put THE MAN WITH THE HOE on wheels

It has been said that a man with a hoe is the most expensive item on the farm. That is especially true with vegetables, melons, berries, fruits and other crops that require precision planting, cultivation and weeding.

Model G implements mount in front under the tractor's open arch. Crop rows and beds are always in full view. Let one pair of hands on the wheel of the Model G replace many pairs on hand tools. Stop in for full information.

The Main Street
Snow and more snow seems to be the forecast and looking out on main street we doubt if the local street commissioner and his helpers, which by the way at present includes the Schaffer Lumber Company's shovel, to see anyone of the white stuff from the heavens. They surely have been doing a bang-up job of clearing the streets. And this reminds us that one fire-chief Lawrence Schied asks us to get out of the car, to remember the fire hydrant. So often when shoveling snow we forget and pile it on top of the hydrant. For our own good this is important—rather than cover the hydrant, we might better dig it out—so that should it become necessary, we could find it more easily. Any-way—let's not bury them under piles of snow.

Another grandfather was added to the growing list of "adopted" relatives of the eleven Moore children who were orphaned in the tragic Pontiac auto crash a few weeks ago. This relative knits and then too I've knitting mitts for my own grandchildren for a number of years. "Grandpa" Lindo took the mitts to the children last Saturday and the girls were overjoyed with the bright varicolored yarn and the boys lappy with the many colors. Mr. Lindo had chosen for them. Knowing that little folks liked good sweet things Mr. Lindo also took along some home made cider in the country's one millionth traffic fatality. Chief Schieber asked drivers to reduce their speed to compensate for the reduced visibility of winter, and to triple their caution when the weather is rainy or snowy. "As a driver, you must realize these important things," he said. "The first is that Christmas is going to bring far more walkers out on the streets than we could ordinarily expect to find in weather like this. The second is because of rain, sleet, snow or the mere fact that our eyes are quite short at this time of year—may bring your car dangerously close to a pedestrian before you realize it. Third, wet, snowing or icy streets may prevent your stopping in time to avoid hitting a walker even if you do see him beforehand."

Chief Charles Schieber recalled that Manchester did not escape pedestrian deaths and injuries during the past year, as he makes an urgent appeal for caution by all holiday drivers. "These citizens," he said, "make up a small but tragic part of the terrible millions that have just come to pass in the death of the country's one millionth traffic fatality.
