Constipated? So Was This Woman

It would go from one Sunday to the next, she'd get up in the morning, feel a little queasy, and then she'd find that she was constipated. It was a real nuisance, and she'd try to get it straightened out, but it wouldn't come. She'd feel worse and worse, and she'd be in a real state of mind. She'd be in a real state of mind. She'd be in a real state of mind.

U.S. Forecasts Price Troubles For Housewives

WASHINGTON—Completed figures just released by the Federal Reserve board and the department of commerce carry stern warnings for housewives who are already having trouble making both ends meet.

The story is just one of the many old things: shortages. We want more than to bring them out. Under price tags to three and four times what they were last year.

There have been 43 billion dollars' worth of goods this year. They're not there, and the rate is rising rapidly at the end of last year.

That kind of buying dropped off through the war because there were government controls on it, but consumers have been buying more rapidly since the war.

There have been shortages of lower priced goods, such as butter, sugar, and other necessities.
