Not so dear friend and not so loyal supporter. You are the first and probably the last to answer any of my editorials. From reading your letter you must be new to the community. First of all Manchester loves to have it quiet and everything routine. We at the Enterprise (spelled with s not z) have tried in the last 3½ years create interest for the town, but I have discovered that the people hate crusaders and love pussyfooters.

You ask what is the editor's opinion of the candidates in the coming election. The question we have is -- Who are the candidates for the coming election -- it is quite difficult to ask the little man who isn't there just what his platform is. Up to now the problem is - Who is he? With such up and coming citizens as yourself it is strange that the committee's to fill vacancies are having such a hard time to fill their slates. Would you, not so dear friend like us to submit your name as a possible candidate - say to run for village president or maybe village clerk?

I have to disagree that Enterprise "is advertising, obituaries and our usual drivel", I only have to look at your second letter, where you thank us for the wonderful stories and layouts in the Enterprise that we did for your organization, if this is our usual drivel then I agree wholeheartedly.

The Enterprise can be a leader in our community, but a POWER - the Enterprise has just enough education to understand and appreciate these groups, and yet not to much to become warped.

WHAT HAPPENED TO THE SURVEY?

Manchester attitude survey has met with an excellent response. Dick Kuntz, chairman of the Jaycees survey committee, reports that responses have been received from over 600 adults and 300 high school students. While this does not represent one hundred per cent of the community, it is still a remarkable total.

Where are the results?

The Jaycees ask the community to have patience. The survey committee must put each response on two IBM cards. Punching approx approximately 2,000 cards in a person's spare time is a lengthy job and will be completed in about two weeks. Then the results must be tabulated. The survey committee is to meet again with Dr. McCusky of the University of Michigan.

As near as can be estimated at this time it will probably be a month before the results can be published. However, they will be sent to the Enterprise as soon as possible.

The Jaycees are grateful to all those in and around Manchester who have cooperated in making this a successful survey.

Two employes of the Union Construction Co. of Manchester were crushed to death and two others seriously injured Friday when a scoop shovel accidentally swung out of control and into a sewer trench in which the men were working 2 miles south of the Willow Run Airport.

The men, all residents of Manchester were working on an Ypsilanti Township sewer project which began December 1.

Dead on arrival at Beyer Memorial Hospital at Ypsilanti were Bruce Calloway, 37, of 403 W. Main Street., Manchester, and Robert Adams, 37, of 517 W. Territorial St., Manchester.

Calloway was the father of 10 children and Adams the father of five.

The accident occurred at 1:35 p.m. Friday on the north side of Textile Road, just west of Rawsonville Rd. in southeastern Ypsilanti township.

Also injured and taken to Beyer Memorial Hospital, Ypsilanti were two other Manchester residents, Douglas N. Higgins, 19, of 18885 W-Austin Road, Manchester and Robert W. Nickerson, 19 of 9819 Clinton Road, Manchester.

Coming Event

Rev. James Craig of the Dixboro Methodist church will be the preacher on Wednesday, March 6 at the 8 p.m. service at the Methodist church.

Euchre tournament every Monday night at the Legion hall at 8 p.m.

Fenner, 49, of Allen Park, formerly of Jackson, told investigators that he had locked the hoist and hand brake before backing the crane away from the opening. Then he said he heard the brake release, permitting the bucket to swing into the hole before he could do anything to stop it.

The backs of all four men were toward the scoop when it struck them, according to Allen Schaffer, president of the construction firm.

All four men were employes of the Union Construction Co. of Manchester, contractors for part of a $1 million sewage project for Ypsilanti township.

State Police from the Ypsilanti post were called to the scene at 1:40 p.m.

Fenner, an operator with 25 years experience told troopers he usually keeps his feet on the brake at all times but because of the cold had to brace his feet to place the tractor in gear.

Higgins told troopers he saw the shovel start swinging but couldn't remember what happened after that.

Trooper's theorized that he had a split second's time to jump aside and miss the full force of the shovel.

Allan W. Schaffer, 505 W. Main Street, Manchester president of the firm, said that under normal conditions only one man would have been in the ditch. However Schaffer said the other three men had jumped in to decide on materials needed to put in a man hole.

"They would have been out of the pit in another couple of minutes", Schaffer said.

Nickerson, a sewer bottom man, has been with the company for one year. Higgins, a loader operator, has been with the company a year. Both are graduates of Manchester High School.

Adams, the general foreman, had been with Union for 21 years and Calloway a general laborer, had been with the firm five years.

The back-hole digger was one of the largest if not the largest in this part of the country, company officials said.

Nickerson was hit on the head and knocked unconscious. His father said his injuries appeared to be less serious than those received by Higgins, who spent two hours in surgery and received blood transfusions Friday night for injuries to the pelvic region. According to his mother, Mrs. Norman Higgins, he was improving satisfactorily from the wing bone injury in the pelvic region. He also suffered a separation of vertebrae in his back.

Nickerson returned home Sunday afternoon.

STATE LEADERMETE

More than 300 adult volunteer 4-H leaders from all over the state will come to Michigan State University for the 7th annual Michigan 4-H Leadermete, Mar. 2-3.

Theme of this year's conference will be "4-H Citizenship in Action," according to Delwyn Dyer, State 4-H Specialist. Those attending will later share their experiences with more than 12,000 other leaders in the state's 83 counties.

Dr. Charles Freeman of the National 4-H Foundation Washington, D.C., will serve as resource person for several sessions. Key speakers will include Dr. Thomas Cowden, Dean of MSU's College of Agriculture, and Jack Breslin, Secretary of the University.

Henry Schriver, Grafton Ohio Farmer and Rustic poet will share his homespun philosophy with leaders. Schriver, who says he thinks in rhyme, has been called a second Will Rogers.

MSU students from other countries will sit in on several sessions. They will tell about family life back home.

Leaders will have some fun too. There will be campus tours, an evening of square dancing and a program by the Oldsmobile rocketaires.

SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFICIARIES CAN GET CHECKS

Social Security beneficiaries who move can receive their monthly checks on time by following a few simple rules, according to Robert Kehoe, Manager of the Ann Arbor Social Security Office.

A written request to the Social Security Administration for a change of address received before the 15th of the month will assure receipt of the next check at the new address, Mr. Kehoe said. If a notice of a change of address is made later in the month, arrangements should also be made with the post office to have the next check forwarded. In any event, notify your social security district office or payment center as soon as possible of any change in address. Kehoe reminded beneficiaries that a change of address card or letter must be signed by the person to whom the checks are issued, and must always show the social security claim number.

Convenient notification forms are available at all social security district offices.

Mr. Kehoe concluded that prompt and accurate reporting by beneficiaries will result in faster and better service in processing the millions of address and other changes received every year by the Social Security Administration.

HEALTH DIRECTOR REPORTS ON FLU

Doctor Otto K. Engelke, Director of the Washtenaw County Health Department, announced today that there is apparently no extraordinary amount of flu of any description in Washtenaw county at the present time. However, Doctor Engelke stated further, there is no way of predicting whether or not the amount of flu will reach significant proportions in the County at the later date.

Many upper respiratory infections such as colds, sore throats are being mistaken for flu by the public. True influenza has a sudden onset marked by feelings of weakness, aches and pains in the back and limbs, and high fever. As the illness progresses, respiratory symptoms, especially sore throat and coughing become obvious.

Flu vaccine taken at the proper time may prevent 90 to 70 per cent of the cases; however, the best time for vaccination may be past for most people, Dr. Engelke said. Those people interested in flu vaccine should consult a private physician. It could still be helpful for some, particularly for those who have had the vaccine previously.

A sound medical decision to suit each individual must be made in regard to administering the vaccine. Dr. Engelke feels that the flu vaccine does not lend itself to a mass immunization program. While it is a mild vaccine, reactions do occur which require individual attention by private physicians.

People interested in general measures which may be helpful in preventing influenza can follow the standard recommendations of private physicians and the Health Department. Good food, good rest, good medical care, and good cheer are all felt to be important elements in the prevention of the serious effects of such infections. Influenza derives its importance from complications that may follow, particularly in older people, infants and those afflicted with chronic diseases.

SERVICE NOTES

Army PFC Robert Cummings of Manchester participated in the 101 Airborne Division's Exercise GOLD EAGLE at Fort Campbell, Ky. which ended in late January.

Zero temperatures, strong winds and heavy snowfall enabled the more than 16000 participants to test cold weather combat training while protecting themselves from severe weather.

Cummings, a radar operator in Headquarters Company of the division's 327th Infantry, entered the Army in July 1960 and completed basic training at Ft. Knox.

The 20-year old soldier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Cummings, 9492 Grossman Road, is a 1960 graduate of Manchester High School.

TB SKIN TESTING TO BEGIN MARCH 11

The Washtenaw County Health Department and the Board of Education are starting the tuberculosis skin testing program for Washtenaw County School students again this year.

The testing program is being offered to 9th grade students who have registered properly and have registration cards completed and signed by their parents. Testing will begin on March 11, and will continue for two days.

In this year's testing program in Washtenaw County schools, students will be offered two skin tests. The skin test on the left arm will be the regular test for tuberculosis. The other test, on the right arm is a simple test which will indicate whether the student has ever been exposed to another germ called the Battey Bacillus.

With the decline of tuberculosis in our nation, medical scientists are focusing attention on other respiratory germs which infect human beings, many of which are relatively harmless.

The Battey Bacillus is one of these respiratory germs. Results of the skin tests will be read at the schools two or three days after the tests are given. Although a significant number of students may react to the Battey test it is important to note that such reaction does not have equal significance with a reaction to the tuberculin test.

For those students who have a positive tuberculin test arrangements will be made to make further tests and follow-up. However, no county-wide follow-up is planned for those who have positive reactions to the Battey tests.

The Battey test is being given as part of a comparative scientific study. It is of scientific interest to determine the number of reactors in Washtenaw County as compared with the number of reactors found elsewhere in the state and nation.

Regular meeting of the O.E.S. will be held Friday, March 1 at the Masonic Temple at 8 p.m.

OPEN MEETING PLATED MARCH 11

Manchester Business and Professional Women are inviting the public to a special meeting, Monday, March 11 to hear Professor Charles Joiner, assistant Dean of the University of Michigan Law School.

His topic will be an explanation of the proposed new constitution.

The meeting will be held in the All Purpose Room of the Nellie Ackerson School. Previously it was announced that the meeting would be in the Civic auditorium. A film strip will supplement his talk, which will be followed by a question and answer period and a coffee hour.

The local club asks the voters to join them in this opportunity to become better acquainted with the proposed constitution.

Professor Joiner promises to be a very interesting speaker.

He is a graduate of the University of Iowa where he received the Bachelor of Art degree in 1937 and the Doctor of Jurisprudence degree in 1939.

Until 1947 he was trial attorney and associate in a law firm in Des Moines, Iowa. At that time he joined Des Moines College of Law as a part-time lecturer.

He served from 1943-45 as First Lt. in the Air Corps, in the Pacific and American theaters. He received two Battle Stars in 1945, the Air Offensive against Japan, and the Easter Mandates Campaign.

In 1947 he became Assistant Professor of Law at the U-M. He was promoted to Associate Professor in 1950 and to full Professor in 1953.

In 1939 Prof. Joiner was awarded the Nathan Burkan Memorial Competition by ASCAP.

Professor Joiner is chairman of the Joint Committee on Michigan Procedural Revision, established by the Michigan Legislature, the Supreme Court of Michigan, and the State Bar of Michigan in 1956 to study and make recommendations for a revision of the Michigan Judicial Act and Court Rules.

He is also a member of the Committee on Public Relations of the Senate Advisory Committee on University Affairs 1961-62.

He is a member of the Methodist church and a Republican and the author of two case-books used in law courses in the field of Civil Procedure and numerous law review articles.

RIVER RAISIN PROJECT TO BE STUDIED

A River Raisin Watershed project is being studied by some 114 people for Washtenaw, Lenawee, and Monroe counties at the community Center in Tecumseh. Almost all towns and cities in Lenawee and Monroe counties which would be affected by the plan were represented. The giant effort which could eventually include areas in Jackson and Hillsdale counties is gradually moving ahead due to the dedicated efforts of several area men.

Ron Pocklington of Britton has been the main spring in the proposed reclamation of the Raisin River, dating back to when he ran survey of the watershed for the government in the 1930's.

At the meeting a 15-man steering committee, in which a variety of communities are represented was set up. In this group is Richard Kuntz of Manchester.

Within a week a five-man committee will make a technical review of the watershed to study the general condition of the river. Then the committee will accept a formal application from the Tecumseh Council for an engineering survey. The governing body has already approved the idea of damming a trio of lakes.

461,720 acres of land drain into the Raisin through the four counties of watershed, Jackson, Washtenaw, Hillsdale and Monroe. The water level has been dropped in recent years. Mr. Pocklington told the group that there were probably 4 possible sites for dams along the river, which could form a chain of lakes, boost water levels and offer a variety of recreation areas.

Earl Fenton, of the Michigan Soil Conservation Service told the audience about recent changes in Public Law 566 under which the Raisin plan could win federal funds. In cases of flood prevention the government would pay as high as 100 per cent of costs. With recreation, the government matches local money dollar. Local municipalities can borrow their share at an interest rate of 2.9 per cent from the secretary of agriculture. Size of the project cannot exceed 250,000 acres.

But the project can be set up in a series of several should the overall need be bigger.

LITTLE LEAGUE MEETING SET

All fathers of boys who will be playing Little League Baseball this summer are urged to attend a meeting on Thursday, March 14 at 8 p.m. in the Nellie Ackerson Multi Purpose Room.

This also includes last summer's Little League managers. The success of this year's program will, to a considerable extent, be determined by the turnout of fathers at this organizational meeting.

CHEST BOARD SETS MAY 2 FOR ANNUAL MEET

Manchester Community Chest Board set May 2 as the date for the 1963 annual meeting. All area organizations are requested to send representatives and the public is urged to attend this meeting to give suggestions for Chest policies and to elect four of the 12 board members who will serve for the next three years.

Two agencies were voted portions of their budgets at the February 28th meeting of the Recreation Council, $1950 and the Boy Scouts $500. The Boy Scout budget allotment of $500 in the Manchester Area Drive was $268 below the average per Scout member quota in the Washtenaw District and the board voted to add this amount to their budget to be paid by September 1, when the final settlement of accounts can be made.

Stanley White was appointed to represent Manchester Chest at the Michigan United Fund sessions in Lansing. All United Fund Agency requests are reviewed at these sessions and their final quotas for the year are determined by committees formed from members of every Community Chest in the State.

Louis Vogel was appointed to represent Manchester at the Red Cross budget hearings in Ann Arbor this spring.

Board members whose terms expire in 1963 are Clarence Fielder, Mrs. Glen Lehr, Clayton Parr, and Ted Tapping.

TOWNSHIP LIBRARY BOARD TO MEET

Manchester Township library annual board meeting will be March 25 at the local library. Annual reports will be presented and the budget for 1963-64 reviewed in preparation for presentation at the annual Township Board meeting on March 30.

This year's nominating committee is Mrs. Richard Kuntz and Mrs. Dan Boutell. Board members whose terms expire are Miss Nellie Ackerson and Mr. Donald Dorff. Two board members are elected each year by the Township board to serve a three-year term each.

A complete file of Constitution Revision material is now available through the aid of the Washtenaw County Library for those who wish to review for themselves the old and new constitutions before the April first decision.

WELL KNOWN AUTHOR DIES AT SUTTONS BAY

James B. Hendryx, well-known Michigan author, who died in Sutton's Bay Friday March 1, was well known to Manchester residents. For many years he made an annual trip to Manchester to visit Franklin M. Reck with whom he planned trips into the unexplored parts of the Ontario wilderness on assignments for national magazines.

During his lifetime, Hendryx wrote some seventy-five books and hundreds of magazine articles. His most famous books were the Gennie Morgan stories, written for the American Boy Magazine, and it was while he was turning out these books that he met Reck who was an editor of the magazine from 1926 to 1941. Another highly popular series of books dealt with a mythical character named Black John, an outlaw who lived on the border between the Northwest territory and Alaska.

Hendryx was born in Sauk Center, Minnesota, where he was a classmate of Sinclair Lewis, author of Main Street, Arrowsmith and other books about Midwest America, and Claude Lewis, noted surgeon. Both Lewises and Hendryx were at one time in Who's Who in America.

After two years at the University of Minnesota, Hendryx went west to work at the TU Ranch in Montana and in 1902 he and another cowboy named Tex went to Dawson at the height of the Gold Rush. There he panned gold, cut wood for river steamers, delt faro in the gambling houses, and became friends with such fabulous characters as Jack London, the author, and Robert W. Service, the poet.

For some years after that he worked on newspapers Chicago and Cincinnati and during this time he began writing and selling his stories of the Northwest.

In 1915 he gave up newspaper work and moved to Sutton's Bay just north of Traverse City, where he found his ideal combination of fishing, hunting and writing.

In 1956 Hendryx was featured on Ralph Edwards popular television series, "This is Your Life." In the final scene of the program with Hendryx seated on the davenport surrounded by his family and friends, one of the grandchildren seated on his lap asked: "Grandpa, can you take your teeth out, like you used to?"

It was on this same program that Hendryx summed up his philosophy of living in response to a question by Edwards, who asked, "Jim, now that you've had seventy-six years of active live, would you change anything if you had a chance to live your life over again?" Jim replied: "No, I'd just do more of it."

For twenty-five years, Hendryx and Reck made annual trips into the wilderness on trout-fishing expeditions.
