Council Explains New Amendment

Asks For Removal Of 25% Property Valuation Limitation

At the annual election on Monday, March 10, the voters will be asked to vote on a proposed amendment to the Village Charter concerning special assessment procedures.

Under the present charter the village is limited to special assessments of 25 percent of the assessed value of the land to be benefited by a public improvement. The proposed charter amendment, if approved by the voters, will remove the 25 percent limitation.

A special assessment is a form of taxation designed to raise money for specific public improvements. Where general taxation of the village is to pay for the general needs of the village, special assessment is not imposed on the entire village but only on those properties which receive benefit from a particular public improvement being constructed. The assessment is generally made on a frontage basis on the property fronting on the particular improvement.

Typical of public improvements in which special assessments are used, are extension of sewer lines, water mains, and paving of streets. The recent sewage disposal plant and its intercepting lines could not be paid for by special assessment since it benefits the entire village and as a result, the entire village is being taxed to pay for it.

The Village Council is proposing the amendment to enable the village to raise more funds for certain public improvements, particularly for the extension of sewer lines, water mains, and paving of streets. It is felt that under the present limitation of 25 percent of assessed valuation, on special assessments, a sufficient amount of money could not be raised by the special assessment procedure to construct public improvements where needed.

The only other source of funds from which money could be raised to make such improvements would be through the use of taxes on the village. The present council feels that the use of the general taxes on the village to benefit on a large scale one particular area in the village would be unfair to all taxpayers who did not own property in the benefited area.

Since there has been considerable demand on the Council during the past year to construct extensive sewer lines in parts of the village not served by sewers, the Council is putting the amendment in effect as to the voters. If you want extensive public improvements, approve the amendment and give the Council the power to require the property owners benefited by the improvement to bear a greater proportion of the cost of it. Without this power, the village will not be able to undertake any extensive improvement in the sewer, water, and street systems except by taxing the entire village.

The proposed amendment, if approved, will change none of the other special assessment procedures now provided for in the charter. The Council will still have the power to declare a special assessment and the money raised by special assessment must be used on the improvement for which it was raised.

In order to give the voters a clearer picture of the proposed amendment to the charter, the following information was obtained from village attorney, William Laris.

The new building, presently houses the Department of Natural Sciences and the Division of Field Services.

Shortly before the dedication of the Strong Physical Science Building, Sherer Hall will be formally rededicated. Vice President Bruce K. Nelson and members of the faculty of the Department of Natural Science will officiate.

Two-In-Room Plan Gives Each Privacy

Privacy and work-leisure comforts are essential in a room for the growing child. Fortunately, even a room that has to be shared by two youngsters can have these essentials through the medium of a functional room divider. A free plan detailing "two of everything" for the two boys or two girls tells how to use common building materials—lumber and Masonite Presdwood—for modernizing a room for youth.

Separate desks, closets, bulletin boards and cabinets are features. The plan also shows how to construct a radiator enclosure and soffit of "Masonite" over a fluorescent fixture.

Presdwood is specified in the plan because it is considered by many builders to be an ideal material for home modernization. Lumber dealers carry a variety of sizes, thicknesses and patterns for use in building the U. P. project. To obtain the free plan, write the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill., and request No. AE-268.

Deer Starvation Losses Expected To Be Heavy

LANSING—Severe winter conditions hit Michigan deer during the week ending February 17, setting the stage for possibly heavy starvation losses in parts of the upper peninsula.

Cold weather, high winds and snow squalls blew across most of the state, with bad storms in the northwest portion of the U. P.

The Conservation Department's district game office at Escanaba reported particularly severe conditions in an area south of Lake Superior from Marquette to Munising and extending south to near Treasury. Snow depths of 12 inches were registered in the area, and serious deer losses can be expected if winter weather is prolonged.

Deer were confined to yarding areas throughout the U. P. except in southernmost portions of the Crystal Falls and Newberry districts and on Drummond Island. Western and northern parts of the peninsula recorded snow depths of 2-4 feet.

Deer also were experiencing the most serious conditions of the year in the northern lower peninsula, with snow depths ranging from 12 to 30 inches. White-tailed rangeland was restricted considerably during the week.
