FREEZING WON'T HURT SILAGE, MAY HURT SILOS

Silage commonly freezes during the winter in the northern United States, and there is no type of silo in which silage won't freeze to some extent.

What is the effect of frozen silage on animals, on the silage itself, and on silos? A current Farm Quarterly magazine report says if cattle are fed frozen silage, especially in large lumps, they may scour but this is less likely to happen if the frozen silage is chipped and fluffy and mixed with a fair amount of unfrozen material.

Large pieces of frozen silage ignored by cattle and left to alternately freeze and thaw in the feedbunk will spoil. This has caused the myth that frozen silage is no good, but the spoilage begins because the lump is unpalatable and spoilage is a result, not a cause.

Frozen silage is not chemically changed by the freezing. Mechanical unloaders do a creditable job of removing frozen silage, fluffing it up and mixing it with unfrozen silage, generally solving the frozen silage problem.

Heating the silage in the silo to thaw it is not economically practical. Epoxy or polyurethane coatings on the inside walls of the silo will aid the removal of silage and reduce donding of the silage in the silo. Filling the silo is important and should be done evenly.

Freezing causes little damage, to horizontal silos but can be destructive in towers.

The best protection against freezing is to make good silage because the low moisture content of well-made silage gives more protection against freezing than any other factor.

HOMEMAKER CONTEST

A high school senior girl from this community may well be among those who will share in $110,000 in college scholarships being offered again this year by General Mills in its ninth annual Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

In past years, winners have come from every type community in the nation—large, small, medium—and from all types of schools—public, parochial and private.

Senior girls here will join with a record number of more than 410,000 others in more than 12,500 of the nation's schools, Tuesday, Dec. 4 in a written examination to help determine winners in the 1963 Search Program.

This test, prepared by Science Research Associates, Chicago, to emphasize the importance of homemaking as a career, is the determining factor in selecting local and state winners. Personal observation and interviews are added factors in selecting national winners.

1963 All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be named in the spring at the culmination of an expense paid educational tour of New York City, Washington, D. C. and Colonial Williamsburg for winners from the 50 states and the District of Columbia and their advisors.

Scholarships range from $1,500 for each State Homemaker of Tomorrow and $500 for each state runner-up to $5,000, $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000, respectively, for top national winners. A complete set of Encyclopedia Britannica is awarded the school of each state winner.

Including the 1963 program close to 3 million girls have participated in the Betty Crocker Search in its nine years of operation. Scholarship grants are approaching the million dollar mark. From the start the program has been approved by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

LOCAL MAN GETS RED CROSS CONTRACT

Robert Lowery Construction Company of Manchester has been awarded the contract for the new Red Cross Operations Center at 2729 Packard Road, Ann Arbor. The building contract is for $147,000 and is tentatively scheduled for completion in July 1963. The Building Committee pointed out that funds are still needed to complete "postponed items" to make the Center operational. Announcement was made at the dinner meeting held in Saline.

A new Chairman of Volunteers was named at the quarterly Washtenaw County meeting. Mrs. James Prendergast of 1039 Martin Place, Ann Arbor will take over duties of Chairman this week. She will be assisted by Mrs. J. Wilmer Sundelson, vice-chairman of Orientation and training; Mrs. W. de St. Aubin, vice chairman of records and recognition; and Mrs. John S. Worley, Chairman of the supporting Services Division.

Announcement was also made that the first training session for new volunteer "recruits" has been set for Nov. 28 at 1 p.m. at the YM-YWCA in Ann Arbor. The Wednesday afternoon sessions will qualify "recruits" as Blood Program Aides. These Aides will be able to work in the up-coming blood clinics in each community.

The Board was also advised of the Department of the Army Audit of the Chapter's books. It was explained that because Red Cross operates under a Federal Charter, the Army Audit section is charged with auditing the National Red Cross books annually. The Army Audit section, selects at random, chapters around the country, and makes "surprise audits" to insure that monies contributed to the Red Cross are used in accordance with the provision of the charter. The Army audit was additional to the Chapter's policy of having the books audited annually by a certified Public accountant. Chairman James Davis noted that he was pleased with the reports as they show that the Chapter has an excellent financial control system and that the Chapter has been operating within its budget.

Since the first window pane was washed and the first blade of grass cut at the former Ford Plant, two years ago, people have been speculating as to what is going on. Was the plant sold? Was it leased? After making several trips to the plant and following the interesting operations of the Manchester Products Company, some of these questions can be answered.

The plant at 912 City Road on the east skirts of the village, has been sold to Ray F. Thornton, President of the Manchester Products Co., for the manufacture of the Thornton Tandem Four Wheel Drive. It was a welcome sight to the villagers to see some activity at the plant which had been vacated when Ford Motor Company moved its operation to the large Rawsonville Plant several years ago.

COMING EVENTS

Twentieth Century Club will have silent auction at the home of Mrs. Harry Sutton at 8 p.m.

No School for second grade because of parent conferences Tuesday.

A short time ago, a half-ton pickup brought in a three and one-half ton load of castings from Westran Steel Foundry at Muskegon on a test run. Driver of the vehicle was Ray F. Thornton, inventor and head of the Manchester Products Co. He was very pleased with the performance of the truck which purred along with its heavy load, getting about the same gas mileage on the return trip as he did without the load.

This keen eyed inventor loves his work, he's been inventing most of his life, and when he was sixteen applied for his first patent—a gadget to lift valve pins from "Model T" engines. The twelve men who work with him are equally interested in their work. At this time there are eleven new one-half ton trucks in the plant, and when they roll away they'll have six wheels and four wheel drive, and have no trouble carrying their one to two ton payload.

Mr. Thornton likes the thought of being a world citizen, not confined to just one country. This may come from the fact that his differential provides a comfortable income. It is licensed in the United States, Canada, England, Germany, Australia, France and Japan.

He points with pride to his contribution during World War II. When Ford Motor Company needed special trucks to haul B-24 Bomber parts, it was Mr. Thornton who designed and built the tractor which weighed 10,000 lbs. and had two Mercury engines in-ential. Packard was the first to use the product in 1956 and it has won wide acceptance as optional equipment on cars. Dana Corporation of Toledo is now producing the differential in its Fort Wayne, Indiana, Axle Division.

A bit confused by the terminology of the inventor, a check with the dictionary gave the definition of "Differential Gear" which is—"an arrangement of gears in an epicyclic train that connects two axles or shafts the driving force equally between them and permits one shaft to revolve faster than the other." Mr. Thornton explains that his differential provides a strong and efficient lock between the differential case and side gears, and when one wheel goes faster than the other in turning a corner, the wheels are unlocked and differential action is provided. When he demonstrated this, he ran one rear wheel on rollers and the other rear wheel on the pavement. Both wheels moved with the same speed and there was no spinning of the wheel on the rollers as the car moved forward.

Mr. Thornton was born in Carsonville, Michigan, Sanilac county, December 10, 1898. He is married and has five sons and one daughter. Lillian resides in Hollywood, California and James in San Francisco, Walter and his wife reside in Dexter and Roger attends Dexter High School, Eugene and Edsel are both in service.

stalled. A trailer weighing 26,000 pounds, making a unit seventy-two and one-half feet long, carried a 80,000 gross. As to the gasoline for such a rig-well, when the driver said, "Fill her up" it meant two hundred gallons.

The Power-Lok differential transmits power proportionately to whichever driving wheel has the most traction

If a car has one wheel on a patch of ice or in mud, the power is transferred to the wheel having the most traction, therefore, it does not get stuck so easily.

Thornton doesn't believe that cars will be truly safe until they have six wheels. He says four-wheel vehicles have a road shock over sixty miles per hour of four to one over curb weight, but his tandem rear wheel suspension cuts down the impact to near, one to one.

The system provides better weight distribution, better braking, easier riding, better tire and gasoline mileage and better road handling.

Again consulting the dictionary-Tandem means, one after or behind another. His first Tandem invention he started in 1929 and finished in 1930, using a one and one-half ton truck.

FORD PROGRAM FOR CHRISTMAS

Ford Motor Company is planning a community Christmas observance to replace the Christmas Fantasy which had to be cancelled because of the Ford Rotunda fire.

Henry Ford II, chairman of the board, said the public will be invited to a tree-lighting ceremony in front of Ford's Central Office Building, on Michigan Avenue at Southfield, at 5 p.m. Sunday, December 2.

"So many youngsters and their parents were disappointed because we will be unable to hold our usual Christmas Fantasy in the Rotunda that we decided not to let the Christmas season pass without giving them an opportunity to visit us," Mr. Ford said.

"Although we cannot duplicate the display which had become an area tradition in the last nine years, we could not let down the thousands of people, especially the children, who annually visited us at the Rotunda."

Ford plans to erect a life-size Nativity scene in the area. Pure white figures of the Holy Family will be located in a 30-foot high alabaster blue shell on the grounds.

A massive choir made up of school and choral groups from throughout the Detroit area will sing carols from the terrace in front of the building during the tree-lighting ceremony.

Parking can be found in a large employe lot at the rear of the building and other areas on the east and west sides.

It happened 100 YEARS ago

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862... the same year that

IN MICHIGAN, the new mines in the southwest corner of the state were supplying the Union with desperately needed iron ore. And, all over Michigan, beer was supplying folks with sparkling refreshment.

For then as now, beer was the traditional beverage of moderation—light, sparkling refreshment that adds a touch of hospitality to any occasion.

TODAY, in its Centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.

Ganta has the answer! JOIN OUR Christmas Club TODAY! That's Santa's answer to the problem of money for Christmas. That's his prescription for a Merry Christmas next year. Come in and join today. There's a class for every purse and a place for every person in the new club now forming.

WISHALONGS
Zesty Meat-in-a-Bun Notion

Two surprises have these bright and zesty Wishalongs. One, the superb flavor and savor of the meat. Two, the bite of sharp cheddar cheese tucked in the middle.
The secret of the meat flavor is simply real Italian salad dressing mixed in discreet amount through the meat. The exotic herbs and seasonings of the dressing build up the flavor of the meat, and the dressing as a whole helps keep it richly succulent. As for the cheese, the meat is wrapped around little strips of cheese. Broil the Wishalongs until they're sizzling and brown and the cheese inside is soft and melting.
Now clap each one between toasted rolls and offer to teenagers for a high jinks party, to their elders for lunch or late evening snack. For youngsters, Wishalongs make a fine and easy supper accompanied by fruit and fresh cold milk.
1/4 cup Wish-Bone Real Italian Dressing
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons instant onion flakes
1 pound ground beef
6 strips Cheddar cheese, cut about 5" x 1/2" x 1/2"
6 frankfurter rolls
Blend dressing, salt and onion flakes into beef; divide into 6 portions. Gently shape meat around pieces of cheese. Grill over moderate heat in ungreased frying pan or broil to desired doneness. Serve on heated or toasted rolls. Accompany with desired relishes. Makes 6.

HIGHWAY M-92 NOW M-52

HIGHWAY M-92 will no longer be on Michigan's state highway map. This change is being made after 42 years.
State Highway Department officials said that a 40-mile section of M-92 in Washtenaw, Lenawee, Jackson and Ingham counties has been redesignated as M-52 to provide continuity in the State's highway numbering system.
M-52 now starts at the Michigan-Ohio line south of Adrian and extends north through Adrian and Chelsea in Washtenaw County and ends at M-36.
In 1920, a 25-mile section of a county road in Ingham, Jackson and Washtenaw counties was taken over by the State Highway Department and designated as M-92. In 1954, another 15 miles of county roads in Washtenaw and Lenawee counties were taken over by the State Highway Department to extend M-92 to Clinton, according to a report from John C. Mackie, Michigan State Highway commissioner.

AUXILIARY PARTY SET FOR WEDNESDAY

Wednesday, Dec. 12 the Legion Auxiliary Christmas party will be held with junior members invited.

This is rehabilitation month and some $50 worth of gifts have been purchased by the local group and will be taken to the veterans' hospital at Ann Arbor where veterans will be allowed to make their selections for gifts to be sent to their families.

Mrs. Ronald Jenter and Mrs. Rolland Grossman are planning to spend Monday at the hospital to assist with the gift wrapping after the patients make their selections. Money for this project is a part of the funds raised by the local auxiliary during their annual Poppy Drive.

The auxiliary asks that people who borrow their hospital equipment return the articles as soon as they are finished using them. This will enable others the same privilege of making use of the articles the auxiliary provides

FROM THE POLICE DEPARTMENT

Much time and many miles of driving have elapsed since the last vehicle safety-check campaign, and Police Chief Jules Van de Ginste thinks it's time for safety-minded citizens to take another close look at the family car.

"We were glad so many drivers cooperated in the previous check-up, and I know they felt good about it, too," the chief commented. "Those whose cars checked out allright were gratified and those who found things wrong were fortunate to have them corrected before more serious trouble or an accident resulted.

"Now another season is here, and even those cars which passed inspection with flying colors last spring deserve our attention again. There may be or may not be an official campaign and check-lane this time, but drivers should take the responsibility upon themselves."

With a view of oncoming winter weather, Chief Van de Ginste suggested that special attention must be given to car lights and batteries. "We're doing more of our driving after dark now," he pointed out.

Bald tires should be replaced before their owners find themselves skidding into an accident on a slippery street, he warned. Tires with good tread are needed, and many drivers are switching to snow tires, he said. He advised that drivers who plan or need to use their cars regularly during severe conditions, not to overlook the added advantage of a good set of tires and chains, even if they have snow tires.

"At times chains are a necessity, or we have dangerous and costly traffic delays during severe snow or ice conditions. All drivers who have to go, or who elect to go in severe weather conditions, should carry a pair of reinforced tire chains in the trunk and use them when needed," he said.

According to Chief Van de Ginste the early winter motor vehicle safety check should also include an inspection of the car's exhaust system. Wind-shield wipers need attention, he said. Wipers which were adequate in a gentle summer rain may not be strong enough to keep heavier snow or sleet from obscuring driver vision. Not only are live blades advisable if over a year old but wiper arms should be tested to assure that they exert at least one ounce of pressure for each inch of blade length. Otherwise they will tend to ride over the slushy material which they should be moving aside with out effort.

"We know in our minds that these items are important, and others too," Chief Van de Ginste concluded.

JAYCEES DECORATE MAIN STREET

Sunday, with the weather a warm 60 degrees, twenty one nimble members of the Manchester Jaycees hoisted ladders and put up the Christmas decorations of the town.

Warm sunny weather made ideal working conditions. Past years have found this crew skating around on icy streets, icicles dangling from their ears and numb toes and fingers.

With sunny skies and Florida-like weather the Jaycees found their work time reduced by an hour due to the thoughtful consideration of Bill Schaffer who furnished the work crews with two Hough Fay Loaders Schaffer and Joe Fitzgerald commanded the loaders with the skillful hands of an experienced M-34 Tank Driver.

Thanks are in order for Doug Schaffer who helped and to Rollie Grossman for the tools provided to the Jaycees.

Lack of funds has curtailed the plans for adding new decorations this year. The Jaycees are planning to construct a Nativity scene in front of the library and to extend the street decorations into the church area. This is only in the planning stage at the present time but Keith Doelker, a Jaycee member can be contacted by any organization or individuals who wish to make a contribution to this future project.

TOWNSHIP TAXES HAVE INCREASED

Manchester township taxes are now payable. According to Supervisor, Clayton Parr the county taxes for Wash-tenaw are now $10.78 per thousand, compared to $9.10 last year.

Last year the school tax was 3.75 mills but this year the school took their 4 mills which has been voted to them.

It was necessary for the school to take the extra millage because the Wash-tenaw county allocation Board gave a little more millage to the county operating than last year. This year the township tax is 1.13 for operating as compared to 1.52 last year.

Money for county operating goes to pay township officers' salary, fire protection, election expenses and for the library, Mr. Parr said.

Manchester school district gets a total of $55.22 per thousand of assessed valuation as compared to Brooklyn $55.13 and Clinton school district $46.58. In Manchester township the school operating is $20.30, special operating $9.05 and school debt $12.12; in Brooklyn school operating is $19.25; special operating $6.20 and school debt $15.92, in Clinton school operating is $19.25; special operating $5.65 and school debt $7.92.
