compensation certificates. Frear said $2,000,000,000 in profits of corporations had accumulated without taxation.

"One's personal enjoyment is a very small thing, but one's personal happiness is a very important thing. Those only are happy who have their minds fixed on some object rather than their own happiness."

TEMPTING DISHES

Apples are so common and so generally found in any market that we are apt to slight and undervalue them. There is no more tempting garnish for a luncheon dish or for dinner than a rosy-cheeked stewed or baked apple on the dinner plate with the roast. These are prepared by cooking them gently until tender with the skins left on or partly removed to keep them from bursting.

When tender, carefully remove the red skins (of course they should be of the red-skinned variety) and scrape the red with a knife or spoon from the inside of the skin. Paint it back on the cheek of the apple and it makes the attractive "apple in bloom."

Apple Souffle.—Core, peel and stew four tart apples in just enough water to prevent burning. Pass through a sieve. Put one tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan, add four tablespoonfuls of cornstarch and one tablespoonful of flour, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, four tablespoonfuls of cold water, stir and cook until clear. Add one cupful of hot apple sauce sweetened to taste and one teaspoonful of lemon juice. Remove from the fire, add three well-beaten eggs and cut and fold in the stiffly beaten whites and pour into a well-buttered baking dish; bake until puffed and a delicate brown; serve at once.

Split Pea Soup.—Take one pint of dry legumes, one onion, one-half head of celery, three tablespoonfuls of flour, the same of butter, one-half can of strained tomato and one cupful of cream. Soak the peas over night, drain and simmer until tender, stirring often. When the peas are tender, try the onion until tender, also the celery cut fine, in a little beef fat. Add to the soup and cook until smooth. Put through a sieve, add the butter and flour cooked until smooth, the tomato and the cream. Serve hot with toasted wafers.

Date Muffins.—Cream one-third of a cupful of butter with one-fourth of a cupful of milk, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt. Mix two teaspoonfuls of baking powder into two cupfuls of flour; mix all together, beat well and add one-fourth of a pound of chopped dates. Bake in gem pans in a moderate oven.

Fish Mash.—Put hot, salted, cooked potatoes through a ricer, add one egg to a pint of the potatoes, two tablespoonfuls of butter and salt and pepper to season. Beat well and add an equal quantity of baked fish. Fry in bacon fat and serve garnished with parsley.

To preserve a friend three things are necessary: To honor him present, praise him absent, and assist him in his necessities.—Italian Saying.

GOOD THINGS WE LIKE TO TRY

A delicious cake to serve on "special occasions" is the following:

Fruit Layer Cake.—Cream one cupful of butter, add two cupfuls of sugar, six eggs, beaten well, one cupful of milk, two and one-half cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of vanilla, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder. The yolks of the eggs if added first and the whites stiffly beaten folded in at the last make a very delicate cake. Bake in layers.

Fruit Filling.—Boil two cupfuls of sugar until it threads and pour slowly over three stiffly-beaten whites of eggs, beat well, add one-half cupful of citron finely shredded, one-half cupful of figs one cupful of raisins chopped, one pound of blanched and chopped almonds. Spread between the layers and on top.

Spanish Bernada.—Wash, skin and cut into dice two pounds of fresh fish, bass or halibut, or any fish in season. Have ready five large potatoes sliced, two onions sliced, one-half a can of tomatoes and a few spoonfuls of catsup. Arrange in a deep baking dish in layers, first the fish, then the potatoes, next the onions, and last the tomatoes; pour over the catsup and sprinkle with two tablespoonfuls of butter cut into bits. Add salt to season and bake three hours, well covered.

Baked Bananas With Sultana Sauce.—Cook one-half cupful of sultana raisins in one and one-half cupfuls of boiling water for thirty minutes. Sift together one-half cupful of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of cornstarch, then add the raisins and water, of which there should be a cupful. Boil six minutes, add one teaspoonful each of lemon juice and vanilla and serve poured around the baked bananas.

Seafoam.—Dissolve two cupfuls of granulated sugar in one-half cupful of hot water, then add one-half cupful of white corn syrup and boil until a little dropped into cold water will make a hard ball. Have the whites of two eggs beaten until stiff, pour over them the boiling syrup very slowly, beating all the while. Add vanilla and nuts and when stiff drop by spoonfuls on a buttered sheet.

Neenie Maxwell Ancient Custom. The satisfaction of English-speaking races of shaking hands is very ancient. It is mentioned by Homer, Aristophanes and by Virgil. As the confirmation of a bargain it appears in II Kings 10:15. Today it is confined to western races.

Birth Rate in France

During the first six months of 1922 the birth rate in the ten largest cities of France showed a decrease of 10 per cent compared with that of 1921. The figures for Paris were 24,288 per 1,000.

BONEHEAD PLAY OF NOAH'S

Boneheads have been pulled since the dawn of light. The idea that any particular age sees them running wild is a mistake. The first famous bonehead that history records was pulled by no less a personage than old Noah.

Noah simply couldn't see things right; he had no vision and, therefore, missed the "Golden Chance." He had 40 long nights in which to get up and put the two mosquitoes in the world out of business. He could have done it with one smash of his fly swatter. But Noah moved away at the switch and in time the dove appeared with the olive branch and the next day the people walked off the ark onto land and the mosquitoes went with them. There are many other famous boneheads that might be here recorded, but none of them equals old Noah's as a work of art, so the committee appointed for the purpose has decided unanimously to place his name in the hall of fame.—Bert Walker in the Topeka Capital.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It

Applicants for Insurance Often Rejected.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success. An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview on the subject, made the astonishing statement that the one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When written be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

Egyptian Noah's Ark Race

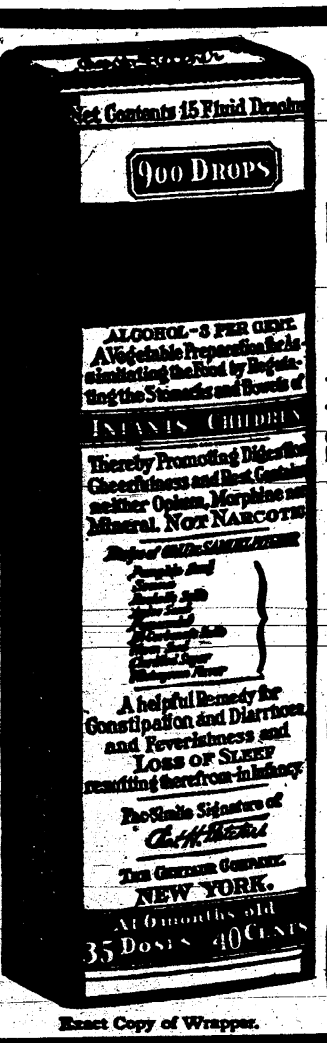

One of the curious spectacles witnessed by King Edward when, as prince of Wales, he visited Egypt, was a grand Noah's ark race, open to animals and birds. Dr. Kilmer, who included an ostrich, a turkey, a pelican, a monkey, a pig, a Cairo dog, and a cat. The contest resulted in the ostrich winning in a canter, while the pig came in second, and the dog third. The pelican made play at a good pace, but sniffing the smell of water, all visitors or renowned fled from it, and it bolted out of the course. The cat, too, was cruelly treated, puss going capitolly till the monkey jumped on her back and put her winning the race entirely out of the question.

PUSSY HAD TO COME FIRST

Good Reason Why Impetuous Pair Couldn't Afford to Steal Cat's Provisions.

A certain artist and his wife—who is an artist, too—recall an incident of their early studio days. A friend leaving the city for a few weeks left in their care a large, healthy and hungry looking cat with injunctions to give it good care. The feline's owner left with them sufficient funds to keep the cat in meat.

The artistic pair, not having attained their present success, were the reverse of affluent at the time.

"There we were, not eating regularly ourselves," said the husband the other evening as he consumed the last of a large pork chop, "and we seldom had meat. But we had to sit around and watch the cat eat good liver."

"Why didn't you steal the cat's liver sometimes?" he was asked.

"We wanted to," he answered, "but the animal wasn't fat and we were afraid its ribs would show when its mistress got back."

Fashion.

Beautiful silk nighties in a window attracted the attention of the Woman. And then she noticed across the top of one of these nighties some cats embroidered with much cleverness. Playful cats they were, but even in their embroidered faces they looked "catlike," as, of course, they should have done.

Did some cynical male fashion creator decide on this touch or was this a creation for some fapper who could exclaim:

"They're certainly the cat's pajamas."—New York Sun.

Out of Date.

The mid-Victorian aunt was paying her annual visit. It was Sunday afternoon and she had been left in charge of the baby fapper. Wondering how she should entertain her, she said: "Shall I tell you a story?" "Yes," assented the youngster in rather bored tones. "How would you like to hear about Adam and Eve in the beautiful garden?" "Oh, I'm sick of the Adamas. Don't you know anything else?"

LOST FAITH IN PHYSICIAN

Mrs. Giles Naturally Indignant at His Frank Admission of Ignorance of Medicine.

Mrs. Giles' husband had been very ill. For days he had been gradually getting worse, but at last there came a change for the better.

When the doctor called and had a look at his patient, he announced: "He is convalescent."

On hearing this, Mrs. Giles regarded the physician suspiciously; and her suspicion increased when he prepared to go without further comment.

"Well, doctor," said Mrs. Giles, "what are you going to do about it?" "Do?" was the answer. "There ain't nothing to be done."

"Well, you are a doctor, ain't you?" retorted the enraged lady. "Ain't you got no medicine for this ere convalescent?"

Railroad Robberies.

French railroads in the past three years have paid a total of 598,500,000 francs indemnity for merchandise stolen in stations and transit, lost or deteriorated. It was announced recently, All but a few millions of this sum which is considerably greater than the budget voted for France's army this year—covered the work of railroad robbers. No wonder that the French passed legislation increasing greatly the penalties of this type of theft and providing in extreme cases the penalty of hard labor for life.

PUSSY HAD TO COME FIRST

Good Reason Why Impetuous Pair Couldn't Afford to Steal Cat's Provisions.

A certain artist and his wife—who is an artist, too—recall an incident of their early studio days. A friend leaving the city for a few weeks left in their care a large, healthy and hungry looking cat with injunctions to give it good care. The feline's owner left with them sufficient funds to keep the cat in meat.

The artistic pair, not having attained their present success, were the reverse of affluent at the time.

"There we were, not eating regularly ourselves," said the husband the other evening as he consumed the last of a large pork chop, "and we seldom had meat. But we had to sit around and watch the cat eat good liver."

"Why didn't you steal the cat's liver sometimes?" he was asked.

"We wanted to," he answered, "but the animal wasn't fat and we were afraid its ribs would show when its mistress got back."

Fashion.

Beautiful silk nighties in a window attracted the attention of the Woman. And then she noticed across the top of one of these nighties some cats embroidered with much cleverness. Playful cats they were, but even in their embroidered faces they looked "catlike," as, of course, they should have done.

Did some cynical male fashion creator decide on this touch or was this a creation for some fapper who could exclaim:

"They're certainly the cat's pajamas."—New York Sun.

Out of Date.

The mid-Victorian aunt was paying her annual visit. It was Sunday afternoon and she had been left in charge of the baby fapper. Wondering how she should entertain her, she said: "Shall I tell you a story?" "Yes," assented the youngster in rather bored tones. "How would you like to hear about Adam and Eve in the beautiful garden?" "Oh, I'm sick of the Adamas. Don't you know anything else?"

LOS ANGELES MAN SAYS IT NEVER FAILS

Tanlac is my stand-by, and I wouldn't think of being without it. It has set me on my feet more than once when I had such bad spells of stomach trouble. I thought I couldn't get well. This emphatic statement was made recently by W. O. Wallace, 200 N. Normandie Place, Los Angeles, Calif.

An acid stomach and indigestion caused me indescribable suffering for more than four years," he said. "Awful pains would strike me soon after eating, and I would be almost doubled up in agony. Often I had to take to my bed, and I would lose much weight with every spell. I was told I had ulcers, enlarged stomach and other ailments, but all my efforts to get relief failed. I kept getting worse, and figured I would have to get something to help me or I couldn't keep going much longer.

"I read in the papers where Tanlac was helping others with stomach troubles, so I began taking it. It never failed to straighten me out, and I gained back my lost weight, too. I am more grateful than I can say for the good this medicine has done me, and I do not hesitate to give it my fullest recommendation."

"My little girl had grippe, whooping cough, and chickenpox, one after the other, and it left her in terrible condition. She could hardly walk, so when the doctor suggested I quit doctoring and use Hypo-Cod, which I bought at the drug store. The first few doses helped her so much I knew I was on the right road and kept it going. She gained every day. Appetite came back. Then she grew strong, and I cured her weak kidneys, too. We used ten bottles. I have also recommended Hypo-Cod to several friends who give it great praise. My mother was very sick last spring with lung trouble. She could hardly drag across the room so I sent her two bottles of Hypo-Cod, and she says it built her up fine. She was doing all her own work again in two weeks. I would like to send her two more bottles, as she can't get it where she lives. Another lady friend of mine here in Detroit took two bottles on my recommendation and it built her right up—the chickenpox trouble and no appetite and now she feels fine—has rosy cheeks, looks dandy. I know Hypo-Cod is a real tonic. Just keep it up and you won't have to call a doctor," declared Mrs. Geo. Stewart, 4177 Mott St., Detroit. Strong healthy people laugh at disease and winter ill. Be not strong, get busy and build yourself up. Sickness attacks weak folk first. Sickness costs a lot of money. A stitch in time saves nine. Care in Feeding Sows Before Farrowing and a Comfortable, Safe Home for the Little Pigs Means Added Profits.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD
Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building work on the farm, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, 100 West Prairie Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Hog raisers know that a spring pig brought to maturity and finished for the market in the shortest possible time is the most profitable. They also know that care in feeding of the sows before farrowing, and providing a comfortable, safe home for the little pigs mean added profits. Spring pigs have advantages over fall pigs in that they get a good start in life before they are turned out to pasture and come along under the best of conditions. To have profitable spring pigs and another litter in the fall the sows must be bred so that they will farrow their litters early—in February or the first part of March. These months in the corn belt states are well-nigh fatal to newly born pigs unless they have the

The pens are ranged along the sides of the building. A window in the side wall admits light and sunshine to each of the pens, while a double row of roof windows on the south exposure admit light and sunshine to the pens on the opposite side of the building.

Sunshine has two good uses in a hog house and during the cold damp months of late winter and early spring, too much of it cannot be admitted to the farrowing pens. In the first place sunshine is a germicide. It keeps the pens sanitary. In the second place it provides heat and dispels dampness. The arrangement of the windows is such that at all times in the day, some part of the pen will receive the sun's rays.

The building shown is 24 feet wide and 48 feet long. Through the center runs the feed alley and driveway. Along one side the south side of the building are eight farrowing pens. On the other side are six pens, with a good-sized feed room in the corner. Each pen has a concrete feed trough, which makes it a convenient matter to run the feed cart along the alley and distribute the feed. A portion of each pen is covered by a plank floor, on which the bedding is placed. This floor is slightly raised from the concrete permitting a circulation of air between the planks and the concrete. This method is used to keep the young pigs off the cold, damp floor, and provide a dry place for the bedding. Pig guards are along the side where the plank floor is placed, to enable the young pigs to escape their bulky mothers or when she lies down to feed them. Connected with the house on either side by small doors near the floor line are concrete feeding floors, which mean a saving of feed and more healthy sows and pigs. Many hog raisers use removable partitions between the pens, so that in summer the house may be used as a shelter and inside feeding floor. Extreme heat of summer retards the growth of the hogs and some right kind of quarters to get a start in. "That is the reason great stress has been laid on hog houses by the experts at the agricultural colleges, and several designs, each well suited for a farrowing house, have been brought out and advocated, for general construction.

Shown in the accompanying illustration is a good type of hog house, or barn, which was designed by the experts at the Iowa state college. This is known as the gable roof house. It is a frame building set on a concrete foundation and having a concrete floor.

CLEMENCEAU AS A "CHINK"

"Poliu" Easily Deceived Concerning Identity of Head of the French Government.

Georges Clemenceau's features are of a pronounced Mongolian type. One of his numerous visits to the trenches during the war he had a long conversation with an officer, who while engaged in commanding a company of infantry for the moment, incidentally happened to be a deputy. After Clemenceau had left the sector a "poliu" stepped up to the captain and said:

"Who is the civilian you were talking to a minute ago, captain? It seems to me I've seen his picture somewhere."

The captain was nonplussed. Was it possible that one of his soldiers did not know the "Tiger"? So he decided to have a little fun with the man. "He is a rich and powerful Chinese mandarin," the captain informed the soldier. "He dresses in the European fashion so as to visit the trenches place where they can rest in the shade is needed.

A house like this pays for itself in a few years. It permits the owner to have two litters of pigs a year, and insures that greater number of them live and grow into real money when marketing time comes.

Without creating too much of a stir. "He might better raise an army of five or six million Chinese and come and give us a lift here against the Germans," replied the "poliu" gruffly.

Lofty Regret.
The absent-minded inventor perfected a parachute device. He was taken up in a balloon to make a test of the apparatus. Arrived at a height of a thousand feet, he climbed over the edge of the basket, and dropped out. He had fallen 200 yards when he remarked to himself, in a tone of deep regret: "Dear me! I've forgotten my umbrella."

It is the virgin highland region, much of it almost unexplored, that is now calling hundreds of the more adventurous tourists to the trails of the back country.

Doesn't Always Work.
"Married couples should yield to one another's opinions to get along," said the sober-faced man.
"I dunno," responded the other. "It didn't work in our case. I told my wife I wasn't worthy of her and she declared I was. For the sake of harmony I yielded my opinion and I said I was worthy of her and she, not to be outdone in generosity, I suppose, yielded her opinion and said I wasn't. And so we parted. No, I guess what you said isn't so, stranger."

Ask Him at End of Month.
"Brother Williams, if the summons were to come for you to go to heaven tonight, would you be ready and willin'?"

FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

Over 67 Years of Success

For Coughs and Colds

W. N. U., DETROIT, NO. 2-1923.

According to a popular idea, a philanthropist is an easy mark.

Political activity in a small Indiana town won for one of the village lights the postmaster ship. Quite properly, politically speaking, he ran both thumbs in the plum pudding and thought he was a great boy. But he was no bookkeeper. His accounts soon got in what might be called a mess. Finally he got word to prepare for checking out. He fussed over the accounts for hours and late into the evening.
"Come on out to supper," pleaded a friend.
"Supper!" exclaimed the troubled one. "I don't want no supper. I'm full of figures!"

Blue is the favorite color of both men and women, according to Dr. Thaddeus L. Bolton, professor of psychology at Temple university, who has made a research study of colors. Blue and yellow and black and yellow are the most popular combinations of both sexes, with violet as favorite from the time of the immemorial as the royal color, Doctor Bolton says.

Some wise men know too many things that are not true.

WESTERN CANADA Big Wheat Crops

Canada is the world's greatest producer of wheat—second only to the United States—yet only about 12% of the tillable area has been worked. Yields of 40 bushels of wheat per acre are not uncommon. Oats have given as high as 100 bushels per acre, while 40 to 50 bushels per acre are ordinary yields; barley and rye in like proportion. Cattle and horses thrive on the native grasses which grow abundantly and corn and sudanese culture are highly successful.

Stock Raising, Dairying and Mixed Farming

secure for the individual with ample returns for his energy. Clearing the cost of one's farm with a single year's crop has an appeal, and has been done by hundreds of Western Canada farmers. Access to land (on improvement). Perfect climate, attractive social conditions, good neighbors, churches, schools, telephones, excellent markets and shipping facilities make life happy as well as prosperous.

Chicago Daily Tribune

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Announces A BIG REDUCTION IN SUBSCRIPTION RATES

For the Benefit of Readers Receiving The Tribune By Mail

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, realizing that its phenomenal success is due in a large measure to the fact that for seventy-five years it has numbered among its readers a large proportion of the residents of farms and small cities who receive The Tribune by mail, announces for their benefit a big reduction in subscription rates effective January 15th, 1923.

The reduction ranges from 1/3 to 1/2 below former rates

In 1917, as a war measure, Congress passed a bill providing for four annual raises in Postal Rates for newspaper subscriptions. As The Tribune had, for many years before, sold its paper to out-of-town readers at less than cost, it felt compelled to add a portion of these postage increases to its subscription rates.

For the past three years The Chicago Tribune has been leading the fight to obtain a reduction in second-class postage rates so that it could reduce to pre-war prices its subscription rates to residents of farms and small cities.

Although every one of the other ten taxes established by the war revenue act of 1917 has been reduced, Congress has not seen fit as yet to reduce the tax on second-class postage.

At the present Postal Rates it costs The Tribune from $3.20 to $6.79 a year for Postage alone to send the paper to each subscriber in the States of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin. In many instances this is more than The Tribune's entire subscription price—without considering the cost of the product.

Many of our former friends have stated that it required from 10 to 12 bushels of corn to pay for a year's subscription to The Chicago Daily Tribune. The Tribune is anxious to remedy that fact.

TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THIS OFFER TEAR OUT COUPON and MAIL AT ONCE!

If you prefer to do so, you may turn subscription coupons below over to your postmaster, publisher, or newsdealer who will forward it to us.

Period	Old Rate	New Rate
1 Month	$1.00	$.50
3 Months	2.50	1.25
6 Months	3.75	2.50
12 Months	7.50	5.00

The Chicago Daily Tribune today enjoys the largest circulation in its history and the largest morning circulation in America—averaging over 530,000 copies daily. It will readily be seen, therefore, that the reduction is not made primarily to secure more circulation.

If you wish to receive The Chicago Daily Tribune—with its many wonderful features—regularly, take advantage of these new, low rates now. Mail subscription coupon below. Note that $2.50 will now bring you The Chicago Daily Tribune by mail for six months, or $5.00 for a whole year.

For the benefit of its country readers The Tribune will continue its fight for fairer postage rates.
