

WOOL AID FILING DEADLINE EXTENDED:

The final date for filing applications for payments under the national wool program is extended this year until Monday, May 2, it was announced today.

Max M. Kalmbeck, chairman of the Washtenaw County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said the deadline has been extended because the normal final date of April 30 falls on Saturday.

Kalmbeck said the applications are to show all sales of wool and unborn lambs during the period from April 1, 1959, through March 31, 1960.

A sale during that period is considered completed if title has passed to the buyer, the wool has been delivered and the net sales proceeds are known.

SOGGY FIELDS SLOW PLANTING:

Wet fields continue to slow planting activity in Michigan, the federal-state crop reporting service said today.

The service warned that locally heavy rain Sunday night will mean further delays, particularly on the heavier soils.

Land preparation and small grain planting is lagging about 10 days behind normal.

Except for the lighter, well-drained soils in southern lower Michigan, practically no field work has been done in the state.

By the end of last week, only about 10 per cent of the oats and spring barley acreage was planted. The service predicted some oat acreage probably will be shifted to a later planted crop such as corn.

Sugar beets were being planted, but in limited amounts. Most legume seedings were in good condition, although lagging a little due to low early season temperatures.

Early plantings of winter wheat were also in good condition, but late plantings were less promising.

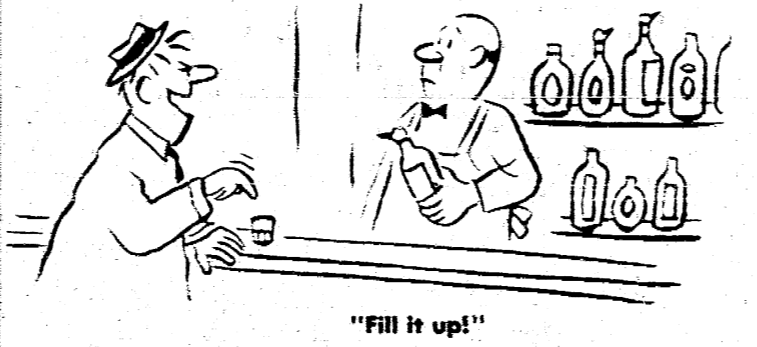

Pastures, with a good moisture supply now in the soil, were expected to show rapid growth as the spring advances.

Fruit tree bud and blossom development was five to 10 days behind normal in most sections. One exception occurred in parts of Berrien county, where unseasonably high temperatures brought sweet cherries, plums and early peaches into bloom ahead of time.

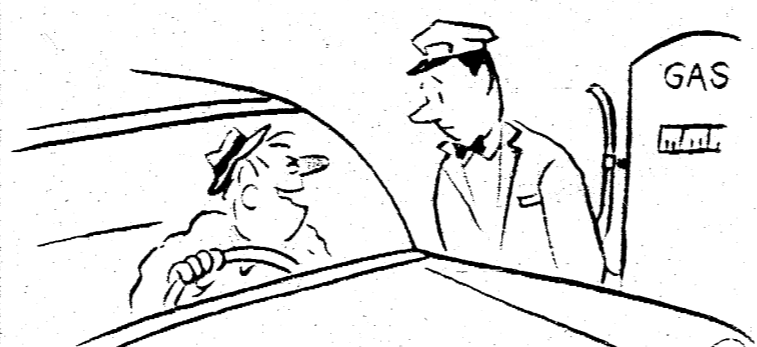

Apples were in the green tip stage in southern counties. In the north, buds were mostly in the swelling stage. Rodent damage was locally heavy in a few fruit areas.

Except for the Upper Peninsula, fruit trees had progressed far enough to be damaged by frost.

FARM VALUATIONS STUDY PLANNED

George Kostishak, county equalization adviser, was directed yesterday by the Board of Supervisors to make a study of the equalized valuations on farms in the county.

Supervisors have complained that a recent report of the State Tax Commission put high valuations on farms because they are potential areas for subdivision development.

Supr. Sylvester Leonard of Augusta township said the report put values on the farms which represented 50 per cent their true cash value, but that in actual cases the farmers weren't able to sell the land for more than the 50 per cent value.

Supr. William I. Scheel of Salem township, chairman of the board's equalization committee, said that in his township that farms were valued at $500 an acre although much of the land is swamp.

Kostishak was instructed by the committee to study farm values in Washtenaw county and compare them with valuations in counties adjoining Washtenaw. He is to begin making appraisals of farms in townships which have the highest valuations on this type of property and then work through the rest of the county.

This will be the first step in a complete study of all classes of property in the county.

WASHTENAW VALUATION SOARS

Washtenaw county's new equalized valuation, a significant factor in the levying of various property taxes, is $592,555.640.

That figure is $107,381,640 more than the total equalized valuation of $485,174,000 set by the state for the county last year. The new figure is $30,222,640 more in county equalized valuation than recently recommended by a controversial report of the State Tax Commission.

An equalized valuation figure to be set at the state level will be the one on which taxes will be based officially.

Two supervisors voting for adoption of the equalized valuation report said they did so under protest. They were Suprs. Emory Minnolaand of Superior township and Freeman Weber of Northfield township.

They indicated that they were making the protests so that they might appeal to the State Tax Commission later. Those protesting indicated they are unhappy with the figures but didn't want to block adoption of the county equalization report.

The State Board of Equalization will meet on May 23 to set state equalized valuations for the 83 counties in the state.

"We're going to have to accept this," Supr. William I. Scheel of the board's equalization committee said of the figure.

"If anyone has anything to complain about, I think I do, because the taxes in my township are going to be 2.09 times higher than they have been. But I don't think we'll gain anything by refusing to adopt this report."

Scheel said the State Tax Commission will recommend to the State Board of Equalization that it use its figures for Washtenaw county as a base for computing the 1960 valuations.

TENTATIVE TAX ALLOCATION

Washtenaw County's Tax Allocation Board has chosen the way for giving a maximum of 10.2 mills of the 15 mill property tax to the Ann Arbor schools by tentatively allocating 4.8 mills to Washtenaw County.

The board will meet again May 10 in the office of County Treasurer William F. Verner to make the preliminary allocating official. It has until June 6 to make a final split of the 15-mill ($15 on each $1,000 of equalized valuation) tax. The final allocation determines the rate to be levied by the schools, county and townships against property assessments.

Verner was re-elected as chairman of the Tax Allocation Board for the coming year. Seven townships submitted budgets requiring a share of the property tax. The tentative preliminary allocation was made by the board to give it "something to talk about and to get the public reaction to such a division of the available millage."

It gives the county .8 of a mill less than it was given this year by the Tax Allocation Board and .12 of a mill less than called for by the $3,208,868 preliminary 1960 county operating budget adopted by the County Board of Supervisors.

Verner said the Tax Board could not estimate at this time the amount of money which could be raised by the millage tentatively given to the school districts because of a recent report by the State Tax Commission.

A $77,000,000 hike in equalized valuation of property here was recommended by the State Tax Commission after it had made on-the-spot appraisals of about one-fifth of the taxable property in the county. As a result each mill of taxing power will raise more tax money than in previous years.

The seven townships which submitted budgets requesting millage are, Manchester, Augusta, Northfield, Saline, Sylvan, Salem and Ypsilanti. Manchester's budget is $19,533 requiring $3,200 from the tax.

ELECTRIC DISHWASHER AID TO ETIQUETTE

Etiquette experts say it's rude to wash dishes while guests are still present. Clean the table, scrape and stack the dishes if you must, but don't wash them until guests have left, even if the sink is full of dirty pots and pans. Dishes and glassware piled in the kitchen is almost unbearable.
 Party manners can be remedied along with the kitchen if an automatic electric dishwasher is installed. It will be the hostess' answer to the dinner guest dilemma. She can put the pots and pans in the dishwasher before sitting down at the table. They'll be done automatically during dinner, ready to be put away to dinner dishes can go right from the table into the dishwasher.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Tune-in on the Pastime?

The electronic age continues to amaze me. Just read in a farm journal that cows can now be wired for sound... so that you can tell if they've been overeating!

Seems that before you turn a cow out to pasture, you can feed her a small transmitter powered by a flashlight battery.

Then all you do is sit comfortably at home and wait for a signal to show up on a recorder. Soon as you get a "bleep," you go out and fetch

"Bossie"—that signal means she's had enough.

From where I sit, I'd need a lot of "proving" before I would buy an idea like this one. But I'll listen! A closed mind on any subject—even to whether a cup of tea or a glass of beer is the best "refresher"—is not a tolerant mind. The American way is to never "short-circuit" what the other fellow has to say.

"POPPY DAY" DATE ANNOUNCED

The American Legion Auxiliary announced today that 1960 Poppy Day will be observed here on Saturday May 21st, 1960.

Mrs. William Richardson, Poppy Day chairman for the organization, said the annual observance is held to honor the more than half-million Americans who died, and the nearly one million Americans who were wounded, in both World Wars and the Korean Conflict.

"Memorial poppies, which are made by disabled veterans from this country's past three wars, will be worn both as a memorial to our war dead and as a tribute to the disabled." She added the red paper poppies supplied in this locality were made at the Veterans Hospital in Battle Creek, Michigan.

The American Legion Auxiliary said that Poppy Day has one basic purpose—to provide a personal means of honoring the nation's war dead. Volunteer workers from the Auxiliary have donated their time in order to hold the annual program.

Officials of the auxiliary said that although all funds received from Poppy Day go either to disabled veterans or their families, the main purpose of the observance is to honor America's war dead.
