

Michigan Cherry Festival Queen

When Murrice Tompkins, 18-year-old daughter of a leading Grand Traverse County fruit grower, ended her reign as Queen of the recent 1960 Cherry Festival at Traverse City there was a crop to help harvest. Visitors were amazed by the former 4-H member's ability to identify most cherry tree varieties by the shape and shade of their leaves, angle of branches, appearance of bark and height of tree. She is equally at home in such matters of orchard management as tree feeding, when and why to prune, and how to market for maximum returns. Murrice is widely known as an accomplished clarinetist. She enjoys water skiing and other sports, and is an avid reader of Shakespeare. She will enter Albion College this fall. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Seth Tompkins, and her sisters, 16-year-old Fran and Linda, 12, insist on list of Murrice Ann's accomplishments is complete without mention of her cherry pie baking ability.

Apple Butter - Spreads 'N Fillings

In bygone days, it was common practice to cook apple butter for six or eight hours. The recipe given below doesn't take so long because the quantity is smaller and less cider is used. If you can't come by sweet cider, substitute apple juice plus 4 or 5 drops of red food color.

Better make an extra batch or two to use for pie filling. For a nine inch pie, add a few dates or raisins, chopped nuts if you have them, and a dab of dairy butter to two cups homemade apple butter. Your favorite lunch totter will surely bless you if the pie shows up as half-moons or turnovers. For these, cut pastry into rounds or squares, put spoon of apple butter filling slightly below the center, dampen edge of lower half of pastry with water, and fold upper half over lower. Seal edges together by pressing with fingertips or fork. Prick with fork. Bake in hot oven for 10 or 15 minutes, or until brown as liked.

To Make Apple Butter—Wash, drain and slice 6 pounds (about 1/2 peck) tart apples into kettle. Add 1 pint cider and cook until apples are mushy. Press apples and juice through sieve to remove skin and seed. Boil apples until thick, then add 1 1/2 teaspoons ground cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon each cloves and salt and from 1 to 3 cups sugar, brown or white, to suit your taste. The general rule is 3/4 cup sugar to 1 cup sieved apple, but you may prefer more or less. Cook mixture until thick enough to round up in spoon. Watch it! Takes a heap of stirring to prevent sticking and scorching. Butter spatters, so stir with long handle spoon or paddle. Pour boiling hot butter into fruit jars. Put Dome Lid on jar; screw band tight. Process pints and quarts 10 minutes in a boiling-water bath.

4-H CLUB EXPANDS TO SOUTH AMERICA FRANKLIN RECK WRITES HISTORY

Throughout Latin America and the Caribbean Islands, boys and girls of the rural areas are joining a fast growing youth crusade for better living. Some 250,000 youngsters organized into 7,500 clubs in 24 countries, are taking part in the crusade, and their numbers are growing by the month.

Their history, status and activities are reported in a unique 176-page book announced as a joint publication by the Ford Motor Company and its American affiliates. Franklin M. Reck, of Manchester is the author. Mr. Reck is also the author of the 4-H Club history in the United States.

The rural youth clubs of Latin America are modeled closely after the 4-H clubs of the United States and are enjoying comparable success.

For more than half a century the Ford Motor Company has shared in the growth and history of the Latin American nations. From these relationships, they have learned to admire and respect the Latin American peoples and to better understand their needs and their opportunities. This book is a token of that feeling.

Ford Motor Company has been close to the farmer and to rural life ever since the days of the Model T and the U.S. Fordson tractor. It understands the role that agriculture must play in bringing about the conditions of life that people in all the Americas desire. It is particularly mindful of the role that rural youth must play in the future of American agriculture.

As an expression of international friendship, of its gratitude for the kind hospitality of many years, and of its hope for a better tomorrow Ford Motor Company dedicates this book to the rural youth of Latin America.

The 176 page Ford Year Book, which covers the history, activities and statistics of the fast-growing Latin American youth movement, reports that the 4-H has turned into 4-A, 4-S, 4-C and 4-F in the countries to the south. The 4-F for Ecuador stands for (Faith), Fecundidad (Fertility), Fortaleza (Strength) and Felicidad (Happiness). The 4-S emblem used in many countries, stands for Saber (know), Sentir (Feel), Servir (Serve) and Ser (Life to Being). The 4-C used in Chile, stands for Cabeza (Head), Corazon (heart), Capacidad (Capacity or Ability) Cooperacion (Cooperation).

In Argentina, the 4-A symbol is used meaning Accion (Action), Adiestramiento (Training), Ayuda (Aid or Help) and Amistad (Friendship). The book, which will also be published in Portuguese for Brazil, constitutes an effort by Ford Motor Company and its Latin American affiliates to contribute to increased agricultural productivity and higher living standards, by assisting the Latin American youth movement. The book will be distributed free to representatives of government, education churches, service clubs, press, rural youth clubs, and other legitimately interested in the rural youth activities in Latin America.

Ford Motor Company, for many years, has been interested in the farm youth movement in the United States, where the two major organizations are the 4-H clubs and the Future Farmers of America. The company has published several editions of the Ford Farm Almanac and has made extensive free distributions to the members of those youth organizations in North America. After a field study was completed, reporters and photographers were hired in each Latin country to write the story of the most successful techniques and projects of clubs in their respective nations. In addition staff members visited certain countries for additional material.

It was the first time that a private business organization of international size had indicated this degree of interest in the movement.

The book, printed by the Novato Press in Mexico City, contains 25 full pages of farm almanac articles describing better methods of raising animals, cooking foods, cultivating vegetable and field crops, and similar farming hints. A large portion of the book is dedicated to actual stories from each country in which youth clubs are active. Many of the stories pay tribute to the professional leaders employed by national agriculture extension services, or to outstanding adults who have given their time to teach better farm methods to rural boys and girls. Youngsters who have started their own farming businesses, through club training also are featured. Another section outlines, for the first time, brief histories of the movement in each country, along with national membership information.

Law Requires Stop When Bus Stops

Village Marshall Louis Beson advised local residents to renew their vigilance in the matter of stopping for school buses both in the village and in the out-lying area. The first day of school, no violation was observed but Marshall Beson stated several tickets were issued last year for this offense. Village ordinance and the state law both require motorists to come to a complete stop when meeting following a school bus which comes to a stop, whether or not red flashing lights are in operation. Motorists may continue only upon signal from school bus driver or when bus resumes its normal operation.

Matches and Smoking Cause 24.2% of Fires

Care can prevent fires. The National Board of Fire Underwriters reminds that nearly one-fourth of all fires (24.2 per cent) are caused by matches and smoking.

Another 20.4 per cent are the result of misuse of electrical equipment.

And three-fourths of all fires are the result of human carelessness and forgetfulness.

When New York City in the winter of 1947 was crippled by one of the most severe snow storms in history, the Fire Commissioner via radio warned the population that fire trucks might have difficulty responding to alarms. He urged people to be careful of fire.

Result: In the eight days that the Commissioner urged care, there were less than one-half the number of fires as in the same eight days a year earlier. There should be no need for a crisis to arouse interest in keeping fires from happening.

You can help prevent fires by simply using care.

Optometry

There is only one opportunity to every 10,000 people in the U. S. In fact, a report of the Vocational Guidance Commission of the American Optometric Association reveals a large number of municipalities in the U. S. in which no optometrist is in practice. While you may think that most everyone has an eye doctor at one time or another — required vision for the acute need for these services becomes even more apparent.

Here is a scientific field that voted to the conservative sense of vision. When you are serving... giving relief and to the eyes of the aged... the middle-aged to see better... opening a child's eyes to the world about him... you will know the rewards which characterize the field of optometry.

Although women constitute about 2% of all optometric students at present, more and more are drawn to the field because of its suitable hours and the pleasant character of the profession.

The income of an optometrist is limited only by his professional skills and the effort he puts forth. A recent study in the U. S. News and World Report points out the average net earnings for practitioners is $8,000 a year.

The minimum educational requirement for optometry is the years of optometric college training.

Then the student is ready to take his place in the community... with the prestige of his profession, and the respect of his neighbors.

Your local optometrist can now give you information about a career in optometry — or write to American Optometric Association, 4030 Chouteau Avenue, St. Louis 10, Missouri.

Insulation Blocks Summer Heat Flow

Mineral wool insulation makes air conditioning more efficient and economical in the same way that a blanket or comforter keeps a sleeper warm on a cold night.

The blanket, full of millions of dead air spaces, keeps body heat inside. Mineral wool, full of similar dead air spaces, keeps summer heat outside.

ODDLY ENOUGH

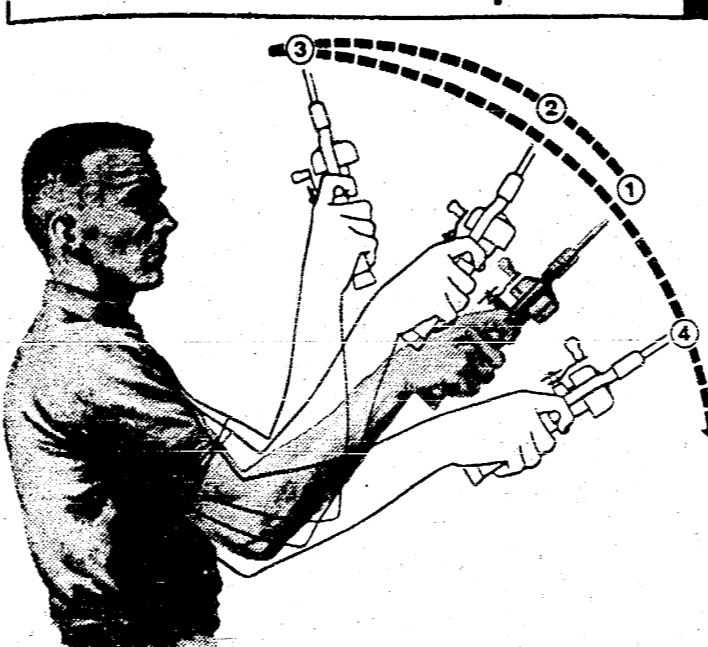

A true Aran sweater—with a three hundred year-old design—has the marital status of the wearer, number of male children in his family and the identity of the knitter—all in the pattern.

Sweaters for women were practically unheard of until the turn of the century. The sweater was the only garment that gave a woman freedom of movement during the bicycle craze in the Gay Nineties.

Through the years sweaters have had a steady growth in popularity. They have become fashionable as day and evening wear for every member of the family. The days of Sept. 19-25 have been set aside as National Sweater Week to show the garment's versatility.

Spincasting Tips From World's Champion

International casting champion Johnny Dieckman shows how easy it is to get the big ones. He casts his lures right on target with an easy four step approach. Beginners and experts can enjoy relaxing fresh and salt water sport with spincasting tackle. It is the easiest to master. By following a few simple rules with his Abumatic reel a newcomer can cast like a champion.

Practice short casts. Accuracy is more important than distance. But, long casts are easy with spincasting reels, because backlash is impossible.

Get ready to cast by reeling in the lure within six inches of the rod tip. Line up the target with your eye and rod. Now thumb-down the trigger on the reel. Keeping in mind the up and down stroke of the cast should follow a vertical line, smartly bring your hand to eye level and without stopping bring the arm down with a crisp chopping motion. Release the trigger and the lure is out and away. Stop the lure on target by pressing the trigger.

Casting is fun and easy. Let the rod do the work. The rod tip is spring loaded during the back cast. The rod will cast the lure as the tip straightens out.

Lost fish and snapped lines are a thing of the past. Garcia Abumatic reels combine star drag and sneco-drag. Reduce line tension by reversing the reel handle half a turn and restore the original drag setting with a half turn forward. The drag lets the line slip instead of break when the big one darts and dashes to get away.

The amount of money a person spends on health care — physicians, hospitals, drugs, dentists, and other goods and services — varies greatly according to age and sex, Health Information Foundation points out.

In a study made by the Foundation in cooperation with the National Opinion Research Center of the University of Chicago, a representative cross-section of American families were interviewed at length about the kinds of services they used in a 12-month period during 1957-58 and how they paid for these services.

Average expenditures rose steadily by age, H.I.F. found — from $48 a person in the under-6 age group to $177 for each person 65 or older. For the studied population as a whole, the average was $95 a person. Females, the Foundation continued spent an average of $111 apiece on health care during the 12-month period — substantially higher than the $77 average for males.

Comparing the 1957-58 figures with those of a similar study done five years earlier, the Foundation pointed out that increased spending was the rule for all age groups. The greatest increases, however, were among the youngest and oldest groups. Per capita spending for children under 6 rose by 71.4 per cent, while the average for those 65 and older went up 73.5 per cent. The increase for all ages combined was 42.4 per cent.

George Bugbee, Foundation President, commented that increased spending at the extremes of the age scale are "particularly gratifying — at the younger ages because early treatment is likely to ward off more serious trouble in later life, at the older ages because there has been so much discussion recently as to whether people 65 and over adequately utilize available services."

Outdoorsmen's Quiz-Column

by Joe Bates, Jr.

Q. Can you catch more fish by adding scent to plastic worms? If so, how do you do it?

A. Scenting plastic worms isn't necessary, but many fishermen think that it helps. The easiest way I know is to remove the sardines from a sardine can and to soak the plastic worms overnight in the remaining sardine oil. Bait-up with the oiled plastic worms, and judge for yourself how well it works.

Q. Do fishermen have to spend so much money buying so many kinds of plugs? Isn't there one universal plug that will do the work of many — and save us money besides?

A. The nearest thing to a universal plug seems to be one called the "Diamond Jim". This is a jointed, diamond-shaped plug like a bait-fish. The secret of it is that it wiggles at both ends, rather than only at the tail. It can be fished near the surface or as deep as desired. Thus, it covers water at almost any depth. If a plug looks and acts like a bait-fish, and can be fished at whatever depth the fish are, it should do the job. This "Diamond Jim" does this, and is effective on nearly all game-fish. Your dealer can show you the one-half and one-quarter ounce sizes, in a choice of nine color combinations.

Q. Where can I get a free booklet that tells how to catch fish when they don't seem to be biting?

A. When fish are not feeding, it's pretty hard to tempt them.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
No News Like True News

Nothing makes a newspaper editor happier than a "scoop." But it seems to me some editors overdo it now and then. Last week, for example, an editor claimed his paper was the first in his city to report the Mayor's "impending retirement." But, judging from the next day's edition of the same paper, the Mayor had other ideas. As a result, the lead editorial in that newspaper then started off like this: "We are glad to be the first paper in the city to inform our public that the story of the Mayor's retirement is just a rumor." From where I sit, facts and truth always win out, no matter how you disguise them. That goes for newspapers as well as for neighbors. For instance, your choice of beverage may be a glass of lead tea... mine is an occasional glass of beer. Now each of us could make up quite a "story" about which of us is right. But the fact is we're both right — now let's just respect each other's point of view.

STILL TIME TO ENROLL IN HUNTER SAFETY PROGRAM
 Lawrence Kappler, instructor for a hunter safety program of instruction in Manchester, announces that there is still time to enroll for the weekly sessions. The next one will be September 22, at 7:30 p.m., study hall at the Manchester High School. There were 21 at the first session held last week Thursday. The program is set up by the Conservation Department of the State of Michigan and free and participation is voluntary on the part of the young people. The programs here will be held October 6, and 13th as well as September 22. Mr. Kappler says the program is designed for boys and girls 12 to 17 years. He will be assisted locally by James Baker and Robert Trent. The program is heartily endorsed by the Manchester Sportsman's Club. Next Thursday's class will instruct the students in the proper handling, cleaning and taking apart of a gun. It is believed that if young people learn the correct way to handle a gun there will be far less accidents. It was pointed out that many times parents have children who want to hunt and the parents care nothing about the sport-this is an ideal way to have the young person taught under correct supervision. Sometimes the parents feel they aren't qualified or lack the time and a program of this type can be very beneficial to cut accidents. Other places in Washtenaw county where this work is done is in Chelsea, Saline and Dexter. Anyone who has not yet registered for the free course may do so at next Thursday's September 22nd meeting.

SHARON HILL SCHOOL REUNION

The afternoon was spent, singing songs and reminiscing. Guests were present from Brooklyn, Chelsea, Grass Lake, Jackson, Detroit and Manchester. Next year's reunion will be the third Sunday in September at Carr Park.

SEWER SITUATION SOUR
 The Village Council began investigation of what might be called the Case of the Missing Contractor. The bid of a Tecumseh contractor for $5,000 worth of sewer work was accepted by the council September 14. The contractor has not been heard from since. Clerk LeRoy Marx said there has been no evidence of work commencing in the village and no evidence of preparations to start the sewer project. He said efforts to contact the successful bidder have so far proved futile. The council may decide to re-advertise for new bids on the project at its Oct. 3 meeting if investigation fails to turn up the missing contractor.
