Team Your China With Table Linens

One of the newest and most attractive ideas in table setting is the use of harmonizing accessories keyed to a general motif. Such matched table appointments are especially effective in formal settings, and a clever hostess can use them to create a stunning table for her dinner party. Shown here is such a themed table setting, where all the details combine to produce an effect of matched elegance. The formal grace of the fine linen, its design specifically inspired by this particular china. The Greek motif embroidered in non-ferrous metal thread on the cloth follows the sleek, gold pattern of the creamy translucent plates.

IN KEEPING WITH THE SEASON

Picture taking is subject to seasonal change—but it is one field in which this is highly desirable because these seasonal changes add variety that is a fearful dash of spice in your snapshotting.

PICTURE TAKING IN SUBJECT TO SEASONAL CHANGE

While it certainly isn't a new idea—in fact, almost everyone tries it at one time or another—it still has a weakness for pictures of jack-o'-lanterns. You can always live the idea with your own novel interpretation.

The Manchester PTA will again sponsor a milk program for the children attending Manchester school beginning kindergarten through the fourth grade. This practice, which has been in operation for several years prior to last year, proved very beneficial. However, during the construction of the new grade school, it could not be carried out because of the young children attending the church basement. It is apparent that the PTA is a project which will furnish the milk to the school with the largest percentage of the children attending the meetings.
