Little Leagers Need T Shirts

Though the Committee on Baseball Division of the Summer Recreation Program is not yet ready to make a report on the uniform, Rev. Karl M. A. Rest says that interest has been expressed in having the committee to get funds from individuals interested in boys so that uniforms may be purchased.

Hope is expressed by the Committee that people will now shift gears and pass from the "talkie" stage to the "doing phase" of the program.

If you want to see these "little leagers" in the distinguished Manchester T-shirts, give your contribution to any member of the committee, composed of Charles Miller, Al Simmons, and Rev. Karl M. A. Rest.

"Make your check payable to Baseball Division S.R.P. (Summer Recreation Program)." Some people have expressed interest in securing a little better grade of shirt than was contemplated at first. The best way to determine this is by the amount of financial support that is given by the community.

Small Town Folks Aid At Work Bee

About thirty people from this area joined at a bee Sunday to help Mr. William Kirk finish work started on his farm home two years ago. Her late husband had purchased lumber and had reroofed all but the front of the house, which also needed a new porch. The front of the frame structure had been insulated when the work suddenly stopped when William Kirk was hospitalized.

He never regained his health and work on the farm home was at a stand still. Mr. Kirk died this spring leaving his wife and five children. Joanne, Dorene, Rose, Bill and Dominic.

A short time ago Wilbur Shadley, local contractor, laid the plan for finishing the remodeling job. He carefully instructed young Bill how to dig and place the new concrete foundation for the porch and the cement was poured before the Sunday bee.

Then at 8:30 a.m. Shadley and two of his men and other friends and neighbors joined in to erect the porch and take off part of one bedroom and enlarge another one on the new siding and do many other jobs on the project. Paint brushes were busy at work covering the new wood. By night the porch was up, the siding on and painted.

There still remains some work to do but Mr. Kirk expressed gratitude to all those who helped "the kind neighbors and friends the contractor and his men, Hal and to all who contributed their time and effort."
