Supervisors Vote On Courthouse Site Jan. 10

For The Present Site In Ann Arbor

Talk given by John R. Meadows on December 12, 1949 before the County Board of Supervisors in behalf of the present court house site for the proposed new court house building.

Mr. Chairman, I wish to thank the entire Board of Supervisors for the privilege of appearing here today to discuss a vital matter confronting the people of this county, namely, the site for the proposed courthouse, and let me say I can see no valid reason for a change from this very location.

Your time is limited I know, but since the problem of choosing a site was referred to our County Planning Commission early this year, I have devoted considerable time and study and will endeavor to outline why the logical place for the new structure is right here.

First let me say that at one of our Planning Commission meetings on March 21 of this year, the three suggested sites were evaluated on a restricted basis covering the various aspects such as users, accessibility, nearness to business, land area, parking space, traffic volume, physical setting, approximate cost, availability of utilities, and rental costs. With the result the present site rated first.

The town of Ann Arbor, having been the County Seat for many years, has assumed all of the characteristics of a county seat and to prove this I have had a small map of the area prepared indicating the location of the major buildings: the County Jail, the Ann Arbor Trust Building, Municipal Court Building, the two National and Veterans Buildings, the courts, etc. The reasons for the construction of all of the buildings, a considerable outlay of money, was essentially to have the County Seat and you will note they are all either adjacent to the block of it, or within a block of it. The County, some 60 houses are here in the County Seat that they might practice as near as possible to the courts and other

...of the county. This fact is borne out by the present traffic count of those individuals using the county offices from which I should like to quote briefly:

One phase of this statistical report of the visitors to the Wash-tenaw County Court House building, a most important fact, namely, that during the period of survey 460 people visited the building. Among these were 226 from the city of Ann Arbor, or 49.1 per cent. of the total, the balance of 234 coming from all parts of the county and out county. This was a most comprehensive survey of the numbers visiting each office in the court house and their location, clearly outlined that the most consistent users were in the highest percentage bracket.

In consideration of the most frequent visitors to the building, I am incorporating my letter to the Board of Supervisors dated May 2, 1949.

At the close of our meeting last week it was decided that all members desiring additions or alterations to our report should have them into the fore part of this week. Therefore, I strongly urge that in the summary on the last page of the report under the heading "The Present Site" an addition and most important fact should be added, namely, that the present site is in the general neighborhood of the most consistent users of the Court House.

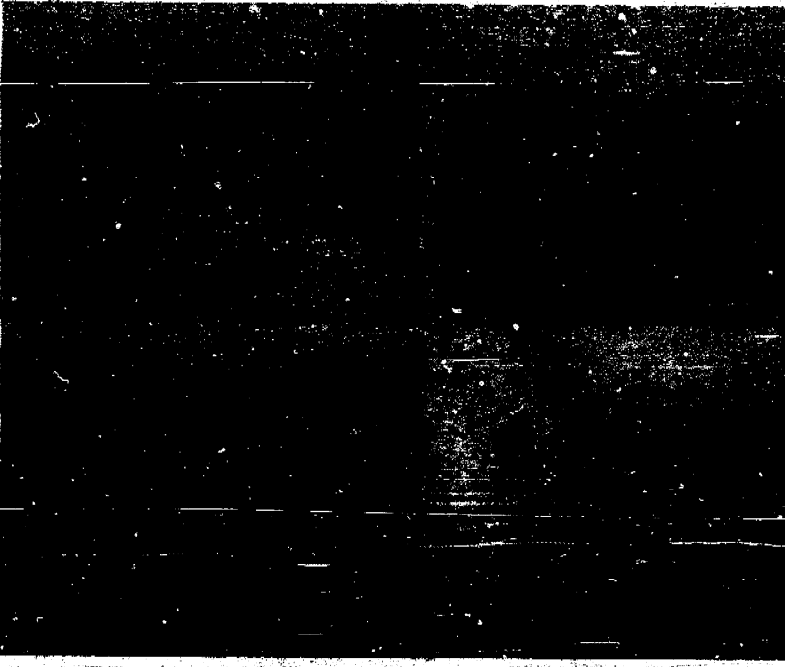

After 25 years of business life within one block of the Court House, close observation of those who have retained office space or places of business because of the nearness to the Court House, I feel most firmly that it would be a great advantage and economic loss to change the site from its present location.

Respectfully submitted, John R. Meadows, Commission Member.

And as to central point of population, the present location counts in my opinion, be more from now on the three school buses will load and unload on the playground at the rear of the two school buildings. With this action it is hoped that the parking congestion on the east side of the school building is ultra-modern to say the least, with modern conveniences for the protection of sight, hearing and general health of the students who attend school there. Only one thing is rather confusing. Do we call the new blackboards greenboards or are they green blackboards? The blackboard area will be resumed Friday evening when MHS will meet brighten away from home. Let's hope the Christmas vacation has done nothing but give the boys more vigor and vim for their next meeting.

Greenhouse & David Hardware will observe January 11 as John Deere Day when a free show, "Roots of the Soil" will be shown at the Manchester Theater along with other interesting features on what's new in John Deere Farm Equipment. The big design will start at 10 a. m. Wednesday adding a free lunch will be served to all guests. The new 1950 Chevrolet will be on display at Tibb's Chevrolet Garage.

Manchester's New $100,000 Grade School Opened Tuesday

Two exterior views of the front of the structure facing west, showing the main entrance. Below is a view of the hall and all at the kindergarten room.

The new grade school building, facing Dauffert street, was opened Tuesday morning to 178 students from the kindergartens through the fourth grade who have been attending school in the church halls since September. The building was constructed at a cost of $87,000 by the use of the $100,000 bond issue used for new equipment.

The school is an open house sponsored by the Board of Education and the Parent-Teachers Association which will be held January 23 between 7:30 and 8:30 after which a program will be presented in the Civic Auditorium. An educational film will be shown at this time to demonstrate the use of the projector, which was recently purchased for the use of 25 students. The six classrooms which are 25 feet square and have a seat, desk and group tables were equipped with fluorescent lighting with lateral lighting from above on the south side diffusing the light and providing the garden room receives regular lighting from the dome structure, soft pastel shades on the walls and a one room from disturbing stations in another.

The building also includes two student lavatories, a kindergarten center and answer any questions any serviceman may want to ask. The Servicemen's Center, which was recently opened on January 3, at the new 4750 hall at 314 E. Liberty, which will be a temporary address until their new building is completed. All veterans are invited to attend this meeting which will begin at 8:00 p. m. Monday.

Michigan Bell Rate Case Adjoined

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company rate case is in adjournment until late January with the company pleading for recognition of its problem of having to replace low-cost with high-cost facilities.

Unless the problem is recognized, the company must continue to apply for rate increases or be liable to meet service demands through new construction. Henry W. Goodman, assistant vice-president, told the Michigan Public Service Commission.

By the end of 1951, Goodman predicted the company will have expended $42,000,000 in additional facilities to earn a return under existing rates. To provide an adequate return, new rates should yield additional revenue of about $15,000,000 a year through 1951, he said. Rate increases requested by the company would average about 3.4 cents a day per customer for all types of service.

Raymond Foulkrod, plant extension engineer for the company, said construction projects are being limited to those essential for providing service.

For The Washtenaw Avenue Site

A report prepared at the request of the Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors, discussing the principal advantages of the Washtenaw Avenue site for a new courthouse.

(By James H. Glasgow, Dec. 12, 1949) Chairman Beach, Members of the Board of Supervisors, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Geography has changed much since you and I attended school. In the rural village where I was a boy, geography classes consisted of memorizing and reciting questions and answers from an old book which had several pictures of foreign cities, some of jungle animals, and one of the White House in Washington.

Today the geography departments of our universities and colleges are training students to do more than memorize place names and answers to questions. The new training specialists for the State Department in Washington, the Census Bureau, for the Department of Agriculture, for State Land Economic Surveys, for County and City Planning Commissions, and for airlines, railroads, and other companies. Among other things, modern geography concerns itself partly with land use, such as: land for agriculture, land for forests, land for hunting, land for cities, land for courthouses.

This afternoon we are interested in two phases of geography. The first involves a consideration of the last use for any particular piece of land. In this discussion we are limiting ourselves to two places of land, that on which the present courthouse building stands and the Washtenaw Avenue site in the midst of an area with rapidly changing land uses. Ten years ago the Washtenaw Avenue square was essentially rural. Today the County Farm is almost surrounded by land with urban uses. The second phase of geography is to improve on this afternoon by discussing the advantages of the Washtenaw County site to 60 years from now. Supervisors are not authorized to authorize the erection of a new courthouse for 1951 and 1952; you are authorizing the erection of a building which should still be in use in the years 2000 and perhaps 2025. Those of your grand children will sit in session such as this in the year 2000 to debate the merits of a new building. To look into the future is the purpose for which a County Planning Commission is appointed to it. I am members of all sections of the county and several occupations. You created the Planning Commission to look into the future and help you avoid costly mistakes. Look into a crystal ball. It does mean that we examine the trends, the good and bad prospects of other countries very much like our own. We should examine other countries in the fringes of large business buildings on this peninsula like Cleveland and Chicago, as well as Detroit.

First, let us look at the present site of the courthouse. One hundred years ago the number of officials and employees was limited to a part-time judge, a clerk, a treasurer, and a sheriff. From that beginning the number of deputies and assistants grew. In 1925 there were 20 employees, today there are 144 employees, 78 didn't work there if the parking problem is troublesome now, what will it be when 75 employees are not housed in this building move into the new one on this site? Today the following departments are not housed in the courthouse: County Health Department, Social Welfare Department, Presenting Attorney's Office, County Planning Commission, Building Inspector's Office, Sheriff's Office, Road Commission, and County Employees. Where will all these offices park and where will the employees park? More as the population increases. There will be additional county employees and perhaps new departments. The present site does not afford much room for expansion.

It is not enough for the city of Ann Arbor to try out plans for new parking structures. The county should provide free parking space for all of its employees and for all those seeking to do business in its office. Thus far the quantity of Ann Arbor has made no quantitative survey of parking needs projecting into the future. It is finding difficulty in catching up with the present backlog of traffic problems. If Washtenaw County were to acquire the present courthouse site for a modern hotel with shops on the street level and under-cover facilities for customers by day and hotel guests by night, Ann Arbor needs a hotel large enough to care for tourists, salesmen, and convention delegates.

Ann Arbor does possess a real center. It is adequate in all respects. It is adequate in cost. Estimates of cost for such a center have been made, and in this connection it should be remembered that many Ann Arbor persons feel that their taxes have been reached the upper limit. Will these persons be willing to authorize funds for a beautiful civic center in moderate surroundings?

The Board of Supervisors works diligently to keep costs down. If the new courthouse were to be built on the present site, here are some cars which would need to be considered. The land value of the 1.8 acres comprising the county should provide free parking space for all of its employees and for all those seeking to do business in its office. Manchester Couple Observed Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Alvina Witherrall entertained at a dinner Saturday, December 31, as they observed their golden wedding anniversary. Mrs. Witherrall is the former Caroline Muck, daughter of the late Andrew and Elizabeth Bernier-Muck, of Brooklyn.

Mr. Witherrall is the son of the late Marian and Hunt Witherrall and was born in a log cabin on the farm where they now live. He is the third generation of Witherralls to live there since his father built the large farm house where he now lives.

The couple were married by the late Rev. J. H. Hebbelm at the All Saints Episcopal church in Brooklyn December 31, 1889. It was a coincidence that the same minister who married the couple also baptized and confirmed Mrs. Witherrall.

Their one daughter, Marjorie, passed away July 23, 1932. Among the guests present at the dinner were the Rev. Arthur Parsons of the Brooklyn All Saints Episcopal church, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kohler, Mr. and Mrs. John Senkewitz, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Chamberlain, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Kelly and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brooks, Mrs. Leon Wolff and Mrs. Darrol Wolff and two daughters of Brooklyn, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stanley of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fleiger, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Riedel, Miss Lucille Scully and Herbert Blumhardt.

A beautifully decorated three-tiered wedding cake and floral arrangements of yellow, red and white accents the dinner table. The couple received many lovely gifts, flowers and plants.

Miss Cameron Says Vows To Arnold Wilson

Phyllis Dean Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cameron of Manchester, became the bride of Arnold D. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Wilson of Clinton, in an 8 o'clock ceremony Thursday evening in the iron creek church.

Rev. Alvin Brazee officiated at the candlelight service, assisted by Rev. E. Eason of Friends church, Tecumseh.

The bride's white slipper satin gown was designed with lace yoke and collar and a full skirt ending in a train. She wore her mother's wedding veil attached to a coronet, and carried a colonial bouquet of white and pink roses.

Patricia Cameron was her sister of honor, wearing a pastel green gown, and carrying a bouquet of peach colored flowers.

Two other sisters of the bride, Jessie Doris Cameron of Port Huron, wearing lavender, and Shirley Cameron, attired in peach, were bridesmaids. The third bridesmaid was Annelise Wilson, sister of the bridegroom. She wore an aqua gown.

Dick Haas of Clinton was the best man. John Judge, David Fratt and Lynn Wilson, brother of the bridegroom, all of Clinton, ushered.

A reception followed in the church by Marilyn Brooks of Manchester, Arvyn Carstensen of Clinton and Dorothy Froelich of Newburg assisting. The couple left for a short wedding trip, the bride wearing a blue and gray print dress with a white coat and gray accessories. They will make their home in the Irish Hills.

Both the bride and bridegroom are graduates of Clinton high school. The former Miss Cameron attended Michigan state normal college last year. Her husband is employed by Hart and Howell Company in Brooklyn.

On many farms the Model G serves every power need to burn part-time farming into profitable relaxation. If you own even a large tractor, why tie it up with light jobs the Model G can do on quarts of fuel instead of gallons! During busy seasons, this extra tractor can prove "worth its weight in gold." Quick-hitch, front-mounted G implements include a field-width 5-foot mower and two-row wheel loader. Many farms, mowing and planting alone more than justify investment in this tractor. VETERANS' NEWS Shows Need For Greater Acreage Of Soybeans

Emil Jacob Post 117, Manchester, welcomed 1000 at a New Year's Eve party held at the club Saturday, December 31, 1949. Everyone had a swell time and Fred Frey's orchestra from Jackson gave us fine music. The hostess of our post part on a nice lunch and favors committee in charge of entertainment was distributed by the post.

We wish to take this means of thanking everyone who had a part in making this New Year's Eve party a success. The "Time of Toys" (total) program will continue until January 31, 1950, so if you have a toy that you would like to send some poor child over in Europe, just drop it off at the Legion Home or leave it at 547 West Main St. and we will see that it gets to its destination. So far we have received one large box, thanks to Mrs. Arthur Struble, and we are expecting many more to make these children happy. I am sure there is at least one boy or girl in each family who could find a toy to make some European boy or girl happy.

Any veteran is entitled to come to our regular Legion meeting January 9, 1950, to hear the newly appointed director of the new servicemen's center which opened in Ann Arbor on January 3rd. Donald Bachman, director, will give you first hand information on what the center can do and will be glad to answer any questions. You may save the meeting open at 8:00 p. m. to be sure and to there.

a million additional acres just to replace the grain that will be lost through cotton acreage reduction in 1950.

The soybean industry should be given a chance to prove there is a market for many more bushels of soybeans than we have raised in the past. The only way this can be done is for the grower to be allowed to increase his acreage unhampered by contract.

The American Soybean Association went on record in opposition to high price supports and acreage control of soybeans at its annual convention in September.

Mysterious Smog Pools 92 Paint from 100 Drawings

CINCINNATI—A chemical plant had to suspend operations last week after a mysterious smog pool of paint and discoloration more than 100 houses and made several persons ill in suburban Reading and South Reading.

Mayor Charles Curtis of Reading said: "The source of the fumes has been located. It is a small building on the corner of 10th and Reading streets. The fumes were described as smelling like rotten eggs or like a burning brake band."

Mr. William Adams, described as a specialist on industrial gases, was called into the investigation. He said, "It looks like a cloud of moisture laden with hydrogen sulfide from a Reading plant made a path about three blocks wide across the southern section of the town."

"No seriously affected persons have been reported," he added.

New Hormone ACTH

The saving of all possible pituitary glands used in preparing a new hormone for the control of arthritis, rheumatic fever, gout, and myasthenia gravis, has been urged by the American Meat Institute, an all of its members slaughtering hogs. The hormone is adrenocorticotropin, called ACTH, for short. In making the request of its members, the institute emphasized humanitarian considerations and pointed out that ACTH is considered to be one of the most important contributions to mankind in the relief of severe pain, particularly in cases of arthritis and gout. Myasthenia gravis is a disease in which the muscles waste away, and become progressively weaker.
