For a fun season, be sure you observe simple safety and sanitary precautions to protect the health of backyard swimmers. Use a large basin or dishpan of chlorinated water as a footbath for swimmers to wash off grass and mud before entering the pool.

Chemical compounds that are easy to use such as Pittchlor, a granular substance that contains 70 percent chlorine, may be applied in dry form or in solution to control bacteria and slime producing algae and to keep pool water sparkling clean.

A long-handled skimmer is handy for removing floating debris.

You can make one with a lightweight broom handle or bamboo pole and fiber glass screening. For safety's sake, a long pole and life preserver should be kept near the pool for emergency use.

Scott Hancock, mortgage officer of the Ponca City (Okla.) Savings and Loan Association says that a big factor in determining the amount of a loan to be made on a house is quality. Quality in design, materials, and construction indicates that the house will maintain maximum value for the longest time with minimum maintenance or replacement.

The higher the quality rating the higher the loan we can make. Hancock says.

Among the building elements that receive special quality ratings on Ponca City Savings and Loan's appraisal cards are bathroom floors and walls, built-in appliances, foundations, room arrangement, and

We look for a roof with UL-labeled shingles because the label is a reliable guide not only to fire resistance, but also to durability." he explains.

He points out that although the association doesn't require that as-phait shingles on homes it finances carry the Underwriters' Laboratories label, they will not allow as much on a loan if the house doesn't have them.

A UL-labeled asphalt shingle roof usually costs only about $20 to $40 more than the non-labeled roof, but it can save the home owner hundreds of dollars over the years. Reroofing, which costs anywhere between $300 and $600, depending on the size of the house, will not be required nearly so soon. Hancock

The twenty or so dollars extra paid for the quality shingles mean practically nothing to a home owner on his monthly payments, when spread over the term of the mortgage, he explains.

In determining the amount of a loan on a new home, the mortgage lender must assure himself that the house can always be resold for a much as or more than the amount of the outstanding loan. A home owner, to protect his own equity, should look at his investment the

FOR MOST OF US, communicating with others is as natural as breathing. But what about the person who can't speak due to surgical removal of his larynx? Or those with impaired hearing, or who can't see? Michigan Bell, together with the Bell Telephone Laboratories, the research arm of the Bell System, is continually seeking ways to improve communications for handicapped persons. Braille switchboards for blind operators, a special telephone handset for the hard-of-hearing, and the artificial larvnx that serves as a workable voice for the voiceless are a few examples the Laboratories has come up with. These and other special telephone services offer encouraging hope for a better way of life to many persons handicapped by physical disabilities.

WELCOME TO SUMMER! It's the happy time for vacations and weekend trips to your favorite pleasure spots. But remember to go first by Long Distance. This is the busy season for motels and hotels, so be sure to call ahead for reservations. And when you arrive, call the folks back home to put everyone at ease. A Long Distance call costs so little . . . in fact, after 9 p.m. you can make a 3minute station call to any place in the continental United States for $1 or less, plus tax.

PEOPLE SOMETIMES THINK they have a "bad connection" when they can't hear the person at the other end of the line clearly. So they ask our Repair Service to find the trouble. We've found, though, that what often seems to be a poor connection is actually a case of the other person's "tired arm"! Inadvertently he lets the handset wander away from his mouth. To be clearly understood, it's best to hold the transmitter end of the handset directly in front of your lips. It's a small courtesy others appreciate.

FHA Requires More Insulation For Cooling

A new requirement of the Federal Housing Administration ensures added comfort and greater economy for families who build or buy new homes equipped with central air

For the first time, FHA has spelled out standards for minimum nsulation for air-conditioned homes financed with FHA-insured loans. Previously, FHA insulation requirements were based on heating needs

The new insulation standard was developed "because of the increasing volume of air-conditioning installations and to provide industry guidance and protection." FHA ex-

In most areas, insulation rated at R-13 will be required in the ceiling. and in all except the coolest areas of the country, sidewall insulation frequently will be mandatory.

In masonry homes in warm zones. lation rated at R-19 and sometimes R-24 in ceilings may be required as a minimum.

The "R" in the above designations stands for installed resistance to heat flow. The higher the number, the greater the ability to resist the passage of heat.

Home owners will benefit from the new insulation standard through increased comfort-both winter and summer and through lower heating and cooling bills. In addition, when a house is insulated to meet these FHA standards, a smaller, less costly cooling system generally is

Savings on heating and cooling costs as a result of thorough insulation often equal the cost of the insulation in a few years.

In the past FHA has pointed out that its Minimum Property Standards are just that minimum—and it are just that minimum—and it is the long run. recognizes that in the long run some quality items that add to the original cost of a house actually lower the cost of keeping up the home and living in it." For example, by exceeding FHA minimum insulating requirements home owners can cut cooling and heating costs substantially and get more satisfaction from both cooling and heating systems. A reliable guide for families planning for air conditioning who want optimum results from insulation is provided by the National Mineral Wool Insulation Association. Its Quality Home Requirements call for mineral wool with an installed esistance to heat loss of R-19 or R-24 in ceilings. R-11 in walls and 2-13 in floors over unheated spaces.
