New and Easy Money-Saving Main Dish

There is new taste enjoyment in that classic main dish favorite, macaroni and cheese, when made according to the easy-do recipe here. The proof is in the eating, of course, and this version is guaranteed to please.

This hearty main dish is very simple to prepare - no separate cheese sauce to make. Cooked macaroni is layered with seasonings and shredded cheese, then undiluted evaporated milk poured over. When the casserole comes from the oven, the cheese and evaporated milk are blended into a smooth and rich sauce throughout. A tomato cut in wedges makes a colorful and flavorful accent under the toasty crisp crumbs.

MACARONI AND CHEESE

- 2 1/2 cups uncooked elbow macaroni (8 oz.)
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon oregano or rubbed sage
1 small onion, sliced thin
1/2 pound American cheese, shredded (2 cups)
1 tall can evaporated milk (1 1/2 cups)
1 tomato, cut in wedges
1 slice bread
1 tablespoon butter, melted

Drop macaroni gradually into 3 quarts boiling water to which 1 tablespoon salt has been added, and cook until tender, about 7 to 8 minutes. Drain and rinse with hot water, then drain again. Place half the macaroni in a well-buttered 2 quart casserole. Blend salt, pepper and oregano or sage; sprinkle half over macaroni. Separate onion into rings and scatter half over macaroni. Layer half the cheese over, then pour about half the evaporated milk over all. Repeat. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350° F.) 30 minutes. Place tomato wedges on top. Pull bread into small crumbs, mix with butter then sprinkle on top. Bake 10 minutes longer. Makes 6 servings.

WATCH THE FORDS GO BY... GO BY... GO BY... GO BY...

1ST 2ND 3RD 4TH 5TH! In the test that tears 'em apart...the Daytona "500"... Ford durability conquered the field!

Score another big win for Ford—this time at Daytona, February 24! The Daytona "500" is one of the toughest tests of automotive machinery. The twisting, turning, acceleration and braking a car gets in a little over 3 hours and 15 minutes at Daytona easily equals the wear and tear of 2 or 3 years' normal driving. And over 70,000 spectators saw dramatic proof of the stamina and durability built into the '63 1/2 Super Torque Ford. Outperforming competitive cars in a field of 50, Fords finished 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th! Daytona was open competition, too—not a "private" test arranged by one car builder to favor his car's strong points. Never before has one make dominated so completely a major U.S. 500-mile track event. Ford's 5-in-a-line victory at Daytona stands as a spectacular demonstration of total performance!

GOLD WEATHER TAX CONSUMERS' LINES

Bitter and prolonged cold weather has caused Consumers Power Company and its subsidiary, Michigan Gas Storage Company, to add $3,000,000 to their gas construction budgets for 1963.

A.H. Aymond, Consumers chairman of the board, said the two companies would spend $36,000,000 instead of the $33,000,000 originally planned to strengthen their combined gas system. The system serves almost 600,000 gas customers in 32 Michigan counties.

Total 1963 construction budget of Consumers now becomes $62,000,000, including electric and general projects. The Michigan Gas Storage construction budget becomes $7,400,000.

"This has been one of the most severe winters on record," Mr. Aymond said. "To date it has been about 15 per cent colder than normal. To date the re have been 31 days when the temp has been at zero or lower, compared with a half dozen or so in the average year.

"About half of the gas distributed by Consumers is used to heat homes. The number of house-heating customers has grown faster than expected, and of course the amount of gas they use depends on the weather. There has also been a sharp growth in industrial and commercial use of gas.

"We have been able to meet all the demands of our customers, but the strain on our gas system has been severe. It cannot be assumed that next winter will be milder than this winter. The fact is that there has been a slight downward trend in winter temperatures in our service area for the last ten years. Furthermore, we expect to add 24,000 more gas customers during 1963. So we must get ready to distribute substantially more gas next winter than this winter."

The $3,000,000 just added to the 1963 construction budgets will be used to finance additional compressor capacity in storage fields, where gas received by way of interstate pipelines in summer is held for use in winter. A 10,500 horsepower compressor driven by a jet engine will be installed in the Muskegon River Compressor Station in the storage field area near Marion. A 2,500 horsepower compressor, also driven by a jet engine, will be installed in a compressor station at Consumers' Overisel storage field in Allegan County.

At the Ira storage field near St. Claire, a 500 horsepower compressor station will be built and two additional storage wells drilled.

The problem is not one of gas supply Mr. Aymond pointed out because the gas supply is adequate. But to meet next winter's demand for gas we need to be able to get gas out of the storage areas faster when weather conditions make this necessary. The additional compressor capacity will help us do this.

Other projects on the year of 1963-64 program involve construction of 26-inch pipeline from Ovid to Flint, and a 16-inch pipeline from Dewitt to Lansing, completing facilities for two-way delivery of gas to the Flint and Lansing areas. All other major distribution areas already receive gas deliveries by two routes, including Bay City, Saginaw, Pontiac, Kalamazoo, Jackson and the Oakland, Macomb and west Wayne county areas.

At Jackson, a new natural gas control center will be built this year to facilitate around-the-clock supervision of gas operations throughout the 32-county service area. Another major project is the construction of a gas compressor station near White Pigeon, where gas from the Gulf Coast region is delivered to Consumers by Truckline Gas Company. Work has begun on this project.

LUXURY CAR: RIDES, RESPONDS AND LOOKS LIKE IT OUGHT TO COST A RANSOM

You're looking at our Impala Super Sport Convertible which, along with its cousin the Sport Coupe, absolutely embarrasses higher priced cars.

That special trim and those front bucket seats merely hint at the comforts you find built into every Impala Super Sport.

Performance? It's remarkable, an understatement we can afford when there are 7 engines to choose from. One of which is the popular 340-hp Turbo-Fire 409*, a wizard in traffic and a joy on the open road. And others all the way up to 425 hp*.

If you want an extra flourish or two, mull over extra-cost options like floor-shift four-speed manual or Powerglide transmission, Positraction, fade-resistant sintered-metallic brake linings, and a tachometer to relay what's cooking up front.

Just before you rush off to your Chevrolet dealer, may we remind you that both Impala Super Sports offer the new Comfortilt steering wheel*. You adjust it to suit your driving style, flick it out of the way for easy entry and exit.

All three Chevrolet series—Biscayne, Bel Air and Impala—deserve a long look. Super Sports demand it.

While winter winds howl and the family circle snugly relax es indoors, remember Reddy Kilowatt is working more hours to provide more power for comfortable, enjoyable electrical living.

Reddy is working harder because the electric water heater heats colder water and more of it. . . electric motors on furnaces operate long hours. . . handy electric space heaters work overtime to keep a warm bathroom and baby's room. . . heat lamps perform many services. . . lights go on at 5 instead of 9. . . greater use of electric blankets. . . hours of fun from radio and TV.

Zero weather keeps Reddy especially busy bringing warmth, comfort and entertainment to all the folks from baby Sis to Grandad. So if your electric usage bill has reached a new peak, remember that naturally the change in your electrical living will be reflected in your electric living bill.

KODA'S KORNER

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:
 The Editor
 The "Manchester Enterprise"

Dear Sir:
 Thank you for your response to my previous letter. I apologize for its rather pedantic tone. Your admonition to get into public life is well taken; when my present apprenticeship is finished, I shall take you up on your challenge.

The point should be made that the "Manchester Enterprise" in the past year and a half has definitely improved. There is indeed more and more interesting news. My complaint is that it is, to a large extent, "controlled news". When I write something as secretary of the club, I'm usually trying to sell something. It may be the club as a service organization. Such stories cannot help but have a bias, even though those of us who write them strive to write objectively. An independent reporter can avoid bias. He can set up an objective standard as to what is really news. Perhaps such independent reporting is impossible for a small town newspaper, especially when that newspaper is published in addition to other work. At any rate, there has been improvements in the Enterprise and I look for further improvements.

I would take issue with your comment that Manchester is a quiet town. Manchester hums with rumors, half-truths, and garbled news. It's rather difficult for a newcomer to the community to sort out fact from fiction. This is where a newspaper is helpful. Reports on Village Council meetings, school board meetings, and other meetings of importance to the community, made by independent reporter, would stop many rumors. The rumors and garbled news serve to divide the community so that Manchesterites seem to work against each other. I believe that the "Enterprise" can help the people of Manchester work together for the common good simply by presenting more and more comprehensive news.

Sincerely,
 J. A. J. Jr.
 P.S. I'm still interested in knowing what started all this ruckus.

My Dear J. A. J. Jr.
 Your points are well taken, but what you say are the same things I have said to myself at least a 100 times. The only difference is I have to confine myself to a limited budget, and as you put it, especially when that newspaper is published in addition to other work. Well, sir, what you ask for is like wanting champagne on a beer budget and as of right now! That additional work is paying for the beer.

My dear sir, your council meetings and school board meetings are open to the public, if these things are so important why is it have sat alone at these meetings meetings?
 Sincerely,
 George Koda

County Hearing Set On Store Hours Law

March 25 is the date for the special meeting and public hearing set by the Board of Supervisors to consider the request by a food market chain that the board exempt the county (Washtenaw) from Michigan's Weekend Closing Law which is effective March 28.

The request came in a letter to the Board from Country Markets, Inc. which has stores in Manchester, Saline and Milan, which will be affected by the new law. The letter stated that during the winter the chain's markets do 12 to 13 per cent of their business on Sundays and 16 per cent of their business during the summer. It estimated that six to eight per cent of business would be lost under the state act.

Board of Supervisors after notice and hearing and with concurrence of two-thirds of the members, may exempt itself from the law. The Week-end Closing Law applies only to stores which are open seven days a week and does not affect service restaurants and service stations.

The law restricts the selling of certain merchandise to one weekend day, either Saturday or Sunday, but it allows specified emergency, necessity and recreational items to be sold all seven days. Milk, eggs, butter, cheese and other dairy products, perishable fruits and vegetables are specifically permitted to be sold seven days a week.

The act also permits the sale of any food from any part of the property where it is grown, as in the case of farm roadside stands.

A store may change its weekend day-off from Sunday to Saturday and vice-versa, not more often than every six months.

The hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m. Monday, March 25 and will be followed by a board session to make a decision on the proposed exemption.

Country Markets asserts that it would lose 150 to 200 employe hours per week—the time of three full-time workers and three part-time workers—if the county fails to exempt itself from the new law. The company stated that none of the employes are asked to work against his will on Sunday.

The firm states that the state act is discriminatory because it permits stores containing less than 4000 square feet or less of floor space to remain open seven days a week. Stores not meeting these conditions are limited to a six-day business week.

Clayton Parr, Manchester township supervisor, said that any stores involved in the change will be welcome to attend the public hearing and express their opinion.

The state act provides that any county by action of the
