LOW PRICE IS ONLY HALF THE STORY

And when we say "low price," we mean more than merely the price-tagged figure on the window sticker of a new Corvair. You're going to be saving like sixty on gas.

The other—and even more satisfying—half you'll discover the first time you drive a Corvair!

How so few... Feed so many

All of us are understandably proud of the achievements of American industry. Yet how many of us realize that in the eyes of the rest of the world our agricultural achievements are perhaps even more impressive.

Why? Because ours is the only country in the world where so few feed so many. Take Russia, for example: 45% of the population must work the land in order to grow barely enough food for the country's needs.

How is it possible? Efficiency is the answer. Our farmers have increased their efficiency more in the last 20 years than in the preceding 120 years. They now produce 71% more food per acre, 300% more food per man hour than was possible even thirty years ago.

What does this mean to you and me? Abundant food—important as that is to all of us—is only part of the answer. For as farm efficiency increases, our food bill takes less and less of our income.

Farmers, indeed, are few in number. Yet their contribution is great—to our economy and to our prestige in the eyes of the world.

Mr. Roscoe Lannom, owner of the Manchester Franklin store, has just returned from Stow, Ohio, where he visited the new million dollar warehouse and distribution center which has been placed in operation by Butler Brothers, a division of City Products Corporation.

The 215,000 square foot facility, which will serve the 221 franchised Ben Franklin stores and the 22 company-owned Scott variety stores in Ohio, western New York, western Pennsylvania and eastern Michigan is under the supervision of F.J. Basso, general manager.

According to Mr. Lannom, the growth of the Ben Franklin and Scott variety store networks in the midwest and the potential opportunities to develop new stores in communities through the area prompted the establishment of the new distribution center in the Akron-Cleveland trading area.

With nearly five acres under roof, the new warehouse has facilities for shipping over 150,000 lbs. of merchandise daily.

Mr. Lannom states further that a service of the new Stow, Ohio warehouse will feature its own fleet delivery to his store in Manchester.

DUTCHMEN BEAT CLINTON 8-6

Manchester High School put the finishing touches on its baseball season Friday afternoon by edging Clinton, 8-6 in a non-league contest. The Dutchmen finished with a 2-10 overall record. Although Manchester could manage only three hits, 11 bases on balls and five Clinton errors aided its scoring. A three-run fifth inning rally scored the winning runs for Manchester, these coming on a single, two walks and three errors. Clinton, which outfit the Dutch, 7-3, were led by Richard Service and John Bodell with two hits apiece.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS FAVOR NUISANCE TAXES

The Washtenaw County Board of Supervisors are favoring an extension of existing state "nuisance" taxes which are scheduled to lapse June 30 and dividing the receipts between welfare services, higher education and mental health care.

As proposed by the Supervisors inter-county Committee higher education, mental health care and various groups of governmental units would receive one-third each of the income from the temporary taxes.

The committee suggests that the taxes be continued temporarily with the understanding they be allocated as proposed.

The last one-third of the income from the taxes would be distributed to the county of origin, then re-distributed by the board of supervisors in accordance with a formula setting the minimum assurance to the various groups of governmental units.

The board also adopted an inter-county Supervisors Committee recommendation to the Legislature that the State pay 50 per cent of direct relief funds given to welfare recipients and also for medical care facilities in counties.

It provides that after a county has paid out an amount equal to one mill of a county's equalized valuation, the state take over the direct relief load.

GRANGE REACTION MIXED OVER SESSION

As the 1961 session of the Michigan State Legislature comes to a close, the Michigan State Grange has had mixed reaction about the results, declares State Senator William J. Brake.

The Grange is pleased about passage of the Seal of Quality bill, which has had support of the farm organizations for the entire twelve years of the Williams era.

The new law will be voluntary and will provide for a seal for farmers to designate their best produce in the market.

It is an example of the self-help type of program which the Grange advocates for farm commodities.

Brake also hailed the separation of agricultural appropriations from the Michigan State University budget as a move to protect against spending funds intended for agricultural programs being used for other M.S.U. needs.

But Brake calls "short-sighted" the drastic cuts made in state university appropriations from budget requests, in the face of the increasing need for college education facilities in the state.

The Grange, he adds, is pleased over the death of two other bills. One would have required written permission of every landowner before an area could be sprayed with pesticides.

Another bill would have required every school district in the state to have kindergarten through 12th grade.

MARCH OF DIMES EXPANDS AID

Victims of crippling birth defects and rheumatoid arthritis, among the largest groups of the medically underprivileged in the nation, can soon look for help virtually at their doorsteps, thanks to the March of Dimes.

The National Foundation, supported by March of Dimes funds, has broadened its horizons to give direct aid to children under the age of 19 suffering from all types of birth defects. Aid was previously limited to children with open spine, open skull and water on the brain.

The voluntary health organization has also authorized its 3,100 chapters throughout the United States to use available funds to establish a network of Special Treatment Centers and Evaluation Clinics for birth defects and arthritis.

Assistance to polio victims will be continued. The National Foundation's experience with polio treatment and rehabilitation centers as well as pilot projects conducted in birth defects and arthritis has proved the value of bringing together teams of experts to deal with medical, economic and social problems of chronically disabled patients and their families.

Under the newly expanded program, National Foundation chapters will finance Special Treatment Centers at major hospitals in several large cities. These will operate full time and provide treatment for both in- and out-patients through teams of specialists in the medical and allied professions.

For areas isolated from large medical centers, chapters will develop birth defects and arthritis Evaluation Clinics to offer out-patient care only, through periodic clinics with visiting medical specialists.

NEED INFORMATION ON MANCHESTER UNION GUARD

Civil War Centennial History will be news for the next three or four years. Manchester played an important part in Michigan Civil War History but many of the local records have been lost through fire and dying out of families of Civil War veterans.

The Enterprise will be happy to have photos or information brought to the office or mailed in. Special care will be taken and all will be returned to their owners.
