League Prexy Looks

Thursday, June 7,1956

Will Harridge celebrated his silver anniversary as president of the American League on May 27, this association with the league goes back much further than that, back to December, 1911, when he started out as accretary to Ban Johnson, the league's founder and first president.

Harridge's dramatic career will rival a Horatio Alger novel. In his 45-year-apan, Harridge paw the American League ship ride out many a severe storm. It survived two world wars, the worst scandia in baseball history when the Black Sox threw the 1919 world's Series, and internal dissension growing out of Johnson's filness in his final years as president.

However, it was the sturdiness with which Johnson laid down the keel of the ship that made it so indestructible. The American League seemed to grow stronger and more prosperous as it weathered each new adversity.

Harridge has no thought of retirem it, his health is good, but will suggest to the club owners that a younger man might serve them better.

As for his view of the game to the will to win out. There isn't as single problem before baseball which is not surmountable.

Let the moaners stop moaning.

Harridge himself gives all the credit to Johnson. "As far as I'm concerned. It's still Ban Johnson's league. The stamp of his character is still on it. He founded the league on the platform of stamping out rowdylsm and had langing out rowd

How To Teach Children To Pray By Mary Rood Newland, author of WE AND OUR CHILDREN

By Mary Reed Newland, author of WR AND OUR CHILDREN

RADIO AND TV announcers have been telling the story of a young child saying her prayers.
It seems that as the child reaches the end of the Lord's Prayer, she lisps innocently, "And lead us not into Penn Station."

It is humorous to hear youngsters get confused in prayers they have memorized. But it would be wong for us to make our attitude towards our children's prayers one solely of serior you less seep, think shoul says Jesus and how the sabut Baby Jesus and how the was just the same size as our Peter." It is helpful to remind the sability of children to grasp spiritual truth. They are not surprised when little Jimmy makes a profound remark about his father or mother. It should not surprise them that children can learn a whole lot about God.

I HAVE FOUND from my own children that they can learn to memorize the Lord's Prayer at quite an early age. But the children that they can learn to memorize the Lord's Prayer and give children a means of conversing with God in a way that makes sense to the child.

When the child says "Dear Jesus" he grasps that he is should fall to give his child.
