Rural Tele-news

MAKES HOURS OUT OF A MINUTE—The Patuxt camera can take so many pictures so fast that one minute's action, when slowed down to a movie screen, would make an eight-hour show. Developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories, the camera is used to study the rapid motions of telephone switching equipment as well as the action of human vocal cords. Research aids such as the Patuxt help to improve telephone service.

THE RINGS YOU CAN'T HEAR

It wasn't too many years ago that nearly every rural-line customer served by Michigan Bell could hear the rings of all other parties on the line. Today, thanks to technical improvements, nine out of every ten hear the rings of no more than half the parties on their line. This is but one of many ways Michigan Bell is providing steadily better rural service.

HOW DO THEY SOUND TO YOU?

In recent months many Michigan Bell operators have been attending meetings to find ways to give you better service. They've listened to their own voices on wire recordings... and analyzed many other phases of their work and they're putting their findings into practice. They hope you notice the improvement.
