Franklin M. Reck has returned home after a couple of days at Tawas. Frank, editor of Lincoln-Mercury Times, along with John Calkins, Ford Times color photographer, and Moss Ford, staff artist, and Burgess Scott, Ford Truck Times editor, made up a foursome doing work on a story and pictures of Perchville on Tawas Bay. From what we've been told—there's a lot of unique scenery at Perchville—as well as plenty of fish. Along with their work they managed a good catch—seventy perch. Will be looking for the story of Perchville.

Looking at the snow and ice we've decided that the Smiths—Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith—of Don's Dairy Bar, are very lucky to have picked this time for their vacation—especially when it's a two week vacation in Florida.

Congressman Meader Reports To His Constituents

George Meader, representative from the Second District, in taking his new office is not ungrateful of the people back home who elected him. In a letter to The Enterprise, he subscribes and asks for back copies. No stranger to the people of Washtenaw County, he says, "I want to report frequently to my constituents and, accordingly, intend to adopt the practice of writing weekly columns."

Congressman Meader

His first report follows. It will be interesting to have this close contact with the electors representative and he also adds that he will be glad to have views and suggestions from his constituents. Remember this when some issue arises in which you are personally interested. He is your representative and it is your opportunity to keep in touch with how you are represented.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12, 1951—The principal activity in the first week of the 82nd Congress, was, of course, its organization. The adoption of rules of procedure, assignment of members to committees, hearing the President's speech on the state of the Union, and just getting settled and acquainted.

21-Day Rule Eliminated—New members hardly had been sworn in before they faced the responsibility of passing on a far-reaching procedural question, the 21-day rule. This question was whether it should be easier or more difficult to pass legislation.

My view is that what is required is not more legislation but legislation of a better quality. Accordingly, an additional obstacle to the passage of new laws, a tighter screening of new policy proposals seems to me to be in the public interest. My vote was among those which repealed the 21-day rule.

This rule, adopted at the beginning of the last Congress, provided that after a pending piece of legislation had been before the Rules Committee 21 days without being brought to the floor of the House, the chairman of the Legislative Committee could bring up the bill.

The Rules Committee, the "traffic cop of the House," from time immemorial has held the power to determine what new legislative proposals should be considered by the full membership of the House.

Legislative committees can and do pigeon-hole bills. Likewise, the Rules Committee can refuse to grant a rule for the consideration of a bill by the House. However, it is impossible for the Rules Committee to stop legislation completely. A petition signed by a majority of the members of the House (218) always can bring legislation before the House. Also, chairman of legislative committees can call up any bills which have been reported out by their committees on "Calendar Wednesday," which is Wednesday of every week except the last two of any session.

It is universally recognized that with 435 individuals, having widely differing points of view, all anxious to get action on their pet schemes, there must be, rather rigid control of procedures if business is to be orderly and action kept from getting out of hand.

It is charged that the Rules Committee sometimes has acted arbitrarily and autocratically in bottling up legislation. Possibly the curb of the committee's power during the 81st Congress will be reflected in a more judicious use by the committee of its restored powers.

On Expenditures Committee—I sought a position on the Foreign Affairs Committee because of my intense interest in the present international crisis, and because my observation of our State Department and other federal agencies in foreign fields, during my work with the Senate War Investigating Committee, produced ideas for lines of action which I feel might be useful in developing a more effective foreign policy.

My experience in that work involved such matters as lend-lease settlements, surplus property disposal abroad, the Inter-American highway, and military government in Germany and Austria.

However, the Foreign Affairs Committee has become extremely popular, and Republican Representatives were vying for the two Republican vacancies. Accordingly, I was assigned to the Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Department.

Charles Mills and Miss Donna Streb Are Married

The wedding of Charles Mills, Jr. of Manchester to Donna Streb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Streb of Saginaw took place Thursday at the Grace Baptist Church at Saginaw. The bridegroom is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Charles Mills, Sr. of Grand Rapids. The double ring service was performed by Rev. Charles Mills, father of the bridegroom. Traditional music was played by Mrs. D. J. Moore of Sparta and Miss Patricia Barndsen also of Sparta was the soloist.

For her wedding the bride chose a white suit with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage. Her maid of honor was Carole Doughty of Sandusky. She wore a pink suit and matching accessories and a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Icy Roads Cause Two Accidents

Mrs. Lillian Washburne returned home from the University hospital at Ann Arbor where she spent a couple of days. She suffered bruises after her car skidded on the icy road about six miles west of town on M-11. The car went out of control and down an embankment. No other car was involved.

Carl Wuerthner, escaped injury when his car skidded off the road and hit a tree on the Manchester and Clinton Road. The car was badly damaged.

ARE WE OUR BROTHERS KEEPERS?

This question has been discussed many times. Carl Wuerthner, age 77 of Manchester, gave his answer it will be remembered after he made a tour of Europe, during which he stayed 34 days with relatives in Germany, making his headquarters at Schweisingen, a city of 22,000 inhabitants. It was in this city that his father was born in the State of Wurtemberg. This city has experienced two wars in the past ten years besides the two issues of money. This made the country poor and many citizens destitute.

One cousin in 1947 had fourteen hundred marks which equals $350 saved to visit two sisters in Brooklyn but when the new money was issued she received less than $18 in American money. None of her relatives have telephones or automobiles. Only the rich have them. Hardship seems to be the main topic of conversation. Two of Mr. Wuerthner's relatives died of malnutrition because of American restrictions on sending food to Germany. Mr. Wuerthner says, "We in America can only say we do not appreciate living in a land of democracy." At Stuttgart he visited a church where three-fourths of it had been bombed and only the front quarter was standing. It was necessary to hold services three consecutive times to accommodate the public. The distressed and saddened faces he has never forgotten.

Before leaving Europe he promised to appeal for clothing and shoes here to be sent back to Germany. Most everything that was to be had in Germany was sold at inflated prices while people's wages were far below. He called on a relative of one of our citizens of Manchester who is a carpenter with a wife and five children to support. He received 150 marks a month which is equal to $36 in our money. Another relative of a Manchester self.

Barbara Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Puffer of 112 Macomb street is a patient at Mercy hospital at Jackson where she was taken after being seriously burned while at the Manchester Theater which her father owns. The 13-year-old girl was standing in the booth at the front of the theater, prior to the opening of the theater. An electric heater was turned on in the booth and Barbara's skirt caught fire and quickly ignited nylon underwear. She is suffering from third degree burns on her body, and second degree burns on her hands.

Joseph Broch at the Catholic Church at Willow Village. The double ring service was attended by the immediate families.

Quota For Student Nurses Increased

Hospitals throughout the nation must enroll 75,000 student nurses in 1951—fifty per cent more than in 1950—if the expanding needs of the profession are to be met. The story is told on the placard being posted by Lois Reule, a beginning student at the Toledo Hospital School of Nursing—where arrangements have already been made to accept a larger September class. Mrs. Reule, who has taken up nursing in spite of the fact that she is the mother of two small children, said the increased demand for graduate nurses by both civilian and military services, has been responsible for the increase in the 1951 quota.

'Carmen Dragon, the musical director of NBC's 'The Railroad Hour,' posed for a series of publicity pictures with his four youngsters just before the holidays. The shots suited for a prop turkey and the trimmings and after the pictures were taken the children asked for and were given the turkey to take home. Christmas, with the genuine article in the way of turkeys, came and went, and Carmen had long forgotten the phoney bird, until the other day when he sat down at his piano at home to try out some 'Railroad Hour' music, and struck what was obviously a very flat note. Upon investigating, Carmen flung back the top of the piano and got the shock of the week. Yes, there lay the bird, realistically brewed and stuffed, with rosettes of tissue paper round its feet!

On a certain sequence of CBS-TV's period-comedy, 'Mama,' last week, a real live cow was among the required cast members. She arrived, with attendant, in time for dress rehearsals, took her place, and the rehearsal proceeded—but not smoothly. The cow began to bawl at the top of her lungs, the attendant had drifted out for a glass of water, and all the highly skilled technicians on the set tried vainly to shut off that sound effect. They had reached the tearing-out-hair-stage, and bossy was still bawling—when the attendant strolled back in, took in the situation at a glance, and whipped a pail out from the sidelines, drew a chair up to the cow, and calmly began to milk her!

Charlie Hankinson, regular panel member of MBS's 'Juvenile Jury,' was confronted with the problem of a little boy who wanted his mother to move from Florida to Virginia. It seems, as m.c. Jack Barry explained the situation, the little boy wants to grow up to be president and has just learned that, so far, no Charlie Hankinson presidents have been born in Florida. 'Why does he want to move to Virginia?' asked Charlie in surprise. 'Missouri would be better.'

AIR-DENIDA: Pretty Teri Keane, the heroine of NBC's dramatic 'Life Can Be Beautiful,' expects a baby next summer. She is married to radio star John Larkin... Rhoda Williams of 'Father Knows Best' has a hobby that is a 'busman's holiday'—she acts with the 'Church Actors' Company, an organization sponsored by her church in Los Angeles, which stages plays based on biblical themes and presents them to audiences in prisons and welfare institutions.

A prayer for our Soldiers

BY MAJOR GENERAL ROY H. PARKER

Chief of Chaplains, United States Army

Almighty God, the Creator and Preserver of all mankind, we commend A to Thy special care and keeping those serving in our Army. Though they be in the midst of dangers, do Thou send Thy guardian angels for their protection. Walk beside them as they go through the valley of the shadow of death.

Knowing that all good things come from Thee, grant them courage and loyalty, through a firm faith in freedom's cause. In the present conflict when sacrifices are called for, let them be made in the knowledge that Thou art the rewarder of Thy servants. Enable them to live valiantly and serve nobly, in the full realization that no man liveth unto himself. Grant them clear minds, strong bodies, resolute wills, and pure hearts free from hatred and bitterness; renewing them each and every day with strength, like strong men of old, who age not, enthroned young, stoog with confidence and courage.

Awaken in them a lively faith that will keep them close to Thee. Enable them to rest their cause upon Thy Word—that though they be strong, yet knowing the cause as they battle for the right, they can never fail. Fill their hearts with the assurance that with Thee nothing is impossible and that all things work together for good to them that love Thee.

If it be Thy will that injuries be sustained, let them experience the touch of Thy healing hand and do Thou bless the means and the ministrants employed for the restoration of their health.

In these difficult times, when the forces of evil are running rampant and many hopes seem about to be crushed, fill their hearts with an abiding sense of Thy reality and the certainty of Thy continual presence. Enable them to look to Thee when loneliness and longing overtake them; fulfill their yearnings by granting them Thine own companionship and fellowship. Enable them to realize the full meaning of Thy promise, 'Lo, I am with you always.'

Thou who art the Protector and Helper as well as the Giver of victory, grant unto them every good gift of body and soul and unite us with them in faith and love unceasing. Amen.

Two great ideologies (yardsticks) are abroad in the world today: The doctrine of individual sovereignty and the doctrine of institutional or organizational sovereignty.

At first glance the average person may think that ideologies are highly impractical and theoretical, and fit only for philosophers and theologians to worry about.

But these two ideologies are of very immediate importance, because they are exact opposites, and they happen to be what most of the shooting, verbal and literal, is all about.

These two ideologies furnish the drive, the steam, the motive power, behind most of the things that are being done in the world today.

Herbert Spencer stated the Law of Individual Sovereignty in these words: 'Every man has freedom to do all that he wills, provided he infringes not the equal freedom of any other man.'

Jesiah Warren put it bluntly: 'Every man is sovereign, limited only by the equal sovereignty of every other individual.'

In its practical application, the yardstick of individual sovereignty will solve more problems in daily life than all other laws combined.

You will begin to see your wife, your children, your parents, your boss, your employees, your friends in a new light. That person is an individual human being. He has a right to do as he damn pleases, so long as he doesn't step on my toes.

So you quit trying to live the lives of all these other people. That is quite a load off your shoulders.

Then you settle down to trying to live your own life. And you find that is a man-sized, 24 hour a day job.

As far as the individual is concerned, the adoption of the life of individual sovereignty is a double-barreled proposition. It is an Emancipation Proclamation and a Declaration of Independence at one and the same time.

Living a life of individual sovereignty frees you as much as is humanly possible from slavery to others. You accept responsibility for being your own boss, for living your own life. Declaration of independence.

At the same time, you free all others from slavery to you. You let them assume the responsibility for living their own lives. Emancipation proclamation.

Personal life is much simpler under a program of individual sovereignty.

In the political realm, individual sovereignty is the core of democracy. This country was founded on the idea of individual sovereignty. The government exists to serve the people. Elected officers are servants of the people. Individual values are supreme.

In a totalitarian country, a dictatorship, exactly the reverse is true. The individual is nothing. The state is everything. Individuals exist to serve the state. An individual is just a cog in the machine, to be used as industrial fodder or cannon fodder or any other kind of fodder, the state sees fit.

If individual sovereignty is the core of democracy, where does the individual leave off and government begin? In a democracy, what is the function of government?

There is a simple test: The individual is sovereign in all affairs of life which affect him only. In his own personal life he is supreme, so long as what he is doing does not interfere in any way with the equal sovereignty of others.

The minute his activities spill over into the life of the community, then government has jurisdiction. Government operates in the realm of 'the equal sovereignty of others.'

Where only the individual is concerned, he is supreme. Where others are involved, all must act in such a way as to promote the best interests of all. The government is the instrument of the people to promote the general welfare. The Bill of Rights is designed to see to it that the government keeps its nose out of the private life of the individual.

What has been said in regard to the individual versus the state applies with equal force to all other organizations—social, religious, educational, industrial and commercial, and so on.

The following chart will give some idea of the fundamental differences between the two ideologies:

Individual Sovereignty leading to spontaneous cooperation, negotiation, democracy, freedom, inner discipline, individual values, civil law, free enterprise, the police process.

Organizational (institutional) Sovereignty leading to coercion, war, dictatorship, slavery, blind obedience, outside discipline, bee-hive (ant hill) values, martial (military) law, monopoly, the military process.

This is a complex world in which we live, full of perplexing problems. Problems are hard to solve and decisions are difficult to make unless we have some yardstick that will fit the situation.

The doctrine of individual sovereignty is an ideology or yardstick that will solve a surprisingly large number of problems. In personal contacts with family, friends and relatives, the yardstick of individual sovereignty, individual autonomy, will fit most situations that arise.

In social life, in business life, in political life, and so on, again the yardstick or ideology of individual sovereignty will solve many problems, whether it is the relationship of the individual to the group, or whether it is the relationship of one group to another group.

In the complexities of modern life, a good, safe yardstick with which to measure problems is as necessary and as comforting as is a rudder to a ship at sea.

This nation was founded on and has grown great as a result of the literal and meaningful application of the doctrine of individual sovereignty. This nation will continue to serve its people and the peoples of the world to the extent that it observes and promotes the doctrine of individual sovereignty.

Fascinating Fashions By Judy Seaton

Peggy Wood, talented star of the CBS-TV period comedy, "Mama," and a well-seasoned traveler, has gathered an impressive list of tips for gaddabouts from her many experiences.

Her first rule is to decide just what type of clothes will be needed for the occasion. Next, she plans her packing to include one outfit of each type and she then eliminates half of the clothes by making each ensemble serve a dual purpose.

"For instance, when I went to Baltimore to meet the cast of a high school production of the play, 'I Remember Mama,' my wardrobe consisted of a basic black suit which is always correct and can be made casual or dressy to fit any occasion by the mere addition of an appropriate blouse and hat, and one dress. All of these fitted in one twenty-one-inch weekend suitcase."

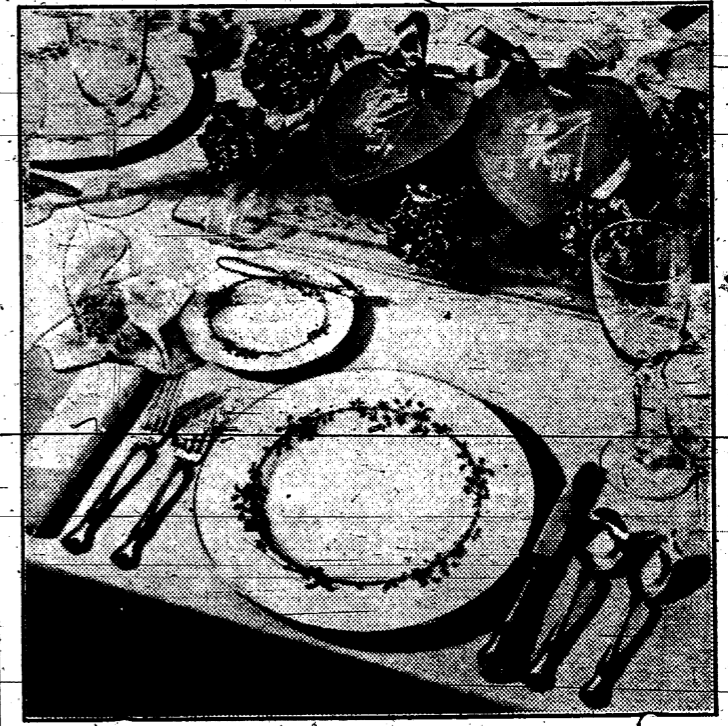

"I have found from sad experience that it really pays when packing to take the extra trouble of using tissue paper, knitted shoe bags, unbreakable plastic bottles and many of the other travelling props.

Party Plan for Valentine's Day

Valentine's Day can be just as simple or as fussy as you like. But, whatever your preference dictates, by all means celebrate it in some fashion! A luncheon for the ladies is one way of doing it... and you might use soft lacy handkerchiefs for favors, with a small artificial flower planted right in the middle. Translucent Lenox china in the Belvidere pattern is particularly appropriate. Rimmed in 24-k. gold, the inside of the center is encircled by a rose-colored chain design, punctuated by small clusters of blue flowers scattered among green leaves. The centerpiece can be simple and still suggest Valentine's gaiety—perhaps just two heart-shaped boxes of candy, tied with bright bows and surrounded by fat red carnations.

"Keep Clean"—Defense Advice

Take it from a renowned health authority: Grime doesn't pay!

According to Dr. George Uhl, head of the Los Angeles Health Department, there is an important relationship between high standards of household cleanliness and national defense.

"Cleanliness begins at home," said Dr. Uhl, "and provides one answer to the oft-repeated question: 'What can I do to help national defense?'"

"Keep clean," he urged.

"We learned much during the second World War and we have continued to improve public health practices and methods since then. Food handlers, for instance, have been taught the importance of cleanliness and our public schools have stressed courses in health instruction. Due to a vigorous national and local health education campaign, people are more health-minded today. The great number of new home washing machines now in use in this country are a plus factor in the public health favor," he said.

His statement underlines the acceptance of the electric washing machine as essential to the health and morale of the American home.

Around the world, wherever there are Americans, there is soap and the unrelenting instinct to keep clean. The G.I. takes his bath in his helmet. The sailor dips himself in the sea. And Americans at home rely first on the family bathtub and then on the family washing machine, a tool that is fast becoming the nation's best morale booster.

Americans spend more time washing than they spend eating. Dishes, faces, elbows and clothes

The washing machine is a favorite member of every family. It provides a never-ending supply of clean clothes, and the assurance of good health and that "clean feeling" in times like these, the family washer is essential to the health and happiness of the American home.

are dipped in suds every day in forty million homes, for cleanliness is a virtue and an old American custom.

These days, clothes like their wearers must work harder, last longer, and be ready for emergencies. Shortages, higher prices, and general tightening of supplies of civilian wearing apparel make clothing economy a must. Washing economy is the only way to meet this critical situation, and the washing machine is the best economizer.

Christian Patience
Thursday, January 18
You have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise." (Hebrews 10:36) Read Hebrews 10:23-36.
Thrilling is the story of how Thomas A. Edison patiently worked to invent a practical electric light bulb. Few men would have had the patience to continue after as many failures as he experienced.

In the Christian life patience is necessary in bringing our lives and those of others into conformity with the will of God. After praying, we must have patience to wait for God to speak to us.

Patience is not inactivity. It is required of us that we do the will of God and then wait until He fulfills His promises. It is not enough to find God's time schedule. The doors will open as we seek to know and then to do God's will. We have need of this kind of patience.

Prayer
Our Father in heaven, we thank Thee that Thou hast guided the destinies of men in times past. We thank Thee that Thou dost care about us and guide us in this day. We would commit our lives anew to Thee. Illumine our minds. Direct our ways. Give us patience. Lead us in the way of eternal life. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Thought for the Day
As a Christian I have need of patience.

Your New Social Security

The child in the average American home will have greater insurance benefit payments under the Amended Social Security law. While a child's benefit in life cases is still one-half of the insured worker's insurance amount, provisions relating to the definition of child, dependency of child, and the child's benefit amount are liberalized.

Beginning this September, on deaths of the insured worker occurring at any time after 1939, an only child's benefit payment is three-fourths of the deceased worker's insurance payment. In case there is more than one child in the family, each child's benefit is one-half of the worker's insurance payment, plus one-fourth of that benefit divided by the number of children.

Under the new law, the adopted child of a deceased insured worker need no longer meet any time requirements to qualify as a "child" for social security benefits. In life cases, a stepchild who is later adopted by his stepparent, may count time before and after adoption toward the required time period. That time period is now three years before the day of application.

The amended law makes many changes in the provisions concerning a child's dependency on his mother and on a stepparent. A child will be considered dependent on his natural or adopting mother, regardless of the father's presence in the home, or the father's contributions to the child's support. This applies in cases where the mother was currently insured when she died or became entitled to retirement insurance benefits. A child can be deemed dependent on his mother including a stepmother) if the mother was furnishing at least half of the child's support at the time of her death or retirement.

A child is considered dependent on a stepfather with whom he was living, or who was furnishing at least half the child's support, even though the child's new definition of "employee" real father was also contributing toward the child's support. The benefit amount for one or more surviving children is increased by one-fourth of the worker's insurance amount, divided equally among the children.

WINS 1950 "CORN-PRINCE" TITLE

Delbert Pryor, 18 year old Lovington, Illinois High School Senior, was recently named the 1950 Corn Prince at the International Livestock Exposition, with his fine 10 ear sample of DeKalb Seed Corn. Young Pryor is the president of the Lovington, Ill., Future Farmers of America.

My next article will explain the port, even though the child's new definition of "employee" real father was also contributing toward the child's support. The benefit amount for one or more surviving children is increased by one-fourth of the worker's insurance amount, divided equally among the children.

feature POWER PILOT ECONOMY

The Ford Truck Power Pilot is a simpler, fully-proven way of getting the most power from the least gas. The Power Pilot automatically meters and fires the right amount of gas, at precisely the right instant, to match constantly changing speed, load and power requirements.

Unlike conventional systems, the Power Pilot uses only one control instead of two, yet is designed to synchronize firing twice as accurately. You can use regular gas... you get no-knock performance. Only Ford in the low-price field gives you Power Pilot Economy!

Ford Trucks cut your expenses through low initial cost, low fuel consumption, minimum maintenance, longer life.

Come in today to get ALL the facts on the Economy Leaders for 1951.

a John Deere Day message

Dear Friends:

John Deere Day will soon be here again; in fact, next Friday, January 26th! This is the day we look forward to having all our farmer friends here to be our guests and spend the day with us. There just isn't time to call on each of you personally. We have endeavored to mail invitations to each one of you, but if you did not receive one, or have not been invited by any of our personnel, please consider this your personal invitation to attend. The picture show will start at 10 A. M. at the Manchester Theater.

The feature picture, "One Happy Family" starring Marjorie Reynolds and Don DeFore, is a top notch production — one which we are sure you will enjoy. We will also have several interesting and educational features on modern equipment and farming practices.

Don't forget the time — Free lunch at noon. Come early! Bring the whole family and spend the day with us.

Advertisement - New Zippers Now Available By The Yard

Modern sewing practically requires a zipper or two for smooth closing at the neck or skirt placket, as you know if you have been making any clothes this winter. Now along comes a zipper that you can purchase by the yard, and start and end it right where you want it. You can snip off as much as you need for the opening at hand; you fit the zipper to the opening instead of having to fit the opening to the zipper. You can buy it by the yard if you want to keep a roll of it in your sewing basket. It comes on a ten yard spool.

Attachments Available
For each length of zipper you use you need attachments, a slider, a bottom stop and two top pieces. These come separately and you can purchase as many as you think you will need. The attachments are put on with your fingers, no special tools are needed. The bottom stop is locked on, and once in place it cannot be removed. Next the slider is put in place and last of all the top pieces are clamped on.

Removable Feature
The top pieces can be moved by merely prying them loose with your fingernail. This means that an old zipper can be cut into shorter lengths and with new attachments is ready for use again.
