Residents of the Manchester Public School District will vote Monday, July 13th in the annual School Election in the High School Music Room at 710 E. Main Street. Polls will be open from 1 p. m. until 8 p. m.

At that time two trustees shall be elected for three year terms to the Manchester Public School Board of Education.

The two candidates on the ballot are LoRen Trolz and Laurel Breitenwischer.

Residents will also vote on a half-mill tax levy to provide special education for the county's 3,072 handicapped children including 78 in the Manchester district. Actual cost figures on the special education tax in Washtenaw County have been prepared by Miss Sylvia M. Braun tax accountant and bookkeeper in the Washtenaw County School Superintendent's Office.

The cost for each $1,000 of assessed valuation in Bridgewater Township is 99 cents; Freedom, $1.02; Manchester 91 cents; and Sharon, $1.02.

If approved the program will be administered by the Washtenaw County Bd. of Education, assisted by an appointive advisory committee composed of two school superintendents, three school board members and the State Supt. of Public Instruction or his agent.

The County would hire a qualified director to serve as co-ordinator of local and county-wide programs.

The local tax would pay costs of education over and above state aid.

Slim Pickups!

Slim Thomas' wife thought up a pretty slick way to get Slim to clean up their front porch. Slim had a habit of leaving his tools there before coming into the house. And he'd always tell his Missus he'd get around to tidying up later. So Mrs. T. nailed a large sign to the porch for all passers-by to see: "THOMAS' JUNK PILE. DUMP YOUR OLD EQUIPMENT HERE!" When Slim saw the sign he cleaned that porch so fast he was through before any junk deposition turned up. Threw the sign out, too. From where I sit, sometimes it takes the "dramatic" to show folks they're wrong. But usually you can solve things by talking them out. For instance, my neighbor once objected to my preference for an occasional glass of beer. But after discussing it with him, he realized he was just plain intolerant. Now he accepts my choice as I accept his. What do you say we "clean up" intolerant thinking?

SALINE — A fire which started in the kitchen of a frame house in Bridgewater township caused extensive damage to the rear of the home Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. John Livingstone, Jr., of 8275 Schellenberg Rd., and their five small children fled their burning home shortly before Saline volunteer firemen arrived. The Manchester township fire department also responded to a call to the scene. Fire fighters confined the flames to the rear of the house but damage in that area was extensive, they said. No damage estimate was available. Grease burning on the kitchen stove may have started the blaze, firemen said.

MICHIGAN BLUECOATS will be on hand for the centennial observance of the Battle of Bull Run.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams has announced plans to send a contingent to help reenact the Civil War battle that ended in a disastrous rout of the Northern forces.

Michigan and 22 other states were invited by Virginia Gov. J. Lindsay Almond to send troops to Virginia in July, 1961, to reenact the battle known in the South as the First Battle of Manassas Junction.

Although the battle ended with Northern forces in a rout, the fighting men of Michigan distinguished themselves in covering the retreat.

MICHIGAN'S FIRST, SECOND, Third and Fourth Regiments had more than 4,000 troops in the battle area, according to a report by the Michigan Historical Commission.

At least 30 Michigan National Guard troops are expected to represent the state in the reenactment that will be the start of a four-year Civil War centennial observance.

Floyd Haight, chairman of the Michigan Civil War Centennial Commission, said the uniforms will be provided by Ladies' auxiliaries of state guard units.

"Mr. Haight and his commission have been promised the full cooperation of state agencies and I am confident that an equal degree of support will be forthcoming from civic-minded groups in all parts of our two peninsulas," Williams said in a letter to the Virginia governor.

THE MICHIGAN TROOPS participating in the original battle came from throughout the southern half of the Lower Peninsula.

The Second and Third Regiments, which were assigned to cover the retreat, came from Detroit, Hudson, Battle Creek, Adrian, Niles, Flint, Constantine, Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Sarnac, Lansing, Lyons and Muskegon.

The First Regiment, which had heavy losses in the battle, had units from Jackson, Coldwater, Manchester, Ann Arbor, Burr, Ypsilanti and Marshall.

The Fourth Regiment had men from Monroe, Adrian, Sargis, Ann Arbor, Hillsdale, Hudson, Tecumseh, Jonesville, Trenton and Dexter.

STATE OFFICIALS ARE turning their attention back to another war — World War I.

A bill has been introduced in the legislature by Sen. Haskell L. Nichols (R-Jackson) to allow a World War I infantryman to collect a $108 service bonus that has been denied to him 42 years.

Ross M. Hall, 58-year-old Brooklyn, Mich., factory worker, led about his age and signed up for service in 1917 at the age of 16.

THE ARMY DIDN'T GET around to giving him his discharge papers until 1946, which was well past the deadline for applying for the service bonus.

Now Nichols is asking the state to give Hall special consideration.

A NEW DEVELOPMENT in Michigan's modern day war against criminals is now in use. A new Michigan law enforcement blockade plan was put in effect June 25 following a study by the Michigan State Police, the Michigan Sheriffs' Association and the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police.

"IT MARKS A DISTINCT advance in methods formerly used to apprehend fleeing criminals and is believed to be the only plan of its kind patterned on a statewide basis," a joint announcement by the enforcement agencies said. Under the plan, 253 agencies were given a predetermined schedule of blockade points to cover.

MORE THAN 50 ADDITIONAL agencies will "free lance" on roads when needed to assist or relieve at control points in their areas.

"The minutes saved as well as the improved coverage is expected to result in many apprehensions which formerly were frustrated," the joint announcement said.

The blockade plan does not include the Upper Peninsula because the area has relatively few highways over which escape can be attempted.

The agencies decided to draft the plan following escapes by criminals who were able to cross the state border ahead of blockade set up on spur-of-the-moment decisions.

MSU Field Day Will Show Corn Weed Control

Troubled with weeds in your corn but can't seem to get it cultivated in the busy work season?

Chemical weed control can be the answer to your weed control problems and boost corn yields, too, say farm crop specialists at MSU.

Although it's too late to do any weed control with chemicals this year, now is the time to look over weed control practices with an eye toward next year.

Visitors to Crops-Soils Field day at MSU July 9 can look over chemical weed control experiments in corn as they tour research plots on the University farms.

Tractor-drawn wagons will take visitors around the farm beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Boyd Churchill, farm crop scientist, who will be talking about his weed control research, points out that pre-emergence spraying with chemicals can boost corn yields 5 to 10 per cent.

Churchill has found that spraying with one pound of 2,4-D ester per acre pre-emergence with one cultivation gives five per cent higher yields than three cultivations and no spraying.

Spraying with simazine, one of the newer herbicides, has given a 10 per cent higher yield than conventional three cultivations and no spraying.

Simazine is also used as an over-the-row spray with cultivation between the row, according to Churchill.

Pre-emergence spraying gives better control than post-emergence, says Churchill. This method boosts yields through degenerated weed competition for soil and water nutrients.

Look For Corn Prices About Same As '58

Prices on the 1959 corn crop will stay about as high as last year, predicts John Ferris, extension agricultural economist at MSU.

Corn prices probably will drop below $1 per bushel around harvest time, says Ferris. Then the southern Michigan price should get up to $1.15 per bushel by next summer.

Prices in the 1959 60 crop year will be tied to the $1.15 support rate.

Crop reports show the nation will likely produce about 152 million tons of corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums this year, the economist reports.

This would be less than last year, but above average for the past five years. The average United States support price on oats is 50 cents per bushel, 11 cents below last year, Ferris explains.

He feels fall oat prices will drop below last year's level. But they shouldn't dip as much as the support price. Farmers can feed more oats in place of corn if oat prices are comparatively low. So corn prices influence the prices of other feed grains.

The Commodity Credit Corporation has about 60 million tons of feed grains — one-half of a normal year's crop, the economist reports. Storage alone costs nearly a million dollars a day.

The C.C.C. owns or has under loan about 88 per cent of the carryover from past year.

Ferris feels a 30-million ton carryover might be justified because it would help assure a stable supply each year. This amount might come in handy in case of war or a bad crop year.

Ferris says the nation will use about as much feed grain as it produces this year. Farmers will likely feed more livestock than they have in the 1958-59 crop year.

Take a tip from the experts... in their own words... and from on-the-record facts and figures: More than ever, Chevrolet gives you more than any other of the leading low-priced three! More room to relax in, for instance. A sampling of official dimensions reported to A.M.A. makes this clear. Chevy front seat hip room, for one thing, is up to 39 inches wider than comparable cars. And Chevy even offers more front seat head room than all but one of the high-priced cars!

Best Brakes Not only bigger, but built with bonded linings for up to 60% longer life. Just to prove what's what, Chevy out-stopped both of the "other two" in a NASCAR-conducted test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

Best Style It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

Best Engine Every motor magazine has given Chevrolet's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "... surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

Best Ride MOTOR TRENDS magazine calls Chevy "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." You'll be able to tell this yourself instantly, once you take the wheel.

Best Economy No doubt about this: two Chevrolet's won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car, 22.38 miles per gallon—with Powerglide.

Best Trade-in Check in any N.A.D.A.'s Guide Book. Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."
