New York reports that there is a strong rally in the pig market because of foreign demands, but it is pig iron instead of pig meat.

Senator James Couzens invited all the orphans and crippled children of Detroit to be his guests at Wood ward auditorium and see Tony Sag's Marionettes.

Edward Frensdorf, addressing a public meeting in Detroit, Sunday, is quoted as saying that the state police are arresting operators of "blind pigs," seizing liquor and selling it when the bootleggers don't come around.

There will be a long battle between the Detroit Gas Co. and the city, but of course the rate will be increased. How much cheaper can you buy coal now than during the war? How about wages? How about taxes, and everything?

Women in England are taking an active part in national affairs and 40 or more are expected to be candidates for seats in parliament at the coming elections. Lady Astor is said to head the list as a conservative candidate and Mrs. Wintling as liberal.

More Detroit children were burned and scalded to death in their homes last year than were killed by automobiles, is the claim of Miss Harriet Beard, supervisor of safety education. Parents should be taught to keep scalding things out of the way of little children and to keep children away from stoves and street fires, she said.

The interstate commerce commission has had a hard time getting necessary facts regarding Henry Ford's D. T. & I. railroad. A subpoena would be served upon E. G. Liebold, Mr. Ford's private secretary and vice-president of the road if they could reach him. The commission wish to consolidate railroads and have asked certain ones to submit reports on traffic volume and interchanges, but the Ford road don't appear to comply, preferring to be let alone to work out its own way.

PAPYRUS GROWS IN ITALY

Plants Are Growned Stems Like Reeds or Bamboo and Have Spray of Flowers at the Top.

Syracuse, in Sicily, is the one place in the world where papyrus still grows wild. Even in Egypt, home of its origin, it is extinct. And the origin of that papyrus is a charming episode in history, writes Henry James Forman. Hero, king of Syracuse, at about the time Theocritus was at his court composing the Idylls, built and fitted out a marvelous ship equipped with gardens, stalls for horses, and stairways and columns of Teomian marble—a ship of 4,200 tons in those days. Archimedes doubtless helped to build it—a present to Ptolemy of Egypt.

As a part of the acknowledgment of the gift from Alexandria came the papyrus planted along the banks of the Anapa and there it has been growing ever since.

The papyrus plants are green-stemmed like reeds or bamboo, the thickness of a man's wrist, with a circular spray of flowers at the top, unique among plants.—Harper's Magazine.

Spirit Renamed at Death.

During the life of a person in Luzon his spirit is called Tuko. After the death it receives a new name. It is believed to go about in a body invisible to the eye of man, yet unchanged in appearance from the living person. If a man becomes unconscious, the natives think a vengeful spirit has lurked away the soul of the sick man and they hold the ceremony of "Calling Back the Soul." Then they hold a big feast to which they invite all the spirits in order to induce them to bring back the sick man's soul.

A pronged spear is supposed to protect the people from the ever-renewed Antio, or evil spirit, who are always waiting to trip one up on the trail, to cause him to fall and hurt himself or to kill him.—Detroit News.

STRANGE WAYS OF SLEEPING

Every Kind of Animal Adopts Some Particular Posture in Which to Rest.

Every kind of animal, including man, seems to have adopted some particular posture in which to sleep. Long legged birds, such as storks and gulls, have been observed to sleep balanced on one leg. Most birds, however, sleep with their heads turned round over their backs. Often their beaks are hidden among the feathers between the wing and the body. Some curious exceptions to this rule is the owl which sleeps sitting on a branch, and certain Indian parrots and bats which sleep only when suspended from a tree. The duck is the most unconventional of all. This bird sleeps on the open water, and during its slumbers paddles itself with one foot in circles to avoid drifting to the shore.

Such a bulky animal as the sloth sleeps upside down, hanging by its four feet and with its head tucked between the forelegs. The posture of the domestic cat is typical of many other animals. Foxes and wolves sleep curled up with their noses and the soles of their feet all close together and often covered by their tails. Some animals sleep with their eyes open, others with them closed. A dog, especially an old one, occasionally sleeps while standing; a horse often does, while an elephant never lies down to sleep. Salmon and goldfish are said never to sleep.

BRULE PIONEER IN WILDS

Explorer is Now Credited With Discovery of Superior and the Other Lakes.

Although his name is not enshrined in history along with those of Champlain, LaSalle, Radisson, Marquette, Joliet, and many other explorers, Etienne Brule (with an acute accent on the initial E and on the final e of the surname) is said to have been the real discoverer of the Great Lakes of America, including Superior, the largest body of fresh water in the world. Brule antedates most of these great discoverers by many years. He is said to have discovered the Great Lakes more than 300 years ago.

Brule had no gift of writing, and no personal account remains of what must have been one of the outstanding careers of adventure this adventurous continent has produced. In late life Brule was denounced by Champlain as "abandoned," as one who "lived without religion." It is believed by some persons that the judgment of subsequent historical writers has been warped by Champlain's criticism of Brule's morals. They say that if Brule succumbed to the customs of the native Indians, it was because he was sent among them at a tender age by Champlain himself.

Having it Both Ways.

The head of a girl with red hair, painted with charm and great dexterity, caught my eye. The picture was in that interesting gallery, the Rue de la Boetie, and I was tempted to enter the shop and asked the price. The price was so high that I remarked on it.

The dealer smiled in agreement. "But you see," he explained, "the painter is dead. Finished. There can be no more of his work, and therefore it costs much."

I made a tour of the walls and found another picture, this time a landscape, very simple but true and beautifully composed. It was signed "Grosjean." I asked the price of it also, and as with the other the price was so high that I remarked on it.

The dealer smiled in agreement. "But you see," he explained, "the painter is alive, and living is expensive. It is necessary therefore to charge much."—Punch.

Rival to Monte Carlo.

Helgoland, the little island in the North sea, seeks the laurels and income of Monte Carlo.

The island resort is about to build a gambling casino, which, it is hoped, will bring sufficient earnings to the local government to make all the island folks free from taxation, just as the residents of Monaco, the principality where the Monte Carlo casino is located, are free from taxes.

This is to all intents and purposes a declaration of war by Germany against France, so far as getting the tourist gambling business of Europe is concerned.

Helgoland has always been a favorite resort, largely patronized because of its beach. Now, in addition, the local government plans to erect a casino which will draw a new and wealthier class to its shores.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Difficult Task.

"You know Wombat, the author?"

"We are acquainted."

"That baby of his has some cute expressions."

"Yes, Wombat confided to me the other day that Mrs. Wombat wanted it so."

"Huh?"

"So Wombat taught 'em to the baby, and he says he had a deuce of a time doing it, too."

Contradiction of Terms.

"You say our friend has a queer record?"

"Rather," replied Senator Sorghum. "Can't we put him across as a dark horse?"

"Perhaps. But you'll have to white wash him first."

HIS HERITAGE.

"You look like an idiot," thundered the disgraced man to his swell son just returned from college. "You grow more and more like a conceited, half-brained, helpless idiot."

Just then an acquaintance of the old man entered the office and saw the youth.

"Hello, Charlie, back 'eh?" exclaimed the visitor. "You're looking more like your father every year."

"Yes," said Charlie, "that's just what the governor's been telling me."

Drivers tell us that the roads are fine now, nearly every one. Tom Guinan of Detroit is working in Will Lindbert's barber shop. Get your copy in for a beginning of holiday advertising, to commence next week. The prospects are that we will have snow before long; that's what many predict. The banks, postoffice and most of the business houses will be closed Thanksgiving day. Manchester Lodge F. & A. M. holds its annual communication and election of officers Monday evening, Dec. 3rd. Farmers who reside along the Manchester-Chelsea road are very pleased because that road is to be graded next year. Some farmers have been doing fall plowing. The 24th of November would seem late for such work, but it's all right this fall. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lehman were among the guests at the 20th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Conklin at Albion, Monday. Dr. Corbit of Lansing, who was to speak at the Methodist church last Sunday evening, on "The bible in the schools," failed to put in an appearance. Mr. and Mrs. George Wurster and Walter Schaible will spend Thanksgiving day in Detroit as guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Rogers and Miss Vera Wurster. Donald Silkworth and his friend, Mr. Bennett of LaSalle, Ill., while en route to Ann Arbor last Friday, stopped here to call on Donald's mother, Mrs. Mary Silkworth. The local football team were victorious over the Ann Arbor Maccons last Sunday, the score being 2 to 0. Tomorrow—Thanksgiving day—the Jackson Wolverines play here. Mrs. Geo. Einkorn entertained the Pleasant's club Monday evening, at which Mrs. Traub won first prize, Mrs. Chas. Wals, second and Mrs. George Wurster, consolation. The Shakespeare club spent an enjoyable afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. M. Teeter on Tuesday. A special program in honor of Thanksgiving was presented by the committee, Mrs. Teeter and Mrs. Case, after which an informal luncheon was served. We have often requested people who write items for the Enterprise not to write on both sides of the sheet. We wonder why they do not remember. It is inconvenient to the printer to have writing on both sides of the paper and frequently an item is left out on that account. The dances given by F. S. Geers at Arbetter hall Monday evening were well attended, a good percentage of those present being from surrounding towns, all expressing their pleasure at the good music by Collier's orchestra. The dance was so successful that Mr. Geers plans for a series, the next one to come in two weeks. The success of the fair given at Arbetter hall last week by the various societies of Emmanuel's church may be judged from the fact that at least $1,000 will be realized. Thus the Tabca society, the Auxiliary, the Ladies Aid and the League, all of whom aided in the affair, are much pleased with the substantial addition to the building fund. As the holiday season draws nigh we trust that our readers, especially those at Manchester, and especially will look over the goods displayed by our merchants and try to find what they want to purchase for gifts. We should all be loyal to one another and in every way assist in increasing the growth of our mercantile and other industries of the village. The Enterprise was pleased to receive even a brief call Friday afternoon from Robert Leland, son of Mrs. J. G. Leland of Ypsilanti. Robert is a member of the senior class of the Ypsilanti high school and of the football team which walked our high school team that afternoon by a score of 6 to 0. Incidentally, he was the one who made the touchdown. In order to help the farmers by creating a home demand for wheat, it has been urged that we all eat more bread and help reduce the surplus of wheat, which the farmers are now feeding to stock instead of buying corn. Western lambs bought at a high price, after being fattened may not bring an adequate price to give the farmer a profit, so why not eat more mutton.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Village Hall, Nov. 15, 1923. Council met in regular session, called to order by President Breitenwischer. All trustees present except Snowman. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. Supt. Kern reported that Geo. Girbach, in Bridgewater, had hooked onto the Clinton electric line without permission. The matter was referred to the electric light committee and Village Attorney Waters. After thorough discussion it was decided to postpone dynamiting the tail race, at the electric plant until next spring. The clerk was instructed to see about getting heavier fans for lower tone on electric fire siren, so it will be better heard in town and not so far in the country. The siren has not been purchased. The matter of heavy expense for electricity from the Clinton plant was discussed at some length, there being some sentiment in favor of investigation of a Diesel engine for installation in plant here for auxiliary power. SCHOOL NOTES

School will begin at 9 o'clock in stead of 8:30, beginning Dec. 3rd. Those neither absent nor tardy for the month of November in the Spafard district were Norman Maurer, Ed. Stone and Cassius Norley, Erwin Paul, Roland and Millard Uphaus; Amanda, Ella, and George Buss. Perfect spellers were Amanda and George Buss and Millard Uphaus. The last football game of the season was played at Brighton Field last Friday afternoon and resulted in a 6-0 victory for the visiting team from Ypsilanti. The local team closed a successful season, with a total score of 71; their opponents getting at total of 107 points. In this last game Treat was injured and examination disclosed a fractured collar bone. This is much regretted by all companions and is the only injury of a serious nature received here during the season. The game stood 0-0 at end of the first half. During the third quarter Ypsi scored a touchdown, but failed in try for point. The classes in agriculture are co-operating with other Smith-Hughes schools in acting as crop reporters. The reports as the students give them are summarized and the summaries sent to the Agricultural Statistician, Verne Church, at Lansing. Copies of the monthly report of the U. S. department of agriculture are sent to the school, where they are used in classes. Last Friday Mr. Church visited the high school and an interesting and instructive talk was given to the students of the farm crops and agricultural husbandry classes. There are at the present time over 1,100 students in the Smith-Hughes schools reporting crops and livestock conditions.

A STATE SAW MILL

Material for Use on State Roads is Sawn Near Lansing. Instead of buying lumber and timber needed in the construction of trunk line roads, the state purchased an 80-acre tract of second-growth birch, maple and oak in Lansing, rescued a complete sawing outfit from the scrap pile of used war material at Charlotte, and with a threshing engine for power have an outfit which is supposed to save same money for the state highway department. Men experienced in road building work in the upper peninsula are superintending the job and with the aid of woodmen have a regular lumber camp in operation. Railroad ties, bridge piles, bridge timber, etc., for use on M-16 and other projects are being gotten out. It is claimed that each day's operation of the camp more than pays for the expense of maintenance in savings in lumber purchases alone.

GUARD AGAINST TIDAL WAVE

U. S. Weather Bureau Sends Out Warning to Certain Regions When Earthquakes Occur.

While seismological or earthquake records cannot be used directly in predicting quakes, they have other practical uses. When the records are collected and studied they throw a great deal of light on the nature of earthquakes generally, and it is conceivable that at some future time this information may lead to successful methods of prediction.

In one way, however, which is illustrated in the practice of the Hawaiian volcano observatory, conducted by the weather bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture, seismological records are of immediate practical utility. Several earthquakes within oceanic areas frequently are attended by so-called tidal waves. There may be an interval of many hours between the occurrence of the quake and the arrival of the destructive oceanic wave at any given place. When a violent earthquake appearing to have occurred in the Pacific ocean is registered at the Hawaiian observatory, the officials send out warnings by cable or otherwise to the regions likely to be affected by the accompanying tidal waves, so that the people may not be caught unprepared. This service is said to have resulted in a great saving of life and property.

Six Stock Salesmen to Avoid.

The Northwestern Banker (Des Moines) puts a deal of good advice into small compass when it tells its readers that the six stock salesmen for the investor to avoid are: The man who tells you how stockholders in similar concerns became rich over night. The man who wants to help you in "keeping the contract away from Wall Street." The man who talks about the "transferability" of stock. The man who says that the stock will later be "listed on the exchange." The man who wants you to buy because "the price is surely going up." The man whose chief selling points are letters of recommendation from "leading citizens."

Shop Talk.

There was a new attendant at the spiritualistic circle, and he had formerly been employed in a big drapery shop. The fact came to light when a client requested him to tell the medium that she wished to speak with a Mr. Green. "Certainly, madam," said the attendant. "Can you give me his Christian name?" "I'm afraid I've forgotten it, but he died quite a short time ago." The attendant cleared his throat and approached the medium. "Please show the lady some of the latest shades of Greens," he said.

Powdered "Pharaoh" Wanted.

Powdered "Pharaoh" was one of the sovereign remedies of medieval times. It cured wounds. It was made into salves and balsams, and it was swallowed as a physic. It formed the basis of all the black arts. Othello's handkerchief owed its magic power to dyes made from mummified maidens' hearts. The witches in "Macbeth" gave potency to their charmed brew by adding powdered mummy. To such an extent was tomb-robbing carried on even in ancient times that mummies of the great kings were taken from their own tombs and hidden away in secret places, while proxies were left in their stead.—Detroit News.

The Business Car That's Also a Family Car

The extraordinary utility of the Buick five-passenger four-cylinder Touring Car makes this model particularly suited to serve the needs of business. Its rugged chassis and powerful valve-in-head engine insure unimpaired service. It proved Buick four-wheel brakes make this car more than ordinarily safe to drive. Yet with all of its advantages, the Buick Four Touring Car is very low in first cost, in upkeep costs, and is as satisfying for family use as for business purposes.
