Manchester School Bonds Sold

Manchester's school bonds have been sold to the First of Michigan Corporation at an average interest rate of 2.19684. Representatives of four investment houses were on hand when president Luther Klager called the meeting to order and opened the bids. As an indication of the high credit standing enjoyed by the Manchester community, only .03 of one percent separated the highest bidder from the lowest. The three other investment houses and their bids were: Stranahan, Harris & Co., 2.2285 percent. Braun, Bosworth & Co., 2.208 percent. Watling, Lerchen & Co., 2.2285 percent.

Associated with the first of Michigan Corporation in the winning bid were McDonald Moore & Co. and H. V. Sattley & Co. The interest rate to be paid by the school district's taxpayers is 1.304 percent less than the 3.5 percent figured in the bond prospectus. This means a clear savings to the taxpayer of about $55,000 in interest, which means that the bonds can be paid off nearly two years earlier than at first estimated.

Now that the bonds have been sold and the money will be available shortly after April 1, the school board, and Clark Ackley, the architect, are pushing the completion of specifications of the new high school. The state department of education has already approved the plans. If all goes well, it is hoped that contractors' bids will be opened by the middle of May. Several weeks will be needed by the architect to finish specifications and several more weeks by the various contractors to figure their bids.

In connection with the East Main Street site, where ground will be broken early in June, questions have arisen about the sub soil. There has been a rumor that the building will be erected on quicksand. It is true that on parts of the site the water table is high and there is sand in the subsoil, according to school authorities. However, the ground where the building is to be located is firm and the subsoil will bear weights of from 5,000 to 6,000 pounds per square foot. This is far more than ample according to school authorities.

Only at one point of the building—the southwest corner—will pilings be needed, and even here the trouble encountered is no more than to be expected on most sites in the Manchester area. According to the architect and the experts who drilled the soil, any extra expenses due to the subsoil will be so minor as to be unimportant in the overall cost picture.

Thus, any idea that the building will be "floated on a lake" is without basis in fact, the school board members maintain. The full report of the soil drilling company shows that the ground is more than firm enough to support the high school.

Mrs. Uhr Feted On Birthday

Mrs. William Uhr entertained at dinner on Sunday in honor of the birthday of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Earl Uhr. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Panches and family, Earl Uhr and daughter Connie, and Fred Uhr.

Red Cross Drive

Manchester's Red Cross Drive is entering its final stages. Though detailed reports are not in, money collected has passed the halfway mark.

In order to give the community a full report, all solicitors and team chairmen are asked to bring in their final reports to Mrs. Robert Huber this week.

A number of organizations have already contributed. Any other organizations that have not made contributions may do so at their next regular meeting, even though this may be after the end of March. Gifts will continue to be accepted in April.

In Freedom township the drive is under the direction of Mrs. Kenneth Snyder as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Alton Lutz. Working on their committee are the Mesdames Willard Manor, Roy Bihlmeier, James-Cathey, jr., Simon Girbach, Mae Grossman, William Houle, Harold Buss, and Otto Timmerman, and the Misses Dorothy Bertke, Florence Haessler, and Mr. Edwin Schaible.

In Bridgewater township Mrs. Lewis Blaisdell is the chairman and is being assisted by the Mesdames Frank Ashton, Armin Weidmayer, Harold Bersuder, Edwin Finkbeiner, Erwin Blumenauer, Herman Weidman, Floyd Johnson, Linden Luckhardt, Valentine Zick, Orville Bohenseihl, and Louis Winter, jr.

Land Booker's Work Creates Interest Here

On checking with farmers on the Manchester-Chelsea road, three have been approached with a request by a Lansing real estate broker to set a sales price on their properties. None of the properties is adjoining. With at least one other farmer the broker has discussed a possible option payment.

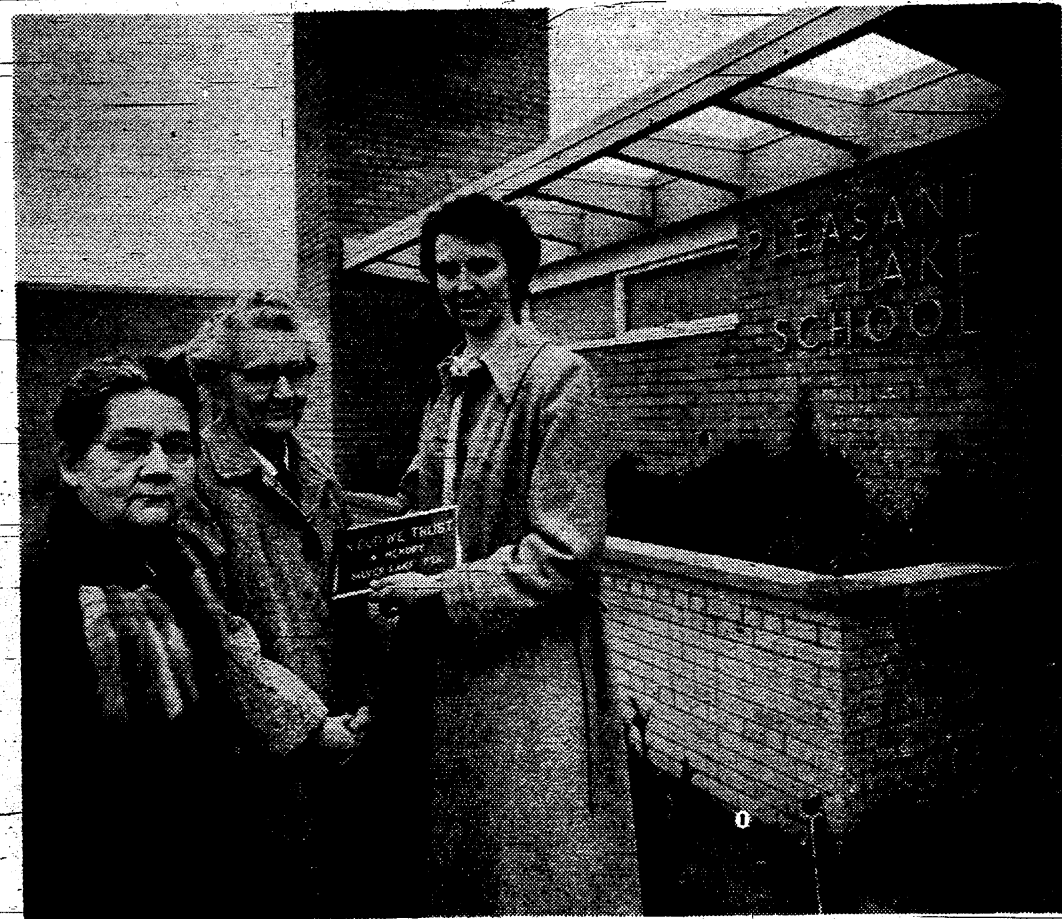

Speculation ranges from possible use of the tract for extension of the Chrysler Proving Grounds to a site for the proposed new state prison and even for oil and gas development.

The broker is believed to be the same one who handled the sale of the Ford Motor Company Sharon Hollow mill rights several years ago and he refuses to give the slightest inkling as to the intended use of the land.

The property in which the broker has evinced interest is four miles south of the Chrysler Proving grounds, fenced in portion. However the auto company owns several hundred acres south of, but adjoining the fenced-in tract.

Stan Buss Wins Exchange Athletic Award

Manchester athletes, both boys and girls, had their day last Monday, when they were entertained at the high school by the Exchange Club.

Members of the first and second squads, the girls' basketball team, and the cheerleaders were on hand to enjoy a talk by Howard Zindell of Michigan State College, pictures of the Rose Bowl game won by Michigan State last January 1, and a roast beef dinner served by the senior mothers with help from members of the senior class.

The climax of the evening was the presentation of the Exchange Club athletic award to Stanley Buss. Stan, a six letter man whose record includes an outstanding career as left end on the football team, starting forward on the basketball team, and second baseman in baseball, was elected to receive the award in a secret ballot of the players on the various teams. It was a player tribute to a fellow player who worked not for himself but always for the best interests of the team.

Larry Soldan presented the members of the various varsity squads to the assembled guests, after which Charles Mills presented the junior varsities and Mrs. Beverly Sharp the girl basketballers. The cheerleaders were called to their feet by Principal Robert Masten, chairman of the evening.

Mrs. Howard Zindell was an honored guest at the speakers' table.

Sophomore Class Nets $588 On Magazine Drive

The Sophomore class of Manchester high school goes on record as completing the biggest magazine drive in the history of the school.

The class of 47 students under the direction of Mr. Charles Mills as their advisor sold some $17,000 worth of magazines during their recent drive which netted for the class a neat $588.

Ray Leddy was credited with selling $138 worth of magazines alone. To him the Curtis Publishing Company with offices in Toledo, Ohio, presented a fine wrist watch for outstanding sales. Mr. Mills says that the projects for raising money for the class have been brought to a close for this year. The class has been working to raise money to be used for their senior trip.

Mrs. Merle Wright and daughter, Mary Ellen, returned home Monday from Cincinnati, Ohio, where they had been visiting Mrs. Wright's sister, Mrs. Mary Braden, since Thursday.

South American Countries Prove Interesting Study

Special invitations were sent to the members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church for a Spanish luncheon served on Wednesday by Mrs. Ray Kerr and her committee. According to reports the attendance was gratifying and included several guests.

The tables were laid with fruits, Mexican pottery, glassware and many interesting items of Mexican handicraft. Chili was the main dish served from Mexican pottery dishes with pepitas nuts as an added flavor.

A short business session was held with officers giving reports and $10.00 was voted to be given to the Red Cross.

The spiritual life secretary, Mrs. Fred Grossman, assisted by Mrs. John Bunney, conducted the worship period, consisting of Lenten Reflections and the reading of an article, "When God Cleans House" by Dr. Ralph Stockman.

The program, centered on the Spanish speaking neighbors in the southwest with Mrs. Leslie Chavey speaking briefly on the results of missionary work in that part of the country and below the border. She cited one living example of a woman who had lost her husband and crossed the border from Mexico with five children; no money, no worldly goods but a determination to make a living for her family. The children made friends in the mission day school.

The oldest boy attended the Home mission schools, finally graduating from a ministerial college. He became noteworthy as a representative to an Eastern group meeting, where, as a young man, he met and knelt with young Christian converts from all over the world.

Mrs. Chavey limited her remarks so that Mrs. William Dorrance could tell of her trip to Venezuela, South America, and the interesting boat stops at the Islands of Curacao, Aruba, and the Virgin Islands.

The progressive development of Caracas, the capitol of Venezuela, its culture, educational standards exceeding those in the United States, the wealth of its people, were all interesting and surprising accounts of her trip.

The next meeting of the W. S. C. S. will be a luncheon on Wednesday, April 21, at which the Clinton Society will be guests.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bowler called on their son and family, Dr. and Mrs. George Bowler, at Ann Arbor on Thursday.

Clothing Crusade Opens Today In Public Schools

The local school children will go on a crusade—a full-fledged children's crusade. Their weapons will be bundles of clothing. Their goal: to help provide sturdy, warm clean clothing for needy children in America and overseas.

According to Supr. of Schools Fred Atkinson, the local drive is part of Save the Children Federation's 12th Annual Nation-wide "Children's Clothing Crusade," which is conducted in public schools throughout the United States under the auspices of the Federation's National Advisory Committee of School Superintendents.

The Clothing collected will be used to aid children and families in Korea, six war-depleted countries of Europe, in Lebanon, and in disadvantaged rural areas of the United States, including the Navajo Indian Reservations.

"In Europe, the children are still suffering from the ravages of war," Supt. Atkinson said. "The need in Korea is even more urgent. Nine million victims of Communist aggression in Korea have been torn from their homes. They have only rags in which to clothe themselves. We must help them" he continued.

Supt. Atkinson pointed out a second objective of the drive. "Not only are we helping to alleviate the suffering of many thousands of needy children," he said, "but we are also teaching our own children a valuable lesson in the importance of thinking of others." Federation officials present these pointers for clothing givers who want to be sure their clothing will do the most good:

Most needed is warm clothing—heavy underwear, wool skirts, suits, sweaters and coats. Bundle Week clothing goes to people who first need is warmth—not style. If the clothing is warm, even even adult sizes can be cut down and gratefully used.

Children's shoes are next in importance. Even though scuffed, America's outgrown shoes still have miles of use left in them. Here again, adult sizes can be used. However, high-heeled women's shoes are of no use either to mothers or children in areas served by the Federation, and should not be included.

Why Did Jesus Christ Die?

By Ellwood E. Kiecer

THIS MAN WAS BORN TO DIE. He worked miracles, healed the sick and preached God's kingdom. But these were only secondary works. He was first born to die.

But two questions come into our minds: Who is this man? Why must he die?

This man is Jesus Christ. He is human like us, but more than human. He is also divine. Jesus Christ is the God-man, the second Person of the Blessed Trinity.

Ellwood Kiecer

WHY DID HE DIE? To answer that question, we must turn back the pages of history to the very beginning, when Adam and Eve broke a bargain with God. They refused to do their share. They told God they wanted to be independent. God respected their request.

What was the result? Adam and Eve were stricken with that misery and unhappiness which always follows separation from God. They realized their mistake. But the harm was done. God had been offended. Justice required that He be repaid.

THIS WAS AN INFINITE INDEBT. And only an infinite person could repair it. That is why God became man and died on the Cross. Christ is an infinite person. And He loved us so much that He offered the infinite sacrifice—His own life—that we might be freed from our sins.

Listen to what He says of Himself: "The Son of Man has not come to be served but to serve, and to give His life as a ransom for many."

NO ONE CAN FULLY understand what this means. The Creator of the universe is nailed to a Cross by the very men He created. Love itself is made the object of hatred and insult. The all-powerful God allows His human body to be drained of its precious blood.

There is only one explanation for such sacrifice and heroism. Christ loves us all with the depth and power of God's love. "Greater love than this no one has, that one lay down his life for his friends."

BUT WHAT DOES Christ's death mean to you and me? It means that our sins can be forgiven. It means that we can once again enjoy the friendship of God. It means that peace and happiness are once again within our reach.

But to reap these benefits, we must apply Christ's sacrifice to our souls. We do this by faith in Christ's divinity, by a love which unites us to the Crucified Christ, by a deep sorrow for our personal sins, and by receiving His sacraments. If we do these things, Christ will not have died in vain. His death will have saved our lives.

Newsman Sees Increased Religious Sentiment In Government

An increase in religious sentiment in government circles was outlined in an address here to a group of journalists by a Washington correspondent.

John C. O'Brien, chief of the Washington Bureau of the Philadelphia Inquirer and former president of Washington's National Press Club, spoke at an annual breakfast meeting of employees of the newspaper and the Triangle publications.

Noting the increase in both the executive and legislative branches of government, O'Brien said: "During former administrations it was a story when the President went to church. Now it's a story when he doesn't." He pointed out that Mr. Eisenhower has a strong religious background and that his religious sincerity is unquestionable.

Mr. O'Brien mentioned the number of resolutions which have been drawn up by legislators in Washington calling for more concern with religious procedure and matters. He told of the "prayer group" of some 50 or 60 legislators in a room in the Capitol building especially set aside for them.

One of the reasons suggested by Mr. O'Brien for this increase in religious sentiment was the growing realization of men in government of the dependence of man upon God that distinguishes the U. S. government from that of the communists.

Peace Group Recommends U. S. Step Up Distribution of Surplus Food Among World's Needy

After meeting food needs at home, the United States government should use surpluses to step up food distribution abroad among victims of war, famine and economic emergencies, a statement issued by the Catholic Association for International Peace has recommended.

"The Christian conscience is saddened," the statement said, "by the embarrassing surplus of American agricultural products when a large portion of the world's population suffers from undernourishment or malnutrition."

The statement detailed the enormous food surpluses which the U. S. either owned outright or had on loan as of Feb. 10. It added that the government is paying nearly $500,000 a day for storage of the material and that in "removing such surpluses from its economy by free distribution the United States would not be interfering with any of the present normal trade channels, since those nationally and internationally who would receive surpluses are not purchasing anyway."

The Association recommended that the U. S. channel its surplus for distribution through religious and other voluntary agencies "which have real counter-parts and valid distribution networks in the countries to be benefited."

TV Series Directed to Youth

A TV series showing youth the moral and spiritual preparation they must undertake for their life's work is being shown on C. B. S. Television Network. The program (10:30-11:00 a. m. EST) will conduct a Problem Clinic, in which the particular problems that trouble youth will be discussed.

Religion Is Communism's Most Powerful Enemy Behind Iron Curtain

Capt. Jan Cwiklinski of the Polish liner Batory told the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee that religion is the most powerful force for freedom behind the Iron Curtain.

Capt. Cwiklinski had been forced to flee the liner he commanded in England when he learned that he was about to be arrested by the Communists because of his attempts to keep Communist infiltration and religious suppression off his ship.

Aboard the Batory the Captain said he had been successful in breaking up Communist cells and liberation of religious observances. He described Red attempts to re-commending orders for the removal all chapels from the trans-Atlantic liner, to forbid crewmen to attend Mass, and to circulate propaganda among international passengers on trans-ocean crossings.

Describing current conditions in Poland, Captain Cwiklinski said that the people are continuing religious observances despite every block set up by the regime and despite the fact that most of the people are physically exhausted from the tremendous amount of work required for even a frugal living.

Religious Group in Nation's Capitol to Emphasize Meaning of Good Friday

The committee for the Three Hours' Observance of Good Friday will place stronger emphasis on the meaning of Good Friday in its work this year.

Last year the group had amazing success in drawing people to Three Hours' Services with an estimated 250,000 persons going to Washington churches during the three hours commemorating our Lord's last agony. But many people did not understand the significance of the service. Greater stress will be given this year to the importance of making reparation to Christ who died on the Cross for the sins of all men.

Secretary of Labor Asks for Consideration of the Human Element in Labor Relations

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell called for a solution to the problem of employer-worker relations by facing "the underlying problem—the human element in labor relations" instead of seeking "superficial solutions and easy answers."

"I have wondered," the Secretary said, "whether the heart of this problem is not the desire of the soul of every man for self-expression and for recognition of his human dignity and value. This basic yearning, if properly fulfilled, gives direction, perspective and legitimacy to the grasp for material things. This desire, common to each, must be understood by all and when this has come to pass many of our most perplexing problems will be capable of resolution."

Mr. Mitchell was one of a group of speakers, representing both labor and management, at the forum jointly sponsored by the American Arbitration Association and Fordham University.

Oldsmobile Advances To 6th Place in 1953 New Car Registration

Oldsmobile advanced, from 7th to 6th place in retail sales in the automobile industry during 1953 on the basis of new car registrations released by R. L. Polk & Co., according to J. F. Wolfram, Oldsmobile general manager and vice president of General Motors.

Oldsmobile new car registrations in 1953 totaled 305,593 units, the second highest in Oldsmobile's history, the R. L. Polk figures reveal. Oldsmobile's highest year was 1950, banner year for the industry, when 372,519 new Oldsmobiles were registered in the United States. Oldsmobile also held sixth place in registrations in 1950 but dropped to seventh in 1951 and 1952 as government material restrictions limited production. In 1953 Oldsmobile climbed to sixth with the sale of 16,781 more units than the next manufacturer.

"Oldsmobile registrations made a gain of 87,404 vehicles during 1953, an advance of 40 per cent over the previous year," Wolfram stated. "Oldsmobile captured 5.3 per cent of the U. S. market. Our dealer organization could have sold more cars, but it was necessary to reduce production during the last four months of the year due to the Detroit Transmission fire that cut off availability of Hydramatic Drive units for several months."

"With the fine acceptance that our 1954 product is enjoying with the car-buying public, Oldsmobile expects to improve both its total registrations and its percentage of industry this year," Wolfram stated.

Pigs in Central America are so fond of the fiber plant ramie that they refuse to eat bananas while ramie is available. The fiber plant was introduced as hog feed because the area lacked sufficient quantities of low-priced protein forage crops. Immature ramie, which grows luxuriantly in Central America—has from 18 to 21 per cent protein content.

Mary's Tavern and Short's Electric Service bowling teams are tied for the league lead in the Businessmen's Bowling League after this week's matches were completed. Mary's Tavern tangled with A. B. C. Service and after the smoke cleared Mary's Tavern team had 3 points with Morgan Kern of Mary's team throwing a 528 series and for ABC Service Elwin Benedict a 542 series, Dewey Hartbeck a 537 series and Roy Marx a 503 series. Spike's Mobil Service grabbed 3 points out of the 4 from Double A Products with Don Rhee's rolling a 518 series for Spike's. Carl M. Schaible's Ford team downed Widmayer's Sales & Service team by taking 3 points. Although the last game was won by the Ford team by only 10 pins and the series by 41 pins. Earl Bersuder of the Schaible Ford team had a 528 series to help his team to the win. 'Freedom Of Speech'

There was a miniature schnauzer named Erich which lived in the Soviet Zone of East Berlin. One day it slipped through the tight border guard into the Free Zone of West Berlin. It wanted to see how the other half lived.

Word got around, and very soon indeed Erich was surrounded in a public park by other dogs, all curious. After mutual sniffs had given Erich a security check, the questioning began.

"How is the food in the Soviet Zone," the visitor was asked. "Fine," Erich replied. "Ground fresh hamburger every day."

"How is the housing situation?" "Wonderful," Erich said, "Every dog has its own kennel, insulated against the heat and cold."

"If things are that good, why did you cross over to the Free Zone?"

"I wanted to bark," Erich replied.

STATE STREET—ANN ARBOR

What Easter Seals Do

You are probably one of 30 million Americans who has received through the mail a sheet of gayly colored Easter Seals and a letter of appeal asking you to contribute to the 1954 Easter Seal campaign on behalf of crippled children.

Perhaps you have asked yourself, "Why should I help support this drive?" and if I do contribute what happens to my money?" Here are just a few pertinent facts which you should know about this worthy cause.

Founded on the belief that crippled children are an ever-present part of society, Easter Seal funds make it possible for these disabled youngsters to make the most of their abilities and eventually take their rightful place in the world.

The annual Easter Seal appeal is a nationwide campaign conducted simultaneously March 18 to Easter Sunday, April 18, by more than 2,000 state and local Easter Seal affiliates throughout the country with units in every state, District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

Here in Michigan, the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., sponsors the Easter Seal drive with 91.7 per cent of every dollar raised remaining to meet the needs of hundreds of physically handicapped persons in Michigan. The remaining 8.3 per cent of every dollar goes to the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, the parent organization in Chicago, for a nationwide direct service program, education and research.

Services and facilities financed by Easter Seal contributions include case finding, diagnostic clinics, medical care, physical, occupational and speech therapy, rehabilitation centers, summer camping, convalescent care, special schools and classes for those unable to attend regular schools, vocational training, wheel chairs, braces, crutches and other therapeutic aids, occupational therapy and crafts for the "homebound" and many others.

Thus, by opening up your heart and contributing to the 1954 annual Easter Seal campaign as generously as you can, you will be directly helping some crippled child to lead a happy, useful life. If you haven't received Easter Seals through the mail, send your contribution to "Crippled Children," in care of your local post office. SHARE YOUR EASTER JOY!

Michigan Bell Report

Despite record high revenues, Michigan Bell Telephone Company reported a declining trend in earnings during the course of 1953 and a return for the year of only 6 per cent on its investment in plant and other assets.

In the company's annual report, Clifton W. Phalen, president, expressed concern over the steady decline in earnings as the year progressed. As a result, he pointed out, earnings for the last half of 1953 were below those for the same period in the previous year, dipping to 5.6 per cent in the last quarter.

Phalen said that 1953 "was a year of progress that emphasized a better and more improved telephone service is still unfolding." He concluded, however, that the "price of telephone service today is not enough to assure good service in the future." An application by the company to raise rates an average of 3 cents per telephone per day is pending before the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Citing mounting costs of doing business, coupled with increased investment per telephone, the report showed that wage expense increased from $3.24 to $3.53 per telephone per month. The company's average plant investment rose to a postwar high of $254 per telephone. Total taxes per telephone amounted to $2.55 a month, including excises averaging $1.26 per telephone per month. Michigan Bell customers paid $32,900,000 in excise taxes on their service in 1953.

The company gained 102,000 telephones, pushing the total in service to a new high of 2,147,000. The list of those waiting for new service was cut substantially during the year but Phalen cited the big job ahead of providing 90,000 waiting applicants with higher grades of service they seek.

Michigan Bell spent $49,000,000 to expand and improve service. It converted 11 exchanges to dial operation, erected new buildings in 13 communities and major additions to buildings in four others, and installed additional central office equipment in 110 exchanges. Nearly 8,000 rural telephones were added.

Michigan Bell handled 10,700,000 calls a day, 400,000 a day more than in 1952. Long distance traffic of 221,000 calls on the average business day reached a new peak but use of the service leveled off toward the end of the year. Despite the growing number of dialed calls, it took a new high of 10,500 operators to handle traffic.

TO BRAZIL—Four Michigan State College professors soon will head for Brazil where they will help establish the first school of business administration in that country. Selecting textbooks they will take with them are Professors Karl A. Boedecker, Leonard H. Hall, Ole S. Johnson and Fritz B. Harris. They will remain a year at Sao Paulo, site of the new school. A U. S. agency and a private foundation in Brazil are financing the unique project.

MSC Helps Set Up First Business School In Brazil

Four Michigan State College professors will head soon for Brazil where they will serve as a team in helping to establish the first school of business administration in that country.

The four will serve as consultants, advisers and teachers at Sao Paulo, site of the new school, according to Dr. H. J. Wyrngarden, dean of the M. S. C. School of Business and Public Service.

Leaving for Brazil April 1 will be Dr. Karl A. Boedecker, professor of business administration; Fritz B. Harris, assistant professor of industrial engineering, and Dr. Ole S. Johnson, assistant professor of marketing. Dr. Leonard H. Hall, professor of finance, will join other members of the team in July.

The M. S. C. professors will assist primarily in the areas of top management and policy, financial administration, marketing and production management. They will remain in Brazil for a minimum of a year, Dean Wyrngarden said. Some members of the team may stay longer to develop an overlapping arrangement with a second M. S. C. mission, to be selected later in the long-range cooperative project.

The school will begin with courses for Brazilian businessmen and plans eventually to establish graduate and undergraduate programs also with M. S. C. help.

Financing the new school and participation by M. S. C. are the Getulio Vargas Foundation of Brazil, a private organization; and the Institute for Inter-American Affairs, which is part of the U. S. Foreign Operations Administration.

MSC Offers New Plan For Physics Teachers

Michigan State College will take the lead this year in offering a new program for obtaining the master's degree in physics—entirely through summer session work.

Students or teachers with bachelor's degrees in physics, or equivalent training, may complete requirements for the degree by attending four successive nine-week summer sessions, according to Dr. Thomas H. Osgood, Dean of the School of Graduate Studies.

M. S. C. will become one of only a few universities in the nation offering such a program, Dean Osgood said. It is being done, he said "to encourage the good teaching of science in the high schools and to recognize the importance of physical science in the lives of our young people."

Firm Saves Village From 'Ghosts'

To prevent the little community of Nahma, Mich., from becoming a "ghost town," the American Playground Device Co., Anderson, Ind., has purchased the whole site for a branch factory.

Nahma was a lumber mill site until its timber-starved sawmill closed down. President Charles E. Good of the Bay de Noquet Co., which owned the sawmill, didn't want his home town to die. The 450 residents of the village didn't want to move, but in order to remain they needed jobs.

Finally, Mr. Good offered the whole town at about one-tenth of its real value to any buyer who would start a new factory there.

The Indiana company bought the site and renamed it "Play Town." Its factory will make swings, slides, merry-go-rounds, and other park, picnic, playground and swimming pool equipment.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

You Might Call it a "Gravy Train"

Was reading the other day about a Maharaja in India who has a miniature electric train all made of silver. Now, maybe that's not unusual for a prince, but this fellow had it running around on an enormous dining table in the royal palace.

The twelve cars on the train are loaded with different kinds of fruits, nuts, and beverages. And the train stops automatically in front of each plate so the person sitting there can choose what he wants.

From where I sit, the Maharaja is really going to extreme to impress his guests. Around this part of the world, hospitality, certainly doesn't need all those fancy trimmings.

You don't have to spend a lot of money or go to a lot of work when folks drop in. Just offer them what you have—coffee, tea, a temperate glass of beer—and let them make their own choice. They'll feel they're getting a royal welcome!

Local Folks Attend 4-H Party

There were many from Manchester and vicinity who attended the 4-H Family Night at Slossen School at Ann Arbor. The party included members and families in Washtenaw County.

Polio Tests

A trial vaccine, containing killed virus of all three types of polio, will be used in the tests which will be conducted in Washtenaw county, in cooperation with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Dr. Otto K. Engelke, Washtenaw County Health Commissioner, has announced. The vaccine has been triple-tested for safety by the manufacturer, Dr. Salk's laboratory, and by the Laboratories of Biologics Control of the National Institutes of Health, a unit of the U. S. Public Health Service.

The vaccine was developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk, of the University of Pittsburgh, doing research on funds provided from the March of Dimes contributions. As administered by Dr. Salk in his preliminary studies, the vaccine has shown itself capable of inducing the development of antibodies against polio in the blood. It has been given safely to thousands of volunteers, but a true picture of its effectiveness can be obtained only through testing it in a very large group. Between 500,000 and 1,000,000 children will take part in the test in many selected areas throughout the country, to determine whether the presence of antibodies induced by this new vaccine will protect children from polio under naturally-occurring conditions.

Each child in the test will be given three doses over a five-week period, Dr. Engelke said. The second dose will be given one week after the first, and the third dose at least four weeks after the second. Each dose, administered in the arm, will contain one cc of material, either vaccine or non-vaccine. Children from the first three school grades were selected because they are in an age group considered most susceptible to polio.

The vaccine will not be available except for purposes of the trial, Dr. Engelke pointed out, and will not be given except upon the request of a parent or guardian.
