AN AUTHORITY THAT NO ONE EVER DISPUTES

There is at Washington one division of the government that is ever free from criticism as to its motives, even when its decisions are unpopular.

The head of the judicial branch of government—the Supreme Court—has had from its organization the reputation of being absolutely fair and unbiased in its findings, and its members enjoy the entire confidence and respect of the people of the country.

The interesting story of the Supreme Court is told in one of the series on Our Government being mailed monthly to the people of this community. It is an interesting, brief history of the court and its relation to the other branches of the government.

This drama took place in the Persian court, where Ahasuerus (Xerxes) sat upon his throne, surrounded by his Jenny shows some interesting cloth princes and servants. Six months of festivity were drawing to a close, arranged by the king in order to impress upon the people of his mighty empire the fact of his greatness. The last days of this feast were marked with drunken debauchery. In a drunken frenzy the king commanded Vashti to come before the people to display her beauty. Vashti pendence by refusing to obey. She was instantly deposed. In providing a queen to take her place, the most hear tiful maidens in the empire were brought together from whom the king might make a selection. The choice fell upon Esther, a maid of the Jewish captivity. The king did not know that she was a Jewess, but God knew, and He put her there for a purpose.

11. Haman's Plot Against the Jews (Chapter 3)

2. Its Nature (vv. 7-15). Haman desired to lay hands upon Mordecal for his insubordination, but hesitated. Instead of such drastic action he laid a plot to destroy all the Jews, and thereby take vengeance on Mordecal, who he learned was a Jew. He made the king believe that the Jews were an unprofitable people and induced him to order their annihilation, promising to bring into the royal treasury an enor nous sum of money.

She proposed a second banquet, at which she planned to make her reques known. During the interval some strange things took place. A gallows was built upon which to hang Morde cal, at the heartless suggestion of Haman's wife. And the king, during a sleepless night, was moved to search the court records, where he found that Mordecal had not been rewarded for saving his life. So, in order to express his appreciation for this act of heroism on the part of Mordecai, he gave orders obliging Haman to do honor to the one he was preparing to hang. At the second banquet Esther pointed out Haman's wicked plot to kill the Jews and asked of the king the king ordered Haman hanged on

5. The Counter Decree Issued (8:5 14). The original decree could not be reversed, so a counter decree was is-sued which enabled the Jews to defend themselves. This was dispatched to the furthest parts of the kingdom. At the appointed time there was great slaughter and the Jews were saved. God granted relief and the Feast of Purim was instituted as a memoria of their deliverance.

The Plane of Religion. General Bruce explained to the Lama of Rongbuk that it was a sacred obligation on the Royal Geographical society to climb all the highest peaks in the world, and to acquire merit by thus approaching so close to Heaven The explanation is sact in a form likely to be understood by the Lama of Rongbuk, but requires little interpre Our modern pursuit of knowledge, our modern keeness to record and preserve knowledge, is perhaps the most re assuring feature of an unsatisfactory age. But it has at least the quality of disinterestedness which raises it onto the plane of religion.-Edward Shanks.

A Savior

A merely divine Savior could not be Savier for me. A merely human Savior could not be a Savior for me But a Savior in whom Delty and hu manity meet. a Savior who is at once God and man, is just the Savior I need, and the Savior you need, a Savior that is able to save to the ut termost all that come unto God through Him.-R.
