May Madness

Hi, Neighbor! By Elva V. MacQueen

On May 1st, the traditional day of celebration for Russian Communists, a "diplomatic victory" was being heralded in Washington. A tinny-voiced of a country in the Middle East had "reluctantly" consented to "accept" $10,000,000 of United States taxpayers' money. This diplomatic victory was "of great significance" because the 21-year-old King "did not favor the Eisenhower Doctrine" therefore funds earmarked to support this doctrine which was formulated to keep peace in the Middle East, were not acceptable to the little king. So the $10,000,000 had to be taken from another fund before the money would be accepted.

Future events may prove this a sound policy, and we hope that, instead of chirping "I told you so," as Confucius said, we were confused.

In annual Spring inventory of Midady's dressing table with its dazzling array of magic tonics, perfume, cosmetic collections and curvy wigs of wonderful experiments in the shortcuts to bedazzle the males of the species, let's choose a new fragrance for the Merry Month of May.

Enchanting, Madam or What's Cooking?

Of all the perfumes women use, the nicest ladies that you meet will wear "My Sin" and "Indiscreet."

But I believe, much overrated. I'll bet if you would read the labels on bottles on our dressing tables, the normal man would hesitate to ask a lady for a date.

If I put on my best perfume, (My husband's name, I assume.) Do you know what he'll say? "Just sniff, and softly murmur, 'Pheuw!'"

Perfumes, to ladies, show good taste. To normal men they're just a waste.

So now I'm planning on a switch. That I believe will make me rich. I'll make a dreamy perfume mist. That no man living can resist. I'll make a haze of hasty stew. With lots of onion, (garlic too!)

With chives and herbs I'll weave a spell. With all the food men love to smell. And butter, just a great, big gob. Fried chicken, crisp and brown and nice. And apple pie, just drenched with spice.

Then finally coffee, strong and hot. Then I'll brew all these in one big pot. Thus, I'll achieve a scent sublime. And call my perfume, "Dinner-time."

All strained and bottled up as well. Imagine how that stuff will smell. So spicy, rich and sweetly yummy. Win man's heart, via his tummy. Women will hanker at his door. You know the second men hunger for. Think what a boost I'll give romance. Poor bachelors won't have a chance.

Old maids who thought all was past will be pursued by men at last. And wedding bells will surely chime. For girls who switch to "Dinner-time."

Then I'll then wear diamonds, rubies, pearls. And dine with kings and dukes and earls. And even after income tax, I'll have mink coats and Cadillacs. Then I'll live in a pent-house high. You know the first thing that I'll buy. When all that cash comes rolling in? A king-size bottle of "My Sin!"

On Germany Ditty

The faces at the Camp, one he Bill Bross, Jr. phoned home, knew well. Bob Eisenbater, who he absolutely had also arrived at the Camp and the two were slated to leave on the same boat for Germany more than pleased to find among many.

3 Youths Hurt In Car Crash

Three youths were injured in a spectacular crash at 2:15 p.m. Friday when the car in which they were riding went out of control in Freedom township, turned over three times and skidded to a stop on its roof.

Sheriff deputies said Michael A. Terry, 24, of 218 S. Ashley Street, Ann Arbor was driving west on Pleasant Lake Road near Fletcher road at the time of the accident. Passengers in the car were Robert M. Smith, 16, of Manchester and Donald S. Sauer, 16, of this Jackson road, Seo township, deputies said.

Officers reported that the car apparently was being driven at a high rate of speed and failed to make a curve in the highway.

When Deputies John Spalding and Eugene Kuhl arrived at the accident scene they found Terry slumped lying near the overturned car. Samuel was not present. The two injured youths were placed in an ambulance and transported to University Hospital.

After the accident investigation had been completed at the scene, Sheriff's Detective Sgt. Harry B. Roman was called to the scene. He reported that the car was in the area to take pictures of the wrecked car, was proceeding south on M-24 returning to his office when he spotted Samuel hitchhiking along the road.

Sgt. Roman stopped his car and picked up the Seo township youth. Samuel said he had left the accident scene minutes after the crash. Officers said an investigation of the wreck is continuing.

At University Hospital Terry was reported in fair condition with head injuries and lacerations while the Seo township youth was in good condition with a fractured collar bone and a fractured, right leg. Samuel was treated at the hospital for a shoulder bruise
