Summer Camp Sold

A new coeducational camp for capable youths will begin operations June 24 on a 102-acre site in Manchester township.

The camp will have space for 60 children from 11 to 15 years old.

Highscope is the new name of the camp in recognition of its ambitious program of involving campers in vocal and instrumental music, creative drama, modern and folk dancing, the theatre, including play production, plus arts and crafts, sports recreation, leadership activities and fellowship.

Creation of the camp south of Manchester was made an announcement by Butts and Swisher Co. of Ann Arbor, representatives of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Detroit and the new camp owner-operators in transfer of the 102 acres.

The new owner-operators are three Ypsilanti Public Schools faculty members and their wives, most of whom were either graduated from or once associated with the University of Michigan.

They are: David Weikart, 31, YPS psychologist and director of special services and his wife, Phyllis, also 31, a health and education teacher and now a housewife.

R.G. Kingston, 41, principal of YPS' E.S. George School and his wife, Ida W. 40, an elementary school teacher for four years and now a housewife; and John Salcau, 36, principal of YPS' A.G. Erickson School and his wife, Jane, 35, a research bacteriologist with 18 years experience at the University Medical Center.

The six, with backgrounds in teaching and creative activities will be instructor and counselors at the camp with four other professionals.

The camp cost $55,000 and the six say they are putting about $15,000 worth of improvements into the camp.

The Camp had been known as Glenbrook and includes two large brick-stucco houses nearly the size of mansions, which once formed the summer residence of a well known Detroit architect.

Other facilities include a 5 x 75 foot brick barn of three levels which is being redone for use as an activities center, plus an orchard and tree farm.

Highscope has a brough-a-camp stream-called on Creek. It forms a pool at the camp site.

The Highscope site until 10 years ago was used for about 10 years by the Archdiocese of Detroit as a summer residence for boys, called St. Joseph Glenbrook.

Weekend Closing Law Ok'd

At a special meeting of the Washtenaw County Bd. of Supervisors the vote was 32 to 4 in favor of the week end closing law. A special public hearing was held Monday with persons on both sides of the issue expressing opinions to the board.

The law was supported by 18 speakers and opposed by 7 at the Washtenaw county hearing.

Jackson county joined Washtenaw county in voting to abide by the provisions of the controversial Week-end Closing Law, while Midland county supervisors voted to exclude merchants in their county.

Twenty-six of Michigan's 83 counties have taken action to exempt their merchants from the state's new law which prohibits merchants from selling specified articles on more than one of the two week-end days.

The law's effective date is Thursday, but enforcement has been blocked at least temporarily in 25 cities and 13 counties, including Washtenaw and Jackson by a Wayne county circuit court order.

Judge Joseph Rashid granted the temporary restraining order last Friday to 59 independent merchants and 61 department stores with operations in the 13 counties who attacked the law as unconstitutional. The order is valid through April 5th.

Two firms' Arlan's Discount Department Store and Country Markets, with stores in Washtenaw County are among the parties suing to prevent enforcement of the law.

A hearing has been set for April 2.

Citizens Meeting April 8th

Supt. Robert Masten announces that the annual meeting of Manchester Citizens committee will be Monday, April 8. At this time the next year's program and the financial implications will be discussed. Sample budgets will be available before the meeting for study by area residents.

This will be the time for any person to express opinions, recommendations and criticisms of the school system, its curriculum and its progress. The Board of Education will meet following the annual citizen's meeting to set the millage request for this year's school election.

The first grade enrollment at Pleasant Lake school being only 11 children pose a building utilization problem for next year. The Board of Education has been studying several plans to even class loads throughout the system. In doing so, they have decided that combination grades are not satisfactory. At the same time they do not believe it advisable for early elementary children from the same family to attend different schools. The transportation routes are being revised for next year with the plan that certain families from Sharon township will attend the Pleasant Lake School.

Supt. Masten says that the possibility of severe winter storms confront this area every spring and early summer. School officials will check the weather periodically during the warm spring days. If there are tornado forecasts accompanied by a sudden drop in barometric pressure the schools will be closed and the busses will leave early. He suggests that arrangements be made at home to have an adult present on sultry, humid, warm spring days. If school is dismissed early, radio stations WPAG and WOIA will broadcast the information.

School officials note at this time that a few children who ride the school busses think it a place to play in and misbehave. These few have the support of their parents and make the responsibility of bus driving an overwhelming task. There are about 60 children riding these busses. If the children do not cooperate at once school officials will be denying them the transportation to school as they will be denied transportation.

At an organizational meeting of Little League managers held recently, May 4th and May 11th were set as tryout dates for boys not already assigned to a Little League team. To be eligible to try out a boy must have attained the age of eight years by June 1, 1963.

Prior to these tryouts the boys eligible for the first time this year for the Little League program will have a couple of practice sessions. Mr. Keith Doelker will be in charge of these and will be helped by Mr. Richard Way, Mr. Robert Panches and other interested fathers. Mr. Doelker will also be in charge of the Farm Team this year.

Following the tryouts the Little League managers will be meeting to select their quota of players. This meeting will be held May 15 at 8 p.m. in the Nellie Ackerson Multi-purpose room.

The main speaker of the day was Dr. Ben Mohr Herberster, president of the United Church of Christ, which has a membership of 2,250,000. He chose as his topic, A Life in Common. He also spoke at the regular Sunday morning service.

At 6 o'clock the ladies of Emanuel served a chicken dinner which was followed by group singing of religious popular and German songs with Paul Niehaus of Chelsea as leader and Mrs. Niehaus at the piano.

Emanuel has two members on the executive committee. They are Sydney Leeman and Carl Wuerthner.

'Supermarket' In Kitchen Cuts Costs

How much does a trip to the supermarket cost? Much more than the total shown on the sales tape, says Dr. Helen G. Canoyer, dean of the New York State College of Home Economics.

Dr. Canoyer warns that there are hidden costs, not only in cash, but in time and energy, involved in supermarket shopping. Costs counted by Dr. Canoyer include travel to and from the store—the wear of extra mileage on the car and tires as well as the gasoline used.

She also adds up the energy sapped by rounding up the youngsters and readying them, finding a parking space, searching for the right items, and waiting in the check-out line.

No one wants to eliminate the efficiencies and pleasures of supermarket shopping, which Dr. Canoyer compares to shopping in the general store of an earlier era. But the wear and tear can be minimized by careful planning of meals and shopping lists, Dr. Canoyer explains.

Many homemakers find that with a large electric refrigerator-freezer in the kitchen, they can plan their supermarket purchases so that one weekly shopping trip is all that's needed.

Since today's electric refrigerator-freezers, in addition to holding generous amounts of food, have special compartments to keep various foods at the right temperature and humidity for best retention of flavor and quality, they serve much like supermarkets at home.

It is possible for today's homemaker to save many of the costly hours she previously spent on shopping trips if she plans carefully and keeps her own "supermarket"—a modern electric refrigerator-freezer—well stocked.

CONSERVATION OFFICER WARNS OF SPRING FIRES

Spring is just around the corner and with it comes the grass fire season, according to Conservation officer, Don Boyer.

Yard cleaning, general tidying up, or a hike in the woods, can mean a fire run, if someone is careless the officer warned.

During this time of year, the inflammable material that covers the ground will burn more rapidly than at any other time.

If timber burns, no shade is available and temperatures rise in lakes and streams; soil and ashes erode into the streams making conditions hazardous for fish.

Nesting pheasants, rabbits and other wildlife can be destroyed by grass fires along with game cover and shelter.

Fire destroys cabins, homes and other valuable property each year. From the aesthetic value alone it is well to keep Michigan green.

A sloppy or neglected camp fire, haphazard brush or debris burning, a carelessly discarded match or cigarette and there is a costly fire run. Most of the local fire departments are made up of public spirited citizens who are not salaried, and who work at other jobs; a careless fire takes them away from their work.

Open containers are another source of many fire runs. Even though a fire permit is not required for burning trash around your home; a fire allowed to escape from the container and burn surrounding land is considered careless use of fire, and you can be prosecuted.

Conservation officials have been striving to educate the public on getting a fire permit for all burning that is not domestic, and request that people consult the local fire chief or conservation officer before proceeding.

Fire cans are available, and help on problem areas. Maybe the time has come for stricter law enforcement of the burning laws.

Officer Boyer asks that people of Manchester set a good example.

Burning permits or advice can be obtained by calling the local fire chief, James Kensler at Ga8-3021 days

EMERSON HUIZELS PLAN TRIP ON FREIGHTER TO ECUADOR

Although we have been wanting to take a freighter trip for some years, it was not until this past winter that we got serious about the matter.

And in actuality, we owe the whole task of planning and arranging it to our good friends, Willard and Ellen Talbert of Casper, Wyoming, whom we first met on our Alaska trip in '55.

It took us but minutes to reply in the affirmative to their inquiry, "Would you like to join us in a United Fruit Company trip to Ecuador, via Jamaica and the Panama Canal?"

There were to be only 12 passengers, and from the brochures sent us, we were delighted by the spacious accommodations in the way of cabins, dining room, deck and lounge.

From hearsay we have had only the most favorable comments from persons who have taken such trips. And with the winter being one of the severest that area has experienced in years, with five months of "bed" weather (blankets of snow and sheets of rain), we never questioned for one second the wisdom of our decision.

All this made it easier for us to leave our home area and our Michigan friends.

Our plans are to drive to St. Louis where I spent 44 years in the commercial department of Cleveland High School, to spend a week visiting old friends. Then, on down to the historic sites of Memphis and Nat chez along the Mississippi, hoping to arrive at New Orleans about two days prior to the departure of our boat on March 29.

And so—we'll meet you in Saint Loo—ee! This is the first in a series of letters from Emerson Hutzell and his wife on their trip to Ecuador by way of Jamaica and the Panama Canal.

SKY SAILORS AT NAPOLEON

Sky sailing, soaring, motorless flight—the ability to maintain or gain altitude whatever you call it. It's the ultimate sport of the air. Climb into the cockpit of a modern sailplane, be pulled into the air by an auto winch or behind a tow plane to the desired height which is usually 2000 feet, pull the release and be free as a bird.

This is man's closest approach to flying like the birds, according to R. M. Berry. This is the pastime and expectations of the members of the South Central Michigan Soaring Society, located at Napoleon, Mich. The Sport Parachute Jumpers will also be found at Napoleon. This summer a Dawn Patrol is planned and another terrific Air Show at Napoleon.

rites held for expert on school finance

Memorial services were held Saturday in Trinity Lutheran Church, Ann Arbor at 2 p.m. for Dr. Lawrence F. Krueger, 54, who is credited with gaining an estimated $50 million in yearly funds for local schools through a Michigan Supreme Court case.

Dr. Krueger, recognized authority on state school finance, died at his home in Freedom township, Wednesday last week. He was principal of Mitchell and Pittsfield Schools in Pittsfield township, now a part of the Ann Arbor School District.

While superintendent of schools for the Pittsfield District (1947-57), he urged the local Ann Arbor Board of Education to initiate the legal action that prompted the high court to rule that state equalization on the valuation was the true local tax base.

James A. Lewis, a University of Michigan vice president and a colleague of Dr. Krueger's called it "one of the court cases that was most significant in helping the proper financing of schools." Ernest R. Britton, Midland superintendent of schools and a professional associate of Dr. Krueger's said the decision did more to strengthen school support in the state "than any other act since the constitution was adopted."

The author of five books on education, he also served as a consultant to 10 Michigan school districts and the University of Michigan. Surviving Dr. Krueger are his wife Evelyn; four daughters, Mrs. Karl Pregitzer of Belding, Mrs. James Cathey of Sacramento, Calif. Mrs. Frederick Sparrow of Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. William Heuser Jr. of Dearborn; a son Lawrence Fr. Jr. at home and a brother, Edwin of Manchester.

Dr. Krueger died at his home at 11254 Hieber Road, Pleasant Lake.

I hope and a friend whose ambition in life was to acquire experiences in life worth owning. His argument was that they could not be the only real wealth in this working world, an experience that is really worth having and owning, he would point out, does not have to be insured.

Such an experience, he used to say, was about the only thing a man could acquire that someone else could not have some kind of stake in. Such experiences are really your own-to have and to hold for keeps. A man can't take them in his mind all his life.

The classes this far have proven to be very interesting and informative. The class has found the speakers to be very good, thus far, and to participate more.

Linda's future is to attend Michigan State in the fall to major in English.

Linda is happy to receive a bookkeeping medal for her grades in her Junior year.

The demand for higher education is growing so great and the cost is becoming so high that the implication can only be tragic. If we are to maintain our position in today's world, relief must be forthcoming. One positive way for federal and state governments to give substantial aid to higher education is to grant total forgiveness on the tuition paid by private citizens for higher education, public, or private.

The granting of such aid would produce swift, direct and tangible results for all-nation, state and individual alike. The move would be politically free, and no thinking person should or could fail to support the measure.

Canyon Country

When people speak of Canyon-Country you can almost be sure it will be the Grand Canyon. Here you can find every shape of rock in the working world. The Grand Canyon is 700 miles long, 18 miles wide, and 1 mile deep. Your first stop would probably be Bright Angel Trail, which starts into the canyon. When you look down from the observation post you can see the red Colorado River. The canyon has a lot of secret chambers that are covered by rock. Many geologists come to study the stones. There are over 700 different flowering plants in the Canyon desert.

In Beaver Creek you will find the Montezuma Castle. It is believed to have been formed 700 years ago. The painted "Deserts" colors change patterns continuously. There is also an Indian Reservation where Indians live peacefully.

SPRING IS HERE Winter-weary Manchesterites greeted the past week end with enthusiasm as the temperature hovered in the 60's.

Some brought out their golf clubs, baseball bats and gloves were brought out and some polished the family car for a drive in the country. Winter coats were pushed farther back in the closet.

The Weather Station at Willow Run recorded a high of 69 which tied the station previous high reading for this date in 1956.

Thunderstorms hit the area early Monday morning and .23 inch of rain was recorded.

The only report of damage due to the storm was in the Saline area where lightning struck a tool shed on the William Suites property at 1880 Judd road.

MORE INFORMATION ON THE CONSTITUTION Study material regarding the new and old constitution covers one entire display table at the Manchester township library.

Among these pamphlets is one exceptionally informative and unbiased booklet called "The Proposed Constitution--A Comparison with the Present Constitution". It is put out by the Citizens Research Council of Michigan and was printed in January 1963. It contains the present and proposed constitutions and comments in three columns across each large page, making it possible to see, immediately where and what the differences are.

This work is unbiased in content and was made available by the Citizens Committee through the aid of W.K. Kellogg Foundation, George Foundation, McGraw-Hill Foundation and Reim Foundation. It makes excellent reading material before the vote April 1 and for use in following legislation.

RAIN, RAIN GO 'WAY!

Time was when a rainy day spoiled the homemaker's plans too! But today, let it rain, let it rain... she dries her clothes in the modern automatic clothes dryer... indoors. No more braving freezing temperatures to hang clothes outdoors or cluttering up the basement with lines of wet wash... just a turn of the dial on the automatic clothes dryer and her laundry is dried fluffy-soft and sunshine-fresh in a matter of minutes. Forgotten is her weekly washday schedule she launders when it's most convenient. Day or night, any time is perfect for clothes drying... with the automatic clothes dryer.
