Democrats Hold State Convention

Michigan Democrats started gathering in Lansing early Friday although the convention did not convene until noon Saturday. At two o'clock Friday there was a candidates meeting at which time Governor Williams and Senator Moody spoke. Robert Studman spent considerable time explaining the state's financial affairs to the candidates; he also went into detailed explanation of how the corporation profits tax, recommended by the governor, would benefit the state as well as most of the smaller corporations who have, in the past, paid as much tax as the large ones. The topic of the $50,000 ceiling on corporation taxes. Due to this fact, it was brought out that the big three, Ford, Chrysler and General Motors, are very much interested in seeing the present administration continue. By the early morning hours, a complete state ticket was agreed upon except for the office of Auditor-General. When it was necessary to ballot the following ticket was nominated by acclamation: Secretary of State, William Johnson; Auditor-General, Robert Baker of Adrian; State Supreme Court Justice on the non-partisan ballot, Clark Adams; U. S. Congressman, Dawson of Chicago who is also Vice-Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, was the keynote speaker. He reviewed the past Democratic administrations, citing the many beneficial changes that have been brought about. In closing his address he referred to the Republican charge that the Democrats had been in power too long and then asked the question: "how long is too long if it is good?" At about this time the news was rapidly traveling by grapevine through the convention that Summerfield, chairman of the Republican National Committee, gave out a statement in Grand Rapids that their presidential nominee, General Eisenhower, would not meet Governor Hoover. This caused a great deal of disappointment because it was felt the American people would have been able to judge the two men much better than by listening to prepared speeches. The convention was adjourned about four o'clock which is a very early hour for such affairs. Everyone was in good spirits and a general air of amiability prevailed.

Fireballs Are Champs In District 3

"Lefty" Ross pitched his team to victory Friday night when Manchester Fireballs beat the Ann Arbor Jets with the official score 7-2. The game was played under the lights on the Manchester athletic field. With the score 2-0 and the local boys in the lead at the end of the second, the Jets checked up two in the fourth. The teams were tied 2-2 all at the end of the fifth when the Fireball's Elwood Pniewski hit a home run with two men on base. In the sixth the local boys scored nine runs with nobody out. At this point in the game the visiting Jets conceded defeat after a substitute catcher, Mitchell, split his finger on both sides in an attempt to catch the ball. This checked up the "third straight win for the Fireballs" and at the same time made them champions of District 3. A few highlights of the show was that the Club paid out in prize money $869. The highest award was paid to Ray Rodriguez, of Adrian, Michigan, who roped and tied his calf in 18.4 seconds, thereby winning first prize. There were several contestants from several states besides a good representation from all over the State of Michigan. Most of them are individually owned and express the personal opinions of their editors on local and national affairs. The country press is an outstanding example of private initiative and enterprise. ## State GOP Picks Pat Cleary For Secretary Of State On Ticket

The Republican State Convention held in Grand Rapids Sat. was marked by an influx of new delegates mostly young men, members of the Young Republican Club and also from the Women's Republican Clubs. The usual scene of confusion greeted the delegates as they entered the lobby of the Pantages hotel. However, it was quite evident that county chairmen were prepared to fulfill their duties to the utmost and initiate the necessary steps into the procedures and explain to them the finer points of cooperation. Although very active with his state chairmanship and his own campaign, Owen "Pat" Cleary was very cooperative in his own as well as the other delegations, ably assisted by his wife, Marie, well known and loved by all her acquaintances. Friday evening there was a testimonial dinner for Arthur E. Summers and although an overflow crowd was seated in an adjoining room, there were many unseated delegates. This affair, it was believed, and the quest of honor received tributes from many outstanding leaders. In part his speech was repeated at the keynote address at the Saturday session. He likened the Democratic party to a 20 year old automobile. "Its steering wheel is shot, its windows are dirty, its brakes aren't working, it has a tendency to run wild downhill and it can make only left-hand turns. The only accessory that seems to be working at all is the rear-view mirror," he asserted. Auto dealer Summerfield, declined to state Republicans, "It is time to bring out a new model. No thinking American is going to fall for the idea that you can put Adlai Stevenson in a magnificent limousine, Truman doing the driving from the back seat."

Milk Remains Low Cost Food

Milk as a low cost food has maintained its record despite the fact that wages, operating expenses and raw product costs have been at high levels, according to E. F. Beach, of Adrian, a member of the executive committee of the American Dairy Association. Milk, including dairy products, is the most widely used food in the country, comprising more than 20 per cent of the foods purchased annually by the average American. "A quart of milk is more than two pounds of food," said Mr. Beach, "and milk is a bargain because there is no waste, every drop of milk is used. The food budget would be needed in the average home if the vitamins, minerals and calories supplied by milk had to be secured from other sources. The United States is the leading dairy nation in the world and dairy farmers are making tremendous efforts to make milk and its products the best food buys."

Milk Remains Low Cost Food

Milk as a low cost food has maintained its record despite the fact that wages, operating expenses and raw product costs have been at high levels, according to E. F. Beach, of Adrian, a member of the executive committee of the American Dairy Association. Milk, including dairy products, is the most widely used food in the country, comprising more than 20 per cent of the foods purchased annually by the average American. "A quart of milk is more than two pounds of food," said Mr. Beach, "and milk is a bargain because there is no waste, every drop of milk is used. The food budget would be needed in the average home if the vitamins, minerals and calories supplied by milk had to be secured from other sources. The United States is the leading dairy nation in the world and dairy farmers are making tremendous efforts to make milk and its products the best food buys."

NURSES RESPOND TO RED CROSS APPEAL TO SERVE IN CRITICAL POLIO AREAS

ST. LOUIS, MO.—Answering the Red Cross' urgent appeal for 100 graduate nurses for immediate assignment as polio soared to 2260 new cases last week, nurses Helen and Catherine Lukachick, sisters of Farmington, Mo., receive their plane tickets from Miss Adelle Brielmaier, (right), St. Louis Chapter nursing official, as they leave for Orange, Tex. They picked the polio ward there from six possible assignments when they learned one doctor and a nurse, the sole trained medical help, have been splitting 24 hour daily shifts to care for patients. The father of one iron lung patient comes in daily to relieve them so they can eat. "Let me have that tough one," Helen decided, and her younger sister Catherine agreed. All available registered nurses who can be spared are being asked to contact their local Red Cross chapters for assignment to critical polio areas.

New "Early Red" raspberry lengthens season, boosts yield

A new red raspberry variety, named "Early Red," has been developed at Michigan State College's South Haven Experiment Station, after 20 years of breeding and testing. The "Early Red" starts producing berries early in the season when the crop is small and prices are usually higher. Plants are upright, tall, vigorous, hardy and very productive. The berries have good flavor and a long ripening season. They withstand canning without crumbling and freeze as well as Latham raspberries. For more information, call your County Agricultural Agent.

"Daddy Longlegs" guards the nation This curious-looking device is a "thermistor." It's a speck of metallic oxide imbedded in a glass bead half the size of a grain of rice (or smaller!). The bead thermistor controls and measures the flow of electric current in radar sets used to guard the nation's defenses. It's also used in telephone equipment. Developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories and made by Western Electric Company, the bead thermistor is an example of the precision accuracy which has helped give America the finest telephone service in the world.

When polio is around, the National Foundation cautions parents to watch for these signs: headache, fever, sore throat, upset stomach, tenderness and stiffness of neck and back. A person showing such symptoms should be put to bed at once, away from others. Then, call your doctor and follow his advice. If polio is diagnosed, call your local chapter of the March of Dimes for advice and assistance, including needed financial help.

Open up your land for higher yields. Break up hard pan down below the reach of your plow—up to 18 inches or more with the WD tractor, up to 14 inches or more with the CA tractor.

Reduce "break-throughs" on terraced land by opening the way for heavy showers to penetrate between terraces. Give newly seeded grass waterways a chance... open your land above the waterway with an A-C subsoiler to divert run-off and reduce drowning of seedlings.

Allis-Chalmers subsoilers are quick-hitched, hydraulically operated for depth control and easy transport. Let us show you how these new low-cost subsoilers can promote higher yields on your farm.

Republican State Convention

Hon. Arthur E. Sumerfield. Among those present were ex-Governors, Wilbur Brucker, Harry F. Kelly and Kim Sigler, and many party stalwarts missing from the ranks recently. There was a general air of serious concentration on a victory at the polls this fall and a harmonious dedication to the party.

The only controversy concerning the nominees developed in the Auditor General race. Kent county delegates were undecided whether to back John B. Martin jr. incumbent, who was beaten by Rep. Charles E. Potter for U. S. Senator, or City Attorney Fred N. Searl. Searl finally withdrew in favor of Martin.

The Upper Peninsula hoped for representation on the state ticket and presented two candidates, Howard C. Treado of Marquette and Arthur J. Bruneau of Hancock, but no decision was made between the two candidates and both withdrew.

The nominating speeches were short but sincere. Prosecuting Attorney Douglas Reading of Washtenaw county made the first for Owen J. Cleary or Ypsilanti for Secretary of State, and the delegates were well pleased with the part the county played at the convention. The only real demonstration came after the nomination of John Martin, Jr. when there was a parade led by the Jackson delegation with banners.

Alcona county, with but three votes, which usually passes to the larger delegations, was proud to present their candidate, Frank G. Millard, seconded by Wayne county. There was no complete roll call and all nominees were unanimously elected. They are:

Secretary of State: Owen J. Cleary of Ypsilanti, state Republican chairman for four years.

Attorney General: Frank G. Millard of Flint, renominated for a second term.

Treasurer: D. Hale Brake of Stanton, renominated for a sixth term.

Auditor General: John B. Martin, jr. of Grand Rapids, incumbent.

No decision has been reached as to whether Cleary will remain as state chairman. He will offer his resignation to the State Central Committee at a September meeting in Lansing.

The committee will decide whether to accept, and fill the vacancy. Charles H. King dean of the Detroit College of Law who was leader of Taft forces in Michigan, was named as a candidate for the supreme court.

He will run in the campaign as a non-partisan. King won over Joseph W. Plank of Lansing, former president of the State Bar. The latter withdrew halfway through the roll call.

Fred M. Alger, jr. and State Senator Clarence A. Reid previously were nominated in the primary for governor and lieutenant-governor respectively.

Undismayed by the huge primary vote in the cities, the Republicans took a stand in support of the so-called "balanced Legislature" plan of reapportioning the Senate and House districts.

It would freeze the Senate, leaving Wayne with only its present seven seats. Ten members would be added to the present 100 in the House. Most of them would go to Detroit.

The city would also be divided into separate House districts with three members each instead of the present 21 at-large members.

On Friday evening there was a reception and open hospitality for Fred M. Alger, jr. D. Hale Brake received large numbers of friends and there were county, district and nominee headquarters throughout the hotel. Many of the new delegates learned for the first time what their nominees were really like by meeting them thus informally.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat NOSE TO THE GRINDSTONE—

IT MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE WHETHER YOUR NOSE IS HELD TO THE GRINDSTONE BY THE IRON HAND OF DESPOTISM OR BY YOUR INDIVIDUAL AMBITION AND WILL TO WORK... THE DIFFERENCE IS FREEDOM.

BUT EVEN A FREE PEOPLE CAN'T ESCAPE NOSE-TO-THE-GRINDSTONE TASKS, THE PIONEERS WHO BUILT OUR DEMOCRACY KNEW THAT THE JOB MEANT PLENTY OF GRINDING LABOR—AND DID IT WILLINGLY, BECAUSE THEY HAD A VISION OF THE REWARDS.

AND THOUGH IDEAS, INITIATIVE AND IMAGINATION ARE QUALITIES IN WHICH A FREE ECONOMY EXCELS, IT IS STILL NOSE-TO-THE-GRINDSTONE TOIL THAT TRANSLATES THESE QUALITIES INTO AMERICA'S PRODUCTIVE POWER—AND NOSE-TO-THE-GRINDSTONE THRIFT THAT BULWARKS NATIONAL AND FAMILY SECURITY THROUGH LIFE INSURANCE AND SAVINGS.
