Area P.T.A. Council Elects New Officers

The Washtenaw Area P.T.A. Council held a meeting Thursday, May 26, at Dexter High school, principal business at the session being election of officers. Elected to serve for the coming year are David Soule of Chelsea, president; Mrs. Otto Herman of Manchester, vice-president; Mrs. Arthur Blanchard of Manchester, representing the present Lake P.T.A., secretary; John Yeakel of Dexter, treasurer.

A discussion concerning school curriculum was led by David

He gave an interesting and informative talk on the topic, "The Great Challenge of Our School Curriculum."

The meeting was concluded with a comparison of the opinions of members who had selected answers to three questions in curriculum in separate groups of four or five persons.

The questions posed were as follows: 1. Do you consider the bare essentials for a school program? 2. Are some of the subjects you would like to see in the school curriculum if money and time were available? (specifically, languages, whether French, Spanish, etc.) 3. What subjects do you consider luxury or that definitely should not be taught by the school?

Refreshments were served by the P.T.A. at the close of the program.

High School Band Takes Trip to Shipshewana

Forty-five members of the MHS Band went to Shipshewana, Indiana, Friday to present a concert.

We had lunch at the school cafeteria. In the afternoon we attended a county track meet at LaGrange and visited a horse auction. Although Shipshewana is a tiny village of only 300, there are many Amish families in the community and since these people use horses for travel and farming, the horse auction is famous. Shipshewana is also known as the home of Wana Feeds.

We had time for showers and changing, then were guests of the Band Parents Organization for the Band Awards Banquet. They too have a point system for winning awards.

The band director is Mr. Gayle Grove who previously directed the Chelsea band. He and Mr. Sortor have been friends for many years and this is why we were invited to make the trip.
Members of the Shipshewana band took us as house guests. Two families each took six girls!

After the vehicles had collided, the tractor found itself balancing on a tree trunk stump along the road side.

Mr. & Mrs Raymond Ross were taken by Jenter Ambulance to St. Joseph Emergency in Ann Arbor, there they were treated.

Mr. Raymond Ross was treated for laceration of the body, Mrs. Roberta Ross for lacerations of the head and body. X-Rays were taken and found to be negative.

It will be a great Gospel treat to everyone who will come to hear the special services which will be held each evening at 8:00 p.m. as well as the 11:00 a.m. services both Sundays. It is hoped that the community will feel it a privilege to give such outstanding talent to have some of their valuable time and that many will come regularly to the services. ### Airborne TV Advantages High by Janet McCully

The MPAT I airplane flying at 23,000 feet over Montpelier, Indiana has been broadcasting programs to schools of six midwest states for the past year. This organization, the Midwest Program on Airborne Television Instruction, Telecasts its programs as a framework of minimum essential information for all viewing students. It is the role of the classroom teacher to facilitate learning through experiments, projects, group activities, discussion and exams.

By now this experiment has shown certain advantages and problems of the use of airborne TV as a classroom aid. One advantage is that it stimulates learning by opening new areas of interest for its students. An example of this is the telecast presented to 4th grade classes on how houses are built.

Another advantage is that it provides resources otherwise unavailable for the schools. In the broadcast on house building the studio teacher gave her talk from houses in various stages of completion. The television camera focused on each part of the house that she discussed and two contractors were there to help her discuss the building process and materials used.

It offers a wealth of new ideas to the classroom teacher to better her teaching program. Television presents a great deal of information to many students simultaneously. It magnifies demonstrations allowing every aspect of, for example, the dissection of a frog in Biology class.

Television provides a basic minimum framework for all students without limiting the exceptional ones, regardless of the competence of the classroom teacher.

Finally, in the future it will allow students to share the activities of other students. This will be accomplished through the televising of student plays, concerts, and special projects.

The educational telecasts, like their commercial counterparts, are broadcast in thirty minute blocks of time. This presents two problems of scheduling. First, the telecasts must be timed to fit the schedules of most schools. Also, there is some difficulty in fitting these thirty minute telecasts into class periods of various lengths.

There is the problem, especially on the college level, of interesting the very best teachers. Since the programs can transmit the bad and mediocre as far as the superior, there is the problem of obtaining and using only the superior teachers.

The studio teacher and classroom teacher must work together as a team, yet the role of each is not yet fully defined. Another problem is that the schools are not designed for television, especially for a large class. Finally, there is the problem of how to deal with individual student differences. So far this phase has been left almost entirely up to the classroom teacher.

Although these problems do exist, certainly it can be said at this point that the advantages outweigh them. As a superior classroom aid, television is being successfully adopted by more and more schools. Perhaps one day it will be as conventional as textbooks.

West Side Methodist Church at Ann Arbor was the setting for a Candlelight Wedding Ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, uniting Lois Pearl Stark and George E. Wacker. The officiating clergyman was Dr. Vaughn Whited.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Stark, 1685 miller Rd. formerly of Chelsea High School and the Alexandra School of Cosmetology at Ann Arbor and was employed as a Manicurist at Jacobson's Beauty Salon in Ann Arbor.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Arthur Wacker of Manchester and the late Mr. Wacker. A graduate of Manchester High School, he is now agent for Standard Oil Division of American Oil Company for the Manchester area.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore her wedding a floor length gown of white silk organza over taffeta styled with a scooped neckline. Outlined with imported Swiss lace and seed pearls, and three quartersleeves. The lace also accented the front of the bouffant skirt which terminated into a chapel train from an obi bow at the waistline in the back. A crown of seed pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried two orchids with Stephanotis on a white Bible. She completed her ensemble with a white gold necklace with insets of Crystal on Onyx and a Crystal pendant. The necklace was her mother's, a wedding gift from Mr. Stark at the time of their marriage.

Miss Kathryn Kuhl of Ann Arbor was maid of honor and bridesmaids included Miss Kim McDonnell also of Ann Arbor and the bride's sister's in law, Mrs. Leonard K. Stark of Ypsilanti, Mrs. Richard W. Stark and Mrs. Douglas H. Stark of Ann Arbor.

All were dressed alike in floor length gowns of light blue silk taffeta with matching hats and shoes. They carried bouquets of English Violets.

Sally Jean Stark of Ypsilanti, a niece of the bride, served as flower girl. Her dress was a short version of the gowns worn by the bridesmaids and she carried a small white basket of Stock and Violets centered with a Sweetheart Rose.

Continuing the blue and white color scheme, the brides mother wore a dress of light blue silk eyelet over taffeta and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a light blue knit dress with navy accessories and had a corsage of Cymbidium Orchids.

The bridegroom was assisted by Douglas H. Stark, the bride's brother as best man. Ushers were William Wheller and Ronald Kuhl of Manchester, Robert Heller of Chelsea and Richard W. Stark another brother of the bride.

Leonard K. Stark a third brother of the bride was the soloist for the ceremony. He sang "I Love You Truly", "O Perfect Love", and "Wedding Prayer".

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held. Over 200 attended. Mrs. Erwin Pidd of Dexter served as Hostess. Others who assisted were Mrs. Kenneth Stark of Trenton and Mrs. Leroy Heller of Chelsea who served the wedding cake. Mrs. Lawrence Wacker of Chelsea served the grooms cake. Mrs. G. Charles Dinius of Tecumseh served ice cream, Miss Delia Schiller of Chelsea and Mrs. Charles Barnsdale of Trenton poured coffee and tea. All are aunts of the couple. Mrs. William Densham of Ann Arbor poured punch.

Miss Marcia Sattler of Ann Arbor was in charge of the guest book and three cousins of the bride, Sherry Dinius of Tecumseh, Kathryn Pidd and Linda Powell of Dexter assisted with serving.

No-Cook . . . Mix and Spread Frosting Delicious

Bring the Seattle World's Fair to your dining table by using its Century 21 symbol as a decorative touch to your frosted cakes. And you can project yourself into the world of tomorrow by adopting your own streamlined recipes which can be prepared with a minimum of time.

Here is just such a recipe for a cake frosting, developed by Carnation Company's home economists, which even eliminates cooking. Just mix and spread, and which can be made in a mere four minutes. Evaporated milk makes the frosting velvety smooth, and adds nutrition at the same time since this concentrated form of milk contains twice the Vitamin D, proteins and minerals of whole milk.

ORANGE-ALMOND FROSTING
(Makes enough frosting for 1 8-inch layer cake)

- 1/2 cup soft butter
- 4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
- 1/2 cup cocoa
- 1/2 cup undiluted evaporated milk
- 1/2 teaspoon orange extract
- 1/4 teaspoon almond extract

Combine all ingredients by rotary beater or electric mixer until well blended and fluffy. Spread tops of 2 8-inch white cake layers with your favorite filling. Stack layers and top with 1 8-inch white cake layer. Frost top and sides of cake with orange-almond frosting. Decorate with your favorite white frosting (using pastry tube).

their systems. But most of them are interested in human biology. A mannikin shows the upper portion of the human body about which boys and girls are eager to learn.

"I like to find out facts and learn how they pertain to states Jim.

"It awakens me to mirror that happen every day," says Van Gilder says.

Mary's comment is, "It's interesting me to have a better understanding of my body."

"It's the science of life," says Mike.

Classwork that's more cut than dried can truly hold much interest.

"I like dissections and other lab work involving the use of the microscope to detect the presence of micro-organisms in stagnant water. This gives me insight into the somewhat obscure component of our world," says Bill Deacon with his own words.

"In biology I get to use good instruments, have good supervision so I know what parts I am exposing. I have come to realize that since I have a body, I'd better take care of it." Larry Howard's observation is wise.

"The only complaint I have is the dissection of insects, and immature pigs," comes from Barbara Payne.

"I feel my life is the most important thing in the world. I want to know all about it," states Carol McDermid.

Such readiness for learning is bound to mean success.

Fifth graders are razor-sharp these days.

Even these little shavers are taking to blades-but all in the interest of science.

"We're going to cut up frogs today," Bobby Houghton proudly announces. "So everybody gets to use a razor blade!"

Father promptly takes to lather. "A razor blade? You do enough cutting up in school without that."

"It's all right, Dad," Bobby eagerly reassures. "Mr. Ashba is in charge. We're gonna work in groups of five, and each group has a frog to study. My job is the BRAIN. I gotta cut it out."

"They used to tell you to cut out the nonsense. Now they say you should cut out the brain. That's modern education for you."

Meanwhile Mom spies a sheet of paper beneath her plate. She looks at Bob inquiringly.

"These are our instructions for tomorrow. You're supposed to read 'em at supper. 'Food for thought,' the teacher said."

And within the confines of blackboard instructions and cleanup responsibilities were requests for specific drawings and withdrawals-and all parts were to wear the right label.

Even if the children didn't know what they were doing half the time, their families would "Well, nobody got sick," Bob confided at the end of the day, "but five girls had to go get a drink together. All of a sudden, too. But we learned a lot. Gee, Mom, science is fun!"

High school youngsters think so, too. And the teacher.

"I love to teach it," says Mr. Roush. "There's not much time to go out into the field to study insects and birds, so we bring nature in."

I look about me and see evidence of this in the attractive leaf collections on display, in the once lively insects now pierced to cotton background with spears of pins, in birds as stuffed as humans on Thanksgiving Day, and in the tropical fish that live and die in the aquarium. Some of the life I can't even see. It takes that microscope to study bacteriology. Even bread mold holds activity then.

Specimens not in season are bought preserved. The boys and girls buy their own fish and unborn pigs and learn about

Red Cross Elects Campaign Chairman

Eugene Bentschneider was announced as Campaign Manager for the Manchester Area United Community Fund and Red Cross Drive for 1962-1963 at the May meeting of the Community Chest Board. Mr. Bentschneider was the very successful Industrial Division Chairman of last year's drive and co-owner of Manchester Tool and Die, Incorporated.

Members of standing committees were announced by the president of the board, Clarence Fielder.

The executive committee includes officers and committee chairmen; Clarence Fielder, M. Thomas Marshall, Louis Vogel, Mrs. Ray Tirb, Mrs. Franklin M. Reck and Mrs. James Baker.

The budget committee has the treasurer, Louis Vogel, as chairman, Ted Tapping, Allen Benedict and Mrs. Ray Tirb, secretary.

Mrs. James Baker and Mrs. Franklin Reck will handle publicity.

The kick-off committee for the 1962 campaign includes Mrs. Glenn Lehr and Mrs. Ray Tirb. There are three members of the twelve-man Community Chest Board that are not yet on committees—Edward Bauer, Clayton Parr and Stanley White.

The co-ordinator between the Recreation Committee and the Community Chest is Eugene Bentschneider and for the Boy Scouts and the Community Chest, Ted Stautz.

The next meeting of the board will be June 21, at 8:00 at the Nellie Ackerson school. Budget requests must be in the hands of the secretary, Mrs. Ray Tirb, by June 15.

School Election June 11th

The polls will be open from 8:00 p.m., June 11th, at the High School Music Room.

Registered voters will be asked to elect two school board members and to approve a four mill operating levy for the next school year.

The four mills requested is the same amount as last year and actually only extends this year's tax programs.

School officials indicate that the four mills is a minimum amount and there will be no money available for improvement. The hold the line budget was approved after consultation with local taxpayers and consideration. This makes the state program indecisive and financial planning on the local basis impossible.

Next week's edition will carry a summary of next year's tentative school budget. The budget will not be finalized until after the allocation board acts and the results of the June election are known.

Donna Kuhl Honored at E.M.U.

The 14th annual Honors Convocation for students of outstanding scholastic achievement was held at Eastern Michigan University on May 9, 1962. Speaker for the program was Mr. Marston Bates, Professor of Zoology at the University of Michigan, who spoke on "Man in Nature."

Honored from the Manchester area was Miss Donna Kuhl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kuhl of 19732 Pleasant Lake Road, Manchester.

Poppy Day May 26th

Remember the Dead by Helping the Living

As you are walking down the street notice the poppy postures in many of our merchant's stores. Also stop and look at our Poppy Window display at the Gamble Store.

When we stated offering poppies, it was solely "To Commemorate our War Dead." Today our annual Poppy Campaign honors our veterans of all wars living and dead.

Today, with so many veterans of such varied ages, the annual poppy program is vital in raising money to care for all needy veterans and their families; and when you consider that 56% of the population in the United States are veteran's children you realize how big a job we have to do to obtain the needed funds.

The Poppy Speaks

Let us listen for a few moments to what the Poppy has to say, for this Poppy of ours has a voice which will speak if we give an attentive ear. It will tell of a young American who gave his life that we might live in freedom.

Give an ear again. The Poppy is saying: "Hospitalized veterans made me. They earned money making me." And the Poppy also says: "Every dime people give when they wear me goes toward helping disabled war veterans and needy children of veterans."

The voice of the Poppy reminds us that if we are to keep true faith with those who sleep in Flanders Fields we must make sure that every last one of these poppies is worn on Poppy Day.
