

Study of Log Markings Recalls Romantic Lumber Era in Michigan for Wayne U. Coeds

Twins Erina and Galina Smyrnof of Chelsea, Wayne University seniors, try to operate a woodsman's saw. The border of log markings by counties is an indication of the variety of types of markings used during Michigan's great pine harvest.

The lumbering era in Michigan was one of the grandest and most colorful this State has known. The early history of Michigan is, in fact, the development, growth, and decline of the lumber industry.

Dr. Bert Hudgins, head of the geography department at Wayne University in Detroit, points out in his study "Michigan, Geographic Backgrounds in the Development of the Commonwealth: "It is true the lumbering era was spectacular and romantic, but there was loss of life and property in fires and the logging and river driving often took tolls in lives of men."

One phase of this glorious era was the marking of logs to facilitate the identification of ownership by the numerous boom companies that sprang up during the great harvest years. These companies ran logs down the river, sorted, rafted and sent them to the sawmills immediately to make way for more and more logs.

The early log marks were merely hacks cut into the bark with an ax—simple straight-line symbols. However, in the 1840's when logging increased to a grand scale, the necessity for more and different types of markings arose.

Similarity in the log markings was the cause of many disputes over rightful ownership of log property. Thus, in 1842, the Michigan Legislature enacted a law requiring log marks to be registered in the county where the logs were to be manufactured into lumber.

Michigan's many tributaries, rivers, and falls carried a tremendous load of the great pine harvest. North of Saginaw Bay, the Rifle, Au Gres, Au Sable, and Thunder Bay rivers each had separate boom companies to handle the river loads.

With this great increase of logs, markings became so complex and varied that it was reported that one boom company had a standing offer of $50 to anyone who could design a mark of three letters in any arrangement that had never been used before.

Many humorous markings came out of this era, such as "Dumbell", "Chicken on a Fence", "Bed Bug", "Snuff Box", "Pair of Legs", "Pig's Head". The Tobacco River Lumber Company of Saginaw County appropriately enough selected the marks "Tobacco", "Smoke", "Cigar", "Plug", and "Snuff" to identify their logs.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Our Town Wouldn't Take a "Back Seat"

Well, the "battle of the buses" has been settled! Our town is again friendly with Balesville.

Everything started when buses began going through our town with a big sign on them saying SHOP IN BALESVILLE. The bus line is owned in Balesville and operates over here on a franchise.

Windy Taylor was all for putting up barricades—he kept calling up the police and the bus company. Finally Judge Cunningham invited the Balesville Chamber of Commerce to meet with ours at Andy's Garden Tavern.

Over a good meal and glass of beer we all reached a compromise without any trouble. Those signs now read SHOP HERE IN TOWN—Everyone's happy.

From where I sit, it shows how problems disappear once both sides get together and try to work things out. Naturally we're all a little different. Some like soda pop, for instance, and some like beer. So what? We all have to ride along through life together. Why not make it a pleasant trip?

ple throughout the area innumerable hours of door bell answering as well as pushing. Every person in the area working on the Community Chest is doing his job as a volunteer worker.

There are twelve organizations included in the anticipated budget for the 1953 season. These include United Health and Welfare, which in itself serves such agencies as the Sister Kenny Foundation for polio victims, Michigan Heart Association, Travelers Aid, Leader Dog League for the Blind and some twenty-five others; Michigan Crippled Children's Fund; Salvation Army; Cancer Society; Boy and Girl Scouts; Cubs and Brownies; High School Band; Student Council Special Fund for educational assemblies; Civic events for the village such as Halloween and Christmas and the Manchester Recreation Program.

Although the Drive dates are set for October 21 to November 11, it is hoped that the bulk of the drive will be over by the first of November. This is not a new idea, everyone knows what the fund is, so be prepared to give to the best of your ability the first time your solicitor comes to see you.

At the annual meeting of the Community Chest, September 25, it was decided to enlarge from a nine man board to 12, the executive board of the Chest. For the additional members, Edward Dressehouse was elected for a one year term, Millard Uphaus for two years and Allan Schaffer for three years. The vacancy made by the departure of Reverend Weinert was filled for the remaining one year term by William Schaffer, Jr. The regular three year terms of office which were open by the rotation of the offices, were filled by the election of Mrs. LeRoy Marx and the reelection of George Johnston and Lawrence DeVeran.

One Party Press Idea Discounted

Perhaps the best way to answer several letters which have reached this office suggesting that the newspapers belong to a one party press is to quote Wright Bryan, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors who pushed the idea advanced by presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson of the "very real dangers of the one party system in the press." Mr. Bryan, editor of the Atlanta Journal, told a banquet audience of the 35th annual University Press Club of Michigan that "There is no fear of a one-party press as long as newspapers print news of both parties fair, clearly, accurately and prominently."

This, he told the 300 attending newspaper executives, is being done. Without naming persons, Bryan referred to Gov. Stevenson's statement made in a speech at Portland, Ore. earlier this month.

"A vast majority of papers," added Bryan, "do not choose a party, because of party labels alone. Instead, there is a tendency in the other direction." He

Edward Steele In Signal Corps

The following letter was received by the Edward Steele family and passed on to us: Dear Mr. and Mrs. Steele:

It is my pleasure to inform you that your son, Charles, has been accepted for enrollment in the Leaders Course of the Signal Corps Replacement Training Center.

The purpose of the Leaders Course is to develop potential leaders early in their military careers as an aid in providing the Army with men who, with further training and experience, can assume non-commissioned officer or officer positions.

The course is comprehensive in scope and requires a great amount of initiative, intelligence, and constant diligent effort on the part of the student. Only men of excellent character and who have demonstrated potential qualities of leadership, are enrolled.

Upon completion of the leadership course your son will have demonstrated that he is an outstanding individual and that he has completed his first step toward success in the Army.

Sincerely yours, Rex O. White, Major, Signal Corps Commanding

Ed. Note. According to a note received from the Steele family Charles has already graduated from Radio School and was among the highest in the class.

The dance this Saturday will be free to everyone and a door-prize will be offered as an added attraction. The past two dances have been so successful that the Legion plans to hold dances regularly.

So come on up to the Legion Home Saturday night. You'll have a good time—ask anyone who has attended one of these dances.

Beverly Green, Kathryn Knapp, Evelyn Schumacher and Roger Troiz "culled" our library books last week. They found two boxes of books to give to the Iron Creek church. They will send them to an orphanage school in Kentucky.

Washtenaw Kids To Cast Ballots

Three thousand Washtenaw County school children will cast their ballots on national, state and county candidates in their 92 schools in the same manner and using much the same ballot as their elders will on Nov. 4. The children will vote on October 27.

With more than 100 teachers guiding and directing the 3,000 children they will be busy discussing candidates' qualifications and the big issues of the campaign and at the same time children will be urged to check with and discuss the coming election with their parents who if eligible will vote on Nov. 4.

Among the subjects discussed by pupils will be the issues of taxes, foreign policy, defense and honesty in government. The children will also be given practical instructions in politics and the necessity for preserving the privileges of being able to vote.

A subsidiary rivalry between the PTA groups of the Rawsonville and Stone schools is intensifying the countywide campaign. This is the issue: which school district will have the highest percentage of registration of eligible voters. The losers will be asked to provide a meal for the winners.

Deputy School Superintendent

Howard Thayer is responsible for the entire project which he believes will enable children to become more conscious of this—the right of Americans to vote as they choose. In their election the pupils will use the instruction presidential ballots furnished by County Clerk Luella Smith and state and county ballots prepared by Mr. Thayer.

State 4-H Judging Team Wins In National Competition

Michigan's 4-H dairy judging team came out on top in national competition this week at the Washington, D. C., Congress. Sweeping a field of 30 teams, the Michigan boys and girls who earned the top spot were David Varden Hevel, 17, Hart; Robert Meyer, 17, Ypsilanti; and Modilyn Tyge, 16, Traverse City.
Michigan's victory was a decisive one with 48 points more than second-place Maryland and 100 points above third-place Nebraska, according to Nevels Pearson, assistant state 4-H Club Leader, who accompanied the youths to Waterloo. Also on the trip was Donald Director of Chelsea, who was an alternate for the Michigan team. Vinda Nouvel was high man in judging all breeds in the competition that attracted 90 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America members from 39 different states. Meyer stood enth in the individual ratings.

...enough money to tide them over for about two months.
The reason is that under the law, GI education and training allowances can't be paid until sometime after a veteran actually completes each month of training. Therefore, one month of the delay will be caused by the veteran completing his initial month of training.
The law also required that both the veteran and his school or training establishment submit a certification after the end of the effect that the veteran actually was enrolled in training during that period.
Finally, after VA receives the certification, it must compute how much GI allowance each veteran is entitled to, and must mail out the payments.
The allowances for veterans training full-time in schools and colleges under the new Korean GI Bill are $110 for those without dependents; $135 for those
