SURPLUS SEEMS TO BE WORSE THAN DEFICIT

There is only one thing worse than a state deficit: it is a state surplus.

With pencil in hand, the state officials at Lansing had just finished up the total of numerous requests for state appropriations as submitted to legislative committees at Lansing. The state legislature is to be called into special session Feb. 4.

Auditor General John Morrison estimates that there'll be a surplus in the state treasury of some $20,000,000 by July, 1947, the official added. To meet the governmental requests for this $27,000,000 excess $4,000,000—nearly three times what may be available to spend.

"What would be normally considered an asset, balancing the budget with a surplus for a rainy day, now threatens to become a capital liability.

Pressure groups are organizing again, and their leaders possess persuasive arguments. The public schools, for example, are close to the hearts of the people. The Michigan Educational Association has asked for an additional $8,000,000. The Michigan veterans' $1,000,000. The state aeronautical commission could use $200,000. The state colleges are in dire need of buildings. The state health program needs $20,000,000. The cities, especially those with the 15-mile limitation, want a slice. And so it goes.

Up for reelection at the polls, legislators are going to be wary. Increased demands for added services are the rule in nearly every state, according to Frank Bacc, executive director of the Council of State Government. Invariably this trend follows every war.

For example, heavy trucking of supplies to war plants has pounded the concrete pavements of the state highways. Many roads must be replaced. Price inflation has decreased the buying power of the government employee's wages. Inevitably must rise, index of veterans to state colleges has created an emergency condition in housing and class-rooms. Hospitals are badly overcrowded, and the decline of morals have already ready spawned a violent crime wave in Detroit and other cities.

Retirement pensions for state and local government employees, authorized at the 1945 session of the state legislature, constitute another bill for funds.

If long-term unemployment prevails in Michigan, welfare officials again would beat a path to the governor's door imploping increased legislative appropriations for public relief.

Back in 1947 when the labor sit-down strikes plagued Governor Frank Murphy, the state went to debt to provide adequate relief to distressed. This could easily happen again.

States have expanded their employment compensation coverage. Despite a $1 billion reserve these funds could be wiped out by a protracted economic depression.

Back in the war years when government officials had a favorite subject was work projects. These were designed to help absorb the shock of veterans returning to civilian life during reconstruction.

Now it appears that most of this work project planning must wait several years and contractors are being asked to come down and materials are available. Contractors are including every possible price increase in their bids. Not knowing how much more labor may set in 1946 or 1947 in a period of rising inflation, contractors close their eyes and write down the highest possible wage increases.

Now costs of public works could easily wipe out the $27,000,000 surplus. Costs are already running from 40 to 50 per cent above 1945, and they are still soaring. A considerable portion of the post war planning done by local governments in Michigan has been based on the assumption that federal aid from Washington would be forthcoming to help foot the bill.

This fact has been noted candidly in this column.

Earl D. Malloy, executive director of the American Municipal Association, now makes this interesting observation: "All the municipal work that has been done so far is unrealistic, because needs aren't squared with funds on the job. Already it has been made very clear that Congress cannot and will not take any large appropriations for general public work—except to help retrain unemployed."

It is to be expected that the state legislature has a complex tax problem on its mind. The present tax system is a fact that from 1925 to 1935 the number of federal employees increased 66 per cent.

"MARCH OF DIMES" JANUARY 14 TO 31

Plans for the 1946 March of Dimes in the fight against infantile paralysis have been completed with the appointment of campaign chairman by Miss Virginia Scribner, chairman of Ann Arbor, chairman of the appeal in Washtenaw county.

The local campaign, which opens Jan. 14 and closes Jan. 31, is part of the nation wide appeal of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for funds to continue the fight against poliomyelitis.

Mrs. George Nichols has been appointed as chairman for this area.

SCHOOL VENTURE MANCHESTER HIGH

The Manchester Dutchman trouped the Busfield Sugar Boys 54 to 22 at the Manchester Auditorium Friday, January 11.

It was a very rough and exciting game, but the Dutchmen obtained an early lead and held it through out the game.

In the first half the Dutchmen had only a 10 point lead with the score 22 to 12. In the last half the Dutchmen scored 32 points to 12, making the final score 54 to 22 in favor of Manchester.

Don Fielder was Manchester's high scorer with 22 points and Jim Cannon followed close behind with 21.

The Manchester Reserve lost to the Blaisdell Reserves to 28 to 16 in a portion of the story will be dramatized including the sketch about Dr. Scheurer. We know that many of our local folks will want to hear this program.

RADIO PROGRAM TO CITE LATE DR. SCHEURER

A Car Traveling People was written by Frank M. Rock for the Automotive Industry, and in it he cited Dr. F. A. Scheurer as an example of what the automobile has meant to the country doctor, and how dependent upon it he has become, while at the same time it has enabled him to serve a greater territory than in the days of horse-drawn transportation.

On station WJR next Sunday at 10:15 p. m. portions of this story will be dramatized including the sketch about Dr. Scheurer. We know that many of our local folks will want to hear this program.

WHY Michigan Bell Goes to Court Again

A year ago, Michigan Bell asked the Ingham Circuit Court for relief from an order of the Michigan Public Service Commission directing us to refund $3,500,000 from 1944 revenues. That court declared the order illegal on the grounds that the Commission has no authority to make a retroactive rate reduction.

Ceaseless Battle Waged With Infantile Paralysis

By Al Jedlicka

ON JUNE 30, 1944 C. H. Crabtree, North Carolina representative of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, put in a long distance call to headquarters in New York. A serious outbreak of polio had occurred in the foothills of the Blue Ridge mountains and hospital facilities were being taxed to capacity. Answering Crabtree's urgent appeal almost immediately, the National Foundation sent $50,000 to the state to meet the emergency.

Meanwhile, the local Mecklenburg and Gaston county chapters had swung into action, furnishing supplies and equipment for treatment of the sick and helpless victims sprawling into the overcrowded Charlotte Memorial hospital and the State Orthopedic hospital nearby.

Traveling to Hickory in the heart of the epidemic area, Crabtree conferred with Dr. A. Galster Hahn, chairman of the Catawba county chapter and Dr. H. C. Wilma, county health officer, and it was determined to erect an emergency hospital outside the town on the site of a summer camp.

While Dr. Wilma organized a crew of carpenters, plumbers, sanitation men, electricians and other workers, Dr. Hahn undertook to assemble beds, blankets, sheets, wood for hot packs, washing machines, wringers and other equipment to move in ahead ready.

At the project took form, with workmen laboring under floodlights to meet completion of a 40-bed hospital, the surrounding country caught the humane spirit, and the hospital was surrounded by a fence of pine trees.

KEEP UP THE FIGHT

He (Mr. Roosevelt) died at Warm Springs, Ga. I am sure that he had had his choice, he would have chosen to stay here. He loved Warm Springs, where, twenty years ago, we started the great fight to conquer the paralysis in which he was so severely afflicted.

Three Stages in Polio. The first stage, lasting from 24 to 48 hours, is marked by fever, vomiting and fever. The second stage is characterized by headache, stiff neck and back, tremor of lips and hands, general prostration, pain, muscle tenderness, disturbances of the reflexes and changes in the spinal fluid, with a gradual appearance of paralysis.

Without any break, the third stage develops gradually from the second, with pain continuing severe, muscle spasms occurring, and finally paralysis setting in on the affected members.

Because of the absence of any preventive measures, emphasis is placed upon treatment since infantile paralysis destroys nerve tissue and attacks either the spinal cord or lower part of the brain in its beginning stages.

One of the recent developments in treating polio embraces Sister Kenny's hot-pack method, originally reported and favored by the National Foundation. Under procedure carried out by trained personnel, Mrs. Kenny's system calls for the application of sections of woolen blankets wrung out in boiling water, on the stricken areas to prevent contraction, twisting and distortion of affected muscles.

Each physician and nurse have usually continued through the paralysis stage and often beyond the acute period. Parents are trained to keep the patient's hands and feet warm, to keep the patient's mouth moist, and to keep the patient's body cool.

At the project took form, with workmen laboring under floodlights to meet completion of a 40-bed hospital, the surrounding country caught the humane spirit, and the hospital was surrounded by a fence of pine trees.

Washington MERRY GO-ROUND

MISSOURI SNOW SHOVELLERS. The problem of snow removal from the sidewalks around the "Summer White House" created something of a problem just before President Truman paid his Christmas visit to Independence, Mo.

At first nothing was done about the snow around the Truman mansion. Secret service agents guarding the house said it was their job to guard, not to shovel. Finally James T. Hookins, aged 59, got out his horse Dick, aged five, and cleared the snow from the North Delaware street side of the Truman home.

One day before Mrs. Truman arrived, however, George Bodsworth, president of the Independence Chamber of Commerce, called out the chamber's six snow directors. He told them that the chamber would have a "Summer White House" would have to be cleared and their initiative into the chamber would be to do the job.

They did a good job. The walks around the Truman home were thoroughly shoveled. They did not, however, tackle the drive in the rear of the house. So next morning, two employees from the highway department arrived to shovel the driveway. They had shoveler for about 20 minutes when the first lady appeared on the back porch.

"You are shoveling gravel on the grass," admonished Mrs. Truman, always a meticulous housekeeper. There were some explanations that they had been sent by the highway department to clear the snow. "I don't care who sent you," replied Mrs. Truman. "I want you to quit."

Which is exactly what they did. Mrs. Truman left instructions with a secret service agent not to let anyone scoop snow from the drive. And no one has.

THE OTHER LAFOLLETTE. When the name LaFollette is mentioned in Wisconsin, the mind goes to the senator from Wisconsin, who succeeded his crusading father, LaFollette. But another LaFollette, from Indiana, not Wisconsin, who sits in the house of representatives, is also mentioned.

Empty chairs all up quickly when Rep. Charles LaFollette, the senator from Indiana, was called to the floor for a speech. LaFollette sometimes disagrees with the two-faced Indiana Republican, but they agree that what he says usually is interesting and never fails to pace walking.

There are no such things as states' rights," declared the red-headed Hoosier. "There are rights of citizens who live within a state. The men who speak of state sovereignty speak the language of reactionaries. There is only individual sovereignty."

Colleagues on both sides of the aisle listened in amazed silence. Only congressmen to answer were two Republicans, Jensen of Iowa and Bates of Massachusetts. Significantly, no whippersnappers came from southern Democrats.

"COME IN, THE WATER'S FINE" . . . Hardy members of the Polar Bear club took their annual trip the year dip in the icy water of Lake Michigan at Milwaukee and agreed that the water was fine. But they failed to convince the spectators on the snow-capped shore. The temperature was 16 degrees above.
