DARWIN'S THEORY OF LIFE

Opinion That Has Been Sharply Attacked and Hotly Defended Since He Expressed It.

Charles Darwin published in 1859 a work entitled "Origin of Species." In an attempt to prove that the numerous species now existing on the earth sprang originally from one, or at most, a few primal forms, and that the present diversity is due to special development and natural selection...

"SNAKE HILL" HISTORIC SPOT

Eminece in New York Fortified by Hessians During the Revolutionary Conflict.

A hill in Mount Morris park in New York city was called "Snake Hill" by the Dutch when they settled New Haren, because it was infested with snakes in large numbers.

During the Revolution the snakes were displaced of their habitat by British troops, who built upon the summit of the hill a square redoubt. This work was garrisoned by Hessians.

Lieut. Charles Philip Von Krafft, a Hessian, who had hard work spelling local names, tells in his diary how the "rebels" in Morrisania were "terribly bombarded from Snake Hill" in July, 1781.

He was several times in active command on "Snake Hill."

Snake hill was a lovely little eminence, and when, in 1835, it was suggested for a park the committee of public lands and places of the common council described it as "crowned with various kinds of forest trees, many of them of great antiquity and possessing a very peculiar and distinctive character."

The committee also pointed out that "its insular situation, its great height, its conical figure and the trees with which it is covered furnish the greatest capabilities for converting it into a place of the greatest ornament and beauty and which will be looked upon with pride and admiration by our successors."

Great Work Done by Librarians. A child does not read to criticize or compare, but just in the "unsullied joy of finding itself in a new world."

To see a youngster reading in the slims is to me the most subtly heart-searching experience I know. And behind every child is the heart and brain of some teacher or librarian that made the book possible and put it into his hand.

This is one thing that librarians do, and it is the greatest thing I know.—Christopher Morley.

GOT KNOWLEDGE FROM STARS

Ancient Egyptians Said to Have Been Able to Foretell Coming Events With Accuracy.

The ancient Egyptians were great astronomers and astrologers. Their priests knew how to calculate solar and lunar eclipses, and their religion was founded on astronomy. They had a theory of belief in a mysterious relation between the spirits of the stars and human souls and they thought that the destiny of mortals was regulated by the motion of the heavenly bodies.

The Tammany society of New York was incorporated soon after the Revolution, and its meetings took place in Tammany hall, so often distinguished in the political history of the country.

TRAIN THE EARS TO LISTEN Only that Way, It is Assured; Are They Enabled to Do Their Work Thoroughly.

It may seem strange to emphasize the fact that we have to learn to listen; yet it is certainly true that our ears must be trained if we desire them to do their work thoroughly.

Especially does this apply where music is concerned. A love of music is an instinctive possession of most people, but a complete understanding of it is quite another matter, and it is knowledge that can only be acquired as a result of definite study.

It must be remembered that our eyes, ears and other organs are but the means by which impressions are conveyed to the brain, and unless those organs function efficiently the impressions are not true and complete." So states a writer.

"Just as mankind learns to appreciate fine work in a painting, a flow of sonorous words in a poem and beautiful lines in a piece of architecture, so can the ear be trained to carry to the brain, vividly and exactly, choice passages of music," the writer continues, and he points out that half the beauty in music is missed when the ear does not "realize" the tones which comprise the complete harmony.

As evidence of untripped listening, the fact is quoted that when listening to a vocal record most people pay much attention to the words and the "tune" that when the record is finished they are quite unable to name any instrument used in the accompaniment!

First American Tannery. In 1630 the first tannery in America was built in Virginia. A second one was established a few years later at Lynn, Mass. The tanning industry was well represented among the early settlers of Massachusetts, for it is recorded that no fewer than 51 tanneries had come over to the new colony before 1650. Their labor was in great demand. Skins accumulated so rapidly that in 1640 it was found necessary to pass a law "that every hide and skin should be dried before it comes and sent where they may be tanned and dressed." The tanning industry also received encouragement throughout the colonies by many laws forbidding the exportation of untanned leather. Tanneries flourished everywhere, and by 1810 their annual output was worth 20 million dollars.

LENAAWEE COUNTY

The Lenawee County Livestock Breeders Association elected officers Saturday afternoon. Fred Knopf, Jr. of Blissfield was made president; J. H. Sword, vice-president, but the election of secretary and treasurer was left for a later date. The society favors a law that will allow farmers to vaccinate their own hogs against cholera, instead of calling a veterinarian. They also wish the county supervisors to support the tuberculosis eradication program the same as Washtenaw and other adjacent counties. They also decided to attempt to interest poultry breeders to take steps to have the competition at the county fair in poultry show confined to standard breeds of poultry in the county. This would prevent outsiders from entering a breed little known here and carrying away the prizes because of lack of competition in the breed. One representative from each breeder organization in the county serves on the board of directors of the new association. The men elected from the breeders' organizations to serve in this capacity are: Earl Wilt of Sand Creek, Durocs; B. F. Anderson of Adrian, Percheron horses; A. E. Ninn of Britton, Shropshire hogs; C. B. Faler of Britton, Shropshire hogs; T. J. Rixon of Adrian, C. I. C. horn cattle; C. M. Case of Adrian, Hampshire hogs; Felix Kitt of Jasper, Poland-China hogs; C. J. Hart of Clayton, Holstein cattle; and D. J. Van Valkenburg of Tipton, Jersey cattle.

Among jurors drawn for the March term of circuit court are: William Billmeyer of Cambridge, Jacob Baiser of Clinton, Edward Preston of Franklin, George Collins of Macon, Andrew Powell of Raisin, Henry Barnes of Ridgeway, Isaac Sloan of Tecumseh, and Benjamin Allen of Woodstock.

Eczema Cured In Three Days

Startling Effect of an Old Time Specific That Ends Ivy Poison, Rash and Skin Troubles Like Magic

Perhaps the eczema you have been struggling with is nothing more than Ivy or oak poison of years ago breaking out every now and then. In many sections where Whitmarsh Blood Elixir is known they cure it in two or three days. Eczema disappears. It is not an ointment but an internal medicine that seems to find its way to the source and has the magical effect of clearing the skin before you can realize it. There is nothing more utterly foolish than trying skin disease such as itching eczemas and the poison of Ivy, oak or sumach by smearing the skin. This is not proved beyond question by the action of Whitmarsh Blood Elixir. Get a $1.00 bottle for trial. If it does not cure in your case take the bottle back and get your money. Whitmarsh Blood Elixir is prepared only by Hart-Shaw-Miller Drug Co., Adrian, Mich., and if your druggist cannot supply you it will be sent prepaid on receipt of price.
