CHANGES IN POSTAL REGULATIONS TOLD

Manchester Post Office has many additional responsibilities as well as numerous extra services to offer the public during the 1962 Christmas season. Postmaster George Merriman urged that people mail early. For use during the Christmas rush, the post office department is offering this year a new 4-cent Christmas stamp for sale, and is preparing for new postage rates starting January 7, Mr. Merriman explained. "We really need public cooperation at this time," Mr. Merriman said. Commenting on the rates, he observed that in a period of high-cost living when one exercises care in expenditures for goods and services, the U.S. Mail service still remains the bargain. Reminding area citizens of the forthcoming new postal rate structure effective January 7, the Postmaster listed these highlights of the rate legislation enacted recently by Congress. Increase over which the man in the street is most concerned is the one-cent hike in letter rates. First Class Mail: surface letters, five cents an ounce; postal and post cards, four cents. Air: letters, eight cents; post cards, six cents included in the first class category is the so-called "drop letter." The rate will go from three cents to four cents an ounce. Postal regulations designated this type of mail as letters "dropped" at a post office by a sender and picked up by the addressee at the SAME post office. It is used mostly by patrons in rural areas where mail delivery service is not available and mail is picked up at the post office. Often thought of by the user as "first class" but actually is third class is the "greeting card." This type of mail will cost four cents when the new rates become effective January 7. The current rate of three cents will apply for the up-coming 1962 Yuletide messages. To insure speedier service this year, Postmaster Merriman suggested the new Christmas stamp for greeting cards. This permits the card to be forwarded, if necessary, he said and returned to the sender if undeliverable—provided, of course that the return address is on the envelope.

THIS COULD BE VERY DISAPPOINTING

Most people enjoy a little snow at Christmas but the men who distribute the U.S. mail are concerned about snow piled in front of rural mail boxes. Postmaster, George Merriman, issued a warning, "Snow must be kept away from the rural boxes so that they can be served by the carrier from his car. Otherwise the mail will be returned to the post office to be called for."

The postmaster pointed out that this could be very disappointing to those who seem very anxious to receive their mail.

"In consideration for our rural carriers, we must remember that they are not only combating heavy loads of Christmas mail and snow, but also zero and sub-zero weather. When the weatherman at Willow Run reported the mercury had dropped to two above zero and was 8 below at Jackson--well, it's pretty cold, no matter how we figure it. So help the rural mail carrier and at the same time help yourselves for more speedy delivery.

"By the way, we did receive a limited supply of those much asked for special Christmas stamps Come and get them before our supply is gone," the postmaster suggested.

DAVID KIRK GOES BACK TO SCHOOL

David Kirk resumed his classes at the Manchester school where he is an eighth grader on Wednesday. This was his first day in a class room this school year.

On June 26 David suffered a broken neck, when he dived into shallow water in Sweezy Lake in Jackson county while swimming with his sisters and friends. As a result he was hospitalized at St. Joseph Mercy hospital Ann Arbor for 102 days.

Three vertebrae in his neck were broken. His left side was paralyzed and this has meant months of physical therapy to strengthen his damaged muscles.

When it became apparent that David would be unable to resume his classes at the Manchester schools, principal, Ted Topping, suggested that David could apply for Washtenaw County Special Education assistance. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kirk of 14180 Schleweis Road. He started his studies on September 10. This service was started immediately while he was still hospitalized. When he returned home in October, no time was lost as far as his school work was concerned as the home teacher, Miss Alpha Turman continued to teach him at home—coming twice a week to the Kirk home for his classes. She spent at least an hour with him, teaching him, on each of her trips. (The number of visits to student's homes vary with the ability of the student but the teacher tries to confine the visits to two a week.)

David has completed his second six weeks of work and now that he is physically able to return to his class room he is academically ready to resume his studies. He is 14 years old and on Tuesday, his mother took him to school and he tried to see if he will be able to board the school bus and see if he could make the rounds to his classes.

SEAT BELT CLINIC SET BY JAYCEES

"Have a SAFE and MERRY CHRISTMAS", says the Manchester Jaycees. As part of the Jaycees continuing safety program, the Jaycees are starting a drive to have all cars in the Manchester area equipped with seat belts.

Almost half the people killed in Washtenaw County traffic accidents this year would be alive today had they had seat belts. That is the judgement of Dr. Paul W. Gikas, of the VA Hospital, who is conducting research on the effect of seat belts. He believes that 28 of the 60 people killed in vehicles in the county since February would probably be alive now if they had worn seat belts.

Jaycees will begin selling seat belt clinic is being planned for January 12 and 13. The Jaycees will be happy to install any seat belt sold prior to that time at the Clinic. The belts can be obtained from any Jaycee in the area.

The seat belt being sold is the Jayceet seat belt. It meets and exceeds both federal and state standards for seat belts. It has been approved by the State of Michigan. The belts are on display at the Sutton Agency and th Manchester Bakery. Jaycees plan to have a continual supply of belts for sale and will hold periodic clinics to install them.

DAVID KIRK GOES BACK TO SCHOOL

Mrs. Kirk said that he experienced no difficulty in boarding the bus despite the fact that he still must wear his brace while in school. Some of the time he is able to leave it off at home his mother said. But he will be wearing the brace for some time because his next appointment with his doctor is in February and until that time he will continue to wear it. Although his mother had previously taught school she felt that it was much better to have an outside teacher take charge of her son's school work and noted that it has been very advantageous for David to keep up with his school studies. Washtenaw county offers children unable to go to school this chance to keep up by this Homebound Plan. For any student in the county who is eligible to attend regular school there is a home program for him if he is forced, because of a non-contagious physical disability, to be absent from his classroom for at least a month. This program is part of the Washtenaw County Special Education Division and functions in co-operation with the local school districts. To receive this service the student must be referred by his local school. The school has the responsibility not only in making the initial referral but in supplying the child's doctor with a medical form. On this form the doctor makes a diagnosis and an estimate of the length of time the child will be homebound. In this way the child continues a school program similar to the one he had before he became homebound. If the student will not be returning to school, a course of study is prepared at this time with the school approving. The course is planned with consideration given to not only the student's needs academically but also to his physical limitations. At this time Washtenaw county has two homebound teachers, Misses Alpha Turman and Ann Porter. Most of their case load involves accident and rheumatic fever victims, they have had cases involving muscular dystrophy, cystic fibrosis and polio. No child in Washtenaw county need miss a year of school or a semester, or even a six week period, if he is able mentally and emotionally to take a regular academic school program. Parents are asked to cooperate in the following: 1-If the child is able to be out of bed, a table and two chairs are needed. 2-If he must remain in bed, a lap board or some flat surface must be provided for his working area, and a chair for the teacher. 3-The room in which the classes are held must be free of disturbance and interruption. 4-Teacher and child are to be left alone. 5-It is required that there be a responsible adult in the home during the entire time that the home instructor is teaching the child. 6-Time designated for the lesson period is to be spent with the child. Extended visits with parents to discuss the child's progress can be arranged at some other time. Basic textbooks are used the same as in the public schools and are supplied for the child's use. David Kirk expressed his thanks to the teachers who helped in making it possible for him to keep up with his class and he anticipates no problem now that he will be able to return to the classroom.

GIFT GIVING

Gift-giving and card sending have become a part of our Christmas observance, whether we like it or not. We should not object, as both can contribute to the spirit of the season. And, in the final analysis, we have only ourselves to blame if we get so involved with the commercial aspects of Christmas that we overlook its spiritual aspects.

ST. MARY'S CHRISTMAS SCHEDULE

St. Mary's Altar Society will receive Holy Communion at the 8 a.m. Mass Sunday. The adult Christmas party will be at 6:30 p.m. Sharp for the parishners only. SANTA CLAUS

"He was dressed all in furs from his head to his foot and his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot—he was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf, and I laughed when I saw him in spite of myself." These words from Clement Clark Moore's "A Visit From St. Nicholas" gave to the world the popular image of Santa Claus. For appearance sake, we pre-pictured a clean, bright red, but he's still "a jolly old elf."

BRONZE PALM WINNER

Tenderfoot badges were given to John Chapin, Gary Stautz, James Walter, and Jerry Koernke. David Goodell and David Schiller were awarded first class badges. A miniature First Class Pin was given to Mrs. Goodell and Mrs. Schiller. After the awards, Robert Armentrout showed the colored slides of the scouts summer trip through Upper Michigan with Ron McNally doing the narrating. At the conclusion of the pictures meeting was closed with the retirement of the colors. Scouts' moms served home made cookies, sweet cider and coffee.

GIFT IDEAS

While food is a great part of the family Christmas observance, many of us overlook the fact that food products offer an endless variety of holiday gift possibilities. Cheese, of course, is an old favorite. Ready-made gift packages are available, or one can make up a variety package, placed in a wooden basket or on a small chopping board, or surrounding a cheese knife. Baskets of colorful fruits, long a gift favorite, may also be "ordered" or prepared at home. It's much more fun to prepare, using as a final touch unshelled nuts of the type or types available locally. Vegetables may also be used—as decorations for a presentation of canned fancy vegetables—artichoke hearts, asparagus, pickled onions, etc. Good gift for a gourmet. And, in the meat line, who wouldn't appreciate the gift of a baked ham?

SHOP AT HOME

With the approach of Christmas, the retail "buying season" is in full swing. At this time of the year, some folks tend to forget about the "store on the corner" when they undertake their Christmas shopping. Local stores carry a wide variety of items, at competitive prices. Many items found in out-of-town stores may be located here at home, often for less. We never forget the merchants "on the corner" when a charity drive is in progress so this year let's remember them when we do our seasonal shopping. Besides, money spent at home stays at home—where it does the most good.

Fire Is Unwelcome Holiday Visitor

Hundreds of American homes had a visitor last Christmas that was not only unwelcome but dangerous. It was fire. Fires in Christmas trees and decorations not only spoiled the holidays in these homes, but cost each family an average of more than $760, according to National Fire Protection Association figures. Far more serious, the lives of children and parents alike were seriously endangered by these fires. These facts show Christmas is a time to be more—not less—heedful of fire dangers. Many of our traditional Christmas customs—trees, colored lights, decorations, Yule logs in the fireplace—add substantially to a home's fire hazards. Sometimes a combination of active children and preoccupied parents brings the one moment of carelessness which is all that fire needs.

Christmas Gifts That Will Last

There are Christmas gifts to make any gardener's green thumb itch. Aside from the ever-popular Poinsettia, the traditional plants that can be wired all over the country during the Yuletide, are cyclamens, oranges and peppers. Other plants of the season, such as azaleas, chrysanthemums and ivy pyramids, are Yuletide gifts that go on giving throughout the year. They can be enjoyed indoors and later transferred to the yard as lovely additions to any garden. If you want to delight a gardener who lives on the East Coast, wire him a potted Scotch pine tree. These living Christmas trees are about three feet high. Festooned with baubles and tiny lights, they can add sparkle to the indoors. Transplant them outdoors, to have Christmas all year round. Two more gifts that are sure hits: prickly, bright blooming holiday cactus and exotic African violets. There are hundreds of varieties of the latter. For the gentleman gardener: partridge-berry bowls. They grow in glass bulbs, are self watering.

Hate you ever wondered what older folks are talking about when they speak of a "Christmas of old"? What is an old-fashioned Christmas? Certainly, it is impossible for us to go back to the "horse-and-buggy" days. We can't even get back to the days of the "Model-T." We live in a modern world. We have modern transportation. We have modern conveniences. In the old days, Sunday was "dress-up" day and when folks went for a stroll or a survey ride, they donned their Sunday-best. Today, we wear whatever we please, take an hour or so to drive to a place where no one knows us—or cares what we wear. We can't go back to the old days. So, what can we do about Christmas? Simply, we can observe Christmas in the traditional manner. First, we must remember that Christmas is a religious holiday, a day given to observance of the greatest event in the history of mankind—the birth of a Redeemer. Let us keep Christmas a religious holiday. Secondly, let us keep Christmas as a family observance. Christmas becomes more meaningful when families plan together; make gifts together, have or engage in social affairs in which all family members have a part; have a family worship service at home; and stress the religious aspects of Christmas throughout all the season's activities. Many Merry Christmases may result from such a family tradition.

STUDENTS FROM AWAY TO VISIT AMERICAN HOMES

Michigan Farm Bureau Women are typical of the sponsors who join in the belief that in today's confused world, others often wrongly blame America for their troubles, both real and fancy. For eleven days, from December 21 through Jan. 1 the students fan out in pre-arranged visits to farms and factories. They learn from community leaders and observe our free enterprise system in action. Each student spends the afternoon on December 24 in the home of his host family. Many arrive wearing native dress. They join in family meals and religious observances. Christmas Eve they are expected to attend church services to gether. They do more than observe and receive. Each is asked to take part in the information flow. They tell of their homes, their families and customs. Many bring pictures and small gifts to exchange. Later they will become hosts themselves at a "sponsor's dinner" followed by a period of amateur entertainment in a display of talent, games and stunts unique to their background. How better can one observe the true spirit of Christmas than by sharing it with others in sacred memory of the birth of One who shared His all?

The 1962-63 Southeastern Michigan Scholastic Writing Awards competition is now under way and again this year it will be sponsored by the Detroit News. The deadline for all entries is January 12, 1963.

This regional contest is open to students in sixth through 12th grades of public, private and parochial schools in Lenawee, Livingston, Washtenaw and Wayne counties.

Selected regional award winning manuscripts will be sent to New York for judging in the national competition. National awards include cash prizes and college scholarships.

This week we are proud to interview Miss Judy Kuebler. Judy is a senior, and is seventeen years old.

Ever since Judy's first year in high school she has taken an interest in class and school activities. During her freshman year she served as a member of the band and at the Holly Hop. In the year to come Judy was chosen to be a drum major, and led the band through their many shows. Also to help earn money towards her future senior trip. She participated in the annual Sophomore Magazine Sale.

Judy's junior year was one that was filled with much joy and excitement. She was recognized as an outstanding student for her citizenship qualities, and was awarded the Citizenship Award. Judy also put forth her time and effort to help her class with both the Junior Play and prom. Judy is now in her last and most important year and has still proven to her class that she is a student worthy of recognition, for she was active in the Senior Play, Girls Chorus, and will probably be in more activities before her senior year has come to a close.

To us Judy is known as the "leader of cheers", and is rightfully be known as such because during her four high school years she has been a cheerleader, and this year she proudly holds the title of Varsity cheerleading captain.

Other organizations which she has been a part of are: F. H. A., Varsity Club, Church choir, and office worker.

The hobbies that she takes interest in vary from swimming to playing the piano.

Judy has been taking a college preparatory course, and after completion of high school her future plans are to attend Eastern Michigan University at Ypsilanti, Michigan, where she has been already been accepted. As we all know, Eastern is noted as a fine teachers college, and Judy is taking advantage of this. Judy plans to become an elementary teacher.

To Judy, we wish the best of luck in her future and success.

Texas Santa

It was a little boy from Texas who marched up to Santa Claus and asked, "What can I do for you?"

AWARD

This year, as in the past year, the Sarah Caswell Angell Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution is again offering a 2000 Citizen Award to a senior girl in Manchester High School.

The rules of the contest are the same as in former years. Girls from the twelfth grade are eligible for this recognition. The qualities of good citizenship are based on:

1. Dependability--includes truthfulness, loyalty, punctuality.
2. Service--includes cooperation, courtesy, consideration of others, personality, self-control, ability to assume responsibility.
3. Patriotism--stresses unselfish loyalty to American ideals.

The recommended method of selection and the one which will be used, is for the students of the senior class to choose three girls who demonstrate the above-mentioned qualities; and from the three, the faculty chooses one who will become the school's Good Citizen.

Skip Day

On December 5, the senior class of Manchester High School had their "Skip Day". The day's activities were sponsored by the Union Savings Bank of Manchester.

The seniors left from the Pleasant Lake School at 8:30 in the morning and arrived at the Federal Reserve Bank in Detroit at 10:00. Upon their arrival they were shown through. At 11:15 they were shown a very interesting movie on the Federal Reserve system, and were later treated to a very delicious meal by the bank.

From about 1:00 to 6:00 they were free to do whatever they desired, including Christmas shopping and going to a show.

At 8:30 they went as a group to see Cinema which was showing "The Wonderful World of the Brothers Grimm" when the show ended they returned home happy, but very tired.

Christmas Concert

Friday, December 14, at 8:00 P. M. a Christmas concert at the civic auditorium will be held. The Manchester High School Band and Chorus will perform. The concert will also present a few numbers which are very good.

Admission is 50¢ for adults and students 25¢. Tickets are being sold by band members and will be sold at the door. Everyone come and support your band, and celebrate the Christmas season.

Library News

These new books will soon be appearing on the shelves in the library for information and enjoyment.

THAT CERTAIN SOMETHING - Arlene Francis - Her secrets of personality and charm

SEVEN DAY ADVENTURISTS - Booth Herndon - Religion and missionary work

Christmas vacation is just around the corner and already manuscripts have been pouring in to the Detroit News for the Southeastern Michigan Scholastic Writing Awards program. The deadline for the contest is Saturday, January 12, 1963, but many students prefer to get their entries in before the holidays.

Competition is open to sixth through 12th grade students. A student may enter any of the 28 classifications, ranging from a 12-line poem to a 2500 word historical article. The range of categories covers just about any type of writing a student would do for a class assignment.

Miss Thelma McArdless, Associate Professor of English, Eastern Michigan College, Ypsilanti, a member of the Scholastic Writing Award Advisory Committee, says that each student in Manchester High School has an excellent chance to win both regional and national awards. She advises that the student with the help of his teacher select the best work of the school year and carefully read the rules on classifying and submitting entries. Each school in Washtenaw county has received entry blanks, rule books and all the necessary information for the program.

If any student requires further information concerning the Scholastic Writing Awards, he should see Mr. Matins, or Mr. Koeseck.

A new member to our school faculty was added at the start of the new school year. He is Mr. Leonard England who is now teaching shop and mechanical drawing.

Mr. England resides at 114 Second Street in Ann Arbor. He is married and has no children.

In getting his college education, Mr. England has gone to the General Motors Institute, Brooklyn Polytechnical School and St. Olaf College in Minnesota. Mr. England received his Bachelors degrees in Math and Science at St. Olaf College. He also has a masters degree from the University of Michigan.

Mr. England's hobby is woodworking, which he enjoys very much. When asked what he thought of teaching at Manchester High, he remarked that he was happy with the prospect of developing a comprehensive shop program with new equipment from year to year.

The U.N.

The United Nations is the most resourceful organization or council that has been founded since the time man tried to claim land for his own. It was conceived for the purpose of preserving peace and security for all nations, no matter how great or how small they are. It gives countries a better understanding of other countries' thoughts, and actions, and of the way other nations judge their actions. It gives a country a chance to think thoroughly through a problem, whether it's theirs or another's. I think the United Nations believes no price is too great for peace. All peoples of the world love their country as much as we love ours. We should never give up or destroy the policy of settling our disputes by an arbitrary means.

We are now living in an "age of consequence" for our world. Now we have been frightfully awakened to the reality of destruction of the world, and of death of millions of innocent men, women, and children by our nuclear bombs. Steps must be taken to stop the threat of world war, and to find a means of peaceful co-existence. There is also the threat of communism. The United Nations is trying to achieve these things. Some times their settlements and arguments may seem futile to us, but if there were no means in which a country could talk over its differences with other parties or even the aggressor, we would have destroyed each other long ago.

This is why I think the United Nations is important to us. It must remain superlative, it must remain supreme over the world in order to help us fight communism, not only in Russia, but now in Red China.

At the United Nations everyone is heard, every nation may have its say. It feels the pulse of nations, some beating strongly with the crash of tanks and the roar of testing fervently the echo of nations long before the United Nations, the echoed ring of peace!

ANECDOTES

The partially finished house in a Cleveland, Ohio, suburb looked stark and new against the winter landscape. Then a few days before Christmas a change took place that caused passers-by to smile. Right on the roof ridge stood a Christmas tree decorated with bright streamers of ribbon.

We knew that the family was saying to the people in the neighborhood: "We're ready! All our money is being used for our new home so we decided to put it under our Christmas tree."

STUDENT COUNCIL

The meeting was called to order by the president, Bob Paul. The secretary's report was read and approved.

Hank Mann reported that the letters for assemblies were sent out to the businesses. As yet, there are no replies to the letters.

Bonnie Burkhardt reported on the Student Council March of Dimes Dance. Two dates were discussed: February 3 and January 11. A motion was made and passed that it be held on January 11, 1963.

It was decided that we have tickets, instead of a door locker. On the committee to get the records is Diane Dresselhouse. It was decided that there would be refreshments. On the clean-up committee after the dance are: Susan Walters, Karen Danvers, Sharon McLeod, Nancy Mann, Tom Uphaus and Dave Adams.

On the committee to further the book exchange assemblies are Tom Uphaus, and Sharon McLeod. Susan Walters, Secretary.

NEW YEARS DAY

January 1, New Year's Day, is one of the oldest and most universal holidays throughout the civilized world. The Romans were the ones who originated New Year's Day, they started the first party of the year near March 1st, in January. In order that the year might have an auspicious start they offered sacrifices to the god, Janus and exchanged greetings with relatives, friends, and other old acquaintances on January 1st.

In the United States New Year's Day and New Year's Eve are given to social entertainments and feasting. Many churches hold watch-night services on New Year's Eve. At 12 o'clock midnight horns are blown, bells are rung, and wishes announced to the arrival of the New Year.

Two cities in America are noted for the way in which they observe New Year's Day-Philadelphia for its Mummers' Parade and Pasadena, California, for its Tournament of Roses. The Women's Parade started in 1876, and may be traced back to the English and Swedish residences of Philadelphia. More than 10,000 persons participate in it and prizes are offered for the best costumes, comic, and otherwise.

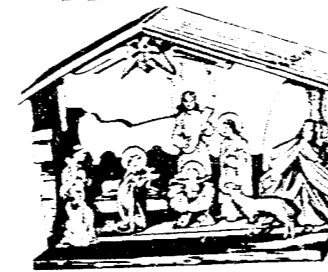

In 1886 the Tournament of Roses was first held. Usually there are more than 25 entries for the parade, and the floats represent things that have to do with the theme.

New Year's Day is celebrated in all the States, District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and is now a symbol all over the world.

LAUGHTER

During the Christmas season of 1962 the post commander of Fort Richardson, Alaska, sponsored an exterior-decorating contest of the family quarters area. One particularly disgruntled young lieutenant developed a display that was short-lived but unique. A large brilliantly spotlighted sign proclaimed with varied colored lights and properly festooned with evergreen boughs, loudly proclaiming an old English script:

"Hark! The herald angels shout--
Six more months and it'll be over!"

Once Upon

Once upon a time there was a squirrel with 95 nuts stored away in a big hollow oak tree. He was so selfish that he wouldn't let the other squirrels touch them. Whenever the other squirrels hid some nuts away, Lew would steal them and put them with his nuts. The other squirrels would always get angry.

One day one of the squirrels found a nut. He took it to his nest. Lew followed him home, determined to get that nut. They got into a fight. Lew scratched the other squirrel on the back. This made him drop the nut. Then Lew hurried down to the ground and grabbed the nut. He added it to his collection.

Lew had a record book and kept track of all of his nuts and where he had hidden them. He wrote down about the fight he had had. The other squirrels thought it would be a good idea to get hold of that record book; then they would know where all the nuts were hidden. They were planning to get back the nuts he had stolen, but only take back their own nuts.

One night when Lew was asleep all the other squirrel gathered up the nuts. Then they destroyed the record book.

The next week when he was out, up to his old tricks, a farmer came along cutting down trees for fire wood. When he came to Leo's tree, he said, "This tree would make good firewood." Down came the tree! The nuts flew every which way. They landed under leaves; they landed in the crotches of nearby trees; they fell under thorn bushes. Leo couldn't find them. Whenever he looked it seemed there was a hunter with a gun--it was hunting season. Bang! A shot came toward him. Luckily it missed Leo but it blew a chunk of bark off of the tree and hit him in the shoulder. The sight of blood made him panicky. He ran off looking for the other squirrels. If only he had a friend left! He found the squirrel he had had the fight with who suggested that they go to the same squirrel doctor who had cured him when he was injured. He offered to take Leo. Soon he was patched up and on his way to recovery. He learned that friends can be very helpful and a good rule to follow is: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you"

From then on Leo learned to share and not to steal or be selfish.

Michigan's rapidly expanding freeway system (double lines) is shown lacing the state together in this special map from Automobile Club of Michigan. The new 160-mile-long Detroit-Muskegon Freeway, I-96, contains the 1,000th mile of freeway in the state. Together with I-94, the Chicago Road, it connects eastern and western shores of the state. The still-building I-75 runs up the center of the state, temporarily utilizing portions of US-23, US-10 and US-27. Also shown are the completed portions of other state freeways, together with some of the older trunk freeways (single lines).

30 YEAR CLUB MEET AT MSU

Farmers' Week at Michigan State University has been an annual event on the Michigan State University campus of E. Lansing for nearly half a century.

The 1963 week which will run from January 28-February 1 will be the 48th. Only a handful of persons have attended all of these programs through the years - but many have been coming regularly for more than 30 years.

Leaders planning this year to attend, may be interested in learning the names of people who have visited the campus over the past three decades. A special luncheon honoring all who have went for 30 years will be held as a feature event of the week on January 30, 1963.

Prof. E. B. Hill of MSU's Department of Agriculture heads plans for the "30-Year Club" event. Hill is interested in building a mailing list of persons who first attended Farmers' Week more than 30 years ago and have attended most of them since that time. He asks that all who qualify should send their names to him; Agricultural Hall, MSU East Lansing.

All attendees of the week who are eligible for the club will be invited to the luncheon to be held at the MSU Union.

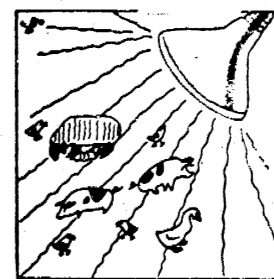

As a program feature, Dean T. K. Cowden of MSU's College of Agriculture will present the three "Distinguished Service to Agriculture" awards, an annual highlight of the week.

Guests will also get a progress report on the amazing growth of the nation's pioneer land-grant college since the days of the thirties.

DOLLAR and SENSE FARMING.

HEAT LAMPS are one way to keep the death rate low among many kinds of young livestock and poultry. But don't forget the fire hazard. The lamp itself should be protected by a canopy or shield. Hang the fixture from a separate chain so there will be no strain on the electric cord. Make sure the cord is resistant to moisture and high temperatures. The face of the lamp should clear standing animals by at least 6 inches and be no closer than 18 inches from the bedding.

DON'T LUG BULK MATERIALS that could be handled better and cheaper by machinery. Look around your farmstead and see how many jobs could be done easier and better through mechanization. Then find out how much cheaper a machine can work than a man. Keep in mind, though, that labor. Some jobs require human judgement and observation to be performed properly, but many can actually be done better by machines.

EGG CLEANING WILL PAY big dividends if done thoroughly and efficiently. Eggs are food and like all food should be clean when offered to the consumer. The decision whether to clean all eggs gathered or just the soiled ones will depend on the percentage of dirty eggs and the equipment available. Research shows, however, that eggs which do not have to be cleaned maintain their quality better than eggs which have been washed or eggs that remain dirty.

BULLS NEED 50% MORE FEED THAN COWS and should be wintered by their selves until breeding time. They should be fed lucerne hay and silage to replace the weight lost during breeding season. Three to five pounds of grain per day for a couple of months is advisable.

SAFE DRIVING URGED

The one horse open sleigh was made for the express purpose of dashing through the snow, and in this respect it far surpasses the modern family automobile.

CHRISTMAS TREES CAN BE HAZARD

Protect the Yule tree for better family protection. The Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company warns that Christmas trees and their decorations provide the greatest number of holiday tragedies resulting from fire.

Chairs are for sitting, ladders are for standing on. The Institute for Safer Living says be sure to use an approved step ladder rather than furniture when decorating the Christmas tree.

LOOKING AHEAD

MILK: Milk prices are expected to begin a seasonal decline in December or January and remain below levels of a year ago through the first quarter. After that prices will depend on the support price established for the 1963-64 marketing year, and the balance between production and consumption. The gap between production and consumption and commercial utilization widened in 1962, requiring increased purchases by the CCC. In terms of milk solids, CCC purchases of milk fat for 1962 will be nearly 9 percent of production and those of milk solids-not-fat, nearly 13 percent. Further accumulations are inevitable in 1963 unless workable means of reducing output or expanding domestic and foreign consumption of dairy products are found.

CATTLE: Fed cattle prices are expected to hold above year ago levels until mid winter when prices will likely head lower and continue downward into spring. Prospects for ranges and wheat pastures in the West are good and will help maintain the feeder market.

HOGS: Some strengthening in hog prices is seen into the first part of 1963, following some weakening in March and April when fall farrowed pigs arrive on the market. Prices should then move up to the $18 level by mid summer.

LAMBS: Lamb prices are expected to increase seasonally into the winter months, averaging well above a year ago.

EGGS: Egg prices in the coming main hatching season (March to May) are likely to be high enough to induce an expansion in the number of replacement pullets raised in 1963 relative to 1962. This will lead to higher egg production and lower prices in the last half of 1963 compared with the last half of 1962.

WHEAT: If wheat prices move up to the $2.00 level (Central Michigan) in December, those storing wheat should examine whether further storage would pay. Sometime late in the crop year, wheat prices would be adjusting downward to the lowered level of $1.82.

SEAT BELTS FOR SAFETY

Seat belts for the family car make a lively Christmas gift. The Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company advises that seat belts are proving instrumental in saving lives and lessening injuries on the highways. Seat belts are a family Christmas gift that means added protection against tragedy every day of the year.

REST NEEDED FOR MERRY CHRISTMAS

The best way to stay out in front of the Christmas rush is not to get behind with your sleep and rest. The Institute for Safer Living advises that haste, excitement, and overexertion are prime causes of holiday accidents. Start early, allow time for un-hurried shopping, house cleaning and decorating activities. Don't overdo late hour parties and social affairs.

SAFETY SUGGESTIONS FROM CHIEF VAN DE GINSTE

Chief of Police Jules Van Ginste, who has already issued a brief warning about making adequate preparation for safe winter driving, today discussed a problem at length and issued a request for city-wide cooperation of motorists and pedestrians.

As we brace ourselves for another winter, it isn't our intention to cause unnecessary fear or worry, he began. "We've been through this before. I believe the village is well prepared with respect to snow removal plans and traffic direction schedule. Our street department can be commended for the fast removal of the heavy snow that fell last Thursday and Friday. All of the heavy snow has been removed from the Main Street and from some of the side streets where it was necessary. Our trucks were out salting the streets and everything possible was done to keep traffic running as smoothly as possible.

"There wasn't any school in the local area last week Friday—a safety measure to safe-guard the children. In fact there wasn't school in most of the county.

"But Manchester was prepared for the emergency. With the mercury hovering around eight above zero on Wednesday morning, I do warn people in this area to take extra precautions. Stalling of numerous cars and trucks without snow tires can block the work of ambulances and fire trucks, thus aggravating an already serious emergency.

In view of these considerations, Chief Van DeGinste said that probably there will be times when citizens will be asked to cancel or postpone all but absolutely essential driving.

"We hope our people will accept such requests in good faith, and we expect that those who have to go and those who simply elect to go, will make sure they are equipped to get started and keep going," he said.

For suggestions on what to do to assure "start-ability" and "go-ability" for drivers who must operate their cars in severe winter weather, or anyone who may be "caught" in such weather, Chief VanDeGinste turned to research results provided by the Committee on Winter Driving Hazards of the National Safety Council. Tests show that modern design snow tires can aid starting traction on ice by as much as 28 per cent and this could prevent being stalled.

There are times when even the best snow tires are inadequate and drivers face embarrassment of getting stalled in front of snow-plows-or blocking the path of fire trucks or ambulance. For full confidence and dependable performance in heavy snow, or on icy, hilly streets, tests have proved that there is nothing to match the ability of reinforced tire chains.

Science has tested and found that various tires and traction devices in the order of increasing effectiveness on winter surfaces list them in the following order: Smooth tires (they should not be used), regular tires, winterized tires mud-snow tires, tires with embedded metal coils with serpentine ribs, sanders, regular tire chains and reinforced tire chains.

And getting started is just half the battle, he pointed out. Ability to stop on slippery pavement can be equally or even more important. The chief will discuss "stopping ability" in an article which will appear in a later edition of the Enterprise.

INCOME TAX FORMS READY

R.I. Nixon, Detroit District Director of Internal Revenue Service announced that copies of the 1962 Federal Income Tax Forms will be available at the Detroit Internal Revenue Office and at Michigan's 35 local offices Monday, Dec. 17. Tax practitioners and other bulk users of tax forms can pick up forms at all offices on December 17 and where mail delivery has been requested, the bulk shipments will be received shortly thereafter.

The release date is two weeks later than normal because of the late adjournment of Congress. Printing of the tax forms could not begin until the middle of October rather than the end of September starting date of 1961. Some of the forms are printed on the same presses that print the top-priority congressional record with the remainder being printed in commercial printing houses throughout the country. Despite the 3 weeks delay in the printing start-up, delivery dates are only two weeks late. There will be no delay in the delivery of forms to individuals in the regular mail program. Taxpayers will receive their forms January 2 as usual.

SNOW SHOVELING CAN BE HARMFUL

Now that Manchester has had the first real taste of winter which came with a bang last Thursday and dumped heavy snows in the area people in the area are warned to be careful of over exertion.

The notice came from the American Medical Association in their annual warning to men of middle age and beyond not to rush into shoveling the snow. The warning is aimed at people who are inactive, those who are overweight and those who have an illness which has left them weakened.

The Medical Association says that snow shoveling can be good if it is approached in a leisurely manner. Hard vigorous exercise, such as rapid plying of a snow shovel in a frantic effort to clear the driveway to get to the office on time, could be dangerous. It could even kill you, by putting an undue strain on the heart.

But if you are not sure about your heart, don't be ashamed to get a small snow blower or snow plow for clearing walks and drives. Trying to prove that you can still shovel snow like a youngster is foolish and unnecessary.

SAFE BIKE RULES

Giving your son or daughter a new bike for Christmas? According to the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company your gift will not be complete unless young riders also receive a set of safety rules for handling the bike safely on traffic laden streets. CHRISTMAS TREES

Everyone should have a Christmas tree—that's the strong feeling of tree farmer Calvin Lutz of Kaleva, Michigan. He cuts and markets 4,000 or so Scotch pines, spruce, Norway pine and other assorted varieties. Needy persons who visit his retail lots frequently discover that the price of the tree they want, but cannot afford, has suddenly dropped to zero. "But I usually let them pay something whatever they can. It helps retain the dignity of the family."

As with the two family garage the modern trend is toward the two-tree family. One tree for the main living portion of the home, another for the children or the family room.

"Tastes in trees change," he explains, "we have to provide about seven varieties to keep up with the demand." He notes a trend toward the short needled spruce varieties as opposed to the long-needled pines. Personally, he much prefers the longer needle tree. "Spruce are first to lose their needles, followed by the Douglas Fir." Contrary to what many people think, growers must cut pines shortly before the first frost to assure retention of needle color. After a freeze, the sap withdraws and the long needled varieties turn somewhat yellow in appearance. But they hold their needles well regardless of when they are cut.

Swedish Cookies Are Popular

Delicate flavored cookies are a must in many households at Christmas and Swedish cookies are among the most popular. These decorative crisp cookies can be made in various shapes by using different patterns in a cookie press. For more variety, sprinkle them with colored sugar, frost or decorate with citrons or candied cherries.

Swedish Cookies
3 cups butter
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs beaten
1 cup almonds, blanched and

8 cups sifted all-purpose flour
Cream butter and sugar together. Add eggs, nuts and flour. Mix well. Run through a cookie press. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for about 5-8 minutes or until delicate brown. This recipe makes about 10 dozen or more cookies, depending on size.

3 Holiday 'H's' Can Be Bested

Hurry, haste and hustle. Holidays and the 3 "H's" really go together. And they often interfere with another "H"—hospitality, says Mayme Schoonover, Extension Nutritionist, University of Wyoming.

Her recommendation for a holiday without haste—hurry—hustle and with time for hospitality? It takes a little doing and planning, but is well worth the effort. Here are her suggestions:

- ... Stack the pantry shelf with canned meats for sandwiches and nibblings.
- ... Store extra cheese and dips in the refrigerator.
- ... Add extra boxes of fancy crackers to your usual supply.
- ... Bake some plain and fancy cookies and store them in the refrigerator in closed containers.
- ... Make a dessert that you can freeze or store in refrigerator.

The Great Story

CHRIST might have chosen to come as an earthly king, amid regal splendor, but such would not have suited the purpose of his life upon earth. He was born as the simplest of surroundings and a child in the manger as a leader and teacher of men. There had been false prophets and pretenders through the course of time, so the road was not made easy. Through great examples, great teachings, through His great faith and through performance of a few chosen miracles, Jesus Christ gathered about Him true believers, who were to carry the message to the distant corners of every land. "Truly He is the Son of God!"

MANY TIMES in our busy, work-a-day world we hear the cry that "Christmas is too commercial." Certainly, none may deny that there is much that is commercialized. If it is too much, the fault belongs equally to us all. It is not necessary that we work so hard at "keeping up" with the folks across the street or down the block. We need not let our observance of the holiday get out of hand merely because others are unreasonable. Instead, we can work to promote among family and friends a realization of the true and complete meaning of Christmas. If we do this, we place emphasis where it properly belongs. We turn our thoughts and our footsteps to the church by the side of the road; we give thanks that on this day a Saviour was born.

IN THE LIGHT of the star they came, three wise men from the East. No ordinary men were they, nor poor travelers. They had not come with the thousands to register in accordance with the wishes of Herod. These men owed no allegiance to Herod, nor to one another. Each man was a king in his own right. The bond between them was a bright and shining star which told of the fulfillment of prophecy. So it was they came, following the light of the star until it came to rest above the stable in Bethlehem. Humbly bearing gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh, they came forward, these kings, to kneel reverently before the manger and pay homage to the newborn babe they believed to be the "king of kings."

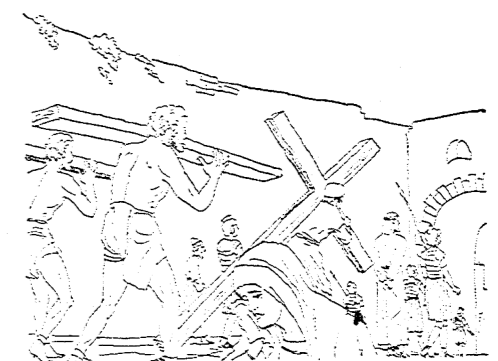

HE CHOSE the quiet, unobtrusive atmosphere of a stable. History does not record, but we might safely assume that this stable was not the most pleasant of surroundings. It was a crude shelter for animals and as such certainly not suitable accommodations for human beings. Crowded as Bethlehem was at the time, it is safe to assume that other travelers had turned their backs upon the dank atmosphere of the stable and chose instead the chill of the night air. But the traveler from Galilee was forced to seek some form of shelter for a wife who was with child. Joseph, a carpenter by trade, nonetheless was a proud man. We must wonder how difficult it was for him to be prostrate and accept the fact that poor shelter was better than no shelter at all.

AND EVEN unto this day there are disbelievers. It is true that He came to save all mankind, yet His legacy provides nothing more than opportunity. Each man is granted the right to seek out eternal salvation; but there are no provisions to insure that every individual make the effort. Each man must build his own bridges along the pathway of life. For those who would follow in His footsteps, there is no stronger working tool than faith. During His life upon earth, Jesus Christ many times was beseeched by the sick and the lame and the infirm to perform miracles and make them "whole." Time and time again, He would ask one question: "Do you have faith?" When there is faith, and only then, is the miracle possible.

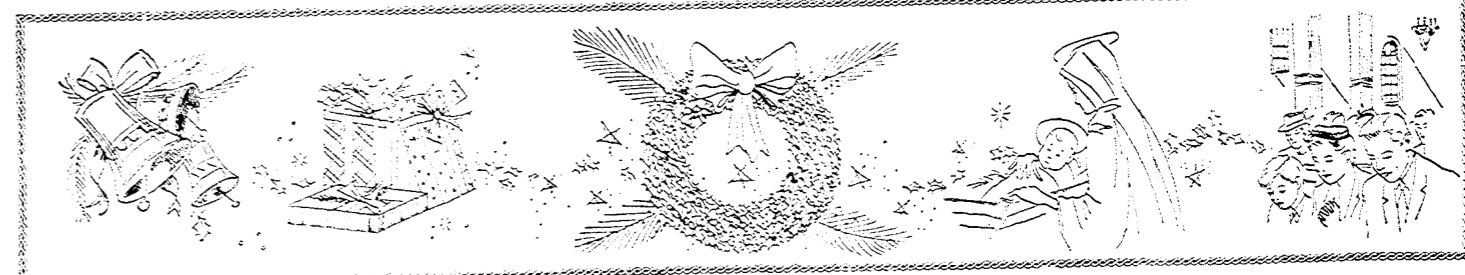

SHEPHERDS came down from the hillside, where an angel had appeared to tell them of the great happening at Bethlehem. Seeing their simple gifts, these humble men came to kneel in the shadows of the quiet stable, side by side with the three kings from the East. As the magic star had guided the kings across many lands, the messenger of God appeared on the near hillside and instructed men of simple faith to come forth and acknowledge the birth of the Saviour. And, this is right, for He is the King of kings and the King of men; He is the King of the near and the King of the far. Generations as yet unborn shall be amazed at the vastness of His kingdom.

RARELY do we find in the writings since that time reference to the fact that the stable was dirty and unclean. Instead, the manger seems that have become so popular depict the stable always clean and beautiful. This is quite proper, for it is all so true that the greatness of the event which took place is such that there is room for no more than beauty in the eyes of the beholder. The previous few years showed in the Miracle of Bethlehem were made to realize the magnificent event that clothes and laid in a manger! was such a glorious sight to behold that an ethereal beauty touched the whole surroundings. The dirt, unkept stable, because it was the only shelter available to the weary travelers, was transformed into a holy piece of ground.

THERE IS one most impressive fact to consider when we think about the Story of Christmas. Let us call it the importance—or the sacredness—of truth. It is not surprising that a story so old, so oft-repeated, and many times translated from tongue to tongue continues to remain the same! Centuries of selling and retelling have not altered the simple matter of the situation. Many of the customs and traditions associated with the observance of Christmas may change with the times, often differ greatly from one country to another; yet the Story of Christmas is forever the same. It needs no embellishment. In humble surroundings Jesus Christ was born unto the world. Until He died on the Cross of Calvary, His life upon earth was one of humility, faith, obedience and highest example.

SO NOW AGAIN it is the season of Christmas. The Story of Bethlehem will be told and re-told, in mansions and in cabins, by the open fire and in the quiet hush of a child's room. And, certainly, the real meaning of the Christmas Story will touch many hearts for the first time. For as many as believe, there will be special meaning in the merry lights, the bright tinsel, and the outward trappings we have come to know so well—for these shall share in realization and appreciation of the fact that on this day God sent His only Son to save the world.
