Editorial Comment

Freedom's Open Door! What an inspiring, heart lifting, yet, somewhat deceiving group of words. They are capable of completely changing a person's life. They furnish the necessary spark of vitality which aids people in their darkest moments.

In some cases when someone mutters "freedom" or "liberty" an automatic feeling of wellbeing and security courses through a person's body and mind. In others, it instills hope, a new lease on life and the courage to carry on. Many people who have delved into the dungeon of human standards, have risen to great heights due to the spirit aroused in them by such a word or phrase. There is something about such words, the hopes and ideals which they represent, that creates in one tremendous capacities for advancement in any field.

Take, for instance, a person residing in the countries bordering the Iron Curtain today. They have a constant fear of the communists dominating their country and placing them under a tyrannizing government. Such occurrence is preying on their minds continually as a crime might prey on a man's conscience. The only hope they have is that which our country stands for, "freedom."

This one ray of hope is all they have to drive away their other depressing fear. The hope of a continuance of the freedom is an upmost thought.

When they speak among themselves, the main topic is the fight between democracy and communism and what the eventual outcome will be.

War Not Imminent In Opinion of Prof. Dawson

Prof. John W. Dawson of the Law Department of the University of Michigan, in a resume of world conditions over the last decade, touched on an optimistic note in speaking of the prospects of all out war with Russia, in the near future.

While not minimizing the dangers, that threaten world peace, the measures taken by this country in bolstering the United Nations, holding a firm hand in Korea, the Marshall Plan and the Four Point Program and the atomic bomb, have taken a lot of punch out of the Russian's will to open warfare, in the opinion of Prof. Dawson.

The dangers of a terrible conflict are uppermost in the minds of most of us, said Prof. Dawson, and while he recognized them, he believed it would be well for us to believe that war could be averted if we continued to build up our strength to resist along with that of all the allies we can enlist on our side.

Asked For $950 Manchester Does $142.20 Better

Mrs. Harold Alexander is announcing the final report of the Red Cross Drive for Manchester which went over the top. Manchester contributed a total of $1,092.20 to the drive and the quota set for the town was $950.

Broken down this included $130 contributed by the workers at the Manchester Ford plant and a $100 donation by the Ford Motor Company. At the Double A Products Co. the campaign was headed by Mrs. Tributed some eighty odd dollars which was supplemented by the Alber Clark. The workers company to make a $100 total from the plant.

The remainder of the money was given by the businessmen.

clubs in the town and the house to house campaign. Some twenty solicitors and three Girl Scout troops made up the local workers.

Mrs. Alexander says that there are still a few solicitors who have not handed in their reports and hopes these will be completed as soon as possible. Drive chairman, Mrs. Alexander; local chairman, Bill Kramer; and local treasurer, Miss Marian Farrell, express their thanks to all who helped Manchester to go over the top.

The Main Street

If everything goes according to the plans of the junior class there will be quite a dog parade on the Main street of the village come Saturday evening. The time, according to those on publicity, will be about 7:30. Helen Bowers is the publicity chairman and is being ably assisted by Dick Kessler, Bob Eisenhauer and Bill Gross. The prizes are matinee tickets to the Junior Play on April 20.

So if you have a dog—most any kind of a dog—you can enter the contest, provided you are a seventh grader or younger. There are plenty of prizes to be awarded to the funniest, the smallest, the biggest, the cutest and the dog doing three tricks best—and may the best dog win.

On Wednesday the high school band attended the University of Michigan Band Concert at Hill Auditorium.

From what we have been able to find out all the high school students enjoyed the special assembly on Tuesday at the civic auditorium, at which time Mr. and Mrs. Howell of the Sorensen Lyceum Bureau were the guest speakers. They explained the blowing and spinning of glass. This program was paid for by the money allotted the school from the community chest.

At the school spelling bee to be held Friday the Manchester school will be represented by Sue Higgins. Mary Jane McEntire will represent the McMahon school, Gerald Ralston the Short school, Barbara Fisk the English school, Rita Trolz the Craft school and Pauline Buss from the Spafard school.

Forrest Cathey is the temporary mail carrier replacing Bill Kramer on Route 1 until the appointment of a regular carrier is made.

Over 400 persons attended the Washenaw County Farm Bureau Fun Night at the high school auditorium on Saturday. According to the general chairman, Mrs. Ed Schuman, this was the largest crowd ever to attend a fun night. Included was a large number of Junior Farm Bureau members. Dancing, cards and refreshments rounded out the evening's entertainment.

LANSING—There has been a great deal of discussion in the State Capitol and the press about the possibility of a bi-partisan solution of the state's financial problem.

Some members of the Legislature have suggested that we might reach accord on two tax measures—a corporation profits tax sufficient to meet the state's general fund deficit; and an increased gasoline tax to finance a road-building program.

This suggestion was openly discussed last week at the second meeting of bi-partisan legislative committees in my office.

I want to give you a "fill in" on the ideas which were developed at this meeting.

The problem: The problem we are trying to solve is two-fold. First, we must find some additional revenues to balance the state's general fund budget. For the last several years our revenues have failed to meet the state's necessary expenses. Unless this situation is corrected soon we shall inevitably run out of money.

Secondly, we must find some additional revenues for a road-building program. Our highways are in bad shape and I have been urging an immediate reconstruction program since 1949.

Nearly everyone in the state government now admits that these twin problems must be met by new revenues. The only question is:

"Where and how will we raise the additional money?"

"Single Package" Tax Program: It is my belief that the people of Michigan do not want any more taxes directly upon their family budgets. We already have too many taxes on the things people buy and use in their daily life—the kind of taxes the economists call "consumer" taxes.

So I have urged the Legislature, to solve the state's entire financial problem in one "package" with a corporation profits tax. I have suggested that a portion of the proceeds from such a tax be earmarked for highway purposes and channeled directly into the highway fund.

The rest should be used to provide essential state services and to balance the general fund.

This plan would involve the same kind of corporation profits tax which 32 other states already have. It would involve a rate no higher than other states have, and lower than many of them now have.

And such a "single package" tax program would remove the possibility of any further state consumer taxes upon the people of Michigan.

Alternatives: Unless some such plan is adopted, the result will be a severe curtailment of the state's essential services—hospitals, public safety, public health schools, etc.

The alternative to a corporation profits tax is a program of new taxes on the family budget.

Proposals for a flat-rate income tax, a higher sales tax, taxes on second hand cars, etc., are already under discussion. The Senate has already passed a bill for a 1 cent increase in the gas tax, and the House is considering a 2 cent gas tax boost.

Support Given: I did my best at last week's conference with legislators, to urge the "single package" corporation profits tax as the solution to both the highway and general fund problems.

It was evident that considerable sentiment for this form of tax exists in the Legislature. Rep. Victor Knox of Sault Ste. Marie, Speaker of the House of Representatives, stated publicly in my office that he favored the corporation tax as a general fund measure. Other legislators appeared to agree with him.

But Speaker Knox, and many others, do not want to use the corporation tax to finance the road program. They apparently favor the corporation tax for general fund purposes and a gas tax increase to fix the roads.

The possibility of a compromise solution along those lines was openly raised by some of the legislators at last week's meeting. My views on it were sound-

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

Appealing pictures such as this are in the high-point class for any family album.

One for the Book!

EVERY so often we quit by accident make a picture that turns out to be one for the book—that is, one which is ideally suited to become a high point in the family snapshot album.

This is a fine, but unique situation because you keep wishing you had "accidents" more often. The obvious answer is to plan these high point shots and not depend on the fickle fancy of lucky breaks.

The best planning you can do for these high point shots—the best way of being sure—is to have your camera handy not only around home, but with you in the car on every day trips as well as on long vacation excursions to far-away places.

If yours is a family record, the small fry is quite likely to be the subject of any shot you will class as "one for the book." So in addition to recording with your camera the obvious things like birthdays and Christmas scenes, use it frequently to capture the little everyday happenings which in years to come you may find have a greater sentimental appeal than the events of important days.

It is indeed an exceptional mother or father who doesn't recall with fond amusement the early visits of their youngsters to the barber shop. Some few recall angelic behavior, more remember a different reaction such as that shown in the picture above. It doesn't matter what the mood is, the situation is one which offers "one-for-the-book" picture material.

This, of course, is but one possibility among hundreds. You know which situation in the daily lives of your children you want to remember. A good yardstick by which to measure this might be—if you think your child looks particularly appealing or cute in a situation today—you'll think him doubly cute and appealing when you look at the picture 20 years from now.

—John van Guilder

ed out. In substance, here is what I think about the idea suggested by the legislators:

I do not intend to sign any tax measure which I do not believe is acceptable to the people as a whole. Legislators represent the people of their districts. The governor must consider the will of all the people of the state.

I see no prospect that the public would accept a gas tax increase of two cents a gallon (as proposed in the House) or 1 1/2 cents a gallon (as adopted by the Senate).

There is every indication that if these proposals were to become law, with or without my signature, they would be attacked by referendum. It would be comparatively easy for opponents of a gas tax boost to obtain the necessary petition signatures. The effect would be to tie the whole thing up until the election of November, 1952.

I am not sure the people would accept any increase in the gas tax under the circumstances. A moderate corporation profits tax, with a portion earmarked for roads would be a much more equitable means of raising highway money. But I am willing to listen, and to consider any sincere proposal for a solution of our difficulties.

I am sure of one thing: any increase in the gasoline tax would meet with public disfavor unless the taxpayers were assured that there would be no further raid on their pocketbooks. With federal income taxes going up, a federal sales tax and an increased federal gas tax under discussion, the people are becoming increasingly sensitive to the kind of taxes that hit their family budgets directly.

I do not believe they would willingly pay any increase in the state gasoline tax unless they received assurance against further state consumer taxes.

That assurance could best be given by the Legislature.

through adoption of a corporation profits tax in sufficient amount to balance the general fund budget. We cannot expect to replenish the highway fund and the general fund both by consumer taxes.

In short, I do not like the idea of any increase in the gas tax. But if the proposed boost were moderate enough, and if accompanied by a general cleanup of the state's financial problem through a corporation profits tax, it might work.

Whether the Legislature will finally come up with bills embodying that kind of solution remains to be seen.

I intend to keep the door open to any solution which appears fair, adequate, and acceptable to the public.

Saturday Luncheon At Church Hall
A luncheon was held last Saturday at the church hall at which 50 were present. A film "Good Things Happen Over Coffee" was greatly enjoyed by the ladies.

Matteson School News
The pupils of the Matteson school surprised their teacher at a birthday party in her honor. Ice cream and cake were served and the teacher was presented with a gift. Recent visitors at the school were Mr. Haab and Mrs. Lofen.

The pupils are practicing a game for the music festival to be held in Ann Arbor on May 9th. A box is being prepared by the Junior Red Cross unit to be sent overseas.

Harold Brown sang in the Lyre Male Chorus of Ann Arbor for the Men's Club at the First Methodist church at Wayne on Tuesday evening. This was a preview of the spring concert which will be held at the Pottengill auditorium of Ann Arbor high school on April 20.

Mrs. Elizabeth Schoenholz and her sister Mrs. Mary Allen of Hart are spending this week with Mrs. Schoenholz's daughter and husband Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown.

Farmers To Hear "Uncle Dudley" on Exchange Program
Austin Grant "Uncle Dudley of Green Acres" officially the Farm Editor of Station CKLW, will be the main speaker at the Exchange Club Farmers' Night dinner, to be held at the Emanuel Church Hall 7:30 p.m. Monday night, April 9.

This year, Farmer's Night will be open to all farmers in the Manchester and surrounding areas. Farmers may buy tickets at the various down town stores. Opening the entertainment to all farmers is a departure made in response to the opinion expressed by many farmers that the dinner not be limited to invited guests, but be open to any farmer who would like to come.

Chairman of the dinner is George Merriman. Other members of the committee are Willard Mann, Dr. Henry E. Eames, Luther Klager and Franklin M. Rock.

Manchesterites are being forward to hearing Austin Grant, whose "Uncle Dudley" program is widely followed. Grants reputation for humor and up-to-date comment on farm matters guarantees a lively evening for the guests.

Special comedy entertainment is also being arranged. Price of the tickets is $1.75.

County Crusades For Funds to Fight Cancer

With $7,000 as the quota of the Washtenaw County Unit, a zealous army of volunteers will begin coming on the public of Manchester and Washtenaw County during April seeking financial backing in the 1951 campaign against man's worst enemy cancer.

These volunteers will be participating in the nationwide drive sponsored by the American Cancer Society and warmly endorsed by President Harry S. Truman, Gov. G. Mennen Williams, Village President L. V. Kirk, and many high officials, both civilian and military.

County Crusade Chairman James L'Angelle, in making this announcement, explained that the entire month of April has been designated Cancer Control Month by President Truman and during this month a total of $14,565,000 will be sought nationally to finance the society's campaign of research and education. This effort seeks to provide for positive cures on a much larger scale than present medical knowledge and techniques make possible and also to discover the causes of cancer.

Washtenaw County is one of 80 counties comprising the Michigan division of the American Cancer Society, the overall quota of these 80 counties being $293,026. Chairman L'Angelle explained. The Michigan Division is headed by Andrew Langenbacher, prominent Lansing businessman, as president, with Lee Wilson Hutchins, one of Grand Rapids' leading wholesale druggists, as campaign chairman. Gov. Williams is honorary state chairman.

County Chairman L'Angelle reported that early pledges and proffers of support indicate that the people of this area, having become more and more enlightened as to the true nature of cancer, thanks to past campaigns, are eager to contribute and assure the success of the project.

"Most of us have come to realize that when we are fighting cancer we are fighting to preserve the lives of ourselves and our loved ones," Chairman L'Angelle declared. "We know now that cancer is the No. 2 killer ranking second only to heart disease. It claimed the lives of 210,000 persons in the United States in 1950, or one out of seven who died. All the cancer deaths in this country for the rest of the nation, as this disease respects no geographical or political boundaries.

He also added that the sad part of it is that even with available medical knowledge and techniques, approximately 70,000 of those lives could have been saved by early detection and prompt treatment.

The situation becomes more frightening when competent medical authorities tell us that there are some 600,000 persons in this country now being treated for cancer and unless science discovers better techniques for preventing and overcoming the disease, one out of every five persons now living may become the victim of cancer.

"This is truly a campaign to save lives," Chairman L'Angelle points out. "It's everyone's opportunity to guard himself and his dear ones by striking back at this disease. That's why we are being asked to give to conquer cancer."

Rural Folks Pay Tribute To Bill Kramer

Bill Kramer was honored at a surprise party arranged for him by the Rev. A. A. Weinert, Bill's substitute mail carrier. Gathered at the high school were the rural folks whom Mr. Kramer had served for more than 33 years.

When he began delivering mail on the rural route back on May 20, 1918, Bill rented horses from the local livery stable for $1.50 a day to cover 35 miles of country roads. He used to leave town at 8:30 a.m. and return home at 3:30 p.m. if everything went well. From the first the rural residents took to Bill and his friendly way. They never hesitated to ask a favor of him and throughout the years they never failed to help Bill when they could.

Notes in the Mail box to Bill were not uncommon. Such as this one during fair time, "Bill, we've gone to the county fair. Will you feed the pigs? The swill barrel is in back of the house."

Needless to say the job was done. Another note Bill recalls, "Come to the house, we have some letters to mail and can't get out to the mail box." Bill trudged through the snow and climbed the fence to the house.

"Who put the note in the mail box?" Bill demanded.

"I did," said the old gent.

"Then why didn't you take out the letter?"

"Never thought of it," confessed the old man.

Bill decided that it also takes patience to be a mail man. Then there are the times Bill was stuck in the mud and snow. Not once did a farmer refuse to hitch up the horses or tractor and pull his car out when going was tough. Last year he recalls being stuck four times in a day.

Mr. Kramer is a graduate of Manchester High school and Ohio Northern University in the class of 1903, he received his bachelor of music degree. He played in musical comedy for seven years and after the death of his father left the show at Portland, Oregon, to return to be with his mother.

He sang for many years in St. Mary's church choir, is a member of the Holy Name society, the Knights of Columbus, has been local chairman of the Red Cross for more than 30 years, is the oldest member of the Manchester branch of the department on which he served for more than 40 years. Has directed many home talent plays and among his other offices served as president of the Chamber of Commerce.

His role as rural Santa Claus started when he first took the mail route and noted that to some poor children Christmas would be just another day. He gave candy and gifts to the children in the area and with the help of his wife, Minnie, has continued to do this work through the years.

Last Saturday, March 31, Bill covered the present 56-mile route for the last time. He passed his 70th birthday March 17 and on that date between 300 and 400 cards were sent to a favorite mailman. He will spend a large part of his retirement time in his grape vineyard and caring for the apple orchard near his home.

Bill was really surprised last Thursday evening when Floyd Schneider piloted him over to the school on the pretext of another gathering. A program had been arranged by the Rev. A. A. Weinert and among the guests was a former classmate of Bill's at Ohio Northern University, Dr. Paul Gatzel of Toledo, President of the village. L. V. Kirk gave the welcome and Mrs. John Walz and Mrs. Harold Steinaway sang a duet. Among those whom Bill served for these many years on the mail route, who spoke briefly were Elmer Dettling, Rev. T. W. Menzel, and Theodore Kuhl.

Frank Leeson, former Manchester postmaster, Harry Sutton, representing the rural carriers from Florida.

here and Mr. Alhouse of Chelsea, secretary of the county rural carriers, and Mr. Oswald Koch, postmaster from Ann Arbor all spoke on the program. Janet Kuhl played her accordion, Arthur Cathey sang and the Four Tune "S" completed the musical part of the program.

Mrs. Ruth Hall and daughter Mildred of Benito, Manistota spent Thursday with the former's brother, W. E. Prescott and wife. The two were enroute home from a two months vacation spent in presenting the rural carriers from Florida.

HOME EC. CLUB SKATING PARTY A SUCCESS

By Leola Schook

The Home Economics Club skating party which was held Friday, March 30, at Sand Lake, was attended by approximately seventy people from Manchester. Everyone said they had a lot of fun. The club made sixteen dollars which will go into the club treasury.

The Home Economics girls and the Glee Club are making plans for a Style Show and Musical program combined. This will be held Friday, May 11. The details will be announced next week.

KINDERGARTEN

By Mrs. Clydene Downing

Many people think kindergarten is just a place where five-year-olds meet and do nothing but play, one continuous round of fun.

From the inside it is a vastly different story. Every thing that is done has a purpose. Let us take a look at one day's routine and consider a few of the purposes.

At the beginning of the day comes the task of removing wraps and hanging them away. This is no small chore for five-year-olds. Buttons, buckles and zippers have to be mastered.

The child that attacks this job with initiative and ambition will be likely to attack the pre-reading with initiative and ambition.

The next routine of the day is the "Circle". This is one of the most interesting times that kindergarten presents. They have roll call, sing a good morning greeting and check the clothes press, rug cupboard and tell an experience. The more experiences that they have with their comprehension makes it easier for them to give a good experience in the circle.

The too-forward child must be restrained, the quiet retiring one must be drawn out to express himself, the bashful, fearful child encouraged to self-expression until tears are overcome and natural expression is developed. A few children, for various reasons, have not had the opportunity to tell experiences, gradually overcome the handicap of lack of speech. It is the teacher's duty to help those who lack the time. A consciousness of others to be heard or waited for grows with them.

Free play is a time in which each may choose an activity and pursue it. An evaluation is made of each child's work to see if he has pursued the chosen activity. If the child is not making progress, he is given assistance and is encouraged to complete to his own satisfaction his own project. A child is never allowed to go around loitering those pursuing a definite activity. A surly child may be given a lump of clay. First he views it dourly, then he pokes it, squashes a handful of it experimentally. Suddenly he has forgotten what was bothering him, and after a time there emerges an article that to him is a thing of beauty.

Turns have to be taken as toys, puzzles, books and all equipment are shared by the group. A social attitude is built up as they share and wait for each other.

Recess is a time for going to the bathroom and getting drinks, followed by a period of rest on rugs. A few minutes of quiet relaxation does wonders in making the remainder of the day a success. Children of this age are so active that they need rest periods during the day. Rest is not likely to be voluntary, so is required.

Twice a week the music instructor teaches songs, rhythm and action games or activities for a twenty-minute period. The purpose is to create a real love for music in the children.

Activity at the tables is varied and progresses throughout the year. Different types of materials are used to develop the needs and the various abilities. Peg boards and pegs, clay, paper, crayons, scissors, paste, strings and straws, oil cloth, sticks, paint and many other materials are used to create mastery of individual skills.

A pre-reading work book is used in developing listening skills, making visual discriminations, auditory discriminations, playing better games and using pictures. The work book and two pre-reading primers are used to prepare the child for the reading work which is to come in the following year.

The story hour has many purposes. Stories are read to help develop better attention for a few minutes of quiet together. Stories are also read just for the fun the children get out of them. They are read as a means of teaching certain facts. Then they are read to teach lessons on honesty, moral issues, kindness to animals and many other things.

Supervised play, out of doors as well as indoors, encourages right usage of equipment, fair play, taking turns and consideration of others. It develops definite skills in games and safety rules for use of equipment. The kindergarten program must be flexible, very flexible. It has to change with the changing interests, the health of the children for that particular day or often for the interests of the time. Pre-reading is a very small part of the work of this age group. Working and playing together, living day by day as well as an eye to the future is important. The only instructional methods a teacher of this age has are the use of rote, example and pictures.

The adequate adjustment of a kindergarten child is a reasonable guarantee of his successful adjustment for the remainder of his school life.

FIRST GRADE CELEBRATES A BIRTHDAY

By Leola Schook

Peverly Walker had a birthday on Thursday and her mother and father brought us a lovely treat of ice cream and gingerbread men cookies. They stayed to visit us for a while. Mrs. Feack visited us Tuesday.

We had fun in our art class making little Easter carts and Thursday night the bunny came and filled them with candy eggs.

SEVENTH GRADE GAINS ONE; LOSES TWO

By Marion Fox

Nancy May is our new student in the seventh grade. Nancy is from Chelsea and she now lives in Sharon Hollow.

From our class we have lost Alvin Hawley, who has moved to Concord and Herbert Williams, who has moved to Clinton.

EIGHTH GRADERS WELCOME NEW STUDENT

By Marianne Schook

We have a new student, Barbara. We are going to have a roller skating party at Sand Lake roller rink Friday, April 6.

JUNIORS SPONSOR POSTER CONTEST

By Donna Sturdevant

The advertising committee for the junior play sponsored a poster contest for the high school students. The contest ran for one week. The deadline for all posters was Wednesday, March 28.

The first prize was two free student tickets to the junior play. Arlene Fuller was the winner of the contest.

At Pete Johnson's they have a new sundae called "Little Honey Special" for advertising our play.

Reserve seat tickets may be obtained from Haussler's Drug Store and also admission tickets for the play are on sale.

DOG SHOW ADVERTISES JUNIOR PLAY

By Donna Sturdevant

The advertising committee for the junior play is sponsoring a dog show as a means of advertising the play. The show will be held on Main street, Saturday, April 7, at 7:30 p. m.

Any boy or girl in the seventh grade and under may enter a dog. Prizes will be given for the biggest dog, the smallest dog, the dog that does the best tricks and the funniest acting dog. The show will be led by Helen Bowers and Arlene Fuller carrying a banner with something, written on it about the play.

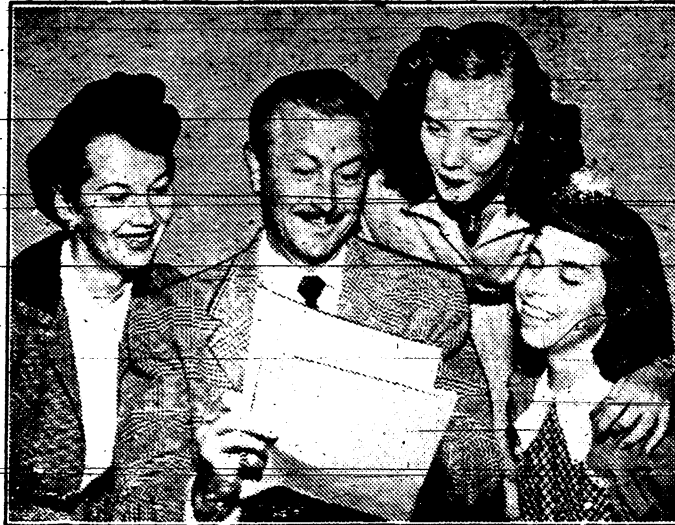

SENIOR HONOR STUDENTS OF M. H. S. ANNOUNCED

By Jo Ann Fink

The senior class of Manchester High School announced the four honor students from the Class of 1951. Linda Reck has the honor of being the valedictorian. Linda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frankie Reck. She has top percentage of 3.96. Her activities include Science Club, Glee Club. Yearbook staff, class treasurer and class secretary. Linda has also been pianist for many things in the school and community.

Wima Jean Stark, with a percentage of 3.93, is salutatorian. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stark. She came to Manchester from Roosevelt High School, Ypsilanti, in her sophomore year. Her curricular activities are numerous. Glee Club, Science Club, girls' basketball, Yearbook staff, student council, class president and the senior

"Father" and His Girls

This script is going to be fun — you can see that by "Father's" expression. June Whitley, who is "Mother" Anderson, Bob Young, who stars as "Father" and two of their three lively offspring, Betty (Rhoda Williams), and Kathy (Norma Jean Nilsson), have a real family feeling on the Thursday night program — and why wouldn't they when June, Lucas, every now and then with homemade cookies and cakes for the cast and crew of NBC's "Father Knows Best." Bob dispenses fatherly advice, and Rhoda and Norma Jean contribute the offsprings' viewpoint!

MANY FIFTH GRADERS ILL WITH FLU

By Bob Brick

In an arithmetic time test Patty Wheeler received excellent. About one-third of the pupils in the fifth grade have been absent with the flu.

We have been studying a unit in magnets in science. It has been very interesting to us.

The district spelling bee will be held Friday, April 6, at 1:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

From Your Congressman

A Weekly Report From Congressman George Meader

Washington, D. C., March 28, 1951. — A situation which is shocking even to one hardened by revelations of stupidity, waste and mismanagement in governmental affairs was revealed in the hearings last week of the Hardy Subcommittee of the House Committee on expenditures in the Executive Departments, of which I am a member.

It is the story of how three men with $300 obtained a defense production loan of $7,800,000.

The Hardy Subcommittee is exploring the exercise of powers granted by the last Congress in the Defense Production Act to stimulate industry in defense production. These powers cover the issuance of certificates of necessity and the granting of loans for defense facilities.

A certificate of necessity permits a manufacturing or mining concern to accelerate the rate of amortization of facilities for income tax purposes. A building or a machine under normal circumstances might be estimated to have a life of twenty years, so one-twentieth of its cost could be charged up each year as an expense of the business. If that building or machine is to be used for defense work, the owner is permitted to write off the cost in only five years, at a rate of one-fifth each year. This advantage is, of course, intended to encourage the construction of facilities necessary for defense production. Defense production loans are intended to help provide these facilities.

Up to February 23, 3,319 applications were made for certificates of necessity totaling $40,475,000. There were issued 447 certificates totaling three billion dollars.

Defense production loans granted numbered 19, aggregating $45,000,000.

The Hardy Subcommittee has concentrated its attention upon one loan and certificate of necessity—to the Hazelton Steel & Tubing Corporation of Hazelton, Pennsylvania.

This is a new company. It has no plant and never has been in business. The owners are Benjamin (S. Dowd) President and Treasurer; Martin G. Charles, Vice-President and Secretary; and James H. Hopkins, Vice-President. They have invested in the Hazelton Steel and Tubing Corporation just $600: Dowd, $300, and Charles and Hopkins each $150. They own all the stock of the company. Dowd was to receive salary of $40,000 a year and Charles and Hopkins, $25,000 each. These salaries were carried on the company books as an indebtedness to these three men since October 1, 1950.

These men applied for a defense production loan and a certificate of necessity, to build a new steel mill. They were granted a loan of $7,800,000 by the National Production Authority, with the provision that they were to obtain an additional $1,000,000, which would be subordinated to the Government loan.

This additional $1,000,000 did not come from their own resources, as an addition to the $800 of their own capital investment in the company. Instead, they went to oil concerns interested in purchasing the steel pipe and tubing which the Hazelton Steel and Tubing Corporation proposed to produce. The oil concerns agreed to advance the $1,000,000 to be returned to them in the form of tubing and pipe.

The Hardy Subcommittee questioned the Government officials who had approved this loan. They are: Manley Fleishman, Administrator, National Production Authority; Frank R. Creedon, Assistant Administrator, Facilities Construction Bureau, National Production Authority; Arthur J. Bulger, Deputy Assistant Administrator, Facilities Construction Bureau; Harvey M. Harper, Loan Division, Facilities Construction Bureau; and William Davin, Assistant to the Assistant Administrator, Facilities Construction Bureau.

The man primarily responsible for the Hazelton loan was Mr. Harper. In answer to my questions at the Subcommittee hearing, Mr. Harper admitted the following:

He had no information about the credit of the three men other than that contained in an RFC examiner's report.

He did not know the men personally, had never heard of them before, and they were not recommended by anyone in whom he had confidence.

He made no investigation of them as to their credit, experience or ability.

All of the information supplied to him by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which investigated the loan and recommended that it be denied, indicated that these men were not capable of building the plant and producing the products.

He substituted his judgment for that of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, with no more information on which to base his decision than that supplied in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's adverse report.

Chairman Hardy summed up his reaction to this testimony in a comment which I feel sure reflects the views of the entire Subcommittee:

"As a matter of public policy I just want to review what the government is doing here for three individuals and ask whether that is a matter which is the type of policy which should be a part of our way of doing things."

"Here is a case where three individuals put up a total of $600 to finance a venture under which they cannot lose anything and which, if they had the ability to operate satisfactorily and do operate satisfactorily for a period of five years, means they will come out with a plant more than 90 per cent amortized and they will be made multimillionaires.

"Is that a policy which the government should pursue as a general practice?"

Selecting Seed Oats For Best Yields
With oat planting time just around the corner, now is a good time to buy your seed oats if you need them. R. J. Lasen, county agricultural agent, advised this week.

Some of the common varieties for Michigan are: Eaton, Clinton and Kent. From Kenneth Frey of the Michigan State College farm crops department, the agent has received a brief summary of the various oats.

Eaton has a white grain and stiff straw. It is adapted to the whole of the lower peninsula and is invariably among the better yielding varieties. Date of maturity is medium. It has medium to light test weight and certified seed is available.

Clinton has yellow grain and stiff straw. Adaptability is the same as Eaton but it is most popular in the southern part of the lower peninsula. Farmers growing this variety should use an improved Clinton strain such as Clinton 59 or Clinton Reselect because they are more uniform in growing habit than the original Clinton. It has a medium test weight and has given very good yields in recent tests. Medium in maturity.

Kent has white grain and heavy test weight. It is midseason in maturity and is adapted to soils of medium to low fertility. Kent variety is quite susceptible to Septoria or "black stem." Septoria disease reduced the yield of Kent in 1950. Certified seed is available.

Agent Lasen says the Eaton and both the Clinton 59 and Clinton Reselect have proved to be good yielders in Monroe County. A Kent has also made a good showing in many sections of the county.

Certified growers of Eaton oats are Carl Luft of LaSalle; George Nickel, of Ida; and Ted Heath of Milan. Certified growers of the Kent oats are Ada Munson, of Ida; and Ted Heath of Milan. Elevators and handlers of grain are the only sources of certified Clinton. Many also have certified Eaton and Kent oats.

Rows Corners Extension
The Rows Corners Extension met with Mrs. Willis Uphaus with the lesson on pattern alterations given by Minnie Wahr and Mrs. Ray Haselschwerdt. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Harold Stenaway and Mrs. Royal Daviter. The April meeting will be held with Mrs. Clarence Vogeding.

Spafard School Buys Sand Table
Twenty-three members of the Spafard School P.T.A. met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Paul on Friday evening. The Problem of playground equipment was discussed and the P.T.A. decided to buy a new sand table for the school. After the business meeting cards were played and Martin Kaesal won the traveling prize. Other prizes went to Mrs. Jesse Walker, Waldemar Haab, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ahan.

Today's Driving Lesson

Drivers owning cars of a vintage before the mechanical turn and stop signal devices were built-in should be keeping their left arms in shape by extending them straight out the window when planning to stop or turn.

Single Position Hand Signal

What's a thing to do next? a highway game of letting the other fellow guess the next maneuver, is pointed out as a vicious habit by 305 instructors teaching 32,500 high school students under the AAA driver-education and training plan.

State law requires the driver to use the Michigan "single position" arm signal for turns and stops if his car is not equipped with the mechanical device. The approved position of the arm is extended straight out.

Most out-of-state drivers and U. S. military personnel, however, have been taught the three-position signal system, which every driver should know.

RIGHT TURN arm extended upward. STOP OR SLOW DOWN arm extended downward. Flicking ashes from a cigarette with the arm extended way out is discourteous driving, the teachers add for such activity is usually interpreted as a turn warning by drivers behind.

Michigan Hospital Services Re-elects Dr. Babcock

Kenneth Babcock, M. D., Director of Grace Hospital, Detroit, was re-elected to a three year term on the Board of Trustees of the Michigan Hospital Service, the state's Blue Cross plan, President E. Dwight Barnett, M. D., has announced.

Others re-elected at the Association's annual meeting to represent hospitals on the board are William K. Klein of Hurley Hospital, Flint; Leonard Schomberg, Little Traverse Hospital, Petoskey; and J. D. Morrison of Marquette.

Elected as hospital representatives for the first time are Miss Loretta Paul, Director of Pontiac General Hospital; Chester Teske of Clinton Memorial Hospital, St. Johns; and Virgil Sice, M. D., of Hastings.

Reverend William Murphy, assistant secretary of Charities for the Archdiocese of Detroit, was chosen as trustee representing the general public. Reverend Murphy was nominated by the Archdiocese for the post. Re-elected to serve as the other public representatives were Clayton Jennings and Walter Foster of Lansing. A. S. Brunk, M. D., Director of Martin Place Hospital, Detroit and D. R. Smith, M. D., of Iron Mountain, were re-elected as representatives of the medical profession on the Blue Cross Board. All will serve three year terms, ending in 1954.

The American Hospital Association has again approved the use of the Blue Cross emblem by Michigan Hospital Service, Dr. Barnett reported.

All Blue Cross plans are reviewed annually and they must measure up to the high standards set by the AHA to retain the right to use the official Blue Cross insignia.

Freedom's Open Door

(Continued from Page 1) They are freedom-loving people who naturally do not want a communist dominated world. This country of ours should be a symbol of "Freedom's Open Door" to the people of these countries and, in fact, every country in the world. The United States should be constantly offering a gateway to the fulfillment of their hopes and dearest dreams. Our country is capable and well-equipped to meet such a demand and should be willing to partake in the mass fight against tyranny and communism. Just such a crusade by a country of our size and stature could well influence the numerous countries which are under and lie on the borderline. Showing these people a better way of living, the advantages of personal liberty and higher ideals should help to swing them in favor of democracy; averting a possible communist empire.

All of the facts and ideas constitute the inspiring side of such words or phrases related to freedom. They are all a part of one grand key which could open "Freedom's Door" to a happier, more prosperous and free world in the future.

Now let us relate some of the deceiving parts of such a phrase or group of words. The words "freedom" or "liberty" are taken for granted a great deal of the time by certain people. These persons have such a surplus of personal liberty and independence that wherever they go a trail of varied thoughts and concerns is left. That is why many people are suspicious of our plan of freedom and self liberty. The individuals with the above mentioned characteristics always seem to find their way into the most conspicuous spots. Their actions and manners are far more reaching and influencing because of this.

Foreign people who do not completely understand our methods cannot fully fathom such movements; and if the right party is present at the time, they may help this foreign person to perceive the wrong ideas with a little sleight-of-hand propaganda. Then the word is gradually spread around as to the character of the people from a freedom-loving nation.

The disciplined and tyrannized people become half insane with a desire for a luxurious life. Then, when the real picture of the common American is presented, it produces feelings of disappointment and disillusion. These feelings are not good for a free world as it tends to steer the people towards a more conservative and less glamorous life. These feelings eventually gain enough force and power to endanger our standing and the goal towards which we are striving.

This is one of the reasons why I said "Freedom's Open Door" or similar words could easily be misleading.

Such steps as are necessary to stop these eventualities should be taken before the world can completely comprehend and appreciate these words.

In conclusion, I would like to express the points which I think would justify and completely help to fulfill the true meaning intended for such words. The American people through the years have shown their qualities and ingeniousness. Now is the time for our country to rise up and show justification for the usage of "freedom" in connection with our ideals. Now is the time to fight, to preserve our traditions and to show the whole world the real significance of freedom.

We must use our influence and ideals as a base in formulating the huge plan for a peaceful, freedom-loving world.

We must wake up to the fact that our liberty crusaders are being greeted with scorn and contempt. This is nothing to be passed off lightly. To have freedom, these factions cannot exist. Putting them aside will only help to increase their power.

The people of America and peace-loving nations cannot delay any longer or it might prove disastrous. We must take command now. The key to "Freedom's Open Door" must be unveiled and offered to the other countries.

In reality, we must show our Allies the true meaning of "freedom" and follow up with an offer consisting of a free country's possibilities and ideals.

This great world of ours should not lose its freedom due to the carelessness of a gifted people.
