Annual School Board Meeting July 9th

The annual school board meeting will be held Monday, July 9, at the civic auditorium at 8 p.m. This meeting is open to the public and the public is invited to attend. In the past few years only a fair number of persons have been attending the meetings, according to a member of the school board.

The purpose of the meeting is to elect two school board members. The terms of Luther Klager and Laurin Leeson expire at this time. Manchester has what is termed as a graded school and candidates for the board are nominated from the floor at the annual school meeting and then elected.

Petitions for nominations of candidates for board members is not the procedure used at this school in selection of nominations.

Other important business will include the reports of the treasurer and the statistical report. The activities of the board during the past year will be reviewed. A brief summary and outline of next year's work including the length of the school year will be on the schedule including the listing of the new school staff.

The fire department was called out Monday afternoon to the Everett Matteson farm at 9761 Noggle Road when a straw stack was discovered burning. No other damage resulted.

Who wants to give a collie pup a good home? You can have one free—they are six weeks old and are out at the Marvin Kirk farm at 10113 Grossman Road.

We surely hope that Gary Pratt will soon be able to use his arm again. Gary is the 9-year-old son of the James Pratts. He broke his arm about two months ago and at present is undergoing physical therapy treatments in an effort to bring back use of the arm.

Hugh Walsh of the Walsh Restaurant is back home from Mercy Hospital where he was taken last week suffering from burns when a tea kettle overturned. He is improving satisfactorily.

Manchester will have their first premium list for the community fair available this year according to the fair board president, R. C. Merithew. At this time members of the board are soliciting advertising.

This warm summer weather brought the kids out in numbers on Tuesday for the swimming lesson at Wampiers Lake. Seventy-five boarded the buses for the lake and twenty little folk stayed at the school for the junior program. About fifty of the younger children had previously stayed at the school. The swimming is a part of the summer recreation program here.

Manchester boys belonging to the Junior Baseball League played Tuesday night at Ypsilanti in a closely contested game with the local kids winning the game 6 to 5. Next week we plan to have an up-to-date report in the paper of the Junior League team.

R. C. Merithew of the Oklahoma Ranch will present a western horse show at the Milan Free Fair on Saturday, July 28, with the parade beginning at 1 p.m. and the show at 1:30 p.m. This is being sponsored by the Milan Rotary Club.

Mrs. Cora Waters and daughter, Mrs. J. C. Cathey, and sons, Arthur and Owen, attended the wedding of Miss Alice Louise Horning to Neal Wellman at the First Congregational Church at Jackson on Saturday afternoon.

Entertaining the two couples were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Vogt, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schaible, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tirb and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Clark.

Take Time!... Our Fathers Did!

A lot has happened to this America of ours since a small group of fearless men signed the Declaration of Independence one hundred and seventy five years ago. Those men knew what tyranny and dictatorship meant, through actual experience. Little wonder then they pledged to support their new found freedom with "our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor."

This Democracy as originated by our forefathers is ours to carry on. It is something we must protect if we would have our children and our grandchildren enjoy this privilege of living in freedom.

As we go to press to bring you the news of your community, we again rejoice that the weekly newspaper is free... free to print the news, free to state views, to print both sides of any question unhindered by government restrictions and censorship.

By putting before the people, in black and white, both sides of controversial issues, the press has let the citizenry of Manchester make its own decisions and has given them the facts with which to decide. And, just as Manchester has its free press, so the rest of the country is dotted with small towns and small newspapers, all of them just as determined to uphold the Democratic principles outlined in the Declaration of Independence.

But there are other phases to this intangible thing called Democracy.

Not far from the Enterprise office we can find many churches, all of them dedicated to the worship of God who has so generously blessed us with a rich country and a priceless freedom.

We can walk into any of the local stores and discuss the weather, the crops, and criticize the government without fear of reprisal.

This is what is commonly known as Freedom of Speech, another benefit to be found in the American way of life. These freedoms are not new to us. But perhaps if they were, we'd appreciate them more.

Is it possible that we are taking too much for granted?

Is it too dramatic to display the flag on the Fourth of July, or to read the Declaration of Independence through to the children as we relax at home with the family on this national holiday? Or is it that we just don't want to go to all the trouble of hauling the flag out of the attic, or take time on just one day away from business to sit around and read a lot of words on paper that tell us we live in a Democracy.

We wonder how we'd be living today if Franklin, Jefferson, and their fellows "just didn't have the time!"

Next Wednesday is the Fourth of July. Maybe, after a little serious thinking we CAN take time-out to put "Old Glory" in the socket on the porch railing, to pause over those sacred words "When in the course of human events..." to thank God for this America.

GOV. WILLIAMS

LANSEING—Last week I vetoed the extension of time necessary to meet the problem of the soldier vote. It was obviously intended to serve some partisan purposes, and the needs of the soldiers were used as an excuse. The bill, furthermore, would have had positive bad effects on the election process.

Timetable
Under present law the primary will occur on September 12, 1952 and the election in November. It was argued that there wouldn't be time enough in between to print the final election ballots and get them to and from military stations around the world.

Don't Let Scrap Waste Away, Sell It to Aid Defense, Farmers Urged

Will steel output be increased? That depends to a great extent on whether farmers move their iron and steel scrap promptly, says the Committee on Iron and Steel Scrap of American Iron and Steel Institute.

Thousands of tons of scrap-iron material in steelmaking are idle in junk piles on farms, and some of it is wasting away, says the Committee. If farmers promptly sell this material to local scrap collectors, it will be moved to steel mills or foundries for the production of defense equipment and essential civilian items. All scrap is urgently needed—whether a few pounds, a few bushels or a ton or more.

Farmers will help themselves by the sale of the scrap and will help strengthen the United States. Each day about 2,000 carloads of purchased scrap are required by steel mills and foundries. The mills are operating at a record high rate and using more scrap than ever before.

Old tools, wornout parts of tractors, trucks, cultivators and other implements; broken and discarded pieces of metal and other scrap should be taken to town and sold right away to the local scrap dealer. Every pound of scrap which comes back to steel mills helps to make two pounds of new steel, on the average.

If the scrap is unusually bulky, preventing its easy transportation by the farmer, the scrap dealer can be called or the local farm agent can be asked to work out an arrangement.

Farms are one of the big sources of scrap, says the Committee. "Never have farmers had a greater stake in the nation's steel output."

"More scrap from farms means more steel."

"This vital material must not be allowed to waste away. There is no place for waste in the United States today."

The Department of National Defense tells me that a period of about 30 days will be sufficient for ballots to be received, marked and returned by the great majority of Michigan servicemen. The Defense Department says 45 days would ensure time enough for even the most remote military stations.

So it is clear that if any adjustment of the primary election date is necessary, the date needs to be set ahead only a few weeks at most.

There is no excuse whatever for the Legislature's action setting the primary four months ahead of the general election.

Bad Effects
Students of the election process generally agree that a long interval between the primary and the general election works against good government. With a June primary, candidates seeking to take office in 1953 would have to file nominating petitions in April, 1952, when the legislature would probably be in session. The effect would be to drag out the election campaign all summer. Public officials who should be attending to business would be out campaigning. Candidates would be subjected to needless expense of a four-month campaign.

And worst of all, the ears of the public would be worn out with prolonged oratory. People get so tired of a political campaign of that length that the issues tend to be forgotten, and the voters tend to lose interest.

Veto Urged
A veto of this bill was urged by the Michigan Association of Municipal Clerks on the grounds that it would create fresh administrative difficulties for election officials.

Two of Michigan's most prominent experts on government—Professors James P. Pollock and Samuel J. Eldersveld, of the University of Michigan—also urged me to veto the bill.

Adoption of the Legislature's proposal is a big step in the wrong direction," they said in a telegram to me. "It will contribute to citizen confusion, apathy and decreased participation. In addition it will add to the administrative confusion of our election system."

Plenty of Time
In my veto message I pointed out that the Legislature will be back in regular session in January, 1952. There will be ample opportunity then to make any adjustment of the primary date which may be genuinely needed for the benefit of servicemen.

Job Insurance Raised
I was happy to sign the bill which again increases the primary benefits of the unemployment compensation act.

The increase, this time is $3 per week. An employee without dependents will receive $27 per week in job insurance benefits instead of $24.

The benefit rate was increased from $20 to $24 at my recommendation in 1949. This makes a total of $7 per week increase in the last two-and-one-half years.

Step Forward
While the increases fall short of my recommendations, they do bring our job insurance law into better relationship with present day living costs. The unemployment compensation system is designed to protect employees against want during periods of layoff; to protect the business man against loss of paying customers, and to protect the taxpayer against excessive welfare costs. (You realize, of course, that when a jobless family gets unemployment compensation, the cost comes from the employers; but when a jobless family goes on welfare, the cost comes out of the taxpayers' pocket.)

The job insurance system cannot fulfill these objectives unless the benefits bear some reasonable relation to the price of food and other necessities of life. This new $3 per week increase, while it isn't enough, will help to keep the job insurance system, doing the job it was intended to do.

Inland America
The first conference of Governors of Inland America, which I attended in Omaha, Nebraska, was a marked success.

Governor Val Peterson of Nebraska and I jointly sponsored the meeting, to bring together representatives of the 15 states of Inland America. This region, comprising the Great Lakes, Missouri Valley and Upper Mississippi Valley states, is an economic unit, with many common problems.

Seaway Discussed
We discussed a number of regional problems, including flood control and power development in the Missouri Valley, and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Of the 15 governors invited, six attended personally, four sent official representatives, and four other states had unofficial observers present. The Governors of Kansas, Missouri, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Michigan and South Dakota were there. The governors of Illinois, North Dakota, Minnesota and Iowa sent official representatives.

Seaway Discussed
We discussed a number of regional problems, including flood control and power development in the Missouri Valley, and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

My principal interest, needless to say, was the Seaway, which would permit ocean shipping to come directly to the ports of Michigan and other lake states.

I was able to explain to these people from the Missouri Valley and the upper Mississippi Valley how the seaway would help them by opening the markets of the world to direct shipment of midwestern grain and other agricultural products.

At the close of the meeting, the six governors present unanimously agreed to make it a permanent conference of Inland states. After further consultation with all 15 governors of the region, we will have another meeting.

Mrs. C. E. Talmage and two children and Judy Taylor of Detroit, Roy Hills of Tipton and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Shurtz of Saline were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shurtz.

Among those from Manchester who are attending summer school at Ypsilanti Normal college are Mrs. Leo Scully, Mrs. Mabel Pardee and Mrs. Birdella Flood.

The Cow That Can't "Run Dry"

Sandy Johnson showed me his Jersey cows last week. It was a warm day and they were under the trees near a watering trough.

And darned if one cow wasn't pumping water into the trough! It's a fact—she'd raise the pump handle with her nose, and use her throat to push it down again.

"That's Mabel," Sandy explained as she moved away. "Sometimes they drink that trough dry, and she's learned how to fill it again. But she doesn't know her own strength—turns the place into a swamp if we don't watch her."

From where I sit, Mabel isn't the only one who sometimes doesn't know where to stop. For instance, people often carry personal opinions too far—like the person who wants everyone to accept his choice of political parties, or ball-players... or beverages. I prefer a glass of beer with my meals. I know that a lot of other people prefer milk. But nobody ought to insist on "herding" others around to his way of thinking.

From Your Congressman

A Weekly Report From Congressman George Meader

Washington, D. C., June 27, 1951. For five important reasons, the new federal tax bill should not have been adopted by the House of Representatives last Friday.

These reasons were presented in a speech which I made during debate on the bill. I voted for recommitment of the bill to the Ways and Means Committee, and when that motion failed, I voted against adoption of the tax bill.

First, the bill was presented prematurely. Second, it was offered under a gag rule, prohibiting any member of the House from attempting to perfect or improve it through the normal legislative process of amendment.

Third, it is another step toward totalitarian, socialist control of national economy.

Fourth, it is deceptive, unfair and conceived in political expediency and favoritism to certain economic groups and discrimination against others.

Fifth, it contributes another powerful underlying force to the basic causes of inflation. The tax bill is an instance of getting the cart before the horse. The Congress has accepted the President's challenge to squeeze water out of the budget requests, and in 10 appropriations bills which have been before the House and two in the Senate cuts have been made totaling $1,818,978,740.

The House of Representatives has authorized appropriations totaling $13,018,172,594. Still to be considered are the President's $1.2 billion dollar program for aid, a defense measure totaling $1.2 billion, State Department appropriations of $283,686,476, and 55.5 billion of Defense Department appropriations. These total $70,783,686,476.

No one can now predict precisely by what amount the Congress will reduce these estimated expenditures, yet the tax bill determines how much money will be raised before we know how much we are going to spend.

Of course, should the taxes raised exceed the expenditures, the surplus could be applied in reducing the Federal debt. But a period of increased defense expenditures is not the time to add additional burdens to the economy for retirement of the public debt. And not even the proponents of the tax bill have advocated debt retirement as a basis for the proposed confiscatory increase in taxes. "Pay-as-you-go" in the current fiscal year is the maximum that has been advocated. The gag rule under which the bill was presented—and against which I voted—prevented 322 of the 435 Representatives from participating in the raising of revenue. The tax bill was shoved down the throats of the House membership by 13 majority members of the Ways and Means Committee on a take-it-or-leave-it basis.

The responsibility of a Congressman, elected as the spokesman, and agent of his constituents, calls for far more than the rubber stamping of the action of a small group of Representatives, no matter how wise or able they may be. The gag rule is defended as necessary to prevent delay in passage of the tax bill and to protect Representatives from the pressure of interests who desire favored treatment of their particular industries or businesses. This is no valid reason for disenfranchising those upon whom the Constitution placed the responsibility of adopting national policies. It is a confession of weakness in the Congress to contend that its members must be protected from the pressures and representations of economic classes and groups.

The effect of the tax bill is to enhance and expand the influence and control of the Federal Government, and particularly, the executive branch, over the national economy.

This bill proposes to drain into the coffers of the Treasury more than 28 per cent of the national income. We have arrived at this point slowly and by stages, but this bill, like the straw that broke the camel's back, suddenly brings the realization that we have moved from a free economy, in which the American people, by and large, directed their own livelihoods, into an economy in which important decisions are made by the bureaus and departments in Washington and are forced upon the citizens.

Under this bill, the American people will be working for the executive branch of the National Government. They will have become the slaves, not the masters, of their Government. It represents the conscious, intentional effort to acquire more of the powers of totalitarian bureaucracy by those in Government bureaus and departments who hold themselves better equipped to make decisions than either the people or their elected representatives.

The bill is a deceptive and immoral device unworthy of the American government which, in its conduct, should espouse standards of morality and fair dealing equal to those it establishes for the governed.

It withholds taxes from those known to be not subject to the tax, in the full knowledge that, through inertia or ignorance, claims for refunds will not be made. It imposes a tax which, on the surface, seems to be paid by business enterprises, in the full knowledge that this tax will be passed on to the consumers. Through omission to

The SNAPSHOT.GUILD

Pictures like this close-up add variety to wedding snapshots.

Summer Wedding Pictures

SUMMER weddings offer wonderful picture taking opportunities. Of course, the bride will likely have engaged a professional photographer to make the "official" pictures of the ceremony and reception, but that doesn't mean you should leave your camera at home. When there is a big event like that in the lives of your family or friends, there can't be too many pictures.

The snapshot record should start long before the strains of Lohengrin. The parties and all the other exciting events that come before can be recorded very satisfactorily in amateur snapshots. Obviously, the bride has too many things on her mind to think about picture taking, so she'll be most grateful to the friend or friends who thoughtfully make these pictures for her.

Bridal shower hostesses can add a novel touch to their parties by making a series of flash pictures featuring the guest of honor with her gifts and the other guests. A collection of these prints will make a highly personal extra gift for the bride.

A professional bridal consultant told me the other day that trousseau parties are becoming very popular. These are small informal social affairs at which the bride displays her trousseau to a select group of friends. It seems to me that this would be an excellent time for some pictures. Her formal wedding picture book will feature her gown and probably her going-away suit, but I'm sure any woman would treasure a picture record of the other clothes she selected with such great care.

On the wedding day, many snapshot-shooters prefer to center their picture taking activities on the reception. Here they can make snapshots of the bride and groom as they receive the congratulations—and good wishes of their friends, as they cut the cake and eat the first piece, as the bride tosses the bouquet, and in many other good picture situations. The opportunities will be unlimited.

I've mentioned only "flash" photography in connection with this type of indoor picture taking because it is so much easier under the circumstances and gives the camera user a far greater range of opportunity.

Save Your Own Life On July 4th

The FATAL FOURTH is coming up again. Fourth of July holiday accidents took 66 lives last year, 50 lives in 1949 and 63 lives in 1948.

Traffic and drowning were the major cause of accidental deaths during the 1950 four-day liberty celebrating holiday; 43 died in motor traffic, 8 in swimming and boating accidents, 5 from falls, and 2 from fire. Two were killed when a tractor overturned, and a horse and wagon ran over a small child. Three babies suffocated in their cradles. One person accidentally took an overdose of barbiturates and another was killed in a non-traffic motor vehicle accident.

Of those killed in traffic, 10 were pedestrians. Of those who drowned, three were occupants of small boats. Only one was swimming at a public beach, or area actually set aside for swimming. During the three-day Independence Day holiday in 1949, 11 were killed in traffic and 20 in swimming or boating accidents; in 1948, 24 were killed in traffic and 23 drowned.

Excessive heat and sun and over-exertion took additional lives each year. You may save your life this holiday if you drive with care when you must drive, if you swim at a public beach, remain seated aboard small boats, watch where you are walking and take it easy if the weather is hot.

Mail Inquiries should be addressed to: Chief, Personnel Division, Veterans Administration Hospital, Fort Custer, Michigan.

What better way is there to give new life to a suit than a colorful new blouse? At least that's Nan Bryant's prescription for a Spring lift . . . for herself as well as the suit.

Nan Bryant, who plays heroine "Connie Thayer's" mother in CBS-TV's lively domestic-comedy-drama, "The First Hundred Years," wears her favorite swift blouse . . . which is a morale builder for two reasons. First, it's a gayly colored print on a sparkling white background and, second, its hand-painted scenes of Hawaii are authentic.

"Every time I put on the blouse," Nan explained, "memories of the gorgeous flowers, the seashore, the palm trees and the colorful native dances of Hawaii remind me of my trip to the Islands . . . and I find myself relaxed and smiling before I know it."

Nan picked out the predominant color in the print . . . which is a soft coral, the exact shade of the sandy beaches . . . and went in search of a hat and gloves to match. "And you know," she says enthusiastically, "this little print blouse, with the coral hat and gloves gives my last year's navy suit a complete new lease on life."

Whether or not you have visited Hawaii, Tahiti or Bermuda, the interesting native scenes in the print are wonderful "conversation pieces," as well as an addition to your wardrobe that offers unlimited wear plus a Spring lift. Nan added that whenever she wears her Hawaiian blouse someone in the group is always eager to compare notes on the merits of various Islands as vacation spots.

Possible decline of honey bee worries farm experts

The honey bee, with his precious cargo of pollen, may become too scarce on Michigan farms for the good of agriculture in general. Agricultural Experiment Station researchers at Michigan State College are reminding farmers that the honey bee, so necessary for the development of fruit and seeds, cannot survive without sufficient nectar and pollen resources. Approximately 50 cultivated crops require insect pollination and the job of pollinating fruit blooms is now almost entirely dependent upon honey bees. But Michigan's honey bee population is growing dangerously small. For advice on ways to help save the important honey bee, farmers should consult their County Agricultural Agent.

It's Iced Tea Time

Tall, cool and refreshing—that's iced tea—always a favorite. Follow these hints to make it at its best: clear and flavorful.

Cloudless Tea, made ahead: Use 3 level teaspoons tea or 3 tea bags to each 1/2 cup cold water. Place in covered china or glass container. Chill from 12 to 24 hours; strain, ice and serve.

Iced Tea the Quick-Way: Brew tea, double strength, using 4 to 6 level teaspoons tea or 4 to 6 tea bags to 2 measuring cups boiling water. Let stand 2 to 5 minutes (away from source of heat). Strain, pour over ice while hot. Tea may be a bit cloudy.

Iced Tea the usual way: Allow 1 1/2 to 2 level teaspoons tea or 1 to 2 tea bags to each 1/2 cup boiling water. Let stand in warm place 5 minutes. Strain, cool at room temperature. Then ice and serve. Tea may be cloudy a bit, but you save time.

Instant Iced Tea: Instant or soluble tea, the dried extract of regular tea, is a fine powder and dissolves in just a few seconds. Follow label directions and you'll have a glass or pitcher in next to no time.

Flavor Tricks: Boil a few mint sprigs or 6 cinnamon sticks in 1 pint of water; strain and use it to brew tea. Or in a saucepan, combine a few sprigs of mint or 6 sticks cinnamon, 1 cup granulated sugar and 1 cup water. Bring to boil, stirring till sugar is dissolved. Then continue to boil, covered, 5 minutes. Cool, then strain and place in glass jar. Add tea and as needed. Serve in small pitcher and sweeten tea to suit your taste.

If you're one who likes just cream in iced tea, try cinnamon flavored whipped cream for a welcome change. To 1/2 cup heavy cream, add 1 teaspoon sugar and 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon. Beat stiff.

Iced Tea with glamour: Make glasses look even more refreshing by "frosting" the rims. Dip rim of glass in 1/4 inch of lemon juice and then in powdered sugar. Chill till sugar is "set."

MICHIGAN MIRROR

Politics in Michigan also is on vacation. Some stirrings are evident, but from all appearances the summer siesta is here.

Most activity stems from the GOP state central committee where publicists are trying to create a more tightly knit organization such as has been definitely lacking in the last two elections.

The new 181-year-old draft has caused the greatest furor in the state the last few weeks. Despite assurances that it will be months or even years before any piece of it is called, eligible men are reluctant to enter colleges as employers are to hire them until the new law has been tested.

Reports in the college draft deferment tests show that some two-thirds were above the passing mark of 70. Seventy doesn't mean deferment for sure. This phase of elective service is as confused as any other.

Michigan's first draft call for doctors has been chopped from 67 to 41. The medics will get the nod July 26. The number was cut because it was impossible to recruit 67.

Senator Moody already has drawn fire. Discussing the controls program in a Washington news letter, Republican Rep. Shafer said, "A publicity minded freshman attracted some attention recently by soliciting the advice of Bernard Baruch on the subject of inflation." Moody is not being ignored by the GOP.

Meanwhile Michigan Republicans have opened a campaign to present a united front against more federal consumer taxes. In telegrams sent to several congressmen Owen J. Cleary, chairman of the state central committee, suggested a solid bloc to oppose further taxes on income, gasoline, cigarettes, automobiles, and other items.

Not missing an opportunity to blast the governor, Cleary said: "While Gov. Williams, as a Democrat, says he is opposed to consumer taxes, he hasn't raised his voice about the Democratic plans in Washington to grab millions of dollars more from Michigan people... the federal government is bleeding Michigan."

Gov. Williams is still promoting the St. Lawrence Seaway project to open Atlantic shipping to the midwest. He and other backers of the $18,000,000 project did their best to sell the project to Missouri valley representatives at a meeting of 15 inland governors. Result? Nothing as yet.

While the C. I. O. is working to get a referendum on the recent 11-cent per gallon gasoline tax rise, the Good Roads Federation has been assured that opponents of the tax will be stymied in any efforts to invalidate or repeal the levy.

John J. Jacobi, general counsel of the Wayne County road commission, says the "gas tax increase is not subject to a referendum as the state constitution exempts appropriations for state institutions from a referendum."

Will there be inflation or deflation this summer? Economists say it depends on Russia and whether she cools down her war plans. But does it HAVE to be one or the other? There was a time

A safety program has been started to reduce the number of small plant accidents. There are 22.5 accidents for every million man-hours in small organizations while large plants have a casualty rate of only 8.95.

Is there too much industry in Detroit? A Washington House-Senate committee has warned against too much concentration of defense industry in the Motor City. Threat to national security, the committee calls it.

A bill providing $3,000,000 for county and city TB hospitals has become law. The money will be distributed by the emergency appropriations commission ("Little Legislature").

Average price of farm real estate on March 1, 1951 in Michigan was nearly 2 1/2 times that of March 1, 1941. As a whole land prices have risen 14 per cent in the last year.

Olive Stacey and Jimmy Lydon, the young "Thayers" of CBS-TV's daytime drama, "The First Hundred Years," get acquainted with Siamese twins, "Time" and "Tide." The kittens got their names as a result of the bugaboo that has frightened anyone who has ever faced a television camera—the speed-up signal which means you're running overtime or worse—that, ready or not, here comes the commercial. This, combined with the fact that "FHY's" sponsor is a certain well-known detergent, has led to the cast's favorite quip—"Hurry up! Time and Tide wait for no man!"

DESEL FOR ORPHANS. Tony Farr, 7, and Frankie Logan, 6, bubble over with excitement as they are given a scale model of a double-unit diesel locomotive to share with the other children in St. Francis' Home for Orphan Boys, Detroit, by Donald Gordon, C.M.G., chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways. The head of the largest railway system in America, who still remembers his childhood difficulties as a Scottish immigrant boy in Canada, took time out from his many official duties to invite the boys to visit him in his private car to receive the gift for the orphanage.

Remember Our Servicemen On The Fourth Of July

"THEY HONOR THEIR FLAG BY SERVING THEIR COUNTRY"

The work that we do is the making of the flag.

I am not the flag; not at all. I am but its shadow.

I am what you make me; nothing more.

I swing before your eyes as a bright gleam of color, a symbol of yourself, the pictured suggestion of that big thing which makes this nation. My stars and my stripes are your dream and your labors. They are bright with cheer, brilliant with courage, firm with faith, because you have made them so out of your hearts; for you are the makers of the flag, and it is well that you glory in the making.
