NUMBER FORTY-TWO

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING MONDAY

Electors of the Manchester school district will be asked to fill two vacancies on the Board of Education at the annual meeting Monday July 9, at 8:00 p. m. at the school.

The terms of Clayton Parr and Herman F. Kuebler expire, and successors are to be elected for three year terms.

It has been called to our attention that several sizeable amounts listed in the "petty cash" in this issue are noted as paid to V. W. Downing as "petty cash." These amounts, it is explained, include all sums paid for freight, postage, etc., and also for all substitute teacher salaries. This was so listed to eliminate considerable red tape in bookkeeping.

In response to many queries, we are publishing herewith a quotation from the Michigan Statutes, stating the qualifications, eligibility and performance of duty of members of school boards and the electors of same:

"School electors, qualifications. Section 1. In all school elections every citizen of the United States of the age of twenty-one (21) years, male or female, who owns property which is assessed for school taxes in the district, or who is the parent or legal guardian of any child of school age included in the school census of said district, and who has resided in said district three months next preceding said election, shall be a qualified voter. On the question of voting school taxes, every citizen of the United States of the age of twenty-one years, male or female, who owns property which is assessed for school taxes in the district, and who has resided in the district, as above stated, shall be a qualified voter. Provided, That the purchaser of land upon a land contract, who actually pays the taxes upon such land and resides thereon, may vote upon all questions; and where a husband and wife own property jointly and the same is assessed for school taxes in the school district, each may if otherwise qualified, vote upon all questions, including the question of raising money. Provided, however, That this section shall not be applicable in any city school district having a population of more than twenty-five thousand (25,000) inhabitants or over which comprises a single school district, all electors who shall possess the qualifications herein specified in section (1), article (3), of the constitution of this state shall be qualified voters in all school elections in such city school districts and shall be registered in the same manner provided by law for the registration of electors in any such city school district.

Eligibility to office. Any qualified voter in a school district whose name appears on the assessment roll and who is the owner of such school district property so assessed, shall be eligible to election or appointment to office in such school district. Provided, That where a husband and wife own property jointly, regardless of the name which appears on the assessment roll, if otherwise qualified, each shall be eligible to election or appointment to school office.

Acting as agent or acceptance of award. Board members contracting with district, district, Sec. 9. It shall be illegal for any superintendent of public instruction, instructor at teachers' institute, county school commissioner, examiner, school officer, superintendent, principal, or teacher of schools to act as agent for or to receive any gift or reward for his influence in recommending the purchase or use of any school book, apparatus, or furniture in the state of Michigan. It shall be illegal for any member of the board of education, or district board to perform any labor except as provided in this act, or furnish any material or supplies for the school district in which he is an officer, or to be personally interested in any way whatsoever, directly or indirectly, in any contract with the district in which he holds office. Any act herein prohibited, if performed by any school officer, shall be deemed a misdemeanor and he shall be liable to the punishment provided for in this chapter.

Grand Jury Sidelight. Examination of Frank McKay before Judge Leland Carr is due to begin today—Thursday, July 5, as a result of the grand jury indictment. You may expect to hear soon a campaign of vilification against Judge Carr and Special Prosecutor Kim Stiel, aimed indirectly at prospective jurors.

Hand-Hewn Wagon on Deserted Island

Primitive in its hand-made design is this two-wheel farm wagon, among the few remains of a deserted village on High Island, west of Beaver Island, in Lake Michigan off the Charlevoix-Pembsky coast. The settlement was founded by Chippewa Indians about 25 to 35 years ago by the "King" Ben Purcell's House and David at Benton Harbor in the "Michigan Mirror" this week.

TRAVEL TALK

(By Gene Ailman, MPA)

High Island, Lake Michigan. An abandoned deserted village, complete to a church, school, saw mill, barn and numerous cabins, silently greets the traveler today as he High Island in Lake Michigan, the one-time summer colony hide-out for King Ben Purcell and his house of David at Benton Harbor.

Lake's nearby island high above Beaver Island, where the Mormons once practiced polygamy under supposed divine sanction, High Island was the offshoot of a strange religious sect featured by King Ben and his band of young pretty girls.

The two islands, off the beaten path of common tourists, have long been known to its past history.

Today the Irish Catholic Brotherhood dominates St. James, the former Mormon colony. And today the House of David settlement on High Island is slowly decaying into the sandy ash, its wooden buildings standing out like skeletons.

From the cabin of the "Cape" Alford, Detroit, we had our first view of the small island, about two miles wide and four miles in length, as we rounded the northern coast of Beaver Island on a circular route back to Charlevoix.

Erwin Beatty, first mate, was at the wheel.

"About the turn of the century High Island was the home of Ojibwa and Chippewa Indians," he related. "They lived in log cabins along the small bay at the northern end. The harbor is not a good one, but it does offer shelter under favorable winds. I recall the time when the Indians traveled by water in sailing boats, known as Mackinacs. That was about 1906, as I recall it."

"From a nautical map, Detroit, I read the 75-foot man-of-war vessel toward the harbor. We tied up to a floating dock, used the lead timber, and after lunch of delicious whitefish, prepared by Paul Fischman, the engineer, and Captain Charles J. Allist, round the party ashore.

Along the shoreline of the bay was the deserted settlement about 20 buildings in all. Over than the ruins in the sky, the scene was a good one. The quietude amid the buildings had a haunting fascination. We felt like explorers who had suddenly discovered a forgotten city—the first persons to walk upon the ruins.

The air was laden with sweet perfume. Lilies were just in bloom. Outside of a large barn stood an ancient hand-hewn farm wagon. Inside was an ice cutter for two persons. Nearby were two sheds for hauling timber.

One of the most unique buildings in the settlement was a seven-sided log stockade, round in appearance, with a narrow entrance leading to an inner room. Leading out from the inner room were seven bedrooms, all identical in dimensions. A brick chimney was suspended from the roof by iron supports, indicating that dwellers of the seven rooms had depended upon the central heating plant for warmth on winter nights.

Not all of the buildings on High Island were constructed by King Ben's followers. A half century ago the Indians resided there and the Roman Catholic church maintained a mission and a school probably an offshoot of the old mission at Cross Village, north of Petoskey, known to the French as Laube Croche, the oldest settlement of continuous occupancy in the state of Michigan.

After the Indians moved to St. James, attracted by steady wages of the fishermen and availability of liquor King Ben and his band-

NEW RULING ON SERVICE SUBSCRIPTIONS

Effective July 1, all subscriptions of newspapers for the United States Navy, the Marine Corps or the Coast Guard must be accompanied by a written request from the service man, according to an announcement from the Navy and Post Office Departments.

Through an arrangement with the Chief of Commerce and in cooperation with the Enterprise this newspaper is now being sent to more than 200 men and women in service, including some 40 in the Navy, Marine Corps and the Coast Guard. The letter-group are affected by the new order.

All subscriptions to men in service in the future in July or in the months following must be stopped on the date of expiration to the men of the three groups named above. They cannot be renewed by the Chief of Commerce because of the government order. The only way that these subscriptions may be accepted in the future is for the service man to request that the newspaper be sent to him.

We regret very much that it is necessary to stop sending the Enterprise to these groups, but we have no choice in the matter. We have been more than repaid for all the time and trouble that it has taken to mail these papers, by the many letters we have received from these men in service saying, thanks, for the opportunity to keep in touch with the "old home town."

Men in other branches of the service or men in groups named still in the United States are not affected by the order.

TREATED FENCE POSTS LAST TWENTY YEARS. Chlorinated phenol dunks a method of treating fence posts. A comparatively new wood preservative, can be used as a cost of from 4 to 6 cents per post. Tests conducted at the University of Idaho experiment station show that the life of soft wood posts, properly treated by this method, will be from 15 to 20 years. They found that the bottom of the post will last the longest.

Not only is it possible to treat fence posts, but fence rails, gate posts, bridge timbers, irrigation gates, and similar pieces can be treated.

Chlorinated phenol is a liquid concentrate, and can be obtained full strength or diluted with various amounts of oil. Buying in concentrate form saves shipping and storage; it can then be diluted in proportion of one part of concentrate to 14 parts of diesel oil, stove oil or old crank case drainings. Not only for this purpose but for spraying purposes, it is usually possible to secure crank case drainings at service stations at little cost.

Legion Auxiliary Holds June Meeting. The June meeting of the Legion Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. Hazel Schwab with 15 members attending. After the business meeting refreshments were served by the hostess and Mrs. Stewart.

There will be no July meeting but a picnic will be held at Waukegan, Mich. on Thursday July 26, for all members and their families.

New Chemical Aids Farm Production. Reports of excellent results in killing weeds in grass rows, spraying potatoes, without damaging the grasses, promises important use of a compound called 2,4-dichlorophenoxyacetic acid (2,4-D for short).

Water sprays containing this compound in specified solutions killed heavy stands of dandelion and narrow-leafed plantain without injury to the grass.

Experiments with lawn spray in areas of turf that were heavily infested with the weed, resulted in destruction by 2,4-D acid of heavy stands of turf without accompanying injury to the established grass. New grass seedlings coming from seed planted several weeks after the chemical treatment were not affected. Repeated applications were found necessary to kill out noxious plants that came up later from weed seeds that were not caught by the first spray.

Other weeds readily killed by the compound, according to a government report, included clover, pigweed, woodcock, knotweed and broadleaf dock.

Well established blue grass was not injured by the potent new herbicide. The creeping bent grasses were found much less resistant to it but resistant enough to permit the killing of susceptible weeds without being destroyed themselves.

The 2,4-D acid's effect on susceptible weeds and clover is much different from that of other chemical herbicides. Instead of producing a local burning effect, and destroying only a part of the plant, it spreads and kills the entire plant, roots and all.

This is the biggest war in history, but it is improbable that anything will happen after this war that didn't happen after other wars; and it is equally improbable that we will create anything after this war that happened after other wars.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Schabbe were week end guests of her parents in Detroit. Henry Day of Flint spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schabbe.

Clara Knauer Jr., who enlisted in the Navy some two weeks ago, reported for duty in Detroit Monday and was sent to Great Lakes, Ill., for boot training.

Sgt. Robert Smith, a former resident here, has received his discharge from the army and was in town Saturday greeting his many friends.

Mrs. Dvorak was in Detroit on Friday, where she received the Silver Star, awarded to her son Robert, who was killed in the Philippines.

Sgt. Mrs. Ed Payden of Akron, Ohio, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. O. Kenner and other friends here.

Mrs. Glen Kanda! spent the week end in Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Healy, his wife and son returned Sunday from their visit in Tiffin, Ohio. He has to report to his station in Massachusetts, Friday.

Mrs. Carl Schabbe is recovering from her recent illness, after spending several weeks in University hospital, Ann Arbor.

Mrs. George Hally and children of Detroit were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heimendinger.

Mr. Robert Panches arrived Friday on a 30 day furlough from overseas. He and his wife and his mother, Hazel Coffin of Ann Arbor are visiting his brother at Great Lakes, Ill. hospital, who was wounded and is a patient there.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vogt and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schabbe are spending the week at their cottage at Waukegan lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Riedel of Jackson were Sunday guests of B. H. Feldkamp and Mrs. Clarence Felder. Their daughter, Miss Doris Wainwright, returned home with them.

Miss Doris Wainwright is spending some time with her grandparents in Massachusetts.

Mrs. Jacob Goff of Delta Creek is a guest of his brother Gottlieb.

AT GLEN BERTKE HOME

Fire, which evidently started from a curtain blowing too near to a heated oil stove, damaged the Glen Bertke home on the east side of the creek on Saturday, shortly before 6 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertke were not at home at the time the fire started. Their daughter Marjorie, was making some water on the stove and had gone to the front of the house for a short time, when she discovered the situation.

The fire department and the neighbors did an excellent job of saving considerable furniture and the front portion of the house.

Fire Destroys Barn Friday. Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a barn on the Calloway farm formerly the Scully farm, just west of the Creek church on Friday evening June 22.

Neighbors formed a bucket brigade and succeeded in saving the adjoining buildings. Two calves and a small quantity of feed were also lost.

The Enterprise and Theatre Invites. Manchester, Michigan. To be our guest at the Manchester Theatre next Wednesday or Thursday to see a fine show. The person whose name appears above, accompanied by one of his family or a friend should present this invitation at the Theatre Box Office that same day.

Two regular admission tickets subject to 10¢ service charge which includes state and National DeWasa Tax. (Watch this ad each week for your name.) Tickets are drawn at random from the Enterprise's subscription list. If you are a subscriber you may be next.

'COW OF CHINA'

Recorded in history since 2338 B. C., soybeans have come into their own as a leading American farm crop. For centuries the Buddhist monks have lived chiefly on soybean cheese-to-day we are literally fighting a war with soybeans.

Soybeans are one of the few food products in which the protein content is improved by cooking.

Among the food uses of soybeans and soybean oil are shortening, margarine, salad dressing, bakery goods, ice cream, macaroni, sauce, soy milk, bean curd, soy sauce, diabetic foods, sausage filler, candy and meat substitutes.

The industrial uses include paints, varnishes, enamels, linoleum, oil cloth, fabrics, protective coatings, metal, lacquer for mineral oil, soaps, etc., rubber substitute, printing ink, adhesives, plastic, leather, insecticides, synthetic wool, food preservative and as food for livestock and poultry.

Distillers' Grains. High in vitamin B complex, distillers' dried grains available in most localities, can be profitably included in the wartime poultry ration.

Recent experiments at Purdue have proved that the distillers' dried solubles are capable of entirely replacing fish meal in the ration of growing chicks. Six pounds of the solubles will take the place of five pounds of dried fish. While they will not furnish all the animal nutrition needed, they are an excellent addition to the chick's ration.

A Bell for Adano

By John Hersey

CHAPTER VII

Erba, like the town, had run dry. He turned to his friends. One of them said: "Erba, the proclamation, the matter of bells is clean."

Erba said: "Oh yes, the proclamation. I forgot the number of the proclamation, there are so many, does the number matter, Mister Major?"

"No, Erba, I am sorry, there are too many proclamations." And the Major turned to Erba's friends, who were a little more intelligent and more understanding. "That is the fault of the authorities, I did not wish to post so many proclamations. That is not your fault, Erba, sorry. The number does not matter, Erba."

Erba said: "The number does not matter. The proclamation says it is necessary to be clean. It says the people must be clean with water and even the streets must be clean. Our streets, which have been the scene since the time of the King of Naples."

Erba said: "The streets have been the same. Now the proclamation speaks of being clean with water. I have seen the streets which have accumulated on the streets since the time of those men of whom you speak. This water, which takes much water. My cart is on the other side of the bridge, Mister Major."

Major Joppolo said: "The cleanliness is very important, Erba. Let us make Adano the cleanest town in the whole province of Vicenza."

Erba caught the challenge. His eyes brightened. "We will do this thing, even if the sameness has piled up since the time of Jesus Christ, Mister Major." Then his eyes went dull again. "But my cart is on the other side of the bridge. You have said it may not pass."

The Major said: "Let the next one pass. Your name." And he pointed at the third man with his eyes.

Erba said: "Thank you, Mister Major." The third man jumped up. He was quite fat but comparatively handsome. His hair was plastered down with something of the sort, his coat and his black coat was the newest looking of the town. "The name Giovanni, Mister Major," he said.

"You wish?"

Bastie spoke gravely and slowly. "Mister Major," he said, "the worst of all the things about the carts is the food. You can see, Mister Major—and he ran his hands down over the side of his belly—there is an man who can speak of food with understanding. This matter of the carts does not hurt me. I am like a man with money in the bank. I have something to draw on. Adano who are not so lucky. Galileo Barolomeo is an old man, but he can count the several teeth of his mouth even when his lips are closed. The nine children of Manfredi who is the wife of Manfredi have big bellies, but their bellies are big only with the fat of hunger. Shall I name others who are very thin?"

The Major said: "No, go on, Bastie. I am not waiting my time to tell you about the food and the time of all the people who are waiting outside the carts. And he gestured impatiently at the men. The cartmen went out, shouting and congratulating America. The command post of the M.P.'s was housed in the Fascio, the one-story building which had been the headquarters of the Fascist Party. It was simply a string of rooms facing on the Via Dogana, just off the Piazza. The walls of the rooms were covered with pictures of various Fascist heroes. Each room had a couple of desks, a filing cabinet, three or four uncomfortable chairs, and that was all. The building made a very convenient headquarters for both the M.P.'s and especially for Sergeant Bort's security detail, because the filing cabinets contained complete records on practically everyone in town, both party members and anti-Fascists.

On the morning when Major Joppolo called about the carts, there were three men in the main office of the M.P.'s. Besides Captain Purvis, there were Technical Sergeant Frank Trapani, who kept Captain Purvis's records and was more or less his secretary, and Corporal Cluett Schultz, who was the M.P. on guard.

Captain Purvis put down the telephone and said: "That Joppolo, I think he's nuts." Sergeant Trapani said: "What's he done now?" "Oh," the Captain said, "he's always talking about democracy like
