

Retreat Gives Opportunity To Assess Values, Human Aspects

The question asked itself persistently as to be here, half a century ago. It is necessary for some mid-aged men who are ordinarily decent, good husbands and loving fathers, to make a night of it by cutting each other's five-lettered Anglo-Saxon names, speaking of each other as one or the other, although I have never discovered precisely what it is. In my youth, the presence of only one woman would call a halt to the language for which mid-aged men wash the little boy's mouth with yellow soap, but nowadays the lady does not seem to mind and the gentleman has accepted equality among the sexes as lowering standards of both.

Naturally, I have not been everywhere and do not know how universal the cult of university is, but I have noted that writers possess a peculiarly high regard for the language in very popular books. Yet, George Bernard Shaw managed to become the most modern of moderns, the father of all, and the language of a peasant describing his college-boy son as a "peasant" is a little bit of a joke, but a convincing one. "Amos" may be attributed certain human respect would be to lower respect for the party, the most important. The various societies which protect the inaccurate use of the term applying to a parent.

I have often wondered at that purely American invention the term "peasant" as it is called. This is a fellow who is supposed to warm you up to make you applaud when you don't want to applaud; he is a cayenne pepper sort of individual whose job is to keep the show on the road, as the expression goes. Evidently, the "peasant" is a term that was born. The Em Gee is a pest at a banquet because he protects the host from the guests on the date and everbody knows he introduced a son in Tennessee. He introduced a son in Tennessee. He introduced a son in Tennessee.

Sam Gompers, AFL Founder, Labor Leader For Many Years

Lying here, one conjures up many memories of other days and among the faces that one does not want to forget is that of Sam Gompers, who founded the American Federation of Labor and was for 30 years the leading labor leader of the country. His principal competitor was Eugene V. Debs, who was a Socialist and through his difference Gompers was opposed to socialism. He was a capitalist labor leader, one who believed that labor unions could prosper only within the capitalist system in the United States and that under capitalism, the interests of the worker would improve through the most vigorous efforts of the worker.

Gompers was a clear-headed and an immigrant from England, as well as he had known the First International and Second International Socialists and he thought they were worthy of being counted on to take a national leadership in the United States.

Gompers was a singularly nationalistic American who put loyalty to his country above everything else. In his day, the American Federation of Labor could always be counted on to take a national leadership in the United States.

Dutchmen Challenge Knights Come Out On Top - 62 - 47

The Manchester Flying Dutchmen once again proved themselves to be top contenders for the League of the Lakes Championship crown last Friday night as they walked away from Boyville on the latter's court to crush them, 62 to 47.

The Dutchmen sank 21 out of 35 shots for a 32 percent average, while Boyville dropped to 15 out of 31 scoring attempts for an average of 16 percent. Big Dan Kappeler led in rebounding in the course of the contest to already add the Manchester cause.

The series by quarters: M.H.S. 22-46-42-22, E.H.S. 11-23-36-47. In Jay-Vee play, the Little Dutchmen were likewise victorious, winning 65 to 22 to make it 22 straight victories. Langy John England topped 23 points and gathered 17 rebounds to lead the Manchester quintet to victory. Jack Creech added 12 markers for the Dutchmen while Taylor led the Knights with 9 points. Manchester sank 68 percent of their shots to Boyville's 24 per cent.

Quarter scores: M.H.S. 14-28-50-64, M.H.S. 15-17-27-23. Next game at Dexter, Friday, 10th of February.

Men's Bowling - Poultry Expert Says Neglect Is Harmful

The only thing that has been made up of many important "little things" is neglected management of the Michigan poultry industry. It's when more than one "little thing" is neglected that trouble often follows, says J. M. Mac Moore, extension poultryman at Michigan State University.

Mac Moore, extension poultryman at Michigan State University, says Michigan's poultry industry has plenty of room to expand. Now, out of every ten chickens raised in the state, only one is sold for the table, he says.

Both still and movie cameras are clicking merrily through the winter months in an effort to capture the world of fun outdoors, with all the artistry of nature at her beck and call.

SPORTS FLASHES

The new general manager of the San Diego Padres, Ralph Kiner, says the surest and quickest way to baseball fame and fortune is by hitting home runs. Kiner was the National League's home run king for several seasons. Kiner pointed out that one season his pay was $50,000 and that he didn't get it for hitting slugs. Several years ago, Kiner was credited with this classic remark: "The home run hitter drives a ballpark."

Manager Walter Alston piloted the Dodgers to the world championship last year, but to Jackie Robinson he's still No. 1. Alston says Robinson has been in a New Haven, Conn., talk recently. Jackie said that he would like to play for Alston and Alston fourth. He added, however, that he thinks Alston has the makings of a great manager.

The use of foreign seed, with the possible exception of bromegrass, seems to be ample this year. And potatoes will be considerably better than last year, says M.S.U. farm crop specialists.

The Shanghae was the first carrier to receive a specially designed deck and steam catapult, new features which provide greater safety in the handling of aircraft and increase the ship's capabilities.

Combinations of grasses and legumes result in much higher yields than using either one alone. The production of bromegrass pastures for winter grazing is much higher per acre when grown in combination with alfalfa.

Management like rotational grazing, irrigation, fertilization and delayed grazing leave a residue on the pasture that extends the normal pasture season and increases the carrying capacity. More liberal use of temporary pastures like rye and sudan grass in combination with permanent pastures could help do this.

Sarah Reck Makes Good To Eat Valentines

After that said, when I got lonely about it. Mom and I thought it would be nice to make them in the shape of a heart and give them to the children in my class for Valentine's Day. Instead of cards.

Sarah said the cookies made quite a hit and have since become an annual Valentine's Day project.

"It will be sort of hard to do this year," she remarked, "because my class is all divided up. Sarah is in her first year of high school. She'll still do quite a bit of baking, but not with the boys."

"I wrote a friend's name on one cookie in red frosting, and my name on another. Then I wrap them back to back in transparent film.

This is the recipe for the Valentine cookies:

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 tbsp. milk
1/4 tsp. vanilla

Sift the flour, measure, sift again with baking powder and salt. Cream together butter and sugar.

Add the beaten eggs, then add the milk and vanilla. Add flour, mix thoroughly. It is a soft dough. (Chill for easy handling.)

Turn dough on a well floured board and roll 1/4 inch thick. Sprinkle with sugar, if you wish. Cut out heart-shaped cookies. Place on a buttered cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate 375 degree oven for 8 to 10 minutes. Cool. This confection takes one dozen 4 x 5 inch cookies.

Sarah had her recipe for her Valentine cookies printed in Town Journal, February issue. Her monthly Claire, has one been associated with the magazine as a member of its Family Test Group. Sarah's father, Frank M. Reck, is managing editor of the Lancaster Mercury Times.

Lenten Services At Emanuel

In announcing plans for the week day Lenten services in Emanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church, Rev. Karl H. A. Rest said that the Lenten devotionals which have been placed in every home in the congregation since the twenty-two visitors who started their home calls on Sunday afternoon, February 5. The general variety.

"With Jesus on the Way to Calvary" for the Lenten devotionals will begin on Ash Wednesday, February 15, at 8 p.m. with Pastor Rest preaching on the topic, "With Jesus on the Way to Jerusalem." This will be the Preparatory Service for the Holy Communion which will be observed on the first Sunday in Lent, February 19, following the regular morning worship. The topics for the subsequent Wednesday evenings will be: February 22, "With Jesus in the Temple"; February 29, "With Jesus in the Upper Room"; March 7, "With Jesus in Gethsemane"; March 14, "With Jesus in the Courtroom"; March 21, "With Jesus on the Via Dolorosa."

During Holy Week there will be no Wednesday evening service but there will be the Preparatory Service on Holy Thursday and the Good Friday Evening Holy Communion Service.

On Good Friday afternoon Emanuel will cooperate with the other churches of the community in the Good Friday Holy Communion service which will be held in the afternoon.

On Sunday mornings Pastor Rest will preach a series of sermons on "The Spiritual Disciplines of the Christian Life." On February 11, the sermon will be on the theme, "The Discipline of Worship."

Pastor Rest has announced that he is making plans for a "Class in Church Membership for Adults" which will begin on February 29 after the Lenten service and will run for one hour, from 9 to 10 a.m. Those who would like to take up membership in Emanuel are urged to get in touch with Pastor Rest at their earliest opportunity. The "Class in Church Membership for Adults" will run for four consecutive Wednesday evenings, following the Lenten service.

Main Street

We were trying to tell Fred Parker, new with the Enterprise, a bit about our Main Street column which hasn't appeared in a long, long time. Many of the readers have inquired why and the answer is always the same, no time to write it and no time to get it set.

With Mr. Parker here there may be time to sandwich in if our readers will want it. To explain what goes into Main Street would be impossible because it isn't confined to the street which extends from the new school out to Spike's Mobil Service. It takes in incidents which happen in Sharon or Bridgewater, yes, and Main Street. It takes in lots of interesting tidbits. The too, it was a place to put something which should be in the paper—but goodness knows where—and maybe too small for a special head and couldn't be classified as a local.

To Main Street we could tell you that Dr. Henry Eames vaccinated some 75 dogs in the recent call at the Washenaw Road Commission's yard here. That Doc said all the dogs were one, behaved well. And that reminds us that our big white collie still has that trip to the vet. Only one that, that first time did Laddie attend a vaccination clinic and Barnum and Bailey never put on a better act. We'd tell you that school was

Youth Group Elects Officers At Emanuel

At the last meeting of the Youth Fellowship, the following officers were elected: Pauline Buss, president; Kay Kemner, vice-president; Alvin Kulekamp, treasurer; Mary Schiel, secretary.

After the meeting Norbert Pfaffe gave an interesting talk on "A Camping Trip in Germany."

The Youth Group sang a hymn in church on Youth Sunday, January 29.

During the week officers met with Rev. Karl Rest to plan future meetings.

The next meeting will be February 9 from 8 to 10 in the Emanuel church hall.

A panel discussion will be held with the Youth Fellowship officers as panelists. The topic will be "Boy and Girl Relationships."

ed church performed the service. Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a ballerina white nylon tulle which featured a full-length bodice, halter neckline and a draped sheath effect with a full over skirt. She wore a pill box hat and carried a cascade of white and pastel pink roses.

Mrs. Joyce Tibb, Manchester, friend of the bride was maid-of-honor. Her ballerina length dress was of pink crystaline trimmed with a darker shade. She wore a matching bolero over the strapless gown. The skirt was very full and was accented by a large matching bow in back with streamers.

Robert Huber, brother of the bride was best man.

Mrs. Huber chose grey nylon lace over rose taffeta for her daughter's wedding and pink accessories completed her costume. The bridegroom's mother was attired in turquoise, cut on princess lines with black accessories. Both wore corsages of pink carnations and roses.

A reception followed at the Emanuel church hall. Mrs. Robert Huber, sister-in-law of the bride, set the wedding cake. Miss Margaret Lee Huber, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Daniel Goodman and Mrs. Stanley Kemner, Adrian, and Carol Wals, Manchester, sisters of the bridegroom.

When the couple left on a short wedding trip the bride was wearing a periwinkle colored sheath dress with black accessories.

Pet. Wals will return to St. Riley, Kansas where he is stationed in the U.S. Army. His bride expects to join him a short time later. The new Mrs. Wals is a graduate of Manchester high school and is secretary for Stanton G. Roesch.

Frank Reek, Civic Club President, presided at the evening meeting of the Manchester Civic Club at Emanuel Church Social parlors.

The list of prominent men present included almost every important official in Agricultural pursuits in Michigan. Mr. McCulloch of the Michigan State Fair Board was among the nobles and gave a very enlightening talk on the State Fair and various Livestock Expositions around the country in which Michigan farmers exhibited.

Mr. McIntyre received a most novel introduction by Mr. Frank Reek, Club President, and Mr. Geo. Merriman, Manchester's general postmaster.

The ladies who served the delicious dinner really outdid themselves and were complimented on a grand job.

Manchester Farm Bureau Planning Committee Said Manchester Needing Plan

Manchester village and the surrounding township are at an "economic cross roads" because of an expanding population, removal of an industry from the area and a proposed highway, two speakers told the Southwest Planning Committee, meeting at the Manchester High School.

Members of the planning committee decided village and township will need to get together while planning zoning so "adoption of individual ordinances will be coordinated."

Unified Zoning Could Be Answer For Manchester

Manchester's future came in for a thorough discussion last Thursday evening at a meeting of the Southwest Planning Committee.

The meeting was addressed by Kenneth R. Houck, district representative of the Michigan Department of Economic Development, who discussed the various conditions that must be met by the industry to be attracted to this area. His remarks were amplified by J. O. Coates, industrial development engineer of the Consumers Power Company.

Saturn S. Farson, director of the County Planning Commission, brought out the need for a wide planning. Many of the conditions to be followed in the planning area are likely to have a rise in the village and the townships.

Dear Editor:

Thank you for the generous attention to the news story of my husband's death. I am enclosing a money order for $100.00. If you have any copies of that date left, I should be most grateful for the number you could send for that amount of course retaining enough to cover the postage. When I resigned by position in the High School at Manchester, George A. Smith who was Superintendent of Schools, said I would regret it. And I always have, because my years in Manchester were happy, and I had many many good friends among my pupils and my colleagues. I hope I can go back to see the development that has taken place in the nearly forty years since I left.
