Clark Norgaard Heads F.F.A.

Now that the fair is over for another year the Manchester FFA (Future Farmers of America) Chapter is holding its regular meetings again. The boys took an active part in the fair this year, setting up pens, filling cages and benches for the poultry tent, and fixing the steer and cattle tent, and the livestock would be taken better care of this year.

The boys also netted some money for their club by their ticket sales. They went to June Lander, steam iron; Bertha Strahle, pop-up toaster; Charlie Ball, hunking coat; Jake Trent, goose; Charles Miller and James Fahy, ducks. Chickens were awarded to Jesse Tulser, Homer Kuhl, Ruby Lowery and Eldon Lamb.

The boys held their first regular meeting at the Manchester High School agricultural room under the supervision of Robert Cranall, instructor. The main business of the meeting was electing the following officers: President, Clark Norgaard; vice, president, Les Landwehr; secretary, Gordon Schultz; treasurer, Larry Troz and sentral, Art Boston.

Other business matters were discussed including plans for the trip to Chicago International this fall.

80 Years Ago

S. W. Dyer and Dr. Conklin of this village attended the Hillsdale fair last week and exhibited 35 varieties of apples and 16 varieties of seedling peaches. They took $18 in prize money. John English also exhibited sixteen plates of very fine peaches.

The following method for successfully keeping potatoes through the winter is recommended. First sort out only those which are perfectly sound and free from bruises. Then spread them in the sun to dry and when perfectly dry pack them carefully in boxes or crates with perfectly dry sand and place in a warm dry cellar where the temperature is above the freezing point.

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Publishers and printers find paper supplies scarce, and astronomically priced.

The Office of Price Stabilization, self-proclaimed as fighting inflation, is probably a major cause of paper price inflation.

The mandatory posting of OPS computed ceiling prices in the nation's food stores, is an example. Disregarding that ceiling price posting is an empty gesture, because actual C. W. Harder selling prices have been forced by competition far below the OPS ceilings, these facts about this newest drive to socialize America stand out.

From requests for printing bids sent out on these ceiling price charts, interesting data has been worked out.

Here is the main point.

Evidence indicates OPS will use 1,650,000 sheets of paper measuring 17 x 22 inches per month. OPS is furnishing an expensive grade writing paper.

Here is the arithmetic.

The paper weighs 40 pounds per thousand printed pieces, thus every month the OPS will use almost 22 tons of paper just to show the prices grocers could charge legally if competition would permit it.

But OPS doesn't stop there.

Business firms have received a booklet printed on scarce newsprint, informing them how they must act to conform with price regulations. There are 32 large size pages. It is estimated

Over a year ago the Senate Small Business Committee found that government agencies are using 7% of the newsprint supply, while the nation's independent newspapers only use 3%.

OPS is rapidly changing that ratio, setting prices on other commodities at a level much higher than average selling prices. Washington cynics now say that OPS may inflate building costs by creating a construction boom in new jails for small businessmen who will find it a physical impossibility to fill out the forms OPS now demands.

enough newsprint was consumed in this single OPS venture to supply one edition for half of the nation's weekly newspapers.

The booklet advises the merchant he must list all items, along with his invoices, with a prescribed markup figured. In addition each item must be listed under a category dictated by the OPS. Failure to do so will result in fines and/or jail.

Thus, if a merchant carries laces, he must list them under category No. 615 as amended by Amendment 13. But if he has some lace that is over 35 inches wide, that must be listed under category No. 606. If he carries compact (unfilled) or precious metal, they must be listed under No. 417. If non-precious metal, they must be listed under No. 978. Failure to do so may result in a jail sentence.

If he gets categories mixed, and is sentenced to jail, he will probably want to liquidate his stock with a big sale.

Advertising in his local paper will bring the best results. But due to OPS aided paper price inflation he will pay more for space, because the publisher must meet higher newsprint prices.

How To Dip Shingles The most effective way to stain new shingles is to dip them into a cut-off barrel or a wash tub containing enough stain to reach the desired height on the shingles when they rest on the bottom, butt end down.

Best way to harvest beans
the ALL-CROP Harvester with ...

Wide-Flow Feed ... soy beans travel in a wide, even flow straight through the full 5-foot cylinder.

Rubber-Cushioned Threshing Action ... gently but thoroughly shells every pod with less crackage of beans.

Air Blast Separation ... blows the beans and stalks in a high curving arc just behind the cylinder, so that air blast does much of the separation ahead of the straw rack. You save more beans and they are cleaner.

Plus
Straw Chopper ... attachment does two important things - makes plowing easy by chopping all material into short lengths and spreading it evenly ... speeds decay of the straw. Returns it to the soil more quickly.

New Wide Dividers ... make it easier to harvest two rows of wide-planted soybeans. Curved rod extensions reach ahead and below dividers to gather in lodged or tangled beans.

Let us show you why your own ALL-CROP Harvester with the new Wide Dividers and Straw Chopper is the best way to harvest soybeans.

Agriculture Dept. To Amend Milk Marketing Order

December of this year, and an extension of the time for payment by buyers when a holiday occurs during the first 15 days of the month are other changes. Another amendment provides for discontinuing the use of the butter-fat formula in pricing Class I milk and the butter-powder formula in pricing Class II milk.

Notification of a decision by the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States to amend several provisions of the Federal Milk Marketing Order No. 24, which governs the fluid milk supply in the Detroit area, has been received by the Michigan Milk Producers Association, which petitioned for a number of amendments last spring. Of the six proposed changes in the existing order, four would have a direct effect on the prices received by producers, including an increase of eight cents per hundred in premium above basic formula for Class I milk and an increase in the amount of butterfat in milk received at plants more than 105 miles from Detroit. Other provisions include extension of the supply-demand adjustment, requiring a lower milk supply in relation to sales for a price increase and of Manchester, Mass. above sales for a price reduction. Revision of the basic rules which would permit any producer to request to be paid the average market price during November and December.

Wild Cherry Leaves Poisonous To Cattle

Wilted wild cherry leaves are poisonous to cattle and a warning is being passed along to farmers by V. E. Cronk, assistant county agricultural agent. Dr. Glenn R. Cook, extension pathologist at Michigan State College, reports such leaves often contain considerable hydrocyanic acid. Afflicted cattle have rapid, shallow breathing, a faster heart beat and stagger. Farmers should call a veterinarian if cattle are poisoned but they may die in as little as 20 minutes, warns Dr. Cook. Keep your cattle away from wilted wild cherry leaves, advises the agricultural agent.

New Unit Picks and Shells Corn

Early snowfall last winter forced many farmers to leave their corn in the field for picking in the spring. One of them was Walter Erickson of Wydemere, N. D. To save time, however, he is killing two birds with one stone and is picking his corn in a single operation with a combination picking and shelling unit.

THE WINTER OF '51-'52 played a mean trick on many farmers in Minnesota and parts of the Dakotas.

Before the corn had time to mature, the snow came and there was nothing for the farmers to do but wait for spring to pick the corn.

Fortunately for the farmer today, picking corn is not the serious problem it once was.

Today he can pick his corn, husk it, and shell it—all at the same time and right in the field. He does not have to store the ears of corn in a crib and then worry about finding time later to shell it. Furthermore, the husks and the cobs are left in the field to be plowed under for mulch. In this way more mineral elements are left in the soil to keep up its fertility.

The machine that does this trick for the modern farmer is the only one of its kind on the farm.

Recently introduced by the Minneapolis-Moline Company, it is considered a revolutionary development in farm equipment.

The corn picking and shelling unit can be removed from the specially designed tractor so that if the farmer wishes, he can mount a harvesting unit on it to harvest his grain or soybeans.

Other attachments have been designed and soon will be in production. In the field, the machine is a husking unit and a harvest forager.

A meteorologist at the University of Chicago discovered that about one-third of the rain produced in the average thunderstorm never reaches the ground. It evaporates before it gets there.

Friday Night Bowling At Saline

On Friday night Haviland's bowling team took it on the chin when they met the Saline Dairy and after winning the first two games, they conceded defeat by 135 pins in the last game and lost total wood.

Dewey Hartbeck, who has been the whole team the last two weeks, hit a high low with a 135 and 511. Looks like Burkhardt Store will take over first place which Haviland's had from the first week. Don't give up boys—the season is still young.

BOWLING

The bowling season went into the fifth week with the bowlers showing more consistent series and not too many high games.

Walt Schabile's and Klagers Hatcheries tangled with all games being close even though Schabile's team took three out of four points.

Short's Electric Service came through for the first time this season and walloped luckless Double A. Products taking four points.

Koebbe's welders got going with Earl Koebbe's 507 and Tom Walton's 500 series being largely responsible for taking three points out of four from Carl Schabile's.

Baker didn't give up without a fight in his 503 series and Clarence Fielder with 521 series helped keep the games close for A.B.C. Service.

Mann's and Mary's Tavern had quite a match with everything being close, in fact so close that Mann's took total pins by one pin and three out of four points.

Elwood Pniwski with 569 series for Mann's and Morgan Kern with 575 series for Mary's Tavern had the highest series for the night.

Follows who bowled a 200 game or better were: Elwood Pniwski 224, Richard Wolff 223, Morgan Kern 215, Earl Koebbe 206 (there will be no holding him back now), Jim Baker 205 and Clarence Fielder 205.

The big match this next week will be between A.B.C. Service and Walt Schabile's, according to Rolly Grossman.
