Spring Brings Confusion

SPRING has turned Washington into a hot bed of activity. The crowded capital is about as busy as it has ever been...

As a matter of fact, the calmest mood since the war is the writer's own. He is not a member of the detachment by commission...

No, I'm not happy about it. But it was something that had to be done. That was his observation to reporters on his mobilization speech...

Whether he is right or wrong, that took courage in an election year.

Officials Warn Builders to Cut Prices of Homes

Leading Builders Say Little Can Be Done By Them

CHICAGO.—Federal government representatives and builders in an address to more than 3,000 of the nation's home builders warned them to start planning ways of lowering their costs.

Despite the fears concerning financial instability elsewhere, the 1948 building year should be just as good as 1947, when home building units were completed.

Kathleen Norris Says: Mother Should Exit Gracefully

A year ago, George began going with a woman I will call Louise. She is a widow and not pretty. Her husband died when George was only eight...

When a woman loses her husband she needs another outlet for her affection. Ordinarily, if she has any children, she will shower them with her love.

Woman's World Spring Accessories Reflect New Trend Toward Femininity

By Erta Haley

EVEN if you have to renounce your dresses and coats for the season, you won't be able to resist some of the new accessories. They're designed to delight the womanly heart for they're so gay, light and feminine as you please.

Those of you who are older will delight in their lovely old-fashioned look because it will remind you of younger days. Those of you too young to remember other fashions and older days will adore their feminine loveliness.

There are hats for every face and the fashion outlook for spring is white, crisp bouffants that smile of cheer and youthfulness and above them elegant and dainty.

Not only are leather goods being shown in the traditional white and pastel, but in all shades and variations. Yellow, silver, green and brown. The early forecast favors butter yellow, Balaicaga tan and beige. Yellow should be particularly good with navy outfits, perennial season favorite.

Those still remain dark, but there are some pastel hues coming to be used with light prints. A lovely pale shade is being shown as well as some shades of green and blue, but these latter two are rather dark. The really dark shades are favorites.

Card yours, if you have one, in favor of the more feminine pouch types being favored.

Shoes are dainty and feminine, according to the forecast. Lines in shoes are long and slender with graceful heels and intricate ornamentation. Generally speaking, footwear has climbed higher as handbags have fallen.

If you're conservative, choose the simple, unadorned pump with closed heels and toes. You'll find no such carry a lot of shoe, wear built high on the instep. There are multi-colored effects, two-tone or ombre shading and shoes with more than one texture to break the length.

To surrender the ankles, you may wear the high-heeled pumps mentioned above. Pumps and ties that show off the ankles also achieve this effect. The better fashion is good, and the new silhouette is good, and the new silhouette is good, and the new silhouette is good.

Downward Trend In Traffic Death Continues

The downward trend in Michigan traffic deaths continued during the month of February, with 60 persons being killed, or 17 fewer than in February of 1947, according to the monthly statistical report of the Michigan State Police. The death record was also the lowest of any month since February of 1947.

There were 11,957 accidents, a decrease of four per cent under February of last year. On the other side of the picture, however, there were 2,597 persons injured, or an increase of 16 per cent.

Most of the fatality reduction was in rural areas. Injuries increased 12 per cent in urban areas and decreased six per cent in urban areas while showing an increase of 13 per cent in rural areas.

During the first two months of 1948, 150 persons lost their lives and 3,223 were injured in 2,511 accidents on Michigan highways. Compared with the same period of a year ago, deaths were 10 per cent lower, injuries increased 10 per cent, and accidents increased three per cent.

A drop of 18 in the number of deaths resulting from motor vehicle - railroad train collisions accounted for most of the fatality reduction, but this was partly offset by an increase of seven in pedestrian deaths.

January mileage showed an increase of 11 per cent over the same month last year, but the death rate of 6.15 per 100 million miles of travel decreased 13 per cent. No deaths decreased six per cent in urban areas while showing an increase of 13 per cent in rural areas.

1948 To Be Michigan's Greatest Tourist Year

Michigan's tourist business in 1948 will see its greatest year in history—of the tremendous gasoline shortage doesn't pinch too hard. Even if the shortage does materialize, this year should exceed 1947 when $400,000,000 in tourist money was spent, by 10 to 20 per cent.

These predictions are made by Automobile Club of Michigan's Travel Bureau Manager Harry Holgan, who explains that Michigan always biggest customers of their own state's resort facilities, will vacation close to home if gas is short. Of total routes requested in 1947 by Michigan travelers, 42 above 1947, with only one being per cent were for trips within the state.

About 10 per cent more facilities, mostly motor courts and motels, will be ready for this year's Michigan tourist trade, according to Holgan, submitted for the 1948 Auto Club Michigan accommodations directory. Listed are 1174 separate accommodations, including hotels, tourist courts, cabins and resorts. Michigan food and sleeping accommodations rates will be generally in line with those in other states, Holgan believes. Prices in most areas of the Lower Peninsula will be no more than 10 to 20 per cent above 1947, with only one being per cent were for trips within the state.

tourist operators have already raised rates 20 per cent from last year. Upper Peninsula resorts, including the Keweenaw Peninsula area, should continue to grow in popularity this year, Holgan believes. For most UP tourist rates will not be raised, and some will even record slight decreases. One resort at Grand Marais, near trout fishing and swimming water, offers rates including meals and room at $25 per week. At the other extreme, a deluxe resort has rooms and meals at $15.00 per day for two.

Michigan food quality and general service have gained no ground, touring noted last year. Although many complaints of unclean food, tourist courts, cabins and resorts, Michigan food and sleeping accommodations rates will be generally in line with those in other states, Holgan believes. Prices in most areas of the Lower Peninsula will be no more than 10 to 20 per cent above 1947, with only one being per cent were for trips within the state.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Now It's Neddies
Made of Milk!

Follow in Andy Biddle's Tavern as he bustles about a trick milkie he was wearing made out of a by-product of milk. "Took 25 pounds of milk to make this," he says.

Bill Webster was unimpressed. "Personally," he says, "I'd rather have the milk to drink. Just as I American beer for a necktie made from thirty barrels of it!"

You modern college being what it is—seems like you can make anything out of anything these days. But in the case of milk, well

I guess drinking it is still a whole lot better than just wearing it. Of course there are lots of other ways of abusing goods and hoarding—like a fellow who doesn't appreciate good beer enough to drink it slowly and in moderation. But from what I sit, most people who enjoy a substantial beverage like beer or ale are moderate because beer itself is a beverage.

THE FICTION MERRY MERRY MERMAID

It was still early and the beach was deserted except for a few lone bathers far around the shoreline. Merry finished her spinning in the chilly water and climbed on a rock by the lagoon, the only rock in view anywhere on the sandy beach. It made a nice spot to sit and dry as the morning sun grew warmer.

"No," said Merry. "I like it here on the beach." "Oh," Terry shrugged. "Suit yourself. I'm going to take a swim. I'll be back in a few minutes. Go on all day. You ought to come along."

"No," said Merry. "Thanks anyway." She was sorry to see him go, yet happy too. He would be gone a day! As soon as he was completely out of sight she waded back into the water. Olga, Mrs. White's cook, came wading out but Merry didn't mind. Olga was plump and comfortable and she was eating an apple.

"Can you swim, Olga?" called Merry. "No," answered Olga. "But I can float." She lay back easily on the water and continued eating her apple, gazing unconcernedly up at the sky.

"Breakfast," said Merry, gathering up her belongings. "We haven't eaten. They're expecting us at the cottage."

"Well," said Terry reluctantly. "Yes, then, for now, see you again." He waded over to the deep end of the pier, waded down and as Merry left the beach she saw him swimming with long, sure strokes out to the raft. If only she could, he hadn't come along with her. Now she would have to go to the beach even earlier.

"Merry," Terry admitted, sadly. "I've never been around water much. I've always lived in the city, and I just never did learn."

"Here's the way," he said, and floated like Olga. "Get in the water. I'll be right here. You made it!"

"Here's the way," he said, and floated like Olga. "Get in the water. I'll be right here. You made it!"
