The Little Shepherd

(A Story)

The littlest shepherd was always left behind. It was not particularly that he was so young, for he was almost to the age of manhood. Instead, it was because he was small, frail, and afflicted. One foot was considerably smaller than the other and it possessed no strength. Consequently, the lad could never run and play like other children. It was only through the aid of a crutch that he walked at all, and this with great difficulty.

Since early childhood, the little shepherd had tried to ignore his affliction and to convince others that it did not hinder his usefulness. But his elders still considered him a cripple and would assign him only the most menial of tasks. He was not even allowed to take a regular watch over the sheep.

"What would you do if wild animals appeared?" they asked of him.

"What any other would do," he replied. "I would sound the alarm to arouse those who slept. I would keep loose stones to throw at the animals and drive them away."

"And, what if some of the sheep strayed from the fold?" they inquired.

"I would fetch them back again," he replied.

"You, a cripple?" They laughed. "You would fall and break your neck on the hills. How would you catch the sheep if they decided to run? You cannot run."

"The sheep would not run from me. I would call them by name and they would return to the flock."

The elders knew there was much truth in the little shepherd's words. He knew each sheep in the flock by a special name and when he spoke to them each would raise his head and listen attentively. Yet the elders still did not think him capable of standing a night watch over the entire flock. This was a man's job, they argued. On this particular night, however, they said to him:

"We must go to Bethlehem, as instructed, and we are told to have no fear for the safety of our sheep. The trail is much too difficult for you. Stay here with the flock and we shall return with the sun."

So the littlest shepherd was left alone, and frightened. He knew full well he would face stern discipline from his elders if anything should happen to the flock.

For hours, he spoke to the sheep as if they were little children and then he sang to them. But the night wore long and, in the course of time, the little shepherd closed his eyes for a minute of restless sleep.

When he opened his eyes, he knew something was wrong. He called to the sheep and, one by one, they raised their heads, except the last-born... the lamb so new to the flock that he had not yet given it a name. The littlest lamb of all was missing from the flock.

The little shepherd was much afraid and did not know what to do. He called out to the little lamb, but there was no answer. He listened, as carefully as he could, but there was nothing other than the usual sounds of the night. The little shepherd knelt on the hard ground and prayed for guidance.

Somewhere, deep within him, a voice seemed to repeat, "Find the sheep that is lost," so he took up his crutch and went searching into the night.

The trail was rough and steep and the little shepherd had not gone far before the crutch slipped from his grasp and fell away, clattering against the rocks as it disappeared into the night.

The little shepherd was desperate. He wanted to call for help, but he knew none would hear. Slowly, painfully, he continued to search, the uneven hillsides forcing him to put unaccustomed weight on his weaker foot.

On and on he struggled, ignoring the soreness of his foot, oblivious to the branches and thorns which tore at his clothing and then his flesh. He knew that he must find the lamb and return it to the flock. He no longer feared discipline from his elders; they could inflict nothing worse than the torture he was now enduring. His heart went out to the little lamb, lost and alone, easy prey for wild animals, or else sore to die of starvation.

But, it was hopeless. Exhausted, the little shepherd sat down against a tree to rest. He knew that he was very, very tired and also very, very lost. Remembering that prayer had sent him searching into the night, he knelt again on the rocky ground.

"If I am lost, forever, Oh Lord, it is Thy Will. But, if it pleases you, send down light to guide the lost lamb back to the fold."

And, there was light! A bright and glorious star in the sky. It shined not upon the little shepherd, but illuminated the far hillside where the flock rested comfortably in sleep.

With joy in his heart, the little shepherd made his way down the hillside, knowing that all was well; which it was. The sheep were all accounted for, even the littlest lamb of all, which rested contentedly at his mother's side.

The little shepherd was so happy that he sang to his flock until the dawn. With the morning, the elders came into sight and he ran down the trail to tell them that the flock was safe and all was right with the world.

The elders were so excited about their visit to Bethlehem they failed to notice the little shepherd was without his crutch until they gathered about the campfire.

"Come," they said, "let us find it or make another." But the little shepherd said to them, "Do not search, nor make another. I have no further need."

And, this was true. With use, the weak foot became stronger and eventually the little shepherd grew into a strong, wise, and holy man. In later years, it is said, he became a loyal and tireless worker for Christianity.

It is said that among those who knew him, few could call him by his given name. He was known simply as "the one of great faith." This we do not know, but we are certain that his descendants roam the earth and speak in many tongues.

The Christmas Story

TOLD BY ENCYCLOPEDIA
It all started with gold and frankincense and myrrh. . . .
Since the time of the three wisemen, Christians have celebrated the birth of Jesus Christ by exchanging gifts. But the exotic fragrances have disappeared and the wisemen have been almost crowded out of the Nativity scene.
In many European countries, reports World Book Encyclopedia, gifts are believed to come from Saint Nicholas. This kindly bishop lived in Asia Minor in the A.D. 300's and became famous for his generosity. Children receive toys and sweets on December 6, his feast day.
Americans added a bit of fur, reindeer-driven sleigh and a few extra pounds to the saint to create Santa Claus. His name comes from the mispronunciation of the name which Dutch settlers in New York called the saint.
In Italy it's La Befana, a kind of aging fairy queen, who comes down the chimney, and in France the bearer of gifts is the Christ Child Himself, known as the Petit Noel.
Children in South America, still wait for the three wise men. And to compensate them for their long journey from the East, they leave water and hay on the doorstep for the wise men's camels.

Santa Claus to Visit Kiddies Saturday December 23rd

There's going to be a visit from Santa to the village of Manchester again this year. This is the good word from the Manchester Optimist club who yearly contact the white bearded gent in the red suit, to be sure that he calls on the children of Manchester.
This year his visit is scheduled for Saturday, December 23 at 2 p.m. in front of the E.G. Mann Mill in the heart of Main Street.

There's a special committee working with him on the details. On the committee is Charles Eisenhauer, Don Sutton, Basil McGuire and Herman Kuebler.
All of the children of the community and the surrounding area are invited to see him--tell him what they want for Christmas and also--how good they've been the past year.

Remember the date, he'll be here this coming Saturday with treats for all the small fry. The Optimist club has made it possible again for Santa Claus to come to town.

We remember with awe the meaning of this holiday. May it be an inspiration to you.

Receive Congratulations

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie has congratulated Michigan's highway construction industry for its "outstanding contribution" to the state's road building program during 1961.

"Despite poor construction weather and other factors, Michigan has completed more miles of freeway during 1961 than in any previous year," Mackie said.

"This would not have been possible without the complete cooperation of scores of highway contractors."

Speaking at the annual winter meeting of the Michigan Road Builders Association, Mackie said Michigan motorists will be driving on 228 more miles of freeway by the end of the year than they were at the end of last year.

By the end of the year, Mackie said, Michigan will have 765 miles of freeway open to traffic.

During the first nine months of 1961, he said, the Highway Department awarded contracts for construction of more miles of Interstate freeway than any other state in the nation and will probably end the year in first place.

"This will mark the second consecutive year Michigan has led all states in Interstate construction," Mackie said.

FORNER-LAKESIDE DAIRY

There it stands sedately, drawing eyes of all. Symbolizing education is the Christmas tree, representing its untrimmed state the basic, unrepaid three R's.

It's a joy to greet our friends at this time of year. Merry Christmas!

BOB'S MOBIL SERVICE

We trim it gaily with techniques that are effective, and with art and music and related subjects aimed to push horizons back and worthwhile interests forward.

Long tinsel ropes brighten branches of learning and show the lengths to which we go at school to teach a child acceptable ways of life and to provide him with the tools for happy living.

Illumination is the light of eagerness in children's eyes and in the eyes of those who love to teach.

This tree of education's not just any size; it's definitely cut to meet the children's needs. The tree, of course, is ever-green, like the eternal quest for knowledge.

Iceicles represent the frozen beauty of such unchanging scientific facts as that the earth is round; that time and space and learning never stop; that man is temporary, God eternal.

The candy canes are tasty aid to teaching, like movies which reveal a land which children study or map to make the course more clear.

All the color of the decorations is in a modern schoolroom, too. And finally the academic tree is brightened by the star of hope, and the angel at the very top is well adjusted, like any child who's happy and whose health is good.

The tree of education stands securely on substantial base—the base of understanding, while about it, waiting to be opened, lie the gifts of inquiry, of development of skills and, knowledge in a country known for freedom and opportunity.

The taxpayer is the Santa Claus who brings all this, with the teaching personnel his helpers.

Indeed, it is an all-out project that brings everyone together to trim the great community tree of education and to view in awe the wonder of it all.

CARD OF THANKS: We would like to thank the Manchester Fire Department, neighbors, friends and merchants at the time of our fire. Mr. and Mrs. Homer Walter and family.

There's more to mistletoe than just its reputation as "the kissing plant." Everyone knows, of course, that, for some reason no one is quite sure about, it's permissible for a boy to kiss the young lady so unlucky (?) as to be caught standing beneath one of these sprigs of green with white berries (a plant, someone has placed on a chandelier—for some young girl to stand under, to be kissed by some young lad... unexpectedly, of course).

All this notwithstanding, it is supposedly an all-healing plant that will ward off poisons and keep animals healthy. At least, this is what the superstitious believed, in

HERE'S OUR RECIPE FOR A Merry Christmas

You'll need the crisp cold of a December night; then add two extra large parts of snow. Stir well in air so clear that it tinkles.

Into a generous heart blend the wonder of a little girl, a young boy's shining glance, the love of Mom and Dad. Set carefully beside the fireplace.

Next, add the scent of fir, perhaps a sprig of holly, and a touch of reindeer hoofs.

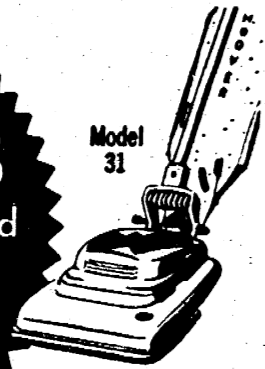

The mixture will rise in the warm dream of goodwill, and should be served as soon as it bubbles with warmth and good feeling. Decorate with the light of a star in the East. Trim with gleaming balls of gold, silver and red. Place in the middle of the table and serve to the tune of an ancient carol.

There is no limit to the number of men, women and children this recipe will serve.

Have a very Happy Christmas.

TREE SAFETY TIPS

- Because Christmas trees are potential fire hazards, here are a few tips that will help prevent a fire in your home:
1. Keep your tree outdoors until you are ready to put it up.
 2. Wait until just before Christmas to put up your tree.
 3. Place tree so it does not block doorways.
 4. Place tree away from radiators and heaters, and certainly away from fireplaces.
 5. Stand tree in water to retard drying.
 6. Use fireproof decorations of glass and metal.
 7. Carefully check your Christmas lights and discard sets with frayed wiring. Don't use lighted candles.
 8. Don't leave tree lights burning when away from home.
 9. Inspect tree often to see if lights are drying out needles. If they have, change the position of the lights.
 10. Take the tree down when the needles start falling.

Christmas Seals, distributed since 1907 in the U.S. to fight TB, are collected by many philatelists. No issue has ever been reprinted, and each year the plates are destroyed.

Observance Was Once Against Law

At one time it was illegal to observe Christmas in this country. In 1659 the Massachusetts Bay Colony's general court passed the following resolution: "Whosoever shall be found observing any such day as Christmas or the like, either by forbearing labor, feasting, or any other way, as a festival, shall be fined five shillings." It is believed that the first "legal" observance in this country was in 1687 when Governor Andros conducted services in Boston's town hall. However, it was not until 1856 that the Massachusetts State Legislature passed laws making Christmas a legal holiday.

Our very best wishes for a happy, merry Yule.

Safety Hints from Chief Van DeGinste

It's not that Chief of Police Van DeGinste is advising folks to ignore Manchester's attractive Christmas decorations. To do that would be almost as heartless as telling the kids not to believe in Santa Claus. No, it's just that he doesn't want us to be gaping at the gay displays when we should be paying attention to our driving. "We welcome the holiday shoppers, and we're glad to see so many of them busily preparing for a merry Christmas," was what the chief really said. "But the driver who allows pleasant distractions to lure him into a possible accident is shopping for no bargain," he added. "The same crowds that add so much to the holiday spirit also add to the difficulty of driving safely," he warned. "We all need to remind ourselves of a few basic precautions at this time of year." He listed the following driving rules which comprise his own personal "shoppers' guide":

- (1) Shop during the off-rush hours whenever possible.
- (2) Plan shopping trips early, if only so that you can postpone them or utilize mass transportation if bad weather turns up.
- (3) Remember that being prepared for the worst is best. Don't let snow or ice weather catch you with malfunctioning windshield wipers, or without your tire chains.
- (4) Don't follow other cars too closely in traffic.
- (5) Give bundle-laden pedestrians a chance.
- (6) Don't double-park.
- (7) Show the Christmas spirit by extending patient courtesy to other drivers.
- (8) Don't be distracted by the decorations.

Schools Pay Tribute to Board Member

October 25th was a day of sadness and fond memories when the School Board, staff and students learned of the sudden passing of Laurel Breitenwischer. Laurel had served as a member of the local Board of Education for the past nine years. His underlying perception and ambition had been a great asset to the Manchester Public Schools. A multitude of school improvements had been initiated during his terms of office. Everyone of these improvements were brought about in part by his thinking and work. School was not the only concern of this man. He worked in many community organizations in which he will be missed. A short service in his memory was held in the Junior and Senior High Schools. The theme of this service was a fond hope that the living could create in themselves some of the honesty, sincerity, integrity and ambition that left this world with the passing of Laurel Breitenwischer.

CARD OF THANKS: I wish to thank my friends and neighbors, the American Legion, Meridian Chapter No. 48, Rev. Kueher and Rev. Epps for their cards, letters, cards and boxes of fruit that was sent to me during my stay in the hospital and since my return home.

POULTRY LICE COST YOU MONEY.
Production of hens with lice often shows a decline of 10% or higher. An Iowa study recorded a 15% loss in egg production over a 14-week period. The longer birds go untreated, the larger will be the losses. During the first month losses are slight. But after that, the lice population increases rapidly. You can effectively use a 4% malathion dust applied to the nesting material and litter if lice are present in your flock.

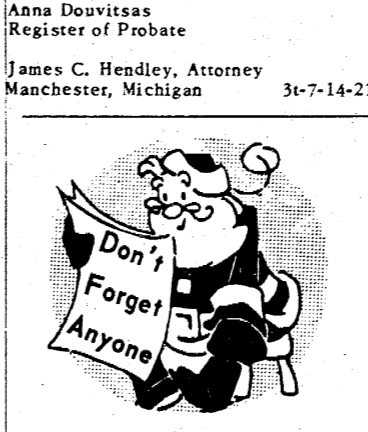

SAVE ON YOUR HEAT BILL. It isn't necessary to warm all the surrounding air to keep pipes warm or water pipes from freezing. Dip stick electrical heaters for oil reservoirs, heat lamps, electrical heating tape and heating units which fit cooling systems eliminate the need for this.

DEAR MRS. CLAUS:

Santa has so much to do
We thought we'd send our list
Direct to you.
We've kept our ears open
And here's what we find...
It's Automatic gifts
Most folks have in mind.
Now Mom wants a Range
That will cook, broil and bake
A whole meal to perfection—
From the roast to the cake.
As a gift for the house
We've chosen a Freezer
It will save Pop money
And bring Mom shopping leisure.
My Sister suggests
A gift she adores
Is a wonderful Clothes Dryer
That eases laundry chores.
And as for me—
What could be "nicer"
Than a convenient,
Automatic water heater!
Thank you, Mrs. Claus,
It's been fun to consign
For these Automatic gifts
We hope to acquire.

Referral Center To Help Problem Drinkers

A letter from the Washtenaw County Council of Churches to the Reverend Jesse D. Epps announces the opening of a Referral Center for problem drinkers at their office in the Parish House at St. Andrews Episcopal Church, 306 N. Division St., Ann Arbor, each Tuesday 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Dr. Robert Moore, M.D., and Director of Adult In-Patient, Neuro-Psychiatric Institute at the University of Michigan Hospital, is the director of the center. Information can be obtained by calling NOrmandy 5-0476 for referral help.

The Center is set up for the Washtenaw County Committee on Alcoholism, a non-profit organization composed of representatives from thirty welfare, social, law enforcement and medical agencies in the county as well as interested individuals. It is affiliated with other similar organizations under the Michigan State Board of Alcoholism. Its major functions are community education and the care of persons afflicted with alcohol. The need for the Center is indicated by the fact that there are about 5,000 alcoholics in this county.

He also collected material for the "Suplemento" and "Anuario Ford Para La Juventud Rural de las Americas" which are published by the Ford Motor Company International Group.

English Have Long Observed New Year

Prior to September 14, 1752, England and her colonies regarded January 1 with indifference. New Year's Day was observed on March 25, and, of course, New Year's Eve was March 24. But, the English have never been indifferent about observance of the New Year holiday, whether before or after adoption of the Gregorian calendar.

The Puritan government abolished Christmas and outlawed any observance of the holiday, so the people vented all their holiday spirit on the New Year. Restoration of the Stuarts brought about a revival of Christmas customs and traditions, yet the return of this great holiday did not dim the people's enthusiasm for the New Year observance. Adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752 likewise only changed the time for celebrating from March 24-25 to December 31-January 1.

Don't let YOUR happy holiday go up in smoke this year. Every fourth fire is caused by matches and smoking, so don't let carelessness spoil your holiday. Keep plenty of ash trays about your house during the Yule Season. Empty ash trays frequently—after making sure that no burning cigarettes are left in the trays.

Michigan Education Association Reports

More than 150 teachers and administrators from throughout the state will attend the fifth annual conference of the Teacher Education and Professional Standards (TEPS) Commission of the Michigan Education Association which will be held in the Jack Tar Hotel, Lansing, Jan. 4-6.

In the decade of the 60's, the population of this country will increase to 214 million. The overall increase is expected to be 19.1 percent. But within this framework, the percentages vary widely. For instance; There will be a 57 percent increase in the college-age group, a 43 percent increase in the high-school group, but only a 12 percent increase in the 22-64 age group, which constitutes our working group.

The education of teachers may soon resemble the education of doctors and lawyers in length and high standards. After many years of disageement among influential education leaders, there are now emerging two convictions; the only route to higher quality education is through higher quality teachers, and that drastic changes need to be made in teacher education programs. One important change, most feel, would be the requirement that prospective teachers be well educated in the sciences, humanities, social sciences, as well as trained in the methods of teaching. This would take five more years of preparation, but it would make teaching more attractive as a profession. These and other new directions for education are shown in a book "The Education of Teachers; Consensus and Conflict," by T.M. Stinnett, well-known education reporter.

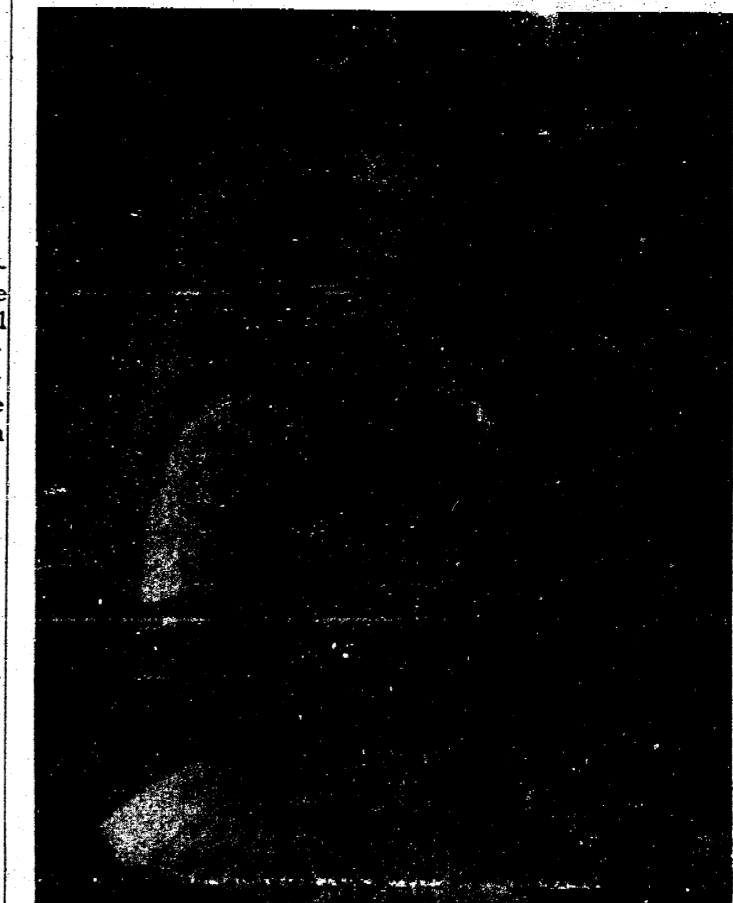

Keeping Time With Sun is Old Problem

Sweethearts may be more interested in the moon but for centuries calendar makers have devoted plenty of attention to the sun. In fact, the sun caused the year 46 B.C. to have 445 days—the longest year in calendar history.

The Roman Calendar, supposedly created by Numa Pompilius, in the seventh century B.C., was revised several times. Yet, when Julius Caesar put his experts to work on the Julian calendar, they found the Roman calendar was two months behind the sun. This presented them a problem: they had to catch up with the sun before the Julian calendar could take over as the official method of marking time.

They solved the problem by adding two extra months to the year 46 B.C., inserting them between the months of November and December.

Plans have been completed for the Sportsman Club's annual Banquet to be held January 27th 1962 at the Manchester Intermediate School. Mr. Waldo Johnson of Adrian will show his latest films on India.

Mrs. Robert Wallace Rice

The Manchester Methodist Church was the scene of a wedding Saturday, December 9th, at 7:00 p.m. where Rev. Jesse Epps united Carolyn Faye Fink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fink of Manchester, and Robert Wallace Rice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rice of Manchester, in marriage.

The bride's floor length dress was of white silk organza, with a small train. Her finger-tip veil was crowned by pearls and sequins. Her bouquet was of white roses centered by an orchid. Mrs. Betty Curley of Manchester, attended her sister as Matron of Honor. Her sheath gown was of emerald green taffeta with an overskirt. The bridesmaids, Carolyn Rice and Diane Grossman of Manchester, wore mint green gowns like the Matron of Honor. The best man was Charles Kemner of Manchester and ushering was John Knapp and Larry Kouba both of Manchester.
