We asked several Sunday school teachers and heads of primary departments in church schools the age at which they believed children can comprehend the real meaning of Easter and the victory of Jesus Christ over Death, and it was the opinion of most that all three-year-olds can understand what the Festival of Easter means. Children generally take the Easter rabbit, beskets of candy and gifts as just a means of celebrating Easter, as Santa Claus helps celebrate the birthday of Christ.

On Easter morning she brought her small charges to perform before the entire congregation to show how they understood the meaning of the Festival. Her first question in from of her audience was, "Now, who can tell us all the reason we celebrate Easter?"

She beamed proudly when the tiny hand of her smalled daughter sho tinto the air, "All right, Ruthie," she said. "You tell us, Why do we have Easter?" Tiny Ruthie stood up happilly in her new frilly dress and perfx new bonnet and said loudly, "We have Easter so we can all get new clothes and I don't have to wear Barbara's old hat."

There's Fun in the Wind for 'Ground Pilots'

The designs, shapes, sizes and colors of the first "flying machines" may change from season to season, but the sport of kite flying, year after year, is one of the first herealds of Spring. Hundreds of youngsters during the next few weeks will be assembling and flying kites, and by the observance of simple sayety rules, these young Benjamin Franklins can keep the dangers out and the fun in this ever-popular sport.

Hi Neighbor:

We like the word "cop" and have never considered it—a decognitory term when applied to any policemen. It's short, snappy and foll of rest. It's expressive of the typical American custom of catting familiar figures by nicknames or so-called slang planases, such as "Door, "Gob", "It, "like", "Abe", "wiac", "Louthernock" or "Con". The origin of the word "COP" is disputed. Some claim it began in England, from Constable of Police; some say from the initials of Chief of Police and some say it refers to the large copper bearse early policeman wore. to the large copper badge early policeman word.

We think that perhaps "flatfoot" should be frowned on by Sat. Friday's critics, not so much because it might be derogatory, but the old-fashioned cop who pounded a beat is largely About thirty guests including her sons Romer and family of the reference should be to some other part of the anatomy.

We like "Cop". In any emergency we'd all snap, "Call a cop quick!", not bow humbly toward Los Angeles and say, "Please summon a law enforcement officer immediately."

What does your favorite policemen think about this?

Hi, Neighbor!

There is no law forcing you to go—no secret police to inform on you if you don't vote—no law that forces you to yote for a picked candidate of a tyrannical ruling power.

You have a choice. You can vote or you can stay away from the voting booths. If you choose to vote, you still have a choice—sometimes several choices. If you choose to take an active part in the election you choose to take an active part in the election. can express your view and back your candidates or your side of issues to be decided. You can stay at home, or you can "go politikin' " Monday. You can even stand and hand out cards and literature to voters on their way to the polls, hoping that some of the ballot-casters haven't yet made a choice on how to mark their ballots.
