

The Business Car That's Also a Family Car

The extraordinary utility of the Buick fivepassenger four-cylinder Touring Car makes this model particularly suited to serve the needs of business. Its rugged chassis and powerful valve-in-head engine insure uninterrupted service. Its proved Buick four-wheel brakes make this car more than ordinarily safe to drive. Yet with all of its advantages, the Buick Four Touring Car is very low in first cost, in upkeep costs; and is as satisfying for family use as for business purposes.

It was impressed as never before the cities, using coal for gas. They had their water made lights long before the cities, using coal for gas. They, too, skipped a generation.

Reisbow Trout Eat Mice.

A new fish story has come out of Alaska, where it has been discovered that large rainbow trout weighing from two to seven pounds eat mice in July, August, and the first half of September. The trout do fiof go prowling over the fields gatlike, but lie among the cutbanks of rivers and lakes until mice come running along, then jump at them, and gulp down the delicacy.

While cleaning large fish for a camp of workers along the Alaskan railroad, kitchen helpers discovered mice and rats in various stages of diges tion in the stomachs of many. Old woodsmen have long known of the trout's peculiar summer appetite.

Stymied at Lunch

Golf is a game that has a special vocabulary of its own, and beginners are at first a little at sea with regard to the meaning of some of the terms. You are "stymied," for example, when your opponent's bull lies directly in the path your own ball must take in order to drop into the hole. The Tatler says:

A gentleman was playing on a certain links in Scotland when he turned to his calldie and said: "I say, caddle, why couldn't that fellow get his ball into the hole?"
