As a curb against a further rise in the cost of living which already is 6 1/2 per cent higher than what it was in 1939, the President's Council of Economic Advisors and the Federal Reserve Board are proposing that Uncle Sam should tighten bank credits. Inflation will grow when there are too many dollars too few goods.

Inability of business and industry to get easy money at banks would apply a brake on plant expansion, and some unemployment would develop.

There may be some dips in the Full Employment Book. Government planners, however, have not always been right in their predictions. Remember those dire predictions about hard times and unemployment after V-J Day? Well, we have had inflation ever since.

An encouraging sign in 1948 is the prospect of labor peace and more production. The Taft-Hartley act of Congress and the Bonaparte labor mediation act of the Michigan legislature are being given credit for a 75 per cent reduction in strikes in the Detroit area alone.

The state act provides that a majority of employees of any plant, not just the officers of the union, must authorize a strike. The state also authorizes a special election for home government including the election of a 75 per cent reduction in strikes in the Detroit area alone.

More inflation in 1948 is likely to bring increased pressure on the Michigan legislature for new tax laws to finance public services of government will dominate the special session which is to start in March, 1948, at Lansing. The Governor Kim Sigler, who announced capital objectives by his new tax laws, has been criticized by the state legislature, as it due to regulate from the state into the 1948 campaign.

Consequently, they prefer to stay in their own groups. This tendency is a source of stagnation which makes us very happy, for we have something more to do than to wait for the state to act.

This theme of intolerance is something that every young American must find out for himself. It is the theme of the Negro fight for equality. It is the theme of the Negro fight for equality.

county governments spent 25 per cent more money in 1946 than they did in 1945. Leroy C. Smith, legislative chairman of the Michigan County Road association, warns that Michigan's highways system faces a complete breakdown unless counties get more money. He would advise more funds by adding two cents to the gasoline tax.

The court may not direct or control legislative action, as it is the duty of the legislature to enact laws. The court's duty is to interpret the laws.

There seems to be one main idea emphasized in Lewis' book—the Negro, and that phrase contains one of the greatest problems in America today. The author brings out the treatment of the Negro in the South and elsewhere in the United States.

Lewis explains that although the Negro is supposed to have the same rights we enjoy, that actually they are constantly humiliated and insulted.

Consequently, they prefer to stay in their own groups. This tendency is a source of stagnation which makes us very happy, for we have something more to do than to wait for the state to act.

Kingsblood Royal (A book review by Joyce Cathey of Sinclair Lewis' best seller.)

The story takes place along the western shore of Lake Michigan in the northern part of Minnesota. The city is Grand Rapids, a fairly large place. The time is now the mid-thirties to someone who had not read the book before. It is a story of a Negro living among them. They are the Negroes who are the Kingsbloods.

Consequently, they prefer to stay in their own groups. This tendency is a source of stagnation which makes us very happy, for we have something more to do than to wait for the state to act.

This theme of intolerance is something that every young American must find out for himself. It is the theme of the Negro fight for equality.

X-mas Tree Cuts Same As Last Year

Latest tabulations show that 231 Christmas trees have been cut in the Manchester area. This is a decrease from last year when 240 trees were cut.

Reports show that the supply of Christmas trees will be ready as large as a year ago, according to C. A. Boyer, Chief of the Division of Forestry, Michigan Department of Agriculture, with the cooperation of the State Police Post-Sheriff's Offices and County Agricultural Agents, to determine if they are properly accompanied by a bill of sale. 37,971 of these trees were shipped from the New England states and 81,096 came from Canada. The reason all Christmas trees must be accompanied by a bill of sale is to show they have not been taken from public lands or highways.

ANOTHER YEAR has passed. Again glad bells are pealing out the Christmas story. Happy children and parents are planning for the day in the glorious old-fashioned way. Everyone is thrilled by the magic spell of Christmas for they know the spirit of the Christ Child is in the land.

While glad bells peal out, while children make merry, while carols are being sung and the Christmas story is being told and retold, we join in the joyous occasion by expressing best wishes for a

WISHES A MERRY YULETIDE TO ALL

This Christmas one of the world's great problems is food for the children of the earth. We may differ as to how it should be provided, but we agree that it must be provided somehow.

Farming communities make food more plentiful for all mankind... not by taking from one to feed another, but by producing more for all.

In that spirit we give you our greetings for the season: our wish that your Christmas may be happy and that the New Year will bring you full measure of blessings.

Christmas No vaulting phrases can truly carry the meaning of that word, no marshaling adjectives please its fulfillment. Its being and expression rest over it in the simple words of the prophets, in the unpretentious but meaningful phrases of the Man of Galilee.

One man — one of many — created a character who in child-like faith and all-embracing love will live through the centuries as the symbol of Christmas.

The man was Charles Dickens; his character was Tiny Tim. And in the words of Tiny Tim, oft-repeated, we'd like to say:

"A MERRY CHRISTMAS, GOD BLESS US EVERY ONE!"
