MANCHESTER, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, MAY 10, 1945

$1.50 a Year in Advance

NUMBER THIRTYFOUR

THE FARM STILL IS MOST IMPORTANT

A city was and recently quieted in only one respect. They are ignorant about different things. For example: Did you know that the Brookings Institution, a research agency at Washington, D. C., compiled figures in 1939 showing the working capital of agriculture to be $67.8 billion and of industry $21 billion?

Of that the National Resources Committee, for a later year (1945) arrived at pretty near the same relation?

All of this serves to emphasize, as we see it, the progressive step taken by the Michigan state legislature in its 1944 session to put the state department of agriculture on a business-like basis as to continuity of policy. In the past ten years, prior to the election of Governor Harry F. Kelly, Michigan had five haphazard commissioners. No one really could prosper with such a haphazard shift of administrators. Supported by both the Michigan Grange and the Michigan State Farm Bureau, the bi-partisan commission plan, as approved by the legislature and certain to be signed by the governor, would give policy-making power to a board of five men.

The commissioners, each serving a term of six years, are to be named by Governor Kelly. Two will serve two years, two for four years, and one for six years. The succeeding terms would be all six years in length, thus providing for a long-range continuity of program and in effect removing the department almost entirely from shifts in Michigan politics.

Announcements by the legislature provide that one of the five commissioners must reside in the Upper Peninsula and that the present commissioner, Charles Fleg, well-known and highly efficient, must remain as director until Jan. 1, 1947.

Fleg was appointed director in January, 1942, and serves his second term by appointment of the governor. Until the new law, the director will be appointed by the commission and hence removed from the governor's office. This is the system which has been so successful in the state department of conservation where politics never "disturbs" the department.

Before the civil service amendment was adopted by the electorate, the agricultural commissioner will receive $15 per day for attendance at commission meetings, and the legislature put a limit of $225 for his compensation in any 12 months period. The director's salary was fixed by the legislature to be $7,000.

A city man's viewpoint on the importance of Michigan agriculture was recently expressed before a member of the Board of Commerce by Roger M. Kyles, the president of Harry Purpason Inc. Kyles' warnings are significant, for he maintains that the prosperity of this nation is directly dependent upon the prosperity of agriculture. Kyles' words are: "Look to history and you will find, even in Roman times, that concentration of the population through urbanization accompanied by additions to the functions of government, was followed by high taxes on agriculture.

High taxes forced the farmer to lose ownership of the land, and the United States cannot survive the destruction of its agriculture. Industry must look to agriculture, says Kyles, for a large part of its future labor supply.

"All over the country, on an acre of those entering urban occupation, approximately 40 per cent have come from agricultural lands. It is inevitable that an increasing proportion of future urban populations must come from rural America."

Kyles pointed out a fact that will surprise many persons. "In 1944—about which people talk as a year of prosperity—we take the gross income of the United States and subtract the deficit that we created in 1944, the net income of the country was no greater than in the depression year of 1939.

"The cost of performing all sorts of functions has risen in this country so that the cost of production is actually running over."

APRIL CLOTHING DRIVE NETS THREE TONS HERE

B. C. Root, president of the Chamber of Commerce who sponsored the local United National Clothing Drive, reports that the collection of old clothes for war purposes was a big success in Manchester. Nearly 3 tons were collected during April.

The clothing has been sorted and packed and taken to Ann Arbor for shipment.

For the whole country was 100,000,000 pounds, or about one and a quarter pounds per person so the local effort was far above the national quota.

CHURCHES CROWDED AT VE SERVICES HERE

Manchester and vicinity gathered at the churches Tuesday evening to observe V-E Day. Both the Union services at Emanuel church and the services at St. Mary's church were attended by a rather solemn crowd who, though very thankful that the war in Europe was over, also had stopped to think that World War Two is not over. The job is not done. We must not only continue the march but speed up the pace so that momentum of effort sweeps on to a final victory over those forces which would have enslaved the world by force of arms.

Should the allied peoples pause and relax now they would find it many times harder to get under way than it was at the start of the war.

There exists no choice in the matter. Ask the sailors, the marines, the soldiers, who have been fighting the Japanese since Pearl Harbor. We have been battling a great, continuous fight, one that threatens to consume the world. The flames in Europe have been reduced to embers but those in Europe still burn fiercely. But it is all the same fire.

The general sentiment among our folks who so joyfully and devoutly observed V-E Day here on Tuesday is that we shall not and need not feel driven along this last long mile. There is a high courage granted only to free men in a righteous cause that "beats them over deep waters which the millions of brute force must wallow through." So though so very thankful now, most of us are going to work hard to speed the coming of V-J Day and then we can really celebrate with a care-free heart.

German Cities in the Path of Allies' Advance

City after city in Germany is being leveled to the ground by the Allied air forces and the advancing armies. The cities in which war has been brought home by the advancing Allies are: upper left, Aachen; lower left, Duren receives its quota, little remaining of city on River after saturation bombing; Center, West, focal point of American forces on Rhine; Upper right, Lumburg railroad marshaling yards after bombing; Lower right, Elbing.

Centuries of being kicked around, in the name of power politics, has produced a mixed race with strains of Malay, Korean, Chinese and Japanese—a people completely ignorant of the United States. Photos above show the natives after the American invasion.

Spotlight on
GAYLAND
BY
WALTER WINCHELL

WHEN this war is over, and the expectations in every form
of sport comes along, there is certainly to be a big need for much stronger supervision than we have today. This includes baseball, racing, football, boxing and basketball above most of the others. For these are the major sports, and basketball
is the most popular and the most lucrative and big money game.

This isn't a matter
of today or next
week or next
month. It is a matter of the big time
and scorable that
is coming after
war is over when
there will be almost a billion
dollars in the pocket of the sports world.

You can see what happened when
three or four unknown basketball players, in a New York college
game, were given the spotlight.
You can figure what will happen to baseball, boxing, racing and football
on a bigger scale.

Four Big Sports
We can take them up in order:
Baseball - In my opinion, baseball needs a ruling commissioner
who will be given full authority to rule over the game, to be known
and respected around the country;
who can pick up where Judge Landis left off, and who can pick up where Judge Landis left off, and who can pick up where Judge Landis left off.

Boxing - Here is one of sport's
greatest needs. Boxing, like racing,
has been largely a matter of state
regulation. As it is, we have no real boxing control. Champions in one
state may be thrown out in another.

Football - It would be almost impossible to have any public commissioner for college football, as so many sections have their own committees with their own different and conflicting ideals and opinions.

Racing - Here is one of sport's
greatest needs. Boxing, like racing,
has been largely a matter of state
regulation. As it is, we have no real
boxing control. Champions in one
state may be thrown out in another.

Waiting for a Surge?
You may have heard that reason why you have to wait for a Surge is because we can't make very many of them.

That's all wrong. During the past year we have been making more Surges than ever before.
It's not because we are not making a lot of them - it's because a lot of people like the Surge and won't be satisfied with anything else.

Salute to American Mothers
They are the unsung heroines of this War. True it takes all kinds of people to win a war, soldiers and sailors and businessmen, farmers, laborers, wives and sweethearts . . . and MOTHERS. Mothers because they are part of the force behind the fighting force . . . because they wait for the peace that will send their sons home to them . . . and because while they wait, they work. There is the important job of morale . . . of keeping intact the American home. For today, as in other wars, the home remains the port of happiness and safety to which men turn first when the War is won.
