MANCHESTER COMMUNITY FAIR

Manchester Fair Welcomes You!

Guess, folks, that first of all we better say—WELCOME TO THE FAIR! for by the time the paper is off the press the Manchester Community Fair will be in full swing. From the local office we have been watching the trucks hauling produce, farm implements and what have you to the fair.

Willard Mann donated his truck to help with the trucking and Leo Lentz is doing the driving.

President of the Fair Board, R. C. Merithew, says that a telephone has been installed on the grounds in the merchants tent—the number is Manchester 2341. This is an extension of the high school telephone system.

Besides the exhibits this year the FHA girls and their instructor, Mrs. Robert Crandall, have been busy for days preparing good things to eat. The girls will be selling chili, sandwiches, hamburgers, cakes and pies.

Franklin Reck Has Book Published

Franklin M. Reck

"Happy, Happy Publication Day!" That was the telegram which Franklin M. Reck received Tuesday, September 18, from Elizabeth Riley, editor of Juvenile publications for T. Y. Crowell, New York publishers. It was Tuesday that "The American Boy Anthology" compiled by Franklin M. Reck reached the market. The 488 page book consists of some of the best juvenile stories which appeared in "The American Boy" by twenty authors covering the years 1899 to 1941.

Franklin M. Reck of Manchester was the emulating editor of that magazine from 1936 to 1941. In the collection are stories by such noted authors as Ellis Parker Butler (whom many know as the author of "Pigs Is Pigs"), Ralph Henry Barbour, Clarence Budgeon Keland, F. M. Reck and many others.

In explaining the reason for the anthology Mr. Reck related that after the "Youth's Companion Anthology" had been compiled, inquiries began to pour in asking when the American Anthology would be written. Finally these inquiries reached the ears of Robert Crowell of New York and Mr. Reck was contacted to compile the material.

A copy of the book is now available at the Manchester library. We at the Enterprise add our congratulations to F. M. Reck.

The WSCS will serve hot plate lunches throughout the Fair days. Today (Thursday) Mrs. Eimer age and Mrs. Don Macintosh have charge of the hot pork sandwiches, vegetable soup and other food. On Friday Mrs. R. C. Kerr and Mrs. George Nichols will have charge of the fried fish and ham dinners and Saturday Mrs. Leslie Chavey and Mrs. Leah Keasal will serve chicken dinners. Oh! Yes! The ladies are serving pies, too.

Come Friday morning, the ladies better be on hand for some first hand instructions in cooking when L. V. Kirk will have a representative from the Consumers Power Co. here to give some first hand information in General Electric cooking. There will be door prizes, too. The time is 9:45 in the high school gym.

While the cooking school is in progress in the school, there will be a tractor contest on the athletic field—this will begin at 10 a. m.

Then Friday afternoon there will be the horse pulling contest. Jim Mobley has charge of this and is being ably assisted by Fred Fielder, William Ahrens and Elmer Trolz. This contest is open to the general public—no restrictions as to where the teams come from. More information governing the horse pulling contest may be found elsewhere in the paper.

There has been a change in the time of the luncheon at the Shore Farm Restaurant for the members of the Steer Club, their fathers and buyers. The luncheon is being sponsored by the Union Savings Bank of Manchester.

At 1:00 p. m. the Steer Club auction will be held with the auctioneer furnished by the Dexter Livestock Co.

At 1:30 p. m. the street parade will begin at the athletic field. Mr. Merithew wants the horsemen, implements and the general public to enter in the parade.

The Western Horse Show will follow the street parade at 2 p. m. and will be produced by Bob Merithew of the Oklahoma Ranch. Cash prizes will be awarded the winners in each event as well as ribbons.

The Happy Land Show opened Wednesday evening and will continue until the close of the show. Mrs. Merithew and Mrs. Ed Wurster are pleased to announce that the space in the merchants building is now taken with displays from the local merchants and from Clinton and Ann Arbor.

This is the complete program for the Manchester Fair. Let's see YOU at the fair.

The Main Street

Fred Heinrich who has operated the McPherson gas station on the corner of Main and Riverside for the past four years has resigned. Don Fielder took over the management last Friday September 14 for the McPherson Oil Company.

Fred, as he is known to the folks of Manchester will continue to make this his home but is the representative for the MoorMan Mfg. Co. of Quincy, Illinois. His territory will include Sharon, Freedom and Lodi townships. The MoorMan Mfg. company sells concentrates and minerals direct to the farmers.

On Thursday, September 27, there will be a meeting of representatives from the various church organizations, clubs, civic and fraternal organizations in Manchester and the surrounding rural area at the Manchester high school, to start arrangements for the Community Fund Drive which will get underway in October.

The important factor concerning the Community Fund Drive is that for the Manchester area most drives are taken care of in one campaign. Thanks to George Johnston and his staff, this has been most effective in the past years. Many organizations, including the Boy and Girl Scouts, polio, heart and cancer, all derive benefits from the Community Chest. Those who worked to organize the Community Chest are Rev. A. A. Weinert, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reck and George Johnston.

Pulling Contest Rules Defined

Jim Mobley, chairman of the committee arranging for the horse pulling contest which will be held Friday, September 21 at 1 p. m., lists the following rules and regulations.

All teams competing are to be weighed without harness on the scales at the Buss Coal Company between 8:30 and 11:30 a. m. Friday.

Whipping, undue use of the lines, profanity or shouting is prohibited and will constitute a disqualification. If there is evidence that any stimulant is used on animals competing in the contest, a veterinarian will be requested to pass judgement.

All entries should be made direct to the superintendent of the pulling contest, Jim Mobley, Manchester phone 3654. The committee and judges of this event shall be in full charge and their ruling shall be final.

The same equipment that has been used for several years, a stone boat and sand bags, will be used again.

No team will be allowed to compete which bears on the animal or any part of the equipment any advertisement of any kind.

There will be two classes: heavy-weight teams weighing 3,000 pounds or more and light-weight teams weighing less than 3,000 pounds.

All drivers are required to ride on the boat. Heavy and light-weight classes will each be awarded the same prizes: first, $35; second, $20; third, $10; and fourth, $5.

TODAY'S Meditation

Upper Room THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Obedience to God's Will Thursday, September 13. "His mother saith unto the servants, 'Whatever He saith unto you, do it.'" (John 2:5.)

Not so very long ago I overheard a boy of ten telling his younger sister, "Do as our mother has told you to do. These two children belonged to a newly baptized Christian family in one of the villages of Bombay State, India. The remark at once reminded me of the words of Mary, the mother of Jesus, who said, 'Whatever he saith unto you, do it.'" Jesus was invited along with His disciples to the wedding in Cana of Galilee. In the midst of merrymaking and joyful exchange of words, Jesus was forgotten. However, when the wine gave out, they sought His help. We often think of Jesus only in our unhappy conditions. In happiness or in distress, we need always to remember Him. But more than that, God expects us to seek His will and do accordingly. We often attempt to fulfill the wishes and will of those whom we love. But Jesus is above everyone. He could not follow human prompting, not even His mother's, but only God's. "Whatever he saith unto you, do it."

Prayer O Father, give us the spirit of Jesus. Teach us to be in accord with Him in our lives. Enable us to know His Will and to act accordingly. May Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. In our Redeemer's name we pray. Amen.

Thought for the Day I derive happiness from obedience to God.

MICHIGAN FEATURE SERIES prepared by MICHIGAN TOURIST COUNCIL, No. 38

National Production Authority's Office of Public Information has produced an information sheet. The front of this sheet contains the necessary information in simple, understandable form.

The back of the sheet is devoted to 10 paragraphs of "background information." Even though it may be classified as interesting information, the necessity for its inclusion in the explanation of a Controlled Materials Plan order escapes me. And even though the information may have been copied from an encyclopedia and attributed to the NPA, someone on the tax payroll did the "research", preparation and production of this material.

This "background information" follows:

"BACKGROUND INFORMATION"
Most small cities and industrial plants not located on rivers draw their water from wells. For instance, about 90 percent of all Texas cities depend on wells for municipal water.

Houston, with a population of about 600,000, is the largest city in the United States which relies on wells for its water. Artesian wells supply 250,000,000 gallons of water a day to the city.

The main construction material used for well casings is steel piping from two to 30 inches in diameter.

Under some ground conditions concrete pipe, glazed tile or cast iron pipe can be used for wells. But the tensile strength, weight or porosity of these materials disqualifies them as general substitutes for steel pipe.

The passing of the old oaken bucket days may be a boon to farm wives but it means more demand for steel, NPA commented.

Bucket-type wells were dug wells lined with brick or stone. Now the labor cost of digging such large diameter wells would be prohibitive. Besides, the electrification of rural sections makes such wells unnecessary, as the electric pump—or gas pump—permits use of the more sanitary drilled well which can tap a deeper source. Windmill pumps also are used on drilled wells in states like New Mexico, Colorado, Oklahoma and Texas.

New irrigation projects started within the last 10 years have opened up another source of demand for steel well-piping in addition to replacements required for older projects.

To show the interrelation of wells and irrigation, NPA said that in four counties of Southern California there were more than 20,000 irrigation wells; in another four counties of the Texas Panhandle there are 12,000 such wells.

The average farm or home well runs between 50 and 200 feet deep. NPA estimated and requires between 500 and 700 pounds of steel casing. Wells in desert areas, however, may go 1,600 feet deep to reach water.

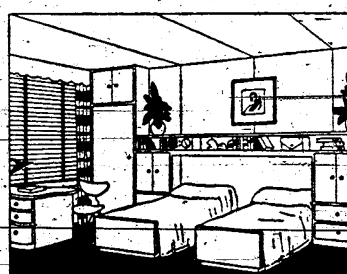

Water wells also are indispensable to the drilling of oil

Modernization Can Be Fun

ROOM modernization can be a pleasure. With the right materials and sound planning, one can completely transform a room at a cost that is surprisingly low.

See how up-to-date and attractive the room is in the illustration. Its former plaster walls, badly cracked, were covered with rigid, tough panels of Masonite-Preedwood. This permanent dry wall material takes any desired finish. Available in panels four feet wide and in lengths to 12 feet, Preedwood goes into place quickly with a minimum of fuss and bother.

Look at the neat, spacious wardrobe in the corner. There's another just like it at the other side of the room. Each was made of Preedwood. Incidentally, this is a room for twins—with two of everything including even a two-seater desk.

A convenient sun-seat, the bed shell for a small radio and books, the twin beds and the paneled ceiling are other features of this modernized room. It's really amazing what a transformation can be made with good materials, ordinary carpentry tools and some time, energy and ingenuity!

wells in arid sections. NPA explained that mud is used to plaster the drill hole to prevent caving, to float drilling debris to the surface and to lower the drilling bit's temperature.

Carried to its logical conclusion—and NPA's Office of Public Information may be doing just that—this "background information" process could produce some interesting—and costly—studies.

An order covering the allocation of steel for farm machinery could be the springboard for a treatise on the history and practices of agriculture. This might begin with a profound sequel to the fact that cities draw water from wells, as, for example: "Farming is the tillage of the soil for the production of foods and fibers. It is practiced rather generally in the United States, outside of cities."

And a metals allocation procedure for the automotive industry could be discussed thus: "The automobile is a four-wheeled conveyance activated by a gasoline motor, commonly used for the transportation of persons, but also, when constructed with a truck body, useful for the movement of inert materials."

Not only would these exhaustive explorations of the more elusive bits of important knowledge provide the taxpayer with a wide range of valuable information, they of course also would permit him to share the expense of adding more and more information specialists. The NPA Office of Public Information staff now numbers 94.

Add Width and Beauty
Brightly painted shutters on a house not only bring life and beauty to it, but give the illusion of width to windows that seem too narrow.

From Your Congressman

A Weekly Report From Congressman George Meader

Washington, D. C.—For the privilege of learning what he must do to get enough steel pipe for the rilling of a household water supply well, the taxpayer now receives a gratuitous education in the history, use and construction of wells.

The information is gratuitous in the sense that it is uncalled for, but definitely not in any sense of being unpaid for. It constitutes another example of the type of needless expenditure of federal tax money for so-called information activities, which I have criticized. It demonstrates the workings of the bureaucratic mind—the desire to justify an expensive information staff by using any excuse for pouring out unnecessary information, with a resultant increase in the cost of operating an emergency organization and a useless burdening of the citizen who is seeking only a concise answer to his question.

To explain a new order which permits farmers, home owners or well drillers to self-certify their need for up to two tons of steel pipe for an individual well, the

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

If one of these soldiers belonged in your family, this picture would certainly be one for your book.

Here's One for the Book

WE TRUST that as the end of a summer's snapshooting draws to a close that you have not just one for your book—but wonderful pictures by the dozen that should be mounted in your favorite type of album.

And the sooner you put them in the better it will be. Most of us know from sad experience that loose pictures have a way of getting lost—to say nothing of getting their corners broken and the surfaces scratched. So now is a good time to collect all the envelopes that you've gotten back from the photofinisher, sort the pictures, group them appropriately and put them in a book.

There are albums available for every taste. There are giant size books large enough to hold a decade of snapshots, and then there are those which hold 10 or a dozen—with a wide range of sizes in between. Some people prefer to keep a big book and mount the pictures chronologically. Others like a smaller size album and make one for each year, while another popular custom is making small special books which bear labels such as "Vacation 1951."

You can buy commercially manufactured albums—or make your own scrapbook fashion. In the commercial album field you can choose between the type in which the prints are simply mounted on the pages—and those whose leaves are in the form of transparent envelopes which will protect your pictures nicely.

Look at your prints with an eye that is at least mildly critical when you assemble them. If there is one that is drastically over or underexposed or which isn't too kind to your subject, it's better to drop it in the wastebasket. I know that throwing away any pictures is quite a struggle. I have trouble that way myself. I've got a snapshot in my album that is so bad the subject is unrecognizable. Why I put it there in the first place, and why I've left it there all of these years—I can't say.

When you are putting your pictures in order, don't forget the negatives. Assemble them in equally good order and put them where they are safe from damage and easy to find. An inexpensive negative file made up of small transparent envelopes will take care of them very nicely.

REPORTS TO THE People

It was a surprise to many people when I revealed last week that we have under way a hundred million dollar "Build Michigan" program—the biggest program of public building in the state's history.

The largest part of the Build Michigan program is in the field of mental health. Everybody knows the terrible conditions of overcrowding which prevail in our mental hospitals in the past. Thousands of patients committed by the courts for hospital care remained at large because there was no room for them. A national survey indicated Michigan stood 40th among the states in number of acceptable mental hospital beds.

To remedy this situation and bring our mental hospital facilities into line with the needs of one of our most pressing tasks. Let me tell you briefly what we are doing in that field.

One of the most important projects is fire protection at state institutions. For many years we have lived in constant fear of a fire which might cost the lives of some of the helpless human beings in our care.

Today, we are taking steps to guard against such a tragedy. As part of the "Build Michigan" program, we are installing sprinkler systems and other fire protection devices in six state mental institutions—at Coldwater, Kalamazoo, Lapeer, Newberry, Pontiac and Traverse City.

Children's Hospital. On the drawing boards as part of our "Build Michigan" program, we have two important and long-needed new state mental hospitals.

One is an 80-bed children's mental hospital to be located near Northville. This institution will give specialized treatment to children in the curable stages of mental disease.

The other is a neuropsychiatric institute at Detroit. This jawbreaker of a name simply means a mental health clinic—a place where we will be able not only to treat mental disease but to study its cause and cure, and train psychiatrists to minister to the mentally ill.

Biggest Project at Northville. The biggest of the State's mental hospital projects is the $18,000,000 development at Northville.

The great clinical hospital at Northville, to have 640 beds, is nearing completion. Construction has begun on the admission unit and the 282 bed intensive treatment unit. On the drawing boards, we have a 500 bed unit for treatment of aged patients, a nurses' home and a service building.

Also in the planning stage at Northville are two "industrial therapy" units for men and women—places where the victims of mental illness can be led back to health by working with their hands and brains.

Two special treatment buildings for men and women patients are also on the drawing boards.

When this great Northville hospital is completed it will be able to care for more than 3,000 patients, and give them every type of specialized treatment.

Other Projects. Space will permit me only to list the other major projects in the mental hospital program.

At Caro State Hospital, we have started construction of a new 15 bed infirmary building. An addition to the administration building and a new 110 bed custodial building are on the drawing boards.

At Coldwater State Home and Training school, we have a 300 bed nursery for crib cases under construction. Also being built are two 50 bed homes for boy and girl patients, a farm colony and an administration building as well as other lesser projects.

At Ionia State Hospital we are starting construction of a new building for aged patients, and those afflicted with tuberculosis. A $1,200,000 power plant improvement is underway together with a special building for women patients.

At Kalamazoo State Hospital we are completing a 150 bed addition to the receiving hospital, and contracts have been let for a new service building.

At Lapeer State Home and Training School, improvements to the laundry and power plant are under way and a big new 200 bed general hospital is in the planning stages.

At Newberry State Hospital, we are finishing a new service building and drawing the plans for a 100 bed children's unit.

At Pontiac State Hospital we are drawing the plans for a nurses' home and a staff house and new water plant are under construction.

At Traverse City, a 100 bed unit to care for tubercular mental patients is in the planning stage, and a new service building is under construction.

At Ypsilanti State Hospital plans are being drawn for a remodeling job which will add 60 beds and for an auditorium and chapel.

MICHIGAN MIRROR

It's politics and football again, with football having the edge in news play throughout Michigan. Only in the half a way nita Politics we always have. Football only in the fall.

Currently pre-campaign campaigns are in progress. Democrats are calling Republicans do-nothings. Republicans admit Democrats have done things, but cry "we don't like it".

Policy committees have been active. G. O. P. again is aiming at a unified policy which will preclude any split in voter ranks. Democrats are banking, apparently, on labor and recent welfare legislation to supply the impetus for Gov. Williams' campaign.

Toughest row to hoe is that of Senator Blair Moody. In office only a few months, he faces a rough and tough election. He's been in Michigan so much lately he and Williams are referred to as the "Toni twins".

One columnist takes exception at the constant political jockeying. He says, "An officer is inaugurated at noon, rearranges the officer's furniture, appoints a deputy and secretary and that night is campaigning for reelection at a cold roast beef and greasy gravy dinner. The poor voter just doesn't get a rest."

President Truman has asked Michigan Democrats to keep him posted on developments in the senatorial race for Moody's newly acquired seat. G. O. P. leaders nationally are keeping in contact with state leaders to see if any progress is being made toward recapturing the seat held for more than three decades by Republicans.

Edward W. Frey, state's new election director, hopes to use television to educate city dwellers on the proper marking of ballots and perhaps avert another chaotic election such as we had last year. Election workers will attend instruction schools. Catch: A lot of workers don't have TV sets.

The polio season has past its peak. Paralysis has been about one-fourth what it was last year.

More than 6 million dollars has been collected under the reform highway legislation. The new law requires counties to use 75 percent of their share for maintenance and construction of primary roads, 25 percent for local roads. State's share is $2,295,261.

Truck output in Michigan still is climbing to new records. Passenger car production has been hit by shortages, but trucks may exceed 1,400,000 before the year is out.

The Rifle river has been added to the ever expanding hunting territory of the last year. A 26 inch brown trout has been found in Devoe lake with the usual deep scar, showing death was caused by a lamprey.

Fishing law violators in July paid $6,799 in fines and spent 170 days in jail. There were 390 conservation law infractions, 294 involving fishing regulations.

Controller Robert F. Steadman has asked the civil service commission if it is contemplating a pay raise to state employees. Last year the CSC upset Steadman's budget plans by granting sweeping raises after he had prepared the budget. The commission has a "moral responsibility" to cooperate, he says.

General MacArthur may address the Michigan legislature. In reply to an invitation MacArthur said, "it would be a great honor indeed... but the time of the regular session is so distant it would be impossible to make any definite commitment."

Nothing can stop a public relations man. J. R. Ferren, Washington, D. C., walked right through a plate glass window next to the main entrance of the Lansing State Journal building.

Ferren, in charge of public relations for the Seventh Day Adventist camp at Grand Ledge, delivered his releases, then walked out—the door—to go to the hospital to have five stitches taken in a cut wrist.

Obey Your Safety Patrol

With school beginning, 41,000 AAA Safety Patrol boys in Michigan again take their positions at the corners, guarding fellow students from death and injury. They begin the school year with a record of having reduced school pedestrian deaths by 62 percent since 1936. To help increase children's respect for the directions given by patrol boys, Automobile Club of Michigan, which sponsors the patrols, has sent out 10,000 of the above posters to Michigan schools. Along with them went 29,000 lesson sheets and 10,000 coloring posters, all stressing the "Obey Your Safety Patrol" message.

County Medical Society Endorses Blue Cross

The Washtenaw County Medical Society has voted its active support of the Blue Cross-Blue Shield Non-Group Enrollment Campaign which begins on a statewide basis September 1.

The Non-Group Programs, which have the official endorsement of the Michigan State Medical Society and the Michigan Hospital Association, offer Blue Cross-Blue Shield on an individual basis to the thousands who cannot qualify through employee, farm or professional groups.

All persons under 65 years of age, even if retired, may enroll in the Non-Group Programs during the September 1 through September 22 enrollment period.

The Washtenaw County Medical Society, in throwing its full support behind the campaign, emphasized that Michigan Medical Service (Blue Shield) is the doctor's own non-profit, prepayment program for providing surgical care. It is sponsored by the Michigan State Medical Society.

Similarly, Michigan Hospital Service (Blue Cross) is the agency of the voluntary hospitals which include Beyer Memorial Hospital, Ypsilanti, and St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, in this area. Blue Cross provides the companion hospital services on the same prepayment basis.

The Non-Group Programs, now offered on a state-wide basis, provide far more comprehensive benefits than the old Community Enrollment Plan which was available only in limited areas as a "pilot" program for the last two years.

Hospital Aides Needed by VA

One hundred male hospital aides, between the ages of 18 and 62, are urgently needed at Fort Custer, Michigan Veterans Administration Hospital, Dr. Ernest F. Jones, manager, announced today.

Starting salary for aides is $2,450.00 a year for a forty hour week, with liberal promotion possibilities. Necessary training will be given on the job. If available, quarters and meals on the hospital grounds can be arranged for single men. Applicants must meet the necessary minimum physical requirements, be able to read and write, and qualify by personal interview. Cost of travel to hospital for interview and physical examination must be paid by applicants. All appointments will be under Federal Civil Service.

Address inquiries to: Chief Personnel Officer, Veterans Administration Hospital, Fort Custer, Michigan. Or call in person between the hours of 9:00 a. m. and 4:30 p. m., Monday through Friday.

Michigan Medics Receive Honors

Sixteen doctors of medicine, who have seen Michigan medicine advance from horse and buggy, kitchen surgery to penicillin in their 50 years of practice, will receive recognition of this service September 26 in ceremonies at the 86th annual session of the Michigan State Medical Society in Grand Rapids.

They will be accepted as members of the "Fifty Year Club" of the state society. Clarence E. Umphrey, M. D., retiring president of MSMS, will present membership pins to the veteran practitioners who will come from various parts of Michigan to receive the honors.

Those doctors, who have served their patients for a half a century are: Archibald E. MacGregor, Joseph W. Gettings, and Clarence S. Gorsline, of Battle Creek; Walter T. Parker, of Owosso; George W. Moore, of Bay City; William F. Acker, of Monroe; Frank E. Lutton, of St. Johns; James L. Houston, of Swartz Creek; George V. Logan, of Flushing; Frank W. Ostrander, of Freeland; H. Roy Wilson and William H. Brock, of Saginaw; Bruce M. Parker, of Utica; Horace H. Loveland, of Tecumseh; Esli T. Morden, of Adrian; and Walter H. Winchester, of Flint.

SOIL MISUSE

Nearing the last stage before being abandoned is this farm . . . not in the deep south or far west, but here in Michigan in southern Kalkaska county. Shifting sands uncover the remains of a horse, presumably buried deep enough, some 10 years ago. Instead of holding the thin layer of top soil with tree plantings . . . wheat, oats and similar quick crops were grown 10-15 years ago. To save the remaining land from a like fate, conservation department district forester Fred Haskin is recommending the planting of a mixed stand of jack and red pine which some day would stabilize the soil and produce an annual, valuable pulpwood and timber crop.
