The Main Street

The flu bug seems to have struck the town—what with warm spring weather one day and cold the next—we couldn't expect it to be much different.

The heavy snowfall on Monday certainly hampered traffic at the Ford plant. Shortly before the shift change at 3:30 p. m. two cars coming from opposite directions were unable to stop on the slippery road on M-14 near the Ford plant. No one was injured but the cars couldn't be moved until authorities arrived. So entangled was the traffic that Supt. William Townley of the Ford Motor Co. went out to help direct the cars.

Suzanne Higgins won the school spelling bee here last Thursday and Margaret Leeson was the runner-up. The district bee will be held in a couple of weeks.

The date of the grade school operetta has been announced as Friday, April 13.

The Washtenaw County Farm Bureau Fun Night will be held at the high school auditorium here on Saturday, March 31.

There will be no school here Friday or next Monday—Easter vacation.

Nelson Short and Earl Koebbe are back from a fishing trip to Houghton Lake. They said they "had pretty good luck". I don't know just how good "pretty good luck" is.

Willard Mann and Rolland Grossman represented Manchester at the Out-County Cribbage tournament at Dexter. Koffly subbed for Dr. Jones, who was in second place and Frank Tirb, who placed third in the local event. Both were unable to go to Dexter.

Speaking of flu, Joan Trola was the only pupil who reported for school at the Matteson school on Tuesday. All the rest of the fourteen children were sick with the flu.

Merithew Heads Oklahoma Ranch Club

R. C. Merithew was elected president of the Oklahoma Ranch Club at their annual election of officers at the high school gym. Other officers are: First vice-president, Malcolm Billings; second vice-president, Tom Goodrich of Milan; secretary, Mrs. Mable M. Billings; treasurer, Ray C. Kerr.

Herbert Stephens of Ann Arbor and Frank Potts of Dexter were elected to the board of directors to work with Mrs. R. C. Merithew, James C. Hendley and Russell Fuller. The new office of second vice-president was established in order to have an officer as general chairman for the season of shows and rodeos.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fuller, were appointed to act as chairmen of the breakfasts and lunches to be held at the Oklahoma Ranch during the summer season. Tentative plans are now underway for the Oklahoma Ranch rodeo to be held August 19.

A square dance is being planned for Saturday, April 7, to be held at the high school gym for the members and their friends. Working on the committee are Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Billings, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Walker of Clinton, Forrest Boyd of Ypsilanti, Tom Goodrich of Milan, Russell Fuller and William Winhardt.

Mrs. Alice A. Ulrich

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at St. Mary's Catholic church at Chelsea for Mrs. Alice A. Ulrich, 58, of Lyndon township, who died in an Ann Arbor convalescent home where she had been a patient for five days. Fr. Lee Laige officiated at the funeral and burial took place in Mt. Olivet cemetery at Chelsea. Mrs. Ulrich is the mother of Mrs. Donald Walter of Manchester.

Come to Church on Easter

"O Risen Christ! O Easter flower

How dear Thy Grace has grown

From East to West

with loving power

Make all the world Thine own"

Easter, the age-old observance of the resurrection of Christ is traditionally a time for Christians everywhere to re-affirm their faith . . . to be born again through Jesus. Easter is a time for all the family to hear anew the ageless story of the miracle of the resurrection.

My risen Lord, I feel Thy strong protection;

I see Thee stand among the graves today;

"I am the Way, the Life, the Resurrection."

I hear Thee say,

And all the burdens I have carried sadly

Grow light as blossoms on an April day;

My cross becomes a staff. I journey gladly this Easter day.

Manchester Grads Response To Questionnaire

During November, 1950, the Michigan Business Education Association in conjunction with the Michigan State Advisory Committee for Business Education sponsored regional conferences of business educators and school administrators which were held at each of the teachers training institutions of the state.

The idea of these conferences is to get business education teachers thinking together on the common subject of "How Can Business Education Better Serve the Occupational and Citizenship Needs of Today's Youth and Adults?"

Mrs. Hulda M. Martin, business education teacher in Manchester High School, sent questionnaires to all graduates of the classes 1944-1950 inclusive, to learn what they have used or wished they had learned. (This follow-up questionnaire to graduates was drawn up and is used by the Hamtramck schools.) Of the 166 questionnaires sent out in January, 66 have been returned, coming from various parts of the United States, and foreign countries. This generous and prompt response is very much appreciated.

Of the 66 graduates, 26 are married and 44 are gainfully employed. They obtained their jobs by: Personal effort, 25; school or college, 9; the family, 7; friends, 6; newspaper, 4; agencies, 4.

There are thirteen students attending institutions of higher learning. Six are housewives. in Navy, factory worker, assistant instructor in Army, cosmetologist, mortuary science apprentice, writer, head of machinery and crops divisions on dairy farm, department manager in clothing store, assistant in topographic survey, clinic clerk, riveter, service representative (public relations), paint sprayer.

To the People of Manchester and Vicinity

Dear Folks: Congratulations and thanks! The Red Cross Mobile Blood Unit took 127 pints of your blood with it Monday night. You will be happy to know that as you read this, your blood may be saving a life in Korea. The Red Cross officials informed us that most of the blood taken here was to be flown directly to the war front. The flu bug kept a number of people from giving. There were an unusually high percentage of pledged donors rejected because of this. Those of you who could not make it last Monday and still wish to give will be welcome at St. Paul's Church, Saline, next Monday, March 26, 1951, 1 to 7 p. m., when the Mobile Unit will be in Saline. The American Legion wishes to express its heartfelt thanks to those who gave and those who tried to give and were rejected. And to the generous people who contributed so much of their time working on this project, thanks a million.

Sincerely,
Pat Roesch,
Chairman of the American Legion
Blood Donor Drive.

The carriers, clerks and their husbands and wives were all present along with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Leeke and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Huber, not employed at the present time at the post office, to pay their respects to Mr. Kramer at the surprise dinner party which marked his 70th birthday and also his pending retirement on March 31.

The ladies all wore green hair ribbons and the men wore green ties. The honored guest received many gifts both useful and humorous. After the dinner cards were the diversion.

Project Is Success Despite Difficulties

One hundred twenty-seven pints of blood were donated by Manchester area residents to the Red Cross when the mobile blood bank was in town. Stanton Roesch, local chairman of the Legion committee here, working with the Legion Auxiliary expressed satisfaction at the outcome of the project. Most of the blood will be flown directly to the war front. Because of many cases of flu in this area it was impossible for many who had pledged blood to contribute it at this time.

Four driving conditions detained the Red Cross doctor from Detroit from arriving at the appointed time. However, when the mobile unit had been set up here at the Emanuel Church hall, local doctor, A. P. Holstein, came to the rescue and directed the procedure until the arrival of the Detroit doctor. This gesture was greatly appreciated by local Auxiliary president, Mrs. Rolland Grossman, and her committee because a large number of persons were already waiting to contribute.

Mrs. Robert Huber and Mrs. Rolland Grossman had charge of registration. Volunteer nurses and nurses aides were sent here from Ann Arbor to assist with the work. Working with Stanton Roesch, local Legion chairman, were the Auxiliary Food Committee and Auxiliary canteen committee. Mrs. Frank Reck and Mrs. Harry Sutton headed the two committees and were ably assisted by Mrs. Frank Tirb, Mrs. Rolland Grossman, Mrs. Philip Kern, Mrs. Robert Panches, Mrs. Wallace Widmayer, Mrs. Walter Frey, Mrs. Marvin Oates, Mrs. Basil Schwab, Mrs. Ben Evislizer, Jr., Mrs. George Merriman, Mrs. Russell Middlemiss. Recruiting of blood donors was completed by many members of the Auxiliary, who contacted persons by phone under the direction of Mr. Roesch.

Credit has been extended to the Tabeta Society for the use of their lenses and to Mr. and Mrs. John Fuller, the janitors of the Emanuel Church for their splendid cooperation.

From Your Congressman

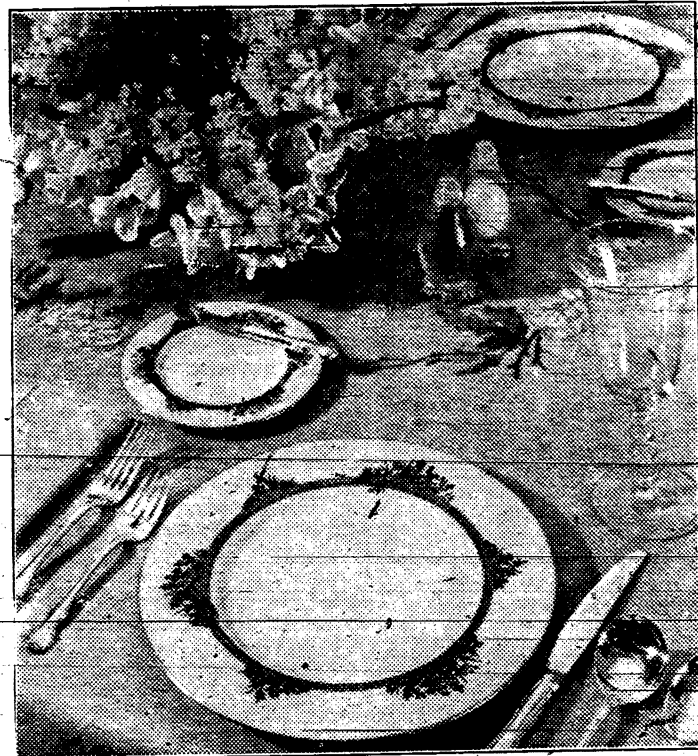

A Weekly Report From Congressman George Meader

During the past week, I had the privilege of writing a report which was endorsed by all 11 minority members of the Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments, urging the rejection of the President's Reorganization Plan No. 1 of 1950. This plan seeks to substitute a single administrator for the five-man board of directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The majority of the Expenditures Committee reported the Reorganization Plan favorably after hearing only seven witnesses and devoting but five hours to consideration of the plan.

Congressman Hoffman of Michigan, the ranking minority member of the Committee, had introduced House Resolution 112, calling upon the House of Representatives not to accept the Reorganization Plan. I indicated to him that I did not believe the Reorganization Plan should be approved by the House, and he sug-

Spring Is Coming To Your Table

Now that Spring is definitely on the way, many hostesses will be using it as a background for gay luncheons. Harmonize your table with the freshness of the season . . . In your selection of the loveliest blossoms and in your choice of appointments. For a Spring luncheon (around Easter time, for example), the china pattern might be Southern Gardens by Lenox, its rich coloring a vivid replica of the new burst of color everywhere—blues, oranges, yellows, greens. The creamy translucence of the Lenox china highlights a pastel tablecloth, which features a design of embroidered flowers, circling the real flowers in your centerpiece.

gested that I write my views, indicating that he and, perhaps, others of the Committee Minority, might join in signing such a report.

That was at noon on Monday, March 5. At the same time, the Committee Chairman announced that the Committee report must be filed by midnight on Monday. There was a short session of the House Monday afternoon, then I began preparing the report.

By 4 p. m., it had been dictated, and by 5 o'clock several Minority Members of the Committee met in my office to read and discuss the rough draft. After they had approved the contents, I then went over the language carefully, clarifying and pointing up the phraseology, and by 10 p. m. it was completed.

Even then, the job was not done. By reading the redraft over the phone to one member of the Committee who had expressed doubt about disapproving the Reorganization Plan, then driving to his apartment, I obtained his signature. Then I called upon another member who, after some discussion also joined in signing. By 11 p. m., the full minority had signed.

The purpose of giving this rather detailed account of what happened in the space of less than 12 hours is to provide a clear picture of the speed with which Congress sometimes acts.

I don't care to engage, at this time, in a detailed discussion of the advantages and disadvantages of speed in the consideration of legislation. It seems to me, however, and perhaps, it may to you, that where a far-reaching proposal, such as a basic change in the structure of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, is involved the subject ought to be given more penetrating and more extensive consideration by the Congress than the time devoted to it by the Committee in the instance I have described.

This, perhaps, is more particularly so because, in acting upon Reorganization Plans, Congress is legislating in reverse. That is to say, the President drafts and proposes the legislation, and the Congress, without the right to amend or interpret a Reorganization Plan, has only the power of veto.

This whole subject of legislating through Reorganization Plans, which is a novel method of adopting national policies, deserves, in my judgement, very close scrutiny. It is another example of the gravitation of legislative power into the executive branch of the Government. I hope that, in due time and in an appropriate way, the Congress will carefully reconsider this method of legislating and take such action as seems to be in the public interests.

The Reorganization Plan itself, to abolish the Board of Directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and substitute a single Administrator, may appear on superficial consideration to have considerable appeal, especially in the light of the current disclosures of rather poor performance on the part of some of the directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with which you are all familiar through the newspaper account of the Fulbright Committee hearings.

But I am convinced, and the Committee are convinced, that the Congress ought not to take hasty action prior to the completion of the Fulbright Committee hearings on favoritism and improper influence in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and before the more general study of the powers, structure and operations of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had been completed by the Fulbright Committee.

The Expenditures Committee Minority also believes that these far-reaching changes in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation could be better considered by the Congress in connection with the legislative study of the Bill S. 515, introduced by Senator Fulbright, to amend the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act.

Thirty-six of the '66 graduates have had advanced training of some kind from the one-week intensive course to four and one-half years of college or university. Thirty have taken no advanced training.

Referring to the question, "Would you change the high school program?" 34 replied, yes; 11, no; and 21 did not answer this question. Valuable suggestions were given to change the program to better fit the needs of today. There is need for security, the need that school preparation be adequate to meet the problems of life, the need for general work habits and the need for a standard of work.

Dr. John M. Trytten, assistant professor of business education at the University of Michigan, said at the regional conference that probably about 20 percent of the high school students follow a college preparatory curriculum; another 20 percent have some idea in mind and are thus guided to an appropriate curriculum; however, the remaining 60 percent have not made any plans. These students need our special consideration in a general preparation for life activities and citizenship.

This is the first year that Manchester High School has participated in a program on the following of its graduates. Mrs. Martin will be glad to receive more of the questionnaires that are still out.

The national, state and local professional organizations of which Mrs. Halda Martin is a member are: United Business Education Association, National Business Teachers Association, Michigan Business Education Association, Michigan Education Association, Washtenaw District of Michigan Education Association.

Today's Driving Lesson

Even the shape of a standard traffic sign has a definite meaning, say teachers in 305 Michigan AAA Driver-Training courses sponsored by the Automobile Club of Michigan.

A diamond isn't needed to recognize a road sign many yards before you can read it with the naked eye.

Because Michigan uses standard road signs, the shape of the warning sign alone will reveal which of six categories it falls into, say teachers in 305 state high school AAA Driver-Training courses sponsored by Automobile Club of Michigan.

The six types of signs and their key shapes are:

OCTAGONAL - Stop
TRIANGULAR - Railroad Crossing Ahead
RECTANGULAR - Not to be confused with the big "X" stop, look, listen sign at the railroad.
DIAMOND - A warning of any kind, such as "Men Working," and "Pavement Ends."
VERTICAL RECTANGLE - A regulation of any kind, such as "Hill, No Passing."
HORIZONTAL RECTANGLE - A direction, such as "One Way."
SQUARE - A caution for special road hazards, such as "Pedestrian Crossing," or "Soft Shoulder."

As for traffic lights, the behind-the-wheel pupils are learning that at an ordinary traffic light blinking red (not a railroad blinker), the driver is required to stop and start again only when it is safe to proceed. A blinking yellow light means "continue to move with caution." Double alternatingly blinking red lights indicate a crossing train.

Road markers are designed so that motorists can tell by their shape what part of government maintains them. A shield indicates a U. S. highway; a diamond, a Michigan highway; and a square, a county road.

Tree Trunk Girdling Produces Earlier Northern Spy Apple Crop

Northern Spy apple trees don't usually bear fruit until they are 12 to 18 years old. However, in tests conducted by the Michigan State College Agricultural Experiment Station, trees were made to produce sizable crops when only 9 years old. The tree trunks were girdled by removing a strip of bark one-eighth-inch wide, 12 inches above ground level. The cut was made to the depth of the wood, completely encircling the trunk. The girdling wounds were then coated with grafting compound. Trees girdled in late May of their eighth year produced fruit the ninth year. While subsequent girdling did not produce as great yields, girdled trees were far ahead of ungirdled trees by the time the latter began to produce fruit. Full information about girdling to produce apple crops more efficiently can be obtained by calling or writing your County Agricultural Agent.

From Your Governor

A Weekly Report From Gov. G. Mennen Williams

Lansing—The Legislature responded promptly last week to my appeal to call a halt on pending tax measures and sit down and talk the whole question over.

Bi-partisan committees of the House and Senate conferred with me for more than an hour. On the whole, I think we made some progress toward reaching a better understanding on this tax question.

Bills to impose some $45 million in new taxes have been held up in the House and Senate pending the discussions with me.

Our first discussion centered about the question of how much additional revenue the State is likely to need in order to meet our expenses. It was my feeling that the total need of the State's general fund for additional revenues in the next 15 months would be somewhere in the neighborhood of $79 million, plus Civil Defense and fire losses.

But some of the legislators felt that the budget we presented for the 1951-52 fiscal year was too low and that we had failed to include some prospective costs. These Legislators expressed doubt that we can get by on the amounts I requested. They seemed to feel that our actual expenses will be higher than my appropriation recommendations, and that we will therefore have a somewhat larger deficit to meet with new revenues.

I admit that the budget I presented is a very tight budget. It will not be easy to operate the state government within the rigid limits of economy which the budget would impose.

But it is my theory that the national emergency requires us to hold all non-defense costs to the minimum. I don't mean that we should cut essential state services, or abandon any of the things which are important to our American way of life. But the tax load on the people of the United States is going to be so heavy for defense purposes (and necessarily so) that we must squeeze every dollar that is appropriated for non-defense purposes. The bi-partisan legislative committee finally left my office with an understanding that I would prepare for them some additional figures to show the expected size of the State's deficit.

It was agreed that as soon as those figures can be assembled, we will meet again and attempt to talk out our differences over tax measures. Maybe by the time you read this there will be some good news out of these bi-partisan meetings. I certainly hope so!

The major difference over the tax program concerns the question, "Who is going to pay?"

Everybody admits we must raise some more revenues both for the Highway Fund and the General Fund. Some of the Legislators want to do it by a 2-cent increase in the gas tax and a group of new general fund taxes—like the proposed 3 percent tax on the privilege of driving a used car.

My position is that we ought to wrap up our whole tax program in one "package" with a corporation profits tax, earmarking an adequate portion of it for the highway program.

By this method, we could avoid the kind of new taxes that hit the family budget and reduce family income. And we could get the roads fixed without any additional money from the people of Michigan. The portion of the corporation tax earmarked for roads would be offset by federal tax rebates to the taxpaying corporations.

I was looking through an old copy of a Lansing newspaper the other day, and I came across another Governor whose economy program caused some consternation.

According to the newspaper account Governor John S. Fry (1842-1845) refused to allow the grass on the (old) Capitol lawn to be cut until it had grown tall.

"The Governor himself would proceed," the story said, "to cut it himself, cure it, sell the hay and deposit the proceeds in the state treasury."

I may as well admit I don't intend to go that far. The present Capitol lawn is pretty big!

For the first time in my life I attended a Republican Legislative caucus last week.

But it was solely for the purpose of taking part in an observance of the 81st birthday of dean of the House of Representatives, Joseph Warner, of Ypsilanti.

Members of each party joined in congratulating Representative Warner, whose good humor and kindness have made him everybody's friend during his 26 years in the Legislature.

FORD WINS AGAIN!
V-8 TAKES FIRST PLACE IN CLASS "A" 1951 MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN
Both Ford V-8 and SIX Deliver more than 25.9 miles per gallon
Grueling 840-mile test proves Ford Economy
Again this year... it's high honors for Ford! In the most important economy trial for American stock model cars... the famous annual Mobilgas Economy Run... A Ford 100-hp V-8 equipped with Overdrive took first place competing against all cars in its price class, making 54.587 ton-miles per gallon* and 25.994 miles per gallon. And its companion in quality, the new Ford SIX with Overdrive, was right up there with the winner. In fact, both cars averaged better than 25.9 miles per gallon.
Traditional Ford economy, for the second straight year, has been proved in open competition. Proved on the tough 840-mile grind from Los Angeles to the Grand Canyon... a course that included city traffic, below-sea-level desert heat and 7,000-foot mountain passes. Ford's Automatic Mileage Maker, standard equipment on all Ford V-8's and SIX'S, contributed to this great achievement by squeezing the last mile out of every drop of gasoline.
Why not "Test Drive" the new Ford at your neighborhood Ford Dealer's? There's no better way to be convinced that "You can pay more, but you can't buy better!"
*The AAA Contest Board determines the winner by a "ton-mile per gallon" formula to insure equal chance for all cars in each class regardless of size and weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers in tons) multiplied by number of miles travelled, divided by number of gallons of gasoline consumed.

HIGH TAXES ARE PART OF THE PRICE OF PREPAREDNESS, BUT WE MAY WELL SHARE UNGRUDGINGLY IN PAYING THAT PRICE—IF NON-DEFENSE SPENDING IS CUT TO THE BONE.

—BECAUSE THESE TAXES CONTRIBUTE TO THE MILITARY AND ECONOMIC STRENGTH OF OUR DEMOCRACY.
—BECAUSE THE POLICY OF PAY-AS-WE-GO IS A LITIGATION ON DEBT—A CHECK ON INFLATION.
—BECAUSE THESE TAXES THUS HELP TO MAINTAIN THE BUYING POWER OF THE SAVINGS WE HAVE, AND THOSE WE MAKE AS THRIFTILY PATRIOTIC CITIZENS.
