Township Library Completes 113th Year Of Service

The Manchester Township Library is closing its 113th year of service to the community. It has varied in size and location during its career, but the last thirty years have found it stable and constantly growing to meet the needs of an enlarged community. The library serves the four surrounding townships. There are more than 800 cardholders and a number of school groups whose constant reading habits have built the circulation to approximately 11,000 the past year.

The school groups this year are the local seventh grade, Spaford, Pleasant Lake, Dresselhouse, St. Thomas, Silver Lake, Lindsley and Everett.

The number of books at the library is kept at about 5,000. Of this number 1,500 are for young readers. There is a reference department built around the needs and requests of the local schools and individual readers. A periodical index for a good variety of magazines is available and the magazine files for a limited period of years are kept in the upstairs periodical room, which has been reserved this year.

The recent year is on biography, true stories and reference. The collection of Michigan history and local history is to be built up while books with the spirit of good will around the world and recreation are to be stressed.

New books at the library are: The Swimming Pool by Mary Roberts Rhinehart, John Adams and the American Revolution by Catherine D. Bowen, The Great Hoax by Williams and Epstein, Dude Ranger by Zane Grey, The Fun of It by Amela Earhart, Abraham Lincoln, Friend of the People by Clara I. Judson, Jim Bridger by Sanford Toosey, Happy Easter by Kurt Wiese, A Jesus Come to My House by J. C. Thomas and All Falling Down by Gene Zion.

School Contracts Prove Confusing

At the present time, after talking with members of the school board and Supt. V. W. Downing, we are unable to give our readers a clear picture of the situation involving the signing of contracts for the 1952-53 school year due to conflicting stories.

Rather than give the wrong impression at this time we suggest that the school board and Supt. Downing each give a statement to the paper for next week's edition, in as much as any information which we have at this office could have appeared in last week's paper if we had not previously agreed with school board members to wait for a more concrete story. That story has not materialized.

Mr. Downing told us Wednesday that he is undecided whether or not to accept the contract pending the investigation of various other positions.

Attendance Good At PTA Meeting

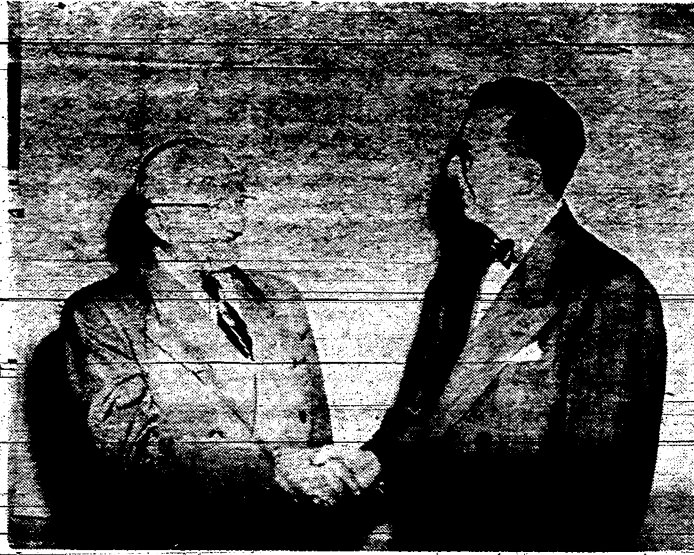

James Pratt was elected president of the P.T.A. to succeed Marvin Oates at one of the best attended meetings of the year, held in the civic auditorium last Monday night. Other officers elected were Mrs. Roger Hardenbergh, vice president; Mrs. Eugene Bentschneider, secretary; Earl Alber, treasurer.

The main feature of the program was a lively panel discussion led by Miss Charlotte Stables on the subject of what kind of school report cards best serve the interests of the pupil, teacher and parent. Members of the panel agreed that the publishing of honor students was inadvisable because it over-emphasized the honor and tended to discourage students who couldn't make the roll.

The point was also made that in the lower grades, systems of marking based on 100 per cent, or A-B-C-D-E were too specific and might be replaced by a more general rating. The Ann Arbor system of replacing such markings by periodic letters to parents followed by meetings between parent and teacher, was described.

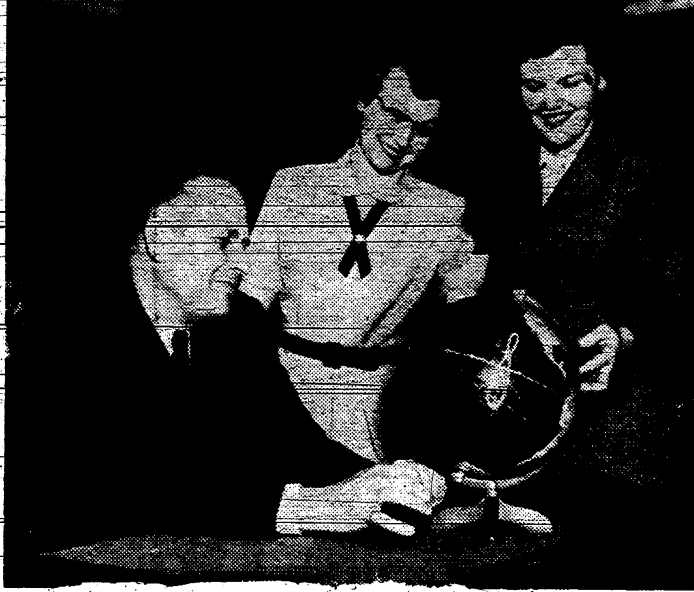

Everyone agreed that there should be more conferences be-

Discuss 4-H Club World Contribution

It's not a small world, but this internationally-minded trio at Michigan State College can discuss quite a bit of it with authority. John A. Hannah, president of MSC, has traveled and discussed problems of a large part of the world in his work as a member of the advisory committee of the Point Four program of the United States for giving aid to underdeveloped nations. Kathryn Stencil, Ionia (center) MSC coed and former 4-H Club member, represented Michigan's youth organization at an international Farm Youth Exchange delegate to Austria in 1951. Jean Richards, Fenton, a 9-year 4-H club member and MSC student, will be one of four 1952 delegates who will live and work with farm families in foreign countries in the 4-H Club IFYE program for promoting world understanding. President Hannah is also a member of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work. (MSC Photo)

Fred Fielder Feted By Farm Bureau

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Trolz.

25th Anniversary In Priesthood

Twenty-five years in the priesthood will be marked by Rev. Fr. John P. Eppenbrock, pastor of St. Joseph's parish, Trenton, by offering a solemn mass of thanksgiving at 12:30 p. m. on Sunday, March 23.

Fr. Eppenbrock was assistant for twelve years at St. Mary's Missions at Manchester and three years at St. Mary's at Redford. He was pastor of St. Joseph's parish at Ida for two years and took charge of the Trenton parish July 5, 1941.

Because the anniversary is in Lent there will be no public celebration. Born in Ruth on December 11, 1902, Fr. Eppenbrock attended Assumption College, Windsor and studied theology at Mt. St. Mary's Seminary at Cincinnati. He was ordained March 15, 1927, in Sacred Heart Seminary by the late Bishop Joseph C. Plagens.

Carl Wuerthner Sells Interest In Business

After 61 years in business Carl Wuerthner has sold his interest in the firm of Wuerthner-Bros. to his partner, Richard J. Alden, of Michigan Center. However, he will continue as road salesman for the firm.

Mr. Wuerthner entered the business with his father in 1891. His father had bought the clothing store in 1885.

In 1909 Gust Wuerthner was taken in as a partner and the firm was known as John Wuerthner and Sons. Carl and Gust bought out their father in 1912 and since that time the firm has been named Wuerthner-Bros.

In 1924 the wholesale line was added and in 1927 Walter Schabile, who had been employed by the firm for four years, became a silent partner.

Mr. Schabile bought out the retail end in 1941 when Gust Wuerthner entered Veterans Hospital where he died in January, 1945, following an amputation of both legs.

Richard Alden was employed by the firm and in 1947 he bought a half interest in the business.

Carl Wuerthner became interested in city politics in 1907. He helped organize the Young Men's party, and he organized the Progressive party in 1919, and has been its guiding influence ever since.

In 1944 the party nominated a full ticket, but the head of the ticket refused to run. Mr. Wuerthner allowed his name to be used to fill out the ticket. With the exception of clerk and treasurer, the whole ticket was elected.

Subsequently, Mr. Wuerthner was elected to two more terms, and with a cooperating council, accomplished many improvements. A 30 year franchise for gas was given the Consumers Power Co., a new filtration plant was erected to take the iron out of water, the village dump was put in shape and an attendant placed in charge, cement walks were built, a new roof and other improvements were made on the City Hall, the stand pipe was painted and many other improvements were made.

In the early years Mr. Wuerthner was publicity director for the Welfare Association for two seasons. The Welfare Association showed street movies on Wednesday nights to bring in people from the surrounding country.

Mr. Wuerthner solicited more than $2,700 from merchants which was used for pictures and entertainment. The Welfare Association owned the movie machine. Mr. Wuerthner recalls that kerosene lamps were used in those days, then the acetylene lamps and finally the Electric.

He remembers that the first cycle was owned by E. Carr, and the first auto by Fred Steinkohl, our druggist.

Wuerthner's store had a special discount sale every Saturday for a number of years. There 50 cent work shirts, which now sell for $1.65 each, sold for $1.00; blue dungaree, which now sell for $1.00 or 50 cents, and 4 pairs of gloves, which now sell for 40 cents a pair, sold for 25 cents. However, wages for ordinary work was 75 cents to $1.00 a day.

Mr. Wuerthner is an active member of the Evangelical Reformed church, a member of the Executive Board of the Maccabees for the State of Michigan, vice-president of the Peoples Bank, a member of the Odd Fellows Rebekahs and United Commercial Travelers.

His slogan is, "Give to the world the best you got, and the best will come back to you."

Contracts Offered To I Present School Staff

The Manchester Board of Education has extended contracts for the 1952-1953 school year to its entire staff.

Several of the teachers are considering changes and will be given time to decide whether they wish to return to the Manchester schools.

Superintendent Downing, who has been in Manchester for eleven years is among those considering a change.

There are numerous vacancies in the field of administration and Mr. Downing is investigating some of these openings.

Before coming to Manchester Mr. Downing was principal at Chelsea, Haras, also served in Crosswell and Saranac, Michigan. He has taught a total of 29 years in the schools of Michigan.

Always Crabbing

GOV. WILLIAMS

Last week I vetoed the first bill of the Legislature's tax program—a measure which would have withdrawn liquor license funds now returned to the cities for law enforcement purposes.

This bill was vetoed for a number of reasons. First, it would have produced virtually no cash money for the state treasury in the next year.

The bulk of liquor license fees are collected in May and distributed soon afterward. This bill would have become effective 30 days after the Legislature adjourns—much too late to affect the 1952 license fee collections.

It would not have put any significant sums of money into the state treasury until after May 1953—and that is much too late.

Furthermore, this bill is bad in principle. It represents the first move in a tax program which would deprive the local communities of millions of dollars in revenue, thus tending to force local property taxes upward.

It's "robbing Peter to pay Paul," transferring the expense from one pocket of the taxpayer to another pocket of the same taxpayer.

The Legislature's own so-called Citizens' Tax Study Committee recommended against such measures. I don't mean to approve all the recommendations of this committee which I do not think was a representative citizens' group. But it is significant that this group's subcommittee on state grants-in-aid said:

"... The financial stress in the state cannot be cured merely by recapturing all or part of one or more of the grants-in-aid to local units of government, SINCE NOTHING IS GAINED IF THE FINANCIAL NEEDS OF THE STATE ARE MET BY CREATING EQUAL OR GREATER NEEDS ELSEWHERE."

In vetoing the bill I acted at the urgent request of many cities and villages, whose governing bodies sent me messages expressing their opposition to the bill.

Among the cities which protested were Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids and Muskegon, together with a large number of smaller towns all the way from Ironwood and Ontonagon to Vandalia and Ecorse.

The veto was upheld in the House of Representatives and this particular measure to draw money away from local communities is dead. But others are still pending. Among them are a bill to take part of the intangibles tax from the cities and a bill to deprive the schools and other local units of their share of present sales taxes

Goodwill Truck To Visit Here Soon

The days of miracles are by no means over and the housewives of this community can share in a modern day miracle this spring. Discarded clothing, hats, shoes, small appliances, furniture and toys, when contributed to the Goodwill Industries of Detroit, work miracles in the training and employment of handicapped men and women.

Household discards are repaired in the training and workshops of Goodwill Industries at 6522 Brush street, Detroit, and then are placed on sale in one of the three Goodwill stores. Proceeds from the sales provide funds to continue the employment of handicapped adults seeking "Not Charity—But a Chance."

Trucks from Goodwill Industries will be in this area within the next few weeks to pick up household discards. This year, with a record-breaking number of handicapped workers employed, the need for discards is greater than ever and anyone wishing to support the Goodwill program of rehabilitation is requested to start collecting their discards now. A postal card addressed to Goodwill Industries will bring a Goodwill Bag to your home.

Four Michigan Young People To Live Abroad

Success of the International Farm Youth Exchange program in Michigan has led state 4-H Club leaders to expand the program for 1952, with four Michigan young people set to live and work with foreign farm families during the coming summer.

In the past, only one Michigan farm young man or woman has represented the state abroad. This year's exchanges, just announced, are Charles Wilson Gruner, 21, Coldwater;

One of the most important measures in the Legislature is a proposal to call a Constitutional Convention to rewrite the basic law of the state.

I would like to point out that it would be unfair to hold such a convention without first conforming to the present Constitution in the matter of reapportionment.

The present Constitution provides that the Legislature shall periodically reapportion its seats, as population changes occur. This the Legislature has failed to do. As a result the Legislature is not now representative of the people.

The Senate is particularly out of tune with present population. One district has 660,000 inhabitants, another 60,000. One Senator represents ten times as many citizens as another Senator. This is causing a great deal of resentment in many parts of the state.

If a constitutional convention were to be called before this is remedied, the convention itself would be equally unrepresentative.

The new constitution, if a constitutional convention shall have three delegates from each Senatorial district. Thus the same inequities now present in the Senate would be carried over into the Constitutional Convention, and an unrepresentative body would rewrite our basic law.

If the Legislature really wants to do its duty, it should first obey the present Constitution and reapportion the state as the present Constitution requires.

Then, after that is done, and Senate seats redistributed on some equitable basis, a convention to rewrite the Constitution would be in order.

This is not a sectional issue. It is a question which involves the very preservation of democracy and majority rule in our state.

I was very happy to represent you, as Governor of Michigan, before the Parliament of Ontario last week at Toronto.

The cordial welcome I received was another evidence of the deep friendship and neighborly spirit that exists between the peoples of Michigan and Ontario.

I told the Canadians we want to preserve and strengthen the friendship and to work together on such mutually beneficial things as the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Fewer Deaths But Accidents Continue High

The Michigan traffic toll for the first month of 1952 went from one extreme to the other, compared to previous records for January, the State Police monthly statistical report shows.

The 82 traffic deaths were the lowest number of January fatalities since 1948. On the other hand, injuries and accidents were the highest with the exception of January of last year.

The number of fatalities dropped 48, or 37 per cent, under the 131 for the same month in 1951. There were 3,282 persons injured, a decrease of 239, or seven per cent, under 3,521 and accidents totaled 14,969, a decrease of 676, or four per cent, under 15,645.

Rural areas showed the sharpest percentage of reduction in deaths, injuries and accidents.

The reduction in fatalities followed the national trend in the snow belt states and was generally attributed to the heavy snow which restricted highway travel.

Estimated traffic membership of 1951, the largest month available, was three per cent under the same month of the previous year, 1.67 billion miles compared with 1.73 billion.

MSC Develops New Farm Equipment

Equipment for once-over tillage is not a complicated affair say Michigan State College soil scientists. This drill was adapted in the college's agricultural engineering research laboratories to fit the needs of once-over tillage.

Charles Bruffy, of the MSC soils science department, examines the important features. Parts indicated in white were added to the original drill.

Why Blind Elk?

Puzzling annual death of several young wild Michigan elk still is a mystery. Autopsy of latest victim, which died enroute to the laboratory, failed to indicate a new clue to conservation department game pathologist Dale Eay. The one or two animals actually recovered each year have only one thing in common... blindness. Two years ago salt blocks, containing scarce minerals including cobalt known to be deficient in certain northern areas, were set out for the estimated herd of 250 elk concentrated in Otsego but also in Montgomery and Cheboygan counties. Elk first were introduced in the 1920's in the Gladwin area but failed to take hold there. A few are lost in illegal deer season shooting as well, yet the herd manages to survive.

Bill has been with television for the last twelve years—the period of that medium's greatest growth to date. His present stature—and was technical director of the "Red Skelton Show"—before he took over "Those Two." Besides being actively concerned with television's independent growth, Bill has also supervised the transition of some of NBC's successful radio shows to television, including radio's "Theatre Guild of the Air," which—while still on radio—became the Philco Television Playhouse.

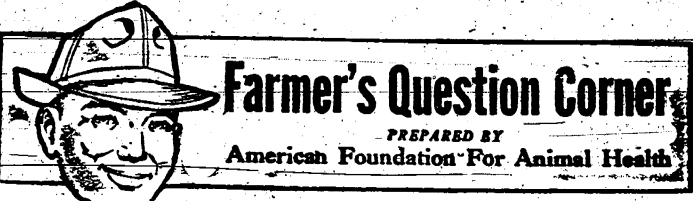

A radio musician's child learns at an early age not to utter a sound when the show is on the air—or at least the small youngster of the trombonist on CBS's "Jack Smith-Dinah Shore-Ginny Simms Show" certainly seemed to have known not to, the other day. . . . It was during the broadcast of the show, and the trombonist's wife had entered the backstage wings with her baby intending to watch the musical performance. Suddenly the toddler slipped from her grasp and tumbled out onstage, where he found himself the center of attention, though no one dared leave their position at the mike to rescue him. They just watched, while the little fellow plodded happily, but slowly to the other side of the stage, where he was swept into the arms of a waiting studio technician. If the baby had emitted even one small cry, the sensitive mikes would have carried that plaintive sound over a nationwide hookup, and caused a considerable change in the musical arrangement being broadcast.

What About Rabies?

Q: What is rabies?
 A: It is a fatal, virus-borne disease which can affect both animals and human beings.

Q: How is it spread?
 A: The virus of rabies is usually spread by the bite of an animal suffering from rabies. The saliva from a rabid animal, contacting the eye or through scratches or cuts on the skin, can also spread it.

Q: What animals get rabies?
 A: It is most common in dogs. However, farm livestock, wolves, foxes, coyotes, cats, squirrels and skunks may develop rabies.

Q: What does rabies look like?
 A: Suspect rabies when dogs and livestock don't behave normally. Gentle animals may become pugnacious. Dogs may either have dumb rabies, which appears like a bone in the throat and a paralyzed lower jaw; or furious rabies where the animal wants to bite anything within reach.

Q: Can the disease be prevented?
 A: There is a very effective vaccine used by veterinarians to prevent the disease in dogs—also to protect valuable livestock in rabies areas.

Q: What should one do if rabies is suspected?
 A: Contact a veterinarian immediately. Confine any suspect dog or farm animal. If a person is bitten, call a physician at once.

Q: Can rabies be cured?
 A: It is almost always fatal, but can generally be prevented by protective vaccination.

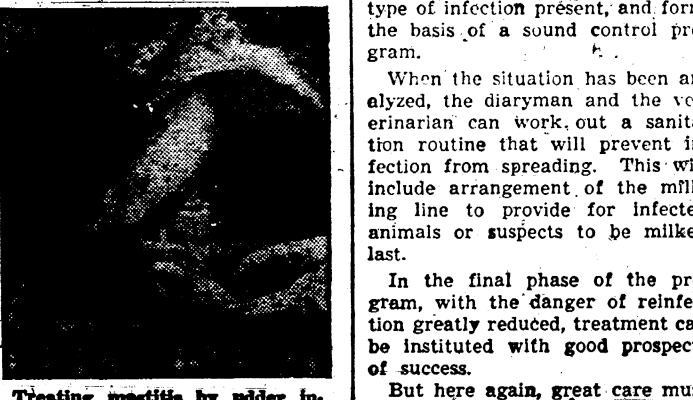

Q: How should a dog or other rabid animal that is biting livestock be destroyed?
 A: Kill it by shooting, but never through the head. This damages the brain for testing in the laboratory. If an animal can be confined until death this permits more accurate diagnostic laboratory results.

NOTE—Due to space limitations, general questions cannot be handled in this column.

POSSIBLE TO RID HERD OF MASTITIS

Veterinarians say that a good half of the problems arising in dairy herds today are due to mastitis. Yet, research has shown that a mastitis-free herd is within the range of any farmer. A sound mastitis control program comprises two parts: 1. Proper management. 2. Treatment. Correct management is more important than treatment, because it helps PREVENT most mastitis cases. Here are some common causes of mastitis: Teat and udder injuries; housing cows in too-small stalls; failure to milk the cow dry; using too high a vacuum on the milker; inadequate bedding, and chilling of the udder. Other factors may also be involved. To get to the bottom of the trouble, it is advised that the dairyman and his veterinarian conduct a careful herd survey. This will show up damaged udders, type of infection present, and form the basis of a sound control program. When the situation has been analyzed, the dairyman and the veterinarian can work out a sanitation routine that will prevent infection from spreading. This will include arrangement of the milking line to provide for infected animals or suspects to be milked last. In the final phase of the program, with the danger of reinfection greatly reduced, treatment can be instituted with good prospects of success. But here again, great care must be used. Udder infusions and other treatments should be regarded as delicate operations. They should be performed only by a person with special training and skill in their use. Remember, mastitis cannot be controlled by treatment alone. Good management must accompany good treatment.

Forty Years of Girl Scouting

GIRL SCOUTS LOOK BACK 40 YEARS. More than a million and a half Girl Scouts in every state are celebrating their organization's 40th anniversary during 1952. Founded in Savannah, Ga., March 12, 1912, by Juliette Gordon Low, Girl Scouting has grown continuously in size and popularity through four decades. Although Girl Scouts today wear trim green uniforms instead of the bulky khaki outfits of yesteryear, they haven't changed much in their interests; home-making, camping, international friendship, nature study, and community service have always been favorite activities.

Spring In A Pie Shell

PIE OF THE MONTH

If there are strawberries on your table, spring is here! There is no surer harbinger of spring—nor any more welcome—than lovely, plump, red strawberries. If, like ours of Mother Goose's heroines, you prefer to feed upon just plain "strawberries, sugar and cream," nobody will challenge your choice—never was there a finer dessert. But if, on the other hand, you will venture to use them in this Coconut Strawberry Pie, you will not regret it. Creamy vanilla filling with juicy fat strawberries added, and fluffy meringue topped with lacy coconut and additional strawberries, tender flaky pastry! Put them all together and there you have Spring in a Pie Shell!

Coconut Strawberry Pie
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup sifted flour
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 3 cups milk
 1 cup shredded coconut, cut, if desired
 2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
 2 teaspoons vanilla
 1 tablespoon butter
 1 pint strawberries, cut in halves
 1 baked 9-inch pie shell

2 egg whites, unbeaten
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 3 tablespoons water
 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
 1/2 cup shredded coconut

Combine 1/2 cup sugar, flour, and salt in top of double boiler; add milk gradually, stirring until smooth. Add 1 cup coconut. Cook over rapidly boiling water 15 minutes, stirring constantly. Mix small amount of mixture with egg yolks; return to double boiler, and cook 2 minutes longer. Remove from heat. Add vanilla and butter. Cool. Place 1 cup of berries in pie shell; then add filling.

Place egg whites, sugar, salt, and water in top of double boiler; beat with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water and beat 1 minute; then remove from heat and continue beating 2 minutes, or until mixture will stand in peaks. Add vanilla. Pipe light, yet filling, Sprinkle with coconut and garnish with additional strawberries. Serve at once.

Stocking Cents!

By Betty Barclay

NYLON, rayon, or silk—your stockings cost money. Besides that, they are much in the public eye as well as in the public eye. Our stockings appear, so your laundry habits are judged!

Now is the time to check your stockings: Colors faded? A run here, a run there? Unsightly snags? These are stocking troubles (and personality indications!) you'll be interested in preventing. . . and the time to start is at the moment of purchase. Even before wearing. Give those brand new stockings a good sudsing. You'll need only the fragrant bluing that comes in bead form and is detergent-based. The United States Department of Agriculture clothing specialists say that sudsing before wearing insures a closer, neater fit the first time the stockings are worn. In addition, this first sudsing removes the finish applied during manufacture and helps stockings wear longer.

For complete color protection, make this bluing wash a routine step after every wearing. Put about a quarter cup of bead bluing in a washbowl of warm water. Squeeze the sky-blue suds through and through the stockings. . . rinse twice and hang by the toes to dry. You can help prevent many snags and runs by removing your rings, and filing rough nails before laundering.

You'll be delighted with color-saving results when you use just these blue beads in the daily rinsing of other underwear. . . yes, you can solve many another laundry problem with this dramatic method.

HOW HOT IS COMBUSTION?

Pretty model, Fran McDermott, discovers how combustion heat is measured at one of the seventy exhibits on display at the Chrysler Corporation's "New Worlds in Engineering" show which runs March 29 through April 6 at the Detroit Flower Show, Michigan State Fair Grounds. The apparatus shown measures the temperature of combustion in an engine cylinder through electronic analysis of infra red rays.

Seal Sale Will Begin Soon

The Washtenaw County Chapter of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. is starting a drive for funds. It is a non-profit organization that co-operates with, but does not duplicate the work of other agencies, aids the crippled of all ages, races or creeds, has as its only source of funds, voluntary gifts received from the annual sale of Easter seals. The 19th annual Easter Seal Appeal will be conducted March 13 to April 13. Sales of Easter seals made possible direct help to 228,000 children and adults last year; paid 1,900 professional workers directly aiding the crippled; helped 2,000 societies working for crippled and united in the National Society for crippled children and adults; provided 444 out-patient treatment and training centers; gave assistance to 158 public school systems in special education for the children; provided 40 facilities either with funds or services of a therapist; helped 30 convalescent homes; 25 speech centers; 25 more centers and maintained 81 camps for crippled children in 33 states.

Over 91 per cent of the funds are kept within the state where they are raised, thus 91 cents of every dollar goes to support centers and services within Michigan.

Officers and directors in the Washtenaw County Chapter are Paul F. Niehaus, president; Mrs. I. H. Walton, vice-president; Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, secretary; Alton P. W. Hewitt, treasurer; Merry Maude Wallace, corresponding secretary; board members, Mrs. Vladimir Bibicoff,

Seeking God's Face Thursday, March 20

Ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart. (Jeremiah 29:13.) Read John 6:35-40.

We were spending the evening at the home of a friend. On the wall above the fireplace was a picture of Christ in Gethsemane. Beneath it was a photograph picturing a mass of black branches, encrusted with snow. To us the photograph seemed so meaningless that we questioned our host as to the purpose of its presence.

"A Japanese boy," our host explained, "was cycling past that spot when he felt impelled to dismount and photograph it." "But why?" we asked.

"Look at it. Keep on looking, and you'll see a face. We looked and looked, with all our hearts and eyes. Presently, we saw, emerging as it were, a face, that one face—the face of Christ, like the Christ of Gethsemane. When we had once seen the face, strangely enough we could see nothing else in the photograph.

When we seek God wholeheartedly, we find His face in every scene, even in the wintry landscape of trouble.

Prayer

Dear Lord, forgive us that we have so often sought Thy face with only half our hearts. Quick—en us, that our hearts may pant after the water brooks." In Thy after Thee, "as the hart panteth name we pray. Amen.

Thought for the Day

I will take Christ into my heart so that I may see His face in the events of this day.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

It Isn't the Heat—It's the Hide!

Big discussion after the Grange meeting Friday night. Tik Anderson was arguing that hogs were lots more affected by the hot weather than cattle. Skeeter Morgan declared that it wasn't so—that he never saw any hogs bothered by the hot sun like his cows were.

I was glad when Rusty Robinson stepped in:

"Boys," he says, "don't get so filled up. It all depends on what color the livestock are. Hogs or cattle, the ones with light-colored coats absorb less heat from the sun's rays than animals with dark coats. So you're both right!"

From where I sit, so many useless arguments could be avoided if a person would remember he doesn't have all the right on his side. Reminds me of folks who insist that coffee, for instance, is the only drink, forgetting that other people have a right to a glass of beer now and then. If we wouldn't get so "het up" about our prejudices—we'd all be better off!

New Truck Runs on 'Liquid Gas'

A milestone in the trucking industry is the introduction of production-built vehicles specifically designed to use liquid petroleum gas (LPG) as fuel. Announced by Reo Motors, Inc., the model shown above is powered by a 142-horsepower, six-cylinder engine built for LP-gas. The fuel is a mixture of propane and butane. Among the features of the new LPG truck listed by Reo are reduced operating costs, smoother engine performance, longer engine life and reduced maintenance costs.

Senator Moody Explains Bills

The people's right to watch their government in action...

The smashing victory for clean government, which occurred when the Senate, by a vote of 53 to 37, helped President Truman belatedly to lift the Bureau of Internal Revenue out of politics, will be followed swiftly by other moves in the same direction.

Approval of Reorganization Plan No. 1, in which freshmen senators overcame the usually-decisive coalition between powerful Republicans and southern Democratic committee chairmen, was the first step in a campaign for strengthening and tightening the laws against corruption and waste.

Next on the slate of this freshman "cleanup team" is the so-called "Clean Government Bill of 1952". This was introduced two months ago by Senators Monroney of Oklahoma, an outstanding figure in the initial victory, Sparkman of Alabama, Smathers of Florida, and the writer. It is pending before the Committee on Civil Service, where preliminary hearings have been held and more are planned shortly.

Prospect for committee action is bright. Once again the Senate will be called on to stand up and be counted between reform and politics as usual, as it was by the minority report on Reorganization Plan No. 1, filed by Senators Monroney, Humphrey of Minnesota, and the writer, which the Senate sustained.

The "clean government" bill, called by Monroney M2-S2 or the "six-shooter", calls for a half-dozen stiff revisions of law aimed to stamp out corruption by getting...

not at only the public official who violates his trust, but the private corruptor who violates his responsibility as a citizen.

It takes the customary legal phrase "and/or" out of the penalty clause in anti-corruption statutes and requires a mandatory jail sentence for both. The minimum sentence would be one year, the maximum three, plus fines up to $10,000.

The M2-S2 bill does not stop there, however. It would throw real sublight into every corner of the operations of the RFC, identifying all who intercede for each loan a matter of public record, available at all times to the press. It would strike at the tax "fix" by prohibiting any interference in any manner whatsoever by any one, excepting the taxpayer or his attorney or accountant, in any tax case.

The "Clean Government bill" would also broaden the bribery laws, placing not only a deep freeze, a milk coat or any other gift or gratuity in the same category as a money payment, but would also include as bribery offers of outside jobs to influence government action.

Regarding the Internal Revenue Bureau, it would go further than Reorganization Plan No. 1, which all four M2-S2 authors supported. It would place the commissioner, as well as all other revenue officials, under civil service. And it would set up, under a special assistant to the chairman of the Civil Service Commission, extraordinary "Blue Ribbon" standards which would raise both requirements and the honor of service beyond the ordinary run in the same way unusual qualifications are now required for the staff of FBI.

While M2-S2 is designed to do everything Congress can to promote efficiency and integrity, another "clean government" bill on the docket...

promises, if enacted, to save the taxpayers billions of dollars.

This measure, the so-called McClellan Bill, reported out unanimously by the Committee on Government Operations, with Senators Monroney, Humphrey and the writer among the co-sponsors, sets up a Joint Committee on the Budget. This would be similar to the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue, established under the leadership of the great Michigan senator, James Couzens, just 26 years ago.

The McClellan bill, also high on the list of the "clean-up team" of Democratic freshmen, and carrying extensive bipartisan support, would provide for Congress the missing factor in its efforts to cut the Federal budget: Information.

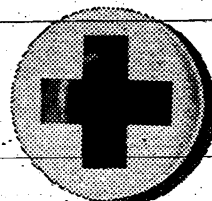

It would put non-political, scientific experts into the departments as observers for Congress, for 10, or 11 months of the year. In the twelfth month when the over-worked appropriations committee needs facts, the experts would provide them.

They should be able to show where large sums can be chopped from the military budget, for example, without cutting into the bone and muscle of the strength we need to defend his country and deter Red Russia from starting an atomic war. They should be able to guide Congress into extensive, specific, intelligent economy, as a substitute for a uninformed, cross the board cut, meaty brand that encourages padding. Majority Leader McFarland has promised a roll-call on that one, too.

Obviously Congress cannot handle well a budget drafted to meet world crisis with the same out-worn antiquated machinery it had when the total was 3 billions, half of the present annual debt charge.

"It's about time," as Monroney puts it, "to stop trying to balance a 75-billion-plus budget with a 5-cent lead pencil on the back of an old envelope."

Timely Tips

Feeling dull and weary after the holiday rush? Tired and all as you are, take time out for a little extra beauty care and you'll feel like a brand new woman!

After your bath give your body a brisk rub-down with a bath towel. This stimulates circulation, relaxes tired nerves and gives your skin a nice healthy glow.

A touch of perfume will cheer you up, but go one step farther. In addition to your regular deodorant spray your body with one of the new delicately perfumed powder spray deodorants. Won't take but a minute. Those nylon pretties you wear are wonderful but they are non-absorbent. A body deodorant is a must if you want to stay fresh and comfortable throughout the day. And don't neglect your feet. Keep them dry with powder and they'll feel better and so will you.

Above all, take just ten minutes before you dress to lie-down and rest, putting cotton pads dipped in witch hazel on your eye lids. You'll be amazed at the lasting lift these few moments of relaxation will give you.

Can The State Pay It's Bills?

By Auditor General John B. Martin, Jr.

A great many questions have come to me within recent weeks regarding the condition of State finances. The question most frequently asked is, "Will the State be able to pay its bills, meet its payrolls and make the necessary distributions to schools and local units of government?" The answer is that over the next few months, to the end of the fiscal year, we will be able to make all required payments, though at two or three critical dates, it may be necessary for us to delay payments for a few days until additional revenue accumulates. Those who receive payments from the State, whether receiving public assistance or school money or payments for items sold to the State or salaries, can be assured that they will be paid in every instance.

The present difficulties arise from the fact that our cash balance which fluctuated between 35 and 60 million dollars a year ago, is now fluctuating between 30 million and 5 million. Some of the payments are as large as 20 million dollars in a single payment and the available cash balance will, at times, be less than this. This is particularly true on the 15th of March and the 15th of May but the overall total of cash receipts coming in during the next few months will be sufficient to cover all amounts owed, with possible slight delays at the critical dates mentioned.

It is going to be necessary for the Legislature to make additional cuts in expenditure or raise additional revenue for the next fiscal year. Otherwise the steadily increasing deficit will cut our cash reserve to a point where we will not be able to make the necessary payments and distribution. This is a matter on which the Legislature is now working and I have every confidence that they will arrive at solutions which will be acceptable to the people.

I believe that government, like business, ought to practice economy in the interest of the taxpayer and that savings ought to be made wherever possible. When we have made all the savings which can be achieved, it is essential to cover any gap between revenue and out go by raising additional revenue to keep the State from accumulating any further deficit. This is what is called "Pay As You Go Government" and I think is the only way to run a government.

Pantry Shelf Desserts

Midwinter is a season that calls for good substantial desserts, yet the pocketbook is apt to be low and fresh fruits—the basis of so many popular desserts—are hard to come by then. This, then, is the time to fall back on a pantry shelf that's well stocked with packaged puddings since, in a matter of minutes, these can be turned into a variety of attractive sweets made especially pleasing by the addition of dried fruits and nuts.

Take a package of vanilla-flavored tapioca pudding, for instance. Served as a creamy pudding it can be garnished with pecans or almonds, stuffed dates, figs or prunes. Chocolate-flavored tapioca pudding may be crunched with walnut meats; and orange-coconut tapioca pudding combines well with prunes, dates and almonds. The flavor combinations are endless, for the varieties of dried fruits and nuts are many and pleasing.

Fig Tapioca Cream
Prepare 1 package vanilla tapioca pudding according to package directions. Turn into sherbet glasses. Cool and chill. Cut figs into strips and stand around edge of sherbet glasses.

Orange-Coconut Tapioca
Prepare 1 package orange-coconut tapioca pudding according to package directions. Turn into sherbet glasses. Garnish with almond-stuffed prunes.

Chocolate Walnut Tapioca
Prepare 1 package chocolate tapioca pudding according to package directions. Chill and fold in 1/4 cup chopped walnuts. Garnish each serving with prune stuffed with walnut.

IF YOU WANT TASTY VEAL FOR DINNER, COOK IT SLOWLY—AND ON A LOW HEAT

General Electric Consumers Institute

When you're planning the meat in your menus from now on through the spring, don't overlook the versatility of veal.

Veal, which is young beef, is one of the more tender meats, with very little fat; it requires long, slow cooking at a low temperature in the well-done stage. Veal can be roasted, braised or cooked in water as well stew; it should not be broiled, panbroiled or seared quickly.

Here are three General Electric Consumers Institute recipes for veal entrees, using three different cuts of veal—steak, cutlets and veal shoulder.

Veal Cutlet Supreme
Tested in the G-E Consumers Institute
1 pound veal steak (1/2-inch thick) 1/4 cup shortening
1 medium onion, sliced 1 medium paprika 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 egg, beaten with 1/2 cup sour cream 1/2 cup salt
1 tablespoon water

Cut veal into 6 pieces for serving. Dip in crumbs, then in beaten egg and again in crumbs. Melt shortening in large skillet on a high heat. Cook onions in skillet until yellow, stirring occasionally; remove from skillet. Place veal in skillet and brown on both sides. Place veal and onion in greased 2-quart casserole. Combine paprika, salt, pepper and sour cream. Pour over veal. Cover tightly. Bake in oven 325° F. for 1 1/2 hours. Makes 6 servings.

Veal Scallopini
Tested in the G-E Consumers Institute
1 tablespoon all-purpose flour 1 small green pepper, cut in strips
1/2 teaspoon salt
