This Week's Ideas
 — for Sportsmen

When cooking outdoors, make your fire as small as possible — of oak, maple, walnut or birch, smokes less and the coals last longer. Evergreens are good fire starters, but are no good to cook over because of their pitchy smoke and because their coals don't last. Wait until the fire has burned down to coals before starting to cook. For a 26 page illustrated booklet filled with easy outdoor cooking ideas and recipes, just send a postcard to "Joe Baker, Jr., Box 414, White Plains, New York," and ask for a copy of "The Easy Way To Outdoor Cooking." This authoritative booklet is free to sportsmen. After cooking, let's remember to burn or bury refuse and pour water over the fire until it is soaking wet. Keep the fire safe — and the campsite clean!

Poisonous Plants

Please don't eat the daisies! Doctors at the University of Michigan Medical Center warn that many plants and weeds, from June through August, produce high concentrations of alkaloid drugs, which are poisonous.

The more dangerous plants are classified as "Solanaceae." These include the Jimsonweed and the common nightshade. Both contain powerful alkaloid drugs.

Other common plants in the Solanaceae family are the ground cherry, tobacco, tomato and potato.

Jimsonweed and nightshades are often found near yards and, along the edges of cleared fields. There is no clearcut way of identifying the poisonous varieties except that they resemble the vines of the ordinary potato or tomato plant.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh A Tip From Our "Cap" Couple of months ago, Cap Anderson traded in that fifteen-year-old rattletrap of his and purchased a new snazzy '59 model car. A real beauty, two-tone and complete with power-everything. But yesterday, of all things, Cap rattled into town behind the wheel of his old car. Naturally, all of us wanted to find out "How come?" "Bought it back," said Cap. "I'm now a two-car family. I like my new car because it looks real modern—but I like this car because it's real me!" From where I sit, all of us have certain affections that grow more a part of us with each passing year. For instance, when I think of Saturday night, I always think of my easy chair and a cold glass of beer. Your idea may be something else. But let's not ask each other to "change"—let's just respect the other fellow's preference. Agreed? Joe Marsh Copyright, 1959, United States Brewers Foundation

No rest for this Chevy... round the clock the engine never stops! At Washington's bustling National Airport, Allied Aviation Fueling counts on its radio-equipped Chevy to get crews and tank trucks to the right places at just the right time. Aside from occasional time out for the usual service, its Thrift-master 6-cylinder engine has been running 24 hours a day for the past 9 months! Once you've got that kind of endurance working you don't worry much about lost job time. Breakdowns go out of style the day your Chevy goes into action. The fact is, Chevrolet trucks are dead set on dropping the word "downtime" right out of the English language. And they just might, if precision engineering and top-quality materials have anything to say about it. Chevy trucks are put together to stay together—incorporating the most advanced chassis developments, the most efficient 6-cylinder and V8 engine designs. They're built to last, built to keep Chevrolet's hard-earned reputation for reliability flying high. Going into the real heart of Chevrolet advantages is where your dealer comes in. He'll show you, in feature after feature, that you can't buy more truck dependability—in any weight class—at any price. No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!
